

Title: Concrete Vibes

Who knew this is where I'd be in 2019

31 years old I've been here for five and a half

No worries right?

You'd think I would've come to terms with my new life but not quite

It's all the same when I look back, no more pain and no use arguing with facts

The past dies where it will still as death but still I bet it will rise to bite me in the ass

What can I say?

I'm haunted by my own ghost and the fucked up choices of my past

It feels like a set up for a fucked up future so I just vibe out

Turn on Drake and take a time out, talkin' smack about his tracks because what he says hits so close to home it makes me uncomfortable

All wool comforter when I sleep and it's not a lie when I say life's cheap

Judge quick to sentence a life for murder but it's not unheard of to buy an expensive lawyer and walk out free

Life's a bitch and Justice ain't blind I guess you'll just have to trust me

I wrote this on the inside and if you're reading this they still haven't set me free

If you ask me, I love a good challenge, in the War Room is where I meet them

I look around and wonder what I'm supposed to do with all that freedom, I think I brought the cage with me Where's Drake when you need him?

New Season, no more prison life people askin' what prisons like

Take my pulse you can still hear the clock tick

I turn up the music a few clicks to get rid of it but it feels wrong tryin' to drown the season that gave me a reason to write

Can you guess what I do?

Vibe out, I face the music then write it down, who knew this is where I'd be in twenty-two obviously I made it because I'm still around

The journey I pushed through made me the person you see

Some say they're not defined by their mistakes but I disagree

Do you recognize me? How can you, I rose to the challenge and overcame so the person that stands before you will never be the same

Trust me when I say I understand you standin' there with your broken wings

Don't worry they'll do just fine, quit trippin' on your lack of feathers you'll soar in due time

Never you mind what you see, I still see the concrete when I close my eyes and feel the confinement of my demise

Never let that hold you back, one more breath two more steps and you'd be surprised at how far you make it
When adversity strikes never forsake it, chase it until you overcome and take it down

No more handcuffs or hands up man down ~~but~~ but I stand up

Head held higher than it was a year ago I thank God for my son because to him... I'M the ultimate hero

With zero regrets I stand before God but I'm at odds at how to end this without leavin' it in pieces

So let me leave you with this

Vibe out, it's okay to be yourself and all it unleashes
