

2). I am broken, shattered in a million pieces, left with no air.

A familiar feeling awakes and rises up again, only to haunt my days.

This pain and hurt sucks me in like a tidal wave, drowning what's left of me.

Memories of you I'll hold forever, hoping to see you in heaven.

There's so much I want to say but there's no time left, how did we run out of time?

Why did you have to go?

Will you ever know how much I love you?

Will you ever know how sorry I am?

My heart overflows, I need to let her go while keeping her alive.