I.—RAMPUR.

THE first settlers of the Rohilla Afghans were two brothers, Shah Alam and Husain Khan. Shah Alam's son Daud Khan achieved some distinction in the earlier part of the eighteenth century; but the rise of the family was mainly due to his adopted son Ali Muhammad Khan who, by his successes after the death of Daud Khan, collected many Afghan adventurers, and for his services against the Bara Saiyids received the title of Nawab and a grant of the greater part of Rohilkhand. He happened to offend the Subadar of Oudh, who repaired to Delhi and induced the Emperor Muhammad Shah to take the field against him. Ali Muhammad was compelled to surrender, and was made to relinquish his territory and to deliver two of his sons as hostages.

Not long afterwards he was placed in charge of Sirhind; but taking advantage of the confusion caused by the invasion of Ahmad Shah Abdali, he entered Rohilkhand and made good his supremacy over the province in which he was subsequently confirmed by the Emperor of Delhi.

Ali Muhammad Khan made a disposition in favour of his six sons, the two eldest of whom had been carried into captivity by Ahmad Shah Abdali: and as, at the time of Ali Muhammad Khan's death, his four other sons were minors, he entrusted his territory to the guardianship of Hafiz Rahmat Khan, the brother, and Dunde Khan, the cousin, of his predecessor Daud Khan. Not long after his death his two eldest sons were released: and the final arrangement made by the guardians was to place his second son Faizulla in a jagir comprising Rampur Katra, estimated to be worth six lakhs per annum.

When in 1771 the Mahrattas had placed Shah Alam on the throne of Delhi, they turned their attention to the conquest of the Rohilla country. Alarmed by their approach, the Rohillas temporized with them, and meanwhile proposed an alliance with the Nawab-Wazir of Oudh. In 1772 an offensive and defensive Alliance (No. I) was concluded, by which the Rohillas agreed to pay forty lakhs of rupees to the Nawab-Wazir on condition of his expelling the Mahrattas.

After the Mahrattas had extorted from the Emperor the grant of the districts of Allahabad and Kara, the Nawab-Wazir became thoroughly alarmed and applied to the English, who were bound by Treaty to assist him. At a conference with Warren Hastings at Benares, the Nawab-Wazir procured the promise of troops to assist him in his designs against the Rohillas, who had failed to pay him the promised subsidy, and were unable by themselves to make head against the Mahrattas. The Nawab-Wazir also made a treaty with the Emperor, in which it was stipulated that the Emperor should assist him in the expedition and receive a share of the conquered territory.

The Rohillas were defeated after a gallant struggle, in which Hafiz Rahmat was killed. Faizulla Khan withdrew to the hills with the remnant of the Rohilla army: and in 1774, after some negotiations and petty skirmishes, an Agreement (No. II), known as the Treaty of Jal Dhang, was made between him and the Nawab-Wazir under the British guarantee, by which he was secured in the State of Rampur on condition of military service to the Nawab-Wazir. In 1783 the obligation of service was commuted (No. III), under the guarantee of the British Government, to a cash payment of Rs. 15,00,000.

On the death of Faizulla Khan, disturbances broke out in the family. Muhammad Ali Khan, the eldest son, was murdered by his brother Ghulam Muhammad Khan, who usurped the jagir. As the State was held under British guarantee, the aid of British troops was given to the Nawab-Wazir of Oudh in ejecting the usurper and installing Ahmad Ali Khan, the son of Muhammad Ali Khan, as Nawab. A preliminary Engagement (No. IV) was executed in 1794 between the British Government, the Nawab-Wazir, and the Rohilla tribe: and later in the same year Nawab Ahmad Ali Khan was confirmed (No. V) under British guarantee in a portion of the State, the rest being annexed to Rohilkhand.

On the cession of Rohilkhand to the British Government in 1801, the family were continued in their possessions.

Ahmad Ali Khan died in 1839. The succession of his only daughter was rejected, and the next heir Muhammad Said Khan, the eldest son of Ghulam Muhammad Khan, was put in possession of the State. An Engagement (No. VI) was taken from him in 1840 that he would govern his State rightly, and provide for the inferior Rohilla Chiefs. A similar Engagement (No. VII) was taken in 1855 from Muhammad Yusuf Ali Khan, the eldest son and successor of Muhammad Said Khan.

For his services during the mutiny of 1857, Muhammad Yusuf Ali Khan was in 1859 granted the hereditary title of Farzand Dilpazir: and received in 1860 a grant of land (No. VIII), yielding Rs. 1,28,527-4-0. It was at first proposed to cede the pargana of Kasipur, but, for greater compactness, villages on the Moradabad and Bareilly frontier were afterwards substituted. An error occurred in the allotment of a portion of this land, owing to a similarity in the names of some villages situated respectively within British and Rampur limits, but in 1864 this was rectified by an Agreement (No. X). In terms of the grant, dated the 7th November 1864, these villages were assigned in full sovereignty "with only this stipulation that existing rightful tenures were to be respected."

In 1862 the Ruler of Rampur received an Adoption Sanad (No. IX).

In 1864 the Nawab of Rampur ceded to the British Government in full sovereignty the land required for the railway to be constructed through his State, and also agreed to exempt from duty all traffic passing through his territory (Nos. XI and XII). In 1891 the Darbar agreed to contribute a loan of Rs. 47,00,000 towards the construction of a standard gauge line from Bareilly, viâ Rampur, to Moradabad, giving the land required free of cost, and ceding to the British Government full jurisdiction within the limits of the railway.

Muhammad Yusuf Ali Khan died in 1865, and was succeeded by his eldest son, Muhammad Kalb Ali Khan, who entered into an Agreement (No. XIII) similar to that taken from his father in 1855 (No. VII).

In 1867 the Ruler of Rampur was granted a permanent salute of 13 guns: and in 1873 the hereditary title conferred on him in 1859 was augmented to Farzand-i-Dilpazir Daulat-i-Inglishia.

Muhammad Kalb Ali Khan died in 1887, and was succeeded by his son, Muhammad Mushtak Ali Khan, who entered into an Agreement (No. XIV) similar to that taken from his father in 1865. Owing to his weak health and consequent inability to give the requisite personal attention to the administration, Government appointed a Council of State consisting of a Vice-President and two Members, with the Nawab himself as President, to conduct the administration.

Muhammad Mushtak Ali Khan died in 1889, and was succeeded by his eldest son Muhammad Hamid Ali Khan. During his minority the Council of State was constituted a Council of Regency, with more closely defined powers and with Sahibzada Safdar Ali Khan, half-brother of Nawab Muhammad Yusuf Ali Khan, as President. General Azim-ud-din Khan, the Vice-President of the Council of Regency, was murdered in April 1891, and the President resigned in the following July, when Major Vincent of the Central India Horse was appointed to be President, and to discharge the duties of Vice-President in addition.

On the 4th April 1894 Muhammad Hamid Ali Khan was installed as Nawab, the Council of Regency being replaced by an Administrative Council: and on the 1st June 1896 he was invested with full powers, the Administrative Council was abolished, and the Nawab entered into the usual Agreement (No. XV).

In 1899 an Agreement (No. XVI) was concluded for the effective control and discipline of the Rampur Imperial Service Troops when serving beyond the State frontiers.

In the same year the Nawab signed a revised Agreement (No. XVII) ceding full and exclusive power and jurisdiction of every kind over the portions of the Bareilly-Rampur-Moradabad Railway lying within the limits of his State.

In 1909 the ancient titles of Alijab, Mukhlis-ud-daula, Nasir-ul-mulk, Amir-ul-umra, Mustaid Jang, which had been granted by the Moghul Emperors, were restored to the Ruler of Rampur.

In 1918 the Agreement executed by the Nawab in 1896 (No. XV) was cancelled, subject to the express understanding that the Nawab and his successors would be bound, in the absence of specific orders from Government in each particular case, to continue the payment of all guaranteed pensions on the terms on which they were granted, and that any failure to do so would justify the intervention of Government on behalf of the beneficiaries.

In 1921 the permanent salute of the Ruler of Rampur was enhanced to 15 guns.

Muhammad Hamid Ali Khan died on the 20th June 1930, and was succeeded by his son the present Nawab Raza Ali Khan, born on the 17th November 1906.

The area of Rampur is 892.54 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 453,607; and the average annual revenue 55 lakhs.

Under the reorganisation scheme of January 1921 the authorised strength of the Rampur State Forces consists (December 1926) of:—

Rampur Lancers	331
1st Rampur Infantry	591
2nd Rampur Infantry	652
Rampur Gurkha Company	153

The following other State forces are maintained:—

Palace Guards	625
Artillery	205
Bicycle Sowars	20

With effect from the 1st January 1922 the designation “Imperial Service Troops” was changed to “Indian State Forces.”

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

II.—TEHRI (GARHWAL).

The early history of the Garhwal Rajas is obscure. They claim descent from the Agni race, and are of the Kshatriya caste. For many generations the chiefs had absolute sway over the whole of Garhwal on both sides of the Alaknanda. The first Raja of the line was Kanak Pal. The Rajas of Tehri bear the title Shah. The local tradition is that the 28th prince of the line, Kalyan Sah (circa 1389-1398) received it from the Emperor Nasir-ud-din of Delhi; who, if he ever really existed, must have been one of the puppet Sultans whose brief reigns intervened between the death of Firoz Shah in 1388 and the invasion of Timur in 1398. A less improbable tradition says that Balbhadra Shah, the 43rd prince (circa 1473-1496), received it from the Emperor Bahlol Khan Lodi. All Balbhadra Shah's successors have borne the title; whereas his four predecessors did not. Whether the Garhwal Rajas did or did not pay tribute to the Moghul Emperors of Delhi is disputed, but it seems probable that they did; though, if so, the tribute was only nominal.

In 1804 the Nepalese extended their conquests to Garhwal and expelled Raja Pradyumna (or Parduman) Shah, who took refuge in the plains. He collected a force with which he entered the Dun in an attempt to recover his kingdom. In this he was unsuccessful, and, in an action fought in January 1804 at Khurbura, near Dehra, he perished with most of his Garhwali retainers. His eldest son Sudarshan Shah escaped from the Gurkhas, fled to the plains and joined the English.

After the conclusion of the Nepal War of 1815, the British Government restored to Sudarshan Shah that part of his hereditary possessions lying west of the pargana of Nagpur, north of the Alaknanda river and east of Dehra Dun as far north as the confluence of the Tons and Pabar rivers. North of that confluence lay the district of Rawain, the northern portion of which—the parganas of Serachli and Danewan, east and west respectively of the Pabar river—originally a fief of Garhwal, had been ruled for eleven generations by the Thakurs of Raingarh, until Himmat Singh, the last of them, was dispossessed of Serachli, which included his fort of Raingarh, by the Bashahris, who were in turn expelled by the Gurkhas. After the defeat of the Gurkhas, the British annexed the Serachli pargana and a small portion of the Danewan pargana, the remainder of which they assigned to Rana Runa, brother of Himmat Singh. They also retained under their own administration the southern portion of Rawain until 1817, when they handed it over to Sudarshan Shah; who, in March 1820, received a Sanad (No. XVIII) confirming the grants of territory made to him. This Sanad conferred upon him “the whole of the territory of Garhwal” with three exceptions:—the districts to the east of the Alaknanda river and to the east of the Mandakani river above its confluence with the Alaknanda: the Dehra Dun: and “the Pergunnah of Raean Gurh." In 1824 the Commissioner of Kumaon brought to notice two errors in the Sanad: first, that the Mandakani river did not form the eastern boundary of the State, since part of the British parganas of Nagpur lay to the west of it: and secondly, that the pargana of Rawain (the southern portion of the district of that name), though excepted from the original grant of territory in 1815, had subsequently been added in 1817, so that that exception should have been omitted from the Sanad of 1820. It is, in fact, not unlikely that the exception intended by "the Pergunnah of Raean Gurh" may have been the pargana of Serachli which included the fort of Raingarh; but, even if so, its exception was unnecessary, since that pargana did not form part of "the territory of Garhwal", but part of the Thakurai of Raingarh. The Commissioner recommended the issue of a fresh Sanad in substitution for that of 1820; his recommendation was accepted, and in December 1824 a fresh Sanad (No. XIX) was issued to Sudarshan Shah, the Sanad of 1820 being recalled.

During the mutiny of 1857 Sudarshan Shah rendered valuable assistance to Government. He died in 1859, leaving two legitimate daughters but no legal male heir, either direct or collateral, and the State lapsed to Government. In consideration of the services of Sudarshan Shah, however, it was decided (No. XX) to confer the State upon his son Bhawani Singh, the offspring of an alliance that was certainly considered by the British authorities at the time to be an illegitimate one; though the following story, of which they might well have been ignorant, is told of it on apparently good evidence. It is said that in 1812, when Sudarshan Shah was living in exile and had lost all hope of retrieving his ancestral territories, Maharaja Sansar Chand of Kangra arranged his marriage with Srimati Gundevi, daughter of one of his own kinsmen, a Miyan of Katoch Rajput descent: and that Bhawani Singh was the issue of this marriage. After Sudarshan Shah had been restored to his territories, he was given the two daughters of Maharaja Sansar Chand in marriage, on the precedent condition that Srimati Gundevi should never assume the title of Rani and that her son should never be given the title of Tika or recognised as heir apparent.

In 1862 Bhawani Singh, who after his accession assumed the family title of Shah, received a Sanad (No. XXI) guaranteeing him the right of adoption. In 1865 he leased (No. XXII) his forests to the British Government for Rs. 10,000 a year for a period of 20 years.

Bhawani Shah died in 1871 and was succeeded by his eldest son Pratap Shah.

In 1878 the Ruler of Tehri was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns.

In 1885 Pratap Shah renewed (No. XXIII) for another 20 years, at an annual rent of Rs. 12,000 the forest lease given by his father. In 1887

Government relinquished the Sheopuri portion of the forests, and the rent was reduced to Rs. 9,000.

Pratap Shah died in 1887 and was succeeded by his son Kirti Shah, during whose minority the State was administered by a Council of Regency with his mother as President. On his installation in 1892, the Council was continued as a consultative one until 1898, when it was abolished.

In 1895 Kirti Shah leased (No. XXIV) certain chir forests in the Tons Valley for a period of 20 years: and in 1905 he gave a fresh lease (No. XXV), on terms somewhat more favourable to himself, in place of the forest lease given by his father in 1885. This lease expired in 1925, and was not renewed. In 1909 he executed an Agreement (No. XXVI) for the control and discipline of his Imperial Service Troops when serving beyond the frontiers of his State.

Kirti Shah died on the 25th April 1913, and was succeeded by his son the present Raja Narendra Shah, born on the 3rd August 1898. During his minority the administration was conducted by a Council of Regency, of which his mother was at first President; but, owing to her illness, her place was taken later by an officer lent by the Government of India.

In 1915 the Council of Regency renewed (No. XXVII) for a further period of 20 years the Tons Valley forest lease given by Kirti Shah in 1895. The lease was cancelled in 1925, and the forest handed back to the State.

On the 4th October 1919 Raja Narendra Shah was invested with full ruling powers.

In 1927 the Tehri Darbar executed an Agreement (No. XXVIII) for the construction of jhulas over the rivers which form the boundary between British Garhwal and the Tehri State.

The area of Tehri is approximately 4,502 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 318,482; and the average revenue Rs. 15,07,365.

The State pays no tribute.

Under the reorganisation scheme of January 1921 the authorised strength of the Tehri State Forces consists (December 1926) of:—

Tehri Headquarters Infantry and Band	100
Tehri Garhwal Sappers and Miners	129

The State has 6 guns, 2 of which are obsolete and the other 4 are used only for firing salutes.

With effect from the 1st January 1922 the designation “Imperial Service Troops” was changed to “Indian State Forces.”

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911, when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

III.—FARRUKHABAD.

Before the cession of Rohilkhand to the British Government, the Farrukhabad territory was almost entirely surrounded by the dominions of the Nawab-Wazir of Oudh. A tribute of Rs. 4,50,000 was paid by the Nawab Rais of Farrukhabad to the Nawab-Wazir. This tribute was ceded to the British Government by the Treaty of 1801 with the Nawab-Wazir (see No. LV). In 1802 the Nawab Rais ceded (No. XXIX) the sovereignty of the province to the British Government, who settled on him and his heirs and successors a stipend of Rs. 1,08,000 a year.

The last Nawab Rais of Farrukhabad, Tafazzul Husain, rebelled in 1857. He surrendered in 1859 under the proclamation of amnesty, and was tried before a Special Commission on various counts, charging him, first, with rebelling and waging war against the British Government, and acting as a leader and instigator in revolt; and secondly, with being a principal and accessory, both before and after the fact, to the murder of many British subjects, Anglo-Indian and Indian. He was convicted and sentenced to death, and all his property was adjudged to be confiscated. But it came out at the trial, and was pleaded by the prisoner as a bar to the execution of the sentence, that before his surrender a letter had been written to him by Major Barrow, the Special Commissioner with the camp of the Commander-in-Chief, in which he was invited to surrender; and that in this letter he was told that pardon had been extended to all who had not personally committed the murder of British subjects, and that if he had not personally committed the murder of British subjects he might surrender without apprehension. Government condemned and disavowed this act of Major Barrow, but forebore in consequence of it from carrying out the capital sentence, on condition that Tafazzul Husain should immediately quit British territories for ever. He was carried to Aden and sent across the frontier in the direction of Mecca, and warned that, if ever he set foot on British territory, the sentence of death which had been passed upon him would be carried out.

Tafazzul Husain died at Mecca on the 19th February 1882. His son, Asghar Husain Khan, is still alive and in receipt of a hereditary pension of Rs. 260-0-5 a month. The title of Khan Bahadur was conferred on him in December 1911.

As regards the Treaty of 1802, it was held that, as between the British Government and the Nawab Rais, the treaty was cancelled by Tafazzul Husain's rebellion, but that this breach of engagement by Tafazzul Husain did not of itself affect the rights of third parties recognized or created by the treaty. The pension guaranteed by Article 2, and the property and annual payments guaranteed by Articles 3, 4 and 7, were therefore resumed: and a small subsistence allowance was granted to those who were dependent on these payments and had no other means of support, provided they took no part in and gave no encouragement to rebellion. But the pensions guaranteed by Article 5 and the rent-free land and jagirs alluded to in Article 8 were continued to the holders, provided they were not implicated in rebellion, and did not hold their pensions or lands on condition of service the performance of which was no longer possible. These pensions have now to a large extent been commuted.

IV.—BENARES.

This family was founded by Mansa Ram, Zamindar of Gangapur, who died in 1740 and was succeeded by his son Balwant Singh. Balwant Singh joined Shah Alam and Shuja-ud-Daula in their invasion of Bengal in 1763. He joined the British camp with the Emperor after the battle of Buxar: and, in the arrangements made with the Emperor in 1764,* his zamindari was transferred from Oudh to the British Government. The arrangements thus made were disapproved by the Court of Directors: and, when the Treaty of 1765 was concluded with Shuja-ud-Daula, Raja Balwant Singh's Estate was restored to Oudh, the Nawab-Wazir engaging to continue him in possession on condition of his paying the same revenue as before (see Art. 5 of No. XLII).

Balwant Singh died in 1770, when the Nawab-Wazir of Oudh wished to dispossess the family; but the British Government compelled him to recognize the succession of Chait Singh, son of Balwant Singh by a Rajput mistress, and to grant him, in 1773, a Sanad (No. XXX) under their guarantee. By the Treaty concluded with the Nawab-Wazir of Oudh in 1775 (No. XLVII) the sovereignty of the districts dependent on Raja Chait Singh was ceded in perpetuity to the British Government. A Sanad (No. XXXI) was however given to the Raja in 1776, confirming him in his zamindari and the civil and criminal administration thereof, subject to an annual net payment of Sicca Rs. 22,66,180, and on condition of his adopting measures for the interest and security of the country and the preservation of the peace. The Raja was also allowed to coin money.

In 1778 it was proposed that the Raja should be required to pay a subsidy of five lakhs of rupees for the maintenance of three battalions of sepoys. He consented to the arrangement for one year. The contribution was again levied in 1779 and in 1780, and the Raja was also required to employ his cavalry for the general service of the State. Chait Singh manifested great reluctance to meet these demands and to fulfil his feudal obligations to the British Government. He was also believed to be secretly disaffected and to have corresponded with the enemies of the British Government: and he was therefore put under arrest in his own house in September 1781, by order of Warren Hastings, the Governor-General, who had proceeded in person to Benares to confer with the Raja. A tumult ensued, in which the military guard over the Raja were cut down and the Raja escaped. Chait Singh collected his troops and appealed for aid to some of the princes of Northern India; but his troops were defeated in several skirmishes, and the rebellion was crushed. Chait Singh was deprived of his Estate, which was given in September 1781 (No. XXXII) to his nephew Mahip Narayan, son of Raja Balwant Singh's daughter by his wife Rani Gulab Kunwar, on payment of a yearly tribute of forty lakhs of Benares Sicca Rupees, subject to deductions as compensation for the loss of certain rights enjoyed by his predecessors (No. XXXIII). The civil and criminal administration of the city of Benares, together with the power of the mint, were taken out of the new Raja's hands. Chait Singh took refuge with Scindia and died at Gwalior in 1810.

In 1794 an Agreement (No. XXXIV) was concluded with Mahip Narayan for the purpose of introducing into the province of Benares the same system of judicial and revenue administration as had been established in 1793 in the provinces of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa. The Raja agreed to accept one lakh of rupees a year in commutation of his rights in the province, exclusive of the jagirs and altamgha grants constituting his Family Domains; in these the Raja or his officers were to retain jurisdiction in revenue matters, etc., subject to the Collector's advice and the orders of the Governor-General in Council.

Mahip Narayan died in 1794, and was succeeded by his son, Udit Narayan Singh, who was granted a Sanad (No. XXXV) in 1796. In 1826 a Special Commissioner was appointed to enquire into grievances alleged to be rife in the Family Domains, especially in the pargana of Bhadohi. In consequence of his report Bengal Regulation VII of 1828 was passed which more clearly defined and codified the relations of the Raja with the Family Domains. This was subsequently amended by Act XIV of 1881.

Udit Narayan Singh died in 1835 and was succeeded by his nephew and adopted son Ishwari Prasad Narayan Singh, who in 1835 was granted a Sanad (No. XXXVI). In 1862 he received a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXXVII).

Ishwari Prasad died in June 1889, and was succeeded by his nephew and adopted son the present Maharaja Parbhu Narayan Singh. The title of Maharaja Bahadur and the privilege of being addressed by the title of Highness, both of which had been granted to his predecessor in reward for his loyal services during the mutiny, were continued to Parbhu Narayan Singh as personal distinctions.

In 1867 the Raja of Benares was granted a permanent salute of 13 guns.

In 1911 His Majesty's Government decided to create a State of Benares out of the territory known for more than a century as the Family Domains of the Raja of Benares. The parganas of Bhadohi and Kera Mangraur of the Domains, together with the Fort of Ramnagar and its appurtenances, were formed into a State: and an Instrument of Transfer (No. XXXVIII) was presented to His Highness by the Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces on the 4th April 1911. Maharaja Parbhu Narayan Singh was thus appointed the first Ruling Prince of the newly formed State of Benares. Pargana Kaswar Raja of the Domains was amalgamated for administrative purposes with the district of Benares: and the Family Domains ceased to exist as a separate administrative unit.

The Commissioner of the Benares Division is the Political Agent of the State, which is administered on the same lines as districts in British territory.

In 1913 an assurance (No. XXXIX) was given to the Maharaja that certain payments made to him under the Instrument of Transfer are payments in perpetuity.

During the Great War the Maharaja placed his personal services and all the resources of his State at the service of the Crown. Besides other gifts, an Ambulance Corps was supplied for service in Mesopotamia and Aden and a military hospital was established at Benares.

In 1918 Maharaja Parbhu Narayan Singh was granted a personal salute of 15 guns: and at the same time the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred (No. XL) on the Ruler of Benares, who was also subsequently granted a permanent local salute of 15 guns within his own territories.

In 1919 the town of Ramnagar, with eight adjoining villages, was included in the State by a Supplementary Instrument of Transfer (No. XLI).

The area of the State is about 870 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 362,735; and the gross revenue about Rs. 27,19,000.

The State pays a tribute of Rs. 2,19,000 to the British Government.

1st (Parbhu Narayan) Infantry	775
3rd Camel Despatch Riders	20

V.—OUDH.

The founder of the Oudh family, and the first Nawab, was Muhammad Amin, originally a merchant from Khorasan, who about 1724, during the reign of the Emperor Muhammad Shah, was appointed Governor of Oudh with the titles of Saadat Khan and Burhan-ul-Mulk. He was succeeded by his son-in-law Safdar Jang, who died in 1753 and was succeeded by his son Shuja-ud-Daula, who was created Wazir by the Emperor Shah Alam.

After his defeat at Buxar in 1764 (see Delhi, Vol. I), the Nawab-Wazir obtained the assistance of a body of Mahrattas; but was again defeated in a skirmish at Kara, and threw himself on the generosity of the British Government. The arrangements made in 1764, by which the Emperor ceded Ghazipur and Benares to the Company and was himself put in possession of all the rest of the Nawab-Wazir's dominions, were disapproved by the Court of Directors, who considered it expedient to preserve the dominions of the Nawab-Wazir as a barrier against the Mahrattas: and, by a Treaty concluded in 1765 (No. XLII), all his territories were restored except Allahabad and Kara, which were given to the Emperor for the support of his dignity and expenses.

Some uneasiness was still felt as to the designs of the Nawab-Wazir, who had the Emperor completely in his power and was ambitious of recovering Kara and Allahabad. It was therefore thought necessary to enter into a new Engagement (No. XLIII) in 1768 for the restriction of his army to 35,000 men,* none of whom were to be equipped or drilled like English troops.

At this time the position of the Mahrattas was most threatening. The Emperor had put himself in their hands and had been placed by them on the throne of Delhi; but he had no real power, and his name was used as a cloak for the justification of the Mahratta usurpations. On leaving Allahabad in 1771, the Emperor put the Nawab-Wazir in possession of the fort; but, when the Mahrattas extorted from him the cession of Kara and Allahabad, it was deemed necessary, for protection against them, that both the forts of Chunar and Allahabad should be held by English troops; and Agreements (Nos. XLIV and XLV) to this effect were executed in 1772. The grant of Kara and Allahabad to the Mahrattas was considered to be contrary to the meaning of the Treaty of 1765, by which these districts were given to the Emperor for the support of his dignity: and, as the Emperor had abandoned possession of them, they were sold in 1773

(No. XLVI) for fifty lakhs of rupees to the Nawab-Wazir, who at the same time agreed to pay Sicca Rs. 2,10,000 a month for each brigade of English troops that might march to his assistance.

In 1775 the Nawab-Wazir Shuja-ud-Daula died and was succeeded by his son, Asaf-ud-Daula. On his accession a new Treaty (No. XLVII) was concluded confirming him in the possession of Kara and Allahabad; raising the payment for British troops to Rs. 2,60,000 a month for each brigade that crossed his border; and ceding to the British Government in full sovereignty all the districts dependent on Raja Chait Singh of Benares, including Benares, Jaunpur and Ghazipur (see Benares). In his pecuniary obligations to the British Government, Asaf-ud-Daula soon fell deeply into arrears. Pressed by his pecuniary embarrassments, he endeavoured to deprive the mother of Shuja-ud-Daula and his own mother, the Bahu Begam, of the property which had been left them: and in 1775 the Bahu Begam complained that Rs. 26,00,000 had been extorted from her. An Agreement (No. XLVIII), however, was made between her and her son Asaf-ud-Daula, which was guaranteed by the British Government, maintaining her in the full enjoyment of her jagirs and property.

In 1781, at a personal interview at Chunar, Warren Hastings negotiated a new Treaty (No. XLIX) to give relief to the Nawab-Wazir by the withdrawal of all the English troops except a single brigade and one additional regiment. The Treaty also authorised the resumption of jagirs on the condition that equivalent pensions were granted to those whose estates were guaranteed by the British Government. The Nawab-Wazir took advantage of this concession to resume the jagirs of the Begams, though these were subsequently restored in part, and to deprive them of their treasure, on the alleged ground of their being implicated in Chait Singh's rebellion (see Benares). Warren Hastings' share in these transactions formed one of the charges against him on his impeachment.

The weakness of the Nawab-Wazir's government prevented the withdrawal of the English troops provided for by the Treaty of 1781. When Lord Cornwallis assumed the government in 1786 the Nawab pressed for some mitigation of his burdens. It was not thought safe to reduce the British troops, but an arrangement (No. L) was made in 1787, by which the Nawab's payment was fixed at Rs. 50,00,000 a year in lieu of all claims, and a large part of the balance due to the British Government was remitted.

In 1788 a commercial Treaty (No. LI) was concluded with the Nawab-Wazir, providing for the levy at fixed places of an ad valorem duty on goods, and prohibiting the levy of transit duties by landholders and others; but the pecuniary difficulties in which he continued to be involved arose chiefly from his incapacity and misgovernment. In 1797 Sir John Shore paid a visit to Lucknow with the object of administrative reform, and to obtain part payment of the cost of the increased military establishment which it had been found necessary to keep up. An Agreement (No. LII) was made at this time by which the Nawab-Wazir undertook to pay for one additional regiment of European and one of Indian cavalry, provided the annual cost should not exceed five and a half lakhs of rupees.

In 1797 Asaf-ud-Daula died, and his reputed son, Mirza Ali, was acknowledged as his successor. His paternity having been afterwards proved to be spurious, he was deposed; and Saadat Ali, the eldest surviving son of Shuja-ud-Daula, and brother of Asaf-ud-Daula, was proclaimed in his stead. On the accession of Saadat Ali in 1798 a Treaty (No. LIII) was concluded, by which, among other arrangements, the Nawab-Wazir's payment to the British Government was raised to seventy-six lakhs a year, and the minimum British force to be maintained in the country was fixed at 10,000 men. At the same time the Nawab-Wazir made an Agreement (No. LIV) with the Bahu Begam, granting her certain jagirs in Gonda and Fyzabad under the guarantee of the British Government.

The Nawab-Wazir's army was an ill-disciplined, armed rabble, and would have been rather a source of danger than a help had the often expected invasion of Zaman Shah from Afghanistan taken place. In 1799, therefore, the Marquis Wellesley addressed the Nawab-Wazir with a view to induce him to disband his troops and replace them by a British subsidiary force. Major Scott was deputed to conduct negotiations for this purpose, and to secure, by a cession of territory, a resource for the regular payment of the subsidy. The Nawab-Wazir was very reluctant to agree to the proposals made to him, and threatened to abdicate in favour of his son; but, after protracted negotiations, a Treaty (No. LV) was signed in 1801, by which the Nawab-Wazir ceded lands in the Doab and the whole of Rohilkhand, yielding a revenue of Rs. 1,35,23,474, in lieu of the subsidy and all future expenses incurred in defending his territory; reduced his troops to four battalions of infantry and one of najibs, 2,000 cavalry and 300 golandaz; and agreed to introduce a good system of government in his remaining territories. The Treaty also provided for the free navigation of the Ganges and other rivers, where they formed the boundary of the British territories and Oudh. At a personal interview with the Nawab-Wazir at Lucknow, the Governor-General discussed and settled various points arising out of the Treaty which remained to be adjusted, and explained the general principles which should regulate the connection and intercourse between the two States as resulting from the Treaty. The results of this conference were embodied in a Memorandum (No. LVI), of which a copy, signed and sealed by the Governor-General, was delivered to the Nawab-Wazir.

In 1812 a Treaty (No. LVII) was made with Saadat Ali to prevent disputes arising out of the frequent changes in the course of the rivers forming the boundaries between the British territories and Oudh. The Treaty related merely to the prevention of disputes between the two States, and had no reference whatever to the rights of zamindars.

Saadat Ali Khan died in 1814, and was succeeded by his eldest son Ghazi-ud-Din Haidar. On his accession Engagements (No. LIX) were exchanged between him and the Governor-General, declaring all treaties and engagements made with the late Nawab-Wazir to be in full force, to all intents and purposes.

During the negotiations with Saadat Ali Khan which led to the cession of Rohilkhand in 1801, the Bahu Begam had offered to make the English Government her heir on condition that she should be released from dependence on her grandson, and that her connections and dependants should be secured in the undisturbed possession of their property. It was believed that the Nawab-Wazir's principal objections to the proposed treaty for the cession of Rohilkhand proceeded from the expectation of his acquiring great wealth on the Begam's death. The Governor-General therefore expressed his intention of accepting the Begam's offer. The arrangements, however, were never completed: and, in consequence of the altered relations between the Nawab-Wazir and the Begam after the conclusion of the Treaty of 1801, Government eventually declined the bequest.

In 1808 the Begam executed a will, making the British Government heir to the residue of her property, after maintaining certain jagirs and pensions and paying certain sums for the construction of a mausoleum, etc. Government, however, declared its intention of yielding the legacy to the Nawab-Wazir and making over the residue of the property to him. The will was subsequently revoked, and a Deed of Deposit (No. LVIII) was executed in 1813, the provisions of which the British Government guaranteed to execute so far as depended on them. The arrangements proposed were, with the Begam's consent, disclosed to the Nawab-Wazir, who was assured that he would be acknowledged by Government as the Begam's heir on his agreeing to the whole of the purposes of the will. In August 1814 Ghazi-ud-Din Haidar intimated his assent in a letter to the Resident which forms the last annexure to No. LVIII.

The Begam died in 1815, leaving property to the value of Rs. 99,48,916. After her death it was proposed to embody the obligations of the British Government and the Nawab-Wazir in regard to her property in a treaty. But, as the Nawab-Wazir expressed unwillingness to execute any further documents, which were unnecessary after his engagement of 1814, the treaty was not pressed: and all the personal property of the Begam was made over to him on his paying into the British treasury

Rs. 56,84,082, the interest on which was to yield certain pensions. By the Deed of Deposit these pensions were to be defrayed from the funds left by the Begam, and they are now known as the Amanat Wasikas or trust pensions. Besides these there were certain jagirs and pensions payable from the Oudh treasury, in case of the diminution or resumption of which by the Nawab-Wazir the British Government was to make a provision of corresponding amount for the holders, from the residue of the Begam's property. To this class belonged the pensions of Mirza Ali, Salar Jang and his three sons, and the several members of the Khas Mahal. The pensions of Mirza Ali, Salar Jang and his three sons were subsequently provided for in the arrangements made for the payment of the first Oudh loan. Of the Khas Mahal pensions, three, namely those of Lutf-un-Nisa, Mirza Muhammad Taki Khan and Mirza Nasir, and their children, aggregating Rs. 6,000 a month, were secured by the guarantee of the British Government. These are now known as the Zamanat Wasikas or security pensions.

In 1814, when Lord Moira proceeded to the upper provinces to be near the scene of action in the Nepal war, he was visited at Cawnpore by the Nawab-Wazir, who offered him a crore of rupees as a free gift. The gift was declined; but a loan of Rs. 1,08,50,000 at 6 per cent. per annum was accepted, the interest, (Rs. 6,51,000) being devoted to defray certain stipends (No. LX) guaranteed by the British Government. The principal of lapsed stipends was repayable to the Oudh Government: and up to 1855 there had been repaid at various times Rs. 72,42,765, leaving outstanding Rs. 36,07,235.

In March 1815, in consequence of the heavy expenditure during the Nepal war, Government applied to the Nawab-Wazir for a second loan of one crore of rupees at 6 per cent. On the conclusion of the war, this second loan was extinguished in 1816 by the cession (No. LXI) to the Nawab-Wazir of the district of Khairigarh and the Tarai lands conquered from the Gurkhas, between the Gogra on the west and the district of Gorakhpur. By the same Treaty part of the district of Gorakhpur was ceded by the British Government in exchange for the tract of country intervening between the British districts of Jaunpur, Mirzapur and Ailahabad.

In 1825 the Nawab-Wazir, who in 1819 had been raised by the British Government to the dignity of King, proposed that the British Government should cede to him a portion of their territories in exchange for a sum of money. There were, however, insuperable objections to the alienation of any portion of British territory. But, as the Government were suffering from the financial difficulties caused by the protracted hostilities in Burma, and as the King's treasury was full, a proposal was made to take from him a loan of a crore of rupees at 5 per cent. interest. By an Agreement (No. LXII) concluded in 1825, the interest of this loan was devoted in perpetuity to the payment of certain stipends, and the British Government agreed to be the protector of the honour and prosperity of the stipendiaries.

In 1826 a fourth loan of half a crore of rupees was taken at 5 per cent. interest, repayable after two years. In 1827 Ghazi-ud-Din Haidar requested that this loan might be made perpetual, and that the interest should be devoted to meet certain pensions, the stipendiaries being guaranteed the protection of the British Government. But the previous guarantees which Government had given had produced so much embarrassment that the request of the King was declined.

Ghazi-ud-Din Haidar died in 1827 and was succeeded by his son Nasir-ud-Din Haidar. Being anxious to make a permanent provision for certain ladies of his household, Nasir-ud-Din Haidar proposed to grant another loan at 5 per cent. interest, consisting of the half crore lent in the previous year with an additional sum of Rs. 12,40,000. This loan was accepted in 1829 (No. LXIII), but was made redeemable at any time after the death of the original stipendiaries. No guarantee was given of protection to the stipendiaries, but a promise was made that they would always be treated with special favour and kindness. Rs. 38,40,000 of this loan were repaid in 1853 to the heirs of some of the original grantees; Rs. 2,40,000 being paid in cash, and Rs. 36,00,000 by transfer to the Government 4 per cent. loan.

In 1833, at the request of the King, Government accepted another loan of Rs. 3,00,000 at 4 per cent., and agreed (No. LXIV) to pay the interest in monthly charitable payments to the poor in the city of Lucknow.

Nasir-ud-Din Haidar died in 1837, and was succeeded by his uncle, Muhammad Ali Shah. On his accession a Treaty (No. LXV) was concluded with him to which the assent of the King was most reluctantly given. The Court of Directors therefore disallowed it, and directed the restoration of the relations with Oudh to the footing on which they had previously stood. The King was thereupon informed of the determination of Government to relieve him from all that was onerous in the conditions respecting the subsidiary force established under the Treaty, and to defray from the British treasury the expense of that portion of the force which had been already organized; but the formal abrogation of the Treaty was not intimated to him.

Muhammad Ali Shah, being anxious to provide pensions in perpetuity for certain members of his family, offered in 1838 a loan of Rs. 17,00,000 at 4 per cent., and requested that the pensioners to whom the interest was to be paid should be guaranteed against oppression by future Rulers of Oudh. The loan was accepted (No. LXVI); but, as in the Agreement of 1829 with Nasir-ud-Din Haidar, no guarantee was given, the pensioners being promised only the special favour and kindness of the British Government.

In 1839 Muhammad Ali Shah subscribed 12 lakhs of rupees to the 4 per cent. loan, the interest of which he allotted by a Deed of Trust (No. LXVII) for the expenses of the Husainabad Imambara. To this the King added other sums, aggregating Rs. 24,17,500; and after his death a sum of Rs. 2,33,000 was also invested by the Trustees out of the unexpended surplus of the interest.

In 1840 the King allotted by another Deed of Trust (No. LXVIII) a sum of Rs. 3,40,800 of which Rs. 2,87,000 were to bear interest at 5 per cent. and Rs. 53,800 at 4 per cent., for the endowment of a hospital at Lucknow.

Various other sums were at different times invested by the King of Oudh in Government funds; but these investments were guaranteed by no special engagements and differed in no way from ordinary contributions to Government loans, except that in some cases the promissory notes were deposited in the Government treasury at Lucknow, and the interest was paid monthly instead of quarterly. Thus in February 1842 a sum of Rs. 14,00,000 was contributed, on twelve lakhs of which the interest was made payable monthly. In July 1842 twenty lakhs were subscribed, on eight lakhs of which the interest was made payable monthly; and in September 1842 twelve lakhs more were subscribed on the same terms.

Muhammad Ali Shah died in 1842 and was succeeded by his son Amjad Ali Shah, who was succeeded on the 13th February 1847 by Wajid Ali Shah.

The condition of the internal administration of Oudh had attracted attention from the earliest times of the connection of the British Government with the State: and it was one of the provisions of the Treaty of 1801 (No. LV) that the Nawab-Wazir should introduce, under the advice of the British Government, such a system of administration as should be conducive to the prosperity of his subjects, and be calculated to secure the lives and property of the inhabitants. Notwithstanding the repeated warning and advice of successive Residents, the administration was not improved: and in 1831 Lord William Bentinck found it necessary to warn the King that, in the event of improvement and reformation not being effected by his own officers, the settlement of the country would be made by British officers. This warning was neglected; the misgovernment of the country continued; and in November 1847, a few months after the accession of Wajid Ali Shah, Lord Hardinge proceeded to Lucknow and again warned the King that, if within two years the administration should not be reformed, the British Government would be forced to interfere by assuming the government of Oudh. No improvement took place within the two years of probation; but a natural reluctance to proceed to extreme measures prevented Government from at once acting up to the threat held out by Lord Hardinge, and the outbreak of the second war with Burma diverted for a time the attention of the Government from Oudh.

In 1854, however, as there were still no visible signs of the improvement in the administration of Oudh stipulated for under the Treaty of 1801, the Resident was called on to report whether conditions admitted any further postponement of the recourse to extreme measures which Government reluctantly felt must eventually be resorted to. The Resident's enquiries showed that the state of Oudh was most deplorable, and that the improvement, which Lord Hardinge had peremptorily demanded seven years before, had not been effected in any degree. The British Government therefore finally resolved to assume the administration of Oudh, in one form or another. A treaty* was proposed to the King, which provided that the sole civil and military government of Oudh should be vested in the British Government for ever; that the title of King of Oudh should be continued to His Majesty and the lawful male heirs of his body; that the King should be treated with all due attention,

* TREATY between the HONOURABLE EAST INDIA COMPANY and HIS MAJESTY ABDUL MANSUR, NASIR-UD-DIN SIKANDAR JAH, MUHAMMAD WAJID ALI SHAH, King of Oudh; settled on the part of the HONOURABLE COMPANY by MAJOR-GENERAL JAMES OUTRAM, C.B., Resident at Lucknow, in virtue of full powers granted to him by the MOST NOBLE JAMES RAMSAY, MARQUIS of DALHOUSIE, Knight of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle, one of HER MAJESTY'S Most Honourable Privy Council, GOVERNOR-GENERAL in Council, appointed by the HONOURABLE COMPANY to direct and control all their affairs in the East Indies; in and on the part of HIS MAJESTY the KING OF OUDH by

Whereas in the year 1801 a Treaty was concluded between the Honourable East India Company and His Excellency the Nawab Wazir Saadat Ali Khan, Bahadur; and whereas the 6th Article of the said Treaty requires that the Ruler of Oudh, always advising with and acting in conformity to the council of the officers of the Honourable Company, shall "establish in his reserved dominions such a system of administration, to be carried into effect by his own officers, as shall be conducive to the prosperity of his subjects, and be calculated to secure the lives and property of the inhabitants"; and whereas the infraction of this essential engagement of the Treaty by successive Rulers of Oudh has been continued and notorious; and whereas its long toleration of such infraction of the Treaty on the part of the Rulers of Oudh has exposed the British Government to the reproach of having failed to fulfil the obligations it assumed towards the people of that country; and whereas it has now become the imperative duty of the British Government to take effectual measures for securing permanently to the people of Oudh such a system of just and beneficent administration as the Treaty of 1801 was intended, but has failed, to provide; the following Treaty consisting of seven Articles, is concluded, on the one part by the Most Noble the Marquis of Dalhousie, K.T., Governor-General in Council, appointed by the Honourable Company to direct and control all their affairs in the East Indies, through Major-General Outram, C.B., Resident at Lucknow, under full powers vested in him by the said Governor-General; and on the other part by His Majesty, Abdul Mansur, Nasir-ud-Din, Sikandar Jah, Muhammad Wajid Ali Shah, King of Oudh, for himself and his heirs, through

ARTICLE I.

It is hereby stipulated and agreed that the sole and exclusive administration of the Civil and Military Government of the Territories of Oudh shall be henceforth vested for ever in the Honourable East India Company, together with the full and respect and honour, and should have exclusive jurisdiction within the palace at Lucknow and the Dil Kusha and Bibiapur parks, except as to the infliction of capital punishment; that the King Wajid Ali Shah should receive twelve lakhs a year for the support of his dignity and honour; that the Company should maintain for His Majesty a body of palace guards at a cost not exceeding three lakhs of Company's rupees per annum; that each of his successors should receive twelve lakhs a year; and that his collateral relations should be separately maintained by the British Government.

The King was allowed three days to consider and sign the treaty. He refused to sign it, and therefore, in February 1856, the British Government assumed to itself the government of Oudh exclusively and for ever. A provision of twelve lakhs a year was offered to the King, which he accepted in October 1859. Separate provision was sanctioned for his collateral relatives. Wajid Ali Shah was allowed to retain the title of King of Oudh, but on his death the title was to cease absolutely, and the pecuniary allowance was not to be continued on the same scale. A residence for the King was purchased by Government at Garden Reach in the suburbs of Calcutta, but he was informed that the exercise of an independent jurisdiction within the precincts of his estate, or the immunity of any of his officers or attendants from the ordinary operation of the law, could not be sanctioned. Provision was made by Act XIV of 1860 for the execution of civil and criminal process within the premises occuexclusive right to the revenues thereof, the said Company hereby engaging to make ample provision for the maintenance of the Royal dignity, as hereinafter mentioned, and for the due improvement of the said territories.

ARTICLE II.

It is stipulated and agreed that the Sovereign title of King of Oudh shall be retained by His Majesty, and that it shall descend in continual succession to the heirs male of his body, born in lawful wedlock.

ARTICLE III.

It is stipulated and agreed that His Majesty the King and his successors shall be treated upon all occasions with the attention, respect, and honour which are due to a Sovereign Prince.

ARTICLE IV.

It is further stipulated and agreed that, notwithstanding the provisions of the first Article of the present Treaty, His Majesty the King of Oudh and his successors shall retain full and exclusive jurisdiction within the precincts of the Palace at Lucknow, as well as within the Dil Kusha and Bibiapur parks, provided always that the punishment of death shall not be inflicted by the order of the King, or within the limits of the palace and garden parks aforesaid, unless with the previous consent of the Governor-General in Council.

ARTICLE V.

Whereas it is expedient and right that the Crown of His Majesty the King of Oudh should be upheld in fitting dignity and honour, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that the Honourable East India Company shall pay to His Majesty the said Muhammad Wajid Ali Shah, from out of the revenues of Oudh, twelve lakhs of pied by the King, through the officer appointed to be Agent with him on the part of the British Government. Another enactment, Act VIII of 1862, was passed to exempt the King from the jurisdiction of the criminal courts, except for capital offences; to provide for the trial, if necessary, of other offences by commission; to exempt the King from appearance in court as a witness; and to provide for his examination through the Agent to the Governor-General in cases where his evidence might be required. By a further Act, XIII of 1868, the King was exempted from the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts except in regard to suits instituted with the consent of Government, and was rendered incapable of entering into any contract which might give rise to a pecuniary obligation on his part.

Wajid Ali Shah died on the 21st September 1887, and on his death Act XIX of 1887 was passed, empowering the Governor-General in Council to administer his estate. Arrangements were made for the disposal of the property at Garden Reach, the proceeds realised going to the estate, and pensions were granted to the King's family and dependants.

Company's Rupees per annum; and that the said Company shall further maintain for His Majesty a body of palace guards at a cost not exceeding three lakhs of Company's Rupees per annum.

To each of His Majesty's successors it is agreed that the said Company shall pay twelve lakhs of Company's Rupees per annum.

ARTICLE VI.

In order that nothing may be wanting to the full measure of liberal endowment which the Honourable East India Company desires to secure to His Majesty the King of Oudh, it is hereby agreed that the said Company shall take upon itself the maintenance of all collateral members of the Royal family, for whom provision is now made by His Majesty the King.

ARTICLE VII.

All former Treaties between the Honourable East India Company and the Rulers of Oudh which are now in force, and which are not contrary to the tenor of this engagement, are confirmed by it.

This Treaty, consisting of seven Articles has been settled and concluded by Major-General James Outram, C.B., Resident at Lucknow, under the full powers vested in him by the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council as aforesaid, with His Majesty Abdul Mansur, Nasir-ud-Din, Sikandar Jah, Muhammad Wajid Ali Shah, King of Oudh, for himself and his heirs, in the city of Lucknow, on the day of _____ in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, corresponding with _____ 13th June 1772.

First.—Friendship is established between us, and we, Haffiz Rhamut Khan and Zabitah Khan, and all the other Rohilla Sardars, great and small, have agreed and determined with the Vizier of the Empire, Shujah-ul-Dowla, that we adhere to the substance of this writing, and never deviate from this Agreement; that we esteem his friends as our friends, and his enemies as our enemies, and that we and our heirs, during our lives, shall adhere firmly to this our Oath and Agreement, that we shall be united and joined together for the protection of the country of the Vizier of the Empire and of our own country; and if any enemy (which God forbid) should make an attempt against us and the Vizier, we, the Rohilla Sardars and the Vizier of the Empire, shall use our joint endeavours to oppose him; we also, all the Rohilla Sardars, shall also join and unite in any measures that may be determined by the Vizier of the Empire for the benefit of the Nabob Mahomed Zabitah Khan. We, both parties swear by the Almighty, His Prophet, and the sacred Koran, that we will firmly adhere to this solemn Agreement, nor ever deviate from this our Treaty.

This Treaty confirmed by oath, and sealed in the presence of General Sir Robert Barker.

TRANSLATION of the AGREEMENT given by HAFFIZ RHAMUT KHAN to the VIZIER.

As the Vizier of the Empire, the Nabob Shujah-ul-Dowla, will put the Rohilla Sardars in full possession of their country, it is at his own option to effect it either by peace or war. Should the Mahrattas at this time, without coming to an engagement or peace being established, cross the river, and retreat owing to the rainy season, and after that is elapsed, commit disturbances in the country of the Rohillas, the quelling of these disturbances shall belong to the Vizier. The Rohilla Sardars after the aforesaid business, do agree to pay the sum of 40 lakhs of rupees on the following terms; viz., as the Mahrattas are now committing disorders in the country of the Rohillas, the Vizier shall march from Shahabad to such place as may be thought proper to arrive at, in order that the Rohilla dependents may come out of the jungles and arrive at their own homes. The sum of ten lakhs of rupees shall then be paid in ready money, in part of the stipulation, and 30 lakhs of rupees shall be discharged in three years, beginning from the Fussellee year 1186.

This Agreement is sealed in the presence of General Sir Robert Barker.

TREATY, under the Hands and Seals of the NABOB SHUJAH-UL-DOWLA BEHAUDER and COLONEL CHAMPION,—1774.

A friendship having been entered into between me and Fyzoollah Khan, I have agreed to give him the country of Rampore and some other districts dependent thereupon, producing altogether an annual revenue of 14,75,000 rupees, and I have stipulated that Fyzoollah Khan shall retain in his service five thousand troops, and not a single man more; I therefore give this written Engagement that I will, at all times, and on all occasions, support the honor and character of Fyzoollah Khan, and will promote his interest and advantage to the utmost of my power, upon the following conditions: That Fyzoollah Khan shall enter into no connection with any person but myself, and that he shall hold no correspondence with any person, except the English Chiefs; that he shall consider my friends as his friends, and my enemies as his enemies; and that with whomsoever I shall make war, Fyzoollah Khan shall send two or three thousand men according to his ability, to join my forces: and if I march in person, Fyzoollah Khan shall himself accompany me with his troops; and if, on account of the smallness of the number of the forces he is to retain in his service, he is not able to accompany me, I will then appoint him three or four thousand more troops, that he may accompany me with a good army, and I will be at the expense of supporting them. Upon the performance of these conditions, I have agreed to give the said countries, at the afore-mentioned revenue, to Fyzoollah Khan, and to promote his interest and advantage to the utmost of my power.

If Fyzoollah Khan fulfil the Articles of his Treaty, and adheres steadily to it, God willing, I will not neglect whatever may be for his advantage.

He shall send the remainder of the Rohillas on the other side of the river.

I have sworn by the holy Koran, calling God and His Prophet to witness to the performance of these Articles.

TRANSLATION of a writing given by MAJOR WILLIAM PALMER to the NABOB FYZOOLLAH KHAN,—17th February 1783.

Whereas Treaties of various Articles having subsisted formerly between the late Vizier Shujah-ul-Dowla, and the present Vizier, Ausuf-ul-Dowla, with the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan, one Article contained in those Treaties was, that the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan should, whenever His Excellency sent his troops upon service, supply a force to join them of two or three thousand men. This has been the occasion of disputes and doubts between the parties. Therefore the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan has through me requested His Excellency the Vizier to remit that Article by which he is bound to supply a force occasionally ; instead of which he agrees to pay fifteen lakhs of rupees in the following manner : five lakhs to be paid immediately, five lakhs in the Khereef, and two lakhs in the Rubby of the year 1191 Fussellee ; and the remaining three lakhs in the beginning of the Khereef of the Fussellee year 1192. His Excellency the Vizier has also agreed upon these conditions to remit the obligation by that Article in the former Treaties, from this date, the fourteenth of Rubby-ul-Awul in the Hegira year 1197, the rest of the Articles remaining in full force. I, who am deputed on the part of His Excellency the Vizier, and the gentlemen of the Council, engage that the Nabob Vizier shall not expect a supply of troops, and should he demand it, the gentlemen with him, on the part of the gentlemen of the Council, shall remons-trate against his demands, provided the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan complies with all the Articles contained in the Treaty between His Excellency and him, excepting that Article by which he is to supply a force, and that the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan do not encourage or protect the farmers of the Nabob's country in his own country. His Excellency the Vizier will, on his part, comply with the Articles of the former Treaty, and the Officers of his Government will not protect or encourage any of Fyzoollah Khan's farmers in their districts. I agree to have the Treaty on the part of His Excellency the Vizier for disengaging the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan from the obligation of supplying a force, and the paper of guarantee from the gentlemen of the Council, wrote and sent to the Nabob Fyzoollah Khan.

Question 7.

There are several places, lands, and chucks of villages, purchased by Sunnoo Khan, Golam Ally-ud-Deen Khan, &c., and other Afghans, which are exempt from the revenue of the Circar lands, and have been possessed by those persons, until they went to the foot of the hills; I hope that a perwannah of exemption will now be issued to the Nazim of Bareilly.

Answer 7.

The jaghiredar possesses the power of this Article in the mehals belonging to his jaghire.

Question 8.

I hope an order may be issued to the Nazim of Bareilly, relative to those who may reside in the villages belonging to the Vizier, and may commit robberies in the jaghire of Ahmed Ally Khan, and that the perwannah may be to this effect: "On investigation to punish the thieves, and to return the stolen property to the inhabitants of the jaghire".

Answer 8.

In this respect, whatever was the custom during the time of Fyzoollah Khan, will now be adhered to.

Question 9.

Let the duties receivable on the merchandize of the Afghans be continued as they were formerly, and let not the custom-house officers of the Circar demand more.

Answer 9.

The rule observed during the time of Fyzoollah Khan, in this respect, will now be adhered to.

Question 10.

During the time of Fyzoollah Khan, the concerns Dad-o-situd of the time of Haffiz Ramut, be they with whom they will, were stopped by the Vizier, so that no one could be molested on account of old concerns; now also, should any one apply to the Presence in this respect, let them not be listened to.

Answer 10.

Question 11.

The village Sahebgunge, in pergunnah Huzrutnagon, exempt from revenue, was bestowed in jaghire by Fyzoollah Khan on Sahet Roy, deceased : I hope that a perwannah may now be granted, continuing this village free.

Answer 11.

If this village comes within the mehals of the jaghire, it rests with the jaghiredar.

I have much pleasure in acknowledging receipt of your communication, dated 16th December 1864, with its enclosures, from the Government, North-Western Provinces, No. 222-A., dated 1st October 1864, enquiring whether the land required for railway purposes from this State is to be given up to Government in full sovereignty, and whether, after the completion of the line, the goods in transit through my territory will be subject to any duty.

In reply, I beg to inform you that I have no hesitation in giving up the land in full sovereignty to the British Government. As regards the levy of duty on goods passing through my territory, I beg to state that Government in orders, No. , dated 15th April 1845, to the address of the Board, and to the Agent, Lieutenant-Governor, Rohilcund, No. 9, dated 8th May 1845, ruled that the 5,000 maunds of salt and 20 maunds of opium annually obtained by me from Oudh and elsewhere for consumption, should be exempted from duty on its transit to Rampore. Under these circumstances, all traffic that passes through my territory will be similarly exempted from duty ; but if goods are exposed for sale in the market, they will be subject to the usual duty.

No. XXVIII.

AGREEMENT executed between the TEHRI STATE and the BRITISH GOVERNMENT for the construction of JHULAS over the rivers which form the boundary between BRITISH GARHWAL and the TEHRI STATE,—1927.

An Agreement made the fifteenth day of August One thousand nine hundred and twenty seven between His Excellency the Governor-General of India in Council of the one part and His Highness Narendra Shah, C.S.I., Raja of Tehri, of the other part. Whereas along part of their courses the rivers Mandakani, Alaknanda and Ganges form the boundary between the State of Tehri and the district of Garhwal in British India, and whereas the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, or the District Board of Garhwal have from time to time constructed certain jhulas across the aforesaid rivers along the aforesaid boundary and levy tolls from persons using the same, and whereas His Highness the Raja of Tehri desires to share in the revenue to be derived from tolls levied at any jhulas which may hereafter be constructed or reconstructed across the aforesaid boundary. Now it is hereby agreed between the contracting parties.

ARTICLE 1.

His Highness the Raja of Tehri recognizes the exclusive right of the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh or their authorized agents (as the case may be) to the whole of the tolls now levied or hereafter to be levied at any jhulas heretofore constructed by the aforesaid Government or their authorized agents across the aforesaid rivers along the aforesaid boundary. No toll will be levied by the State of Tehri at any such jhula so long as the same is in existence; but if the reconstruction of any such jhula, after it has fallen into disuse, becomes necessary, the provisions of Article 2 shall apply.

ARTICLE 2.

Neither the State of Tehri nor the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh will hereafter construct a jhula or reconstruct a disused jhula or (subject to the provision of Article 4) permit the construction of a jhula or reconstruction of a disused jhula across the aforesaid rivers along the aforesaid boundary without inviting the other to contribute one-half of the cost of construction or reconstruction of the same and of its maintenance. If both of them so contribute, the tolls to be levied at such jhulas shall be fixed by agreement between them and so long as they contribute equally towards the cost of its maintenance, the net revenue derived from tolls levied thereat will be divided equally between them.

ARTICLE 3.

If the State of Tehri or the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh refuse to contribute towards the cost of constructing a jhula or reconstructing a disused jhula along the aforesaid boundary and the jhula is thereafter constructed or reconstructed as the case may be at the expense of one of them alone, then the party, which constructs or reconstructs such jhula, may fix the tolls to be levied thereat and shall be entitled to take the whole of such tolls for its own use.

ARTICLE 4.

Before either the State of Tehri or the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh grants a license to any contractor to construct a jhula across the aforesaid boundary and to levy tolls thereat, the consent of the other party shall be obtained. Such consent shall not ordinarily be refused unless the proposed jhula is within two miles of an existing jhula constructed in whole or part by the other party. The tolls (if any) to be charged at such jhula and the disposal thereof shall be at the discretion of the party which grants the licence.

ARTICLE 5.

TREATY with the NABOB of FURRUCKABAD,—4th June 1802.

Treaty between the Honourable East India Company and the Nabob Imdad Hoossain Khan, for ceding to the Honourable the East India Company, in perpetual sovereignty, the province of Furruckabad and its dependencies, in commutation of the tribute hitherto payable by the said Nabob to the Honourable Company, concluded on the one part by the Honourable Henry Wellesley, Lieutenant-Governor of the Ceded Provinces in Oudh, by virtue of full powers vested in him for that purpose by His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General, and on the other part by the Nabob Imdad Hoossain Khan Behauder, Nasser Jung, on behalf of himself, his heirs and successors.

ARTICLE 1.

It is hereby stipulated and agreed that the province of Furruckabad and its dependencies shall be ceded, in perpetual sovereignty, to the Honourable the East India Company, from the commencement of the Fussellee year 1210, the Nabob transferring to the Company his right and property in the same, with the exceptions hereafter mentioned.

ARTICLE 2.

With a view of providing for the maintenance and dignity of the Nabob Imdad Hoossain Khan Behauder, it is agreed that he shall receive a monthly allowance of nine thousand Rupees (or one lakh and eight thousand Rupees annually) which allowance shall be continued to his heirs and successors, and shall not be subject to any diminution, from any cause whatsoever. And it is further agreed that the said Nabob shall be treated on all occasions with the attention, respect, and honour due to his rank and situation, and to a friend of the British Government.

ARTICLE 3.

The Honourable the Lieutenant-Governor engages that two thousand Rupees yearly shall be allowed for the expenses of the Imaumbarrah; and that the amount of three thousand six hundred Rupees yearly, for the payment of the allowances to the separate mehals of the late Nabob Mozuffer Jung, hitherto paid by Omroo Begum, shall be distributed hereafter by the Nabob, who shall deliver the receipts for the same to the Company's Civil Officer; provided it should be found that these allowances have not been regularly paid by Omroo Begum.

ARTICLE 4.

In compliance with the Nabob's desire, the gardens formerly the property of his father, the village of Sereyah Neamutpoor, the forfeited houses in Furruckabad, and the property of the Ranee Souheb, shall be considered as his exclusive property, if there should appear to be no other person legally entitled to such property.

ARTICLE 5.

As the detailed list given in by the Nabob, of family connections and attendants, under the head of pensions, and the list delivered in by Kherud Mund Khan, are in many respects different, and as it is the intention of the British Government that provision should be made for persons whose claims to pensions shall appear to be well founded, it is hereby agreed that the rights of the different claimants shall be inquired into by the civil officer appointed by the British Government, in conjunction with the Nabob, and that Sunnuds shall be granted, under their joint seals and signatures, agreeably to which Sunnuds the pensioners shall be paid by the Nabob, who will deliver their receipts to the Company's Civil Officer.

ARTICLE 6.

The authority of the Court of Adawlut shall not extend to the person of the Nabob; but as his connections and dependants are undefined, and as it is the object of the British Government to introduce a fair and impartial administration of justice throughout the province of Furruckabad, it is agreed that whatever complaints may be preferred against any of the Nabob's dependants, shall in the first instance, be referred to the Nabob, and, in the event of the complainant not receiving speedy justice, or being dissatisfied with the Nabob's decision, the complaint shall be decided in the Court of Adawlut.

ARTICLE 7.

In compliance with the Nabob's request, allowances shall be granted to the undermentioned persons, to be continued so long as their conduct shall be satisfactory to the British Government and to the Nabob:—

	Rs.

SANAND granted to RAJA MAHIP NARAIN BAHADUR for the ZAMINDARI of BENARES, GHAZIPUR, CHUNAR, etc.,—1781.

Be it known to the Mutsaddis in office, present and to come, kanungos, mukadams and people, resident in and belonging to Sircar Benares, Ghazipur and Chunar, in the Subba of Allahabad, that the Governor General and Council of the Provinces of Bengal, Behar and Orissa, acting on the part of the Honourable East India Company of England, have in virtue of the powers vested in them, and of the right obtained to them by a treaty concluded with the Nawab Asaf-ud-dowla on the 20th Rabi-ul-awal, 1189 Hijri, or 21st May 1775, in which the sovereignty of the Sircars, above mentioned, was ceded to them, from the 4th Jamadi-ul-awal, in 1189 Hijri, or 4th July 1775, appointed Raja Mahip Narain to the zamindari of the said Sircar and to the Amini and Faujdari of the towns and places of the same, agreeable to the Zimmun, except the adalat and Faujdari of the Town of Benares, the powers of the said Raja in that town extending only to the collection of its revenues and to the appointment of officers acting under his authority for that purpose. The said Raja is appointed also to the Kotwali of Jaunpur.

He is not to be in the smallest instance remiss in the observation and execution of the several duties incumbent on him, he is to behave with kindness and moderation to the ryots and people of the Zamindari, he is to promote the cultivation and produce of the lands, and the increase of their inhabitants, he is in all places under his authority to expel thieves, nightly-assaulters, murderers, and all evil-doers and so effectually punish the disturbers of the peace that none shall remain. Thus shall the honour and credit of the East India Company be strengthened, and with them his own. He is in no place to erect forts nor any sort of defences whatsoever within the limits of the Zamindari, not is he to entertain in his employ any troops either horse or foot, for any purpose whatsoever without the order or permission of the Governor General and Council or their successors.

The power of levying forces and erecting and maintaining fortresses are always considered as royalties or appurtenances of the Sovereign State, and will not be exercised by him accordingly; whenever the assistance of troops shall be required to enforce the collection of the revenue or to maintain good order and tranquillity in the country such troops shall be the troops of the Company, furnished by the orders of their representatives.

In consideration of the grant thus made to the said Raja Mahip Narain of the said Zamindari, which is granted to him in perpetuity, while on his part he shall duly fulfil the conditions of it, he is also to pay yearly at Benares unto the said East India Company or any person appointed by its representatives to secure the same, the fixed sum of forty lakhs of Benares Sicca Rupees of full weight and standard, and the said sum of forty lakhs of Benares Sicca Rupees is to be paid as aforesaid in the monthly kist, hereinafter mentioned; but as the rebellious conduct of the late zamindar of this country may in its consequences have been productive of devastations, the Governor General and Council have been pleased to deduct on this account from the revenue of the present year, 1189 Fasli, the sum of six lakhs sixty-six thousand six hundred and sixty-six Benares Sicca Rupees ten annas and ten gundas such deduction leaving the amount payable to the Company for the present year thirty-three lakhs thirty-three thousand three hundred and thirty-three Benares Sicca Rupees five annas and ten gundas, which is to be paid in the following months and according to the proportions fixed opposite to each of them :—

amount of his malguzari, and shall be conformable to the average receipt of the late Raja on their account for the last five years, certain jagirs having been granted by Government to persons whose names are recited in the Raja's kistbundi of this date, and certain charity allowances given to the rozinadars, etc., as recited in the same, the Raja is to be careful that the order of the Government be punctually and strictly attended to. He is to be heedful also by no means to collect the prohibited Abwab of the Durga of His Majesty.

The engagements stipulated in this Sanad having been duly fulfilled, the Raja shall in the customary manner receive credit for his payments, and in addition to the receipts given monthly for his monthly malguzari by the person authorized to receive it on account of the Company farigh-khati or general discharge shall be given him at the end of each year, when due, by the Governor General in Council.

This Sanad being granted is to remain in full force. You, the Mutsaddis and persons above mentioned, are to regard Raja Mahip Narain as truly and lawfully possessed of the zemandari, aumini and faujdari of the above Sircar in the manner and to the extent recited in it and to acknowledge his authority in the several acts appertaining thereunto. Know that I, Warren Hastings, Governor General in the name, and with the powers of the Governor General in Council, who are the Company's representatives, have here issued the most strict and positive commands, and obey them accordingly.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT with RAJAH MAHIPNARAIN for the ZEMINDARI of BENARES,—27th October 1794.

The Governor General in Council being at this time desirous to introduce with the consent of Rajah Mahipnarain, the Zemindar, into the Zilla of Benares for the advantage thereof, the same system and rules for the administration of justice and for the concerns of the revenue as was in 1793 established within the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa during the Government of Marquis Cornwallis, and the said Rajah having, after consideration of the said circumstances, agreed to and approved thereof, so as that from the beginning of 1202 Fussiles, the administration of justice, which hath hitherto remained in the hands of natives, shall be conducted by English gentlemen, and that there shall also be separately appointed a Collector (being in like manner a British subject) for the realization of the revenue, whilst the duties of the Court of Appeals are to be conducted under similar regulations as are provided to that effect in Bengal, and for as much as the support of all these establishments will occasion to the Hon'ble Company's Government an increase of expense at the same time that under the operation of the permanent settlement concluded in 1197 the resources from the district bear also, under the favour of the Almighty, a prospect of increase; therefore with a view to provide for the said charges, which are solely to be incurred for the prosperity and advantage of the four Sircars composing the Zillah of Benares, the following articles have, with the privity of the Governor General in Council, been settled and concluded on between the said Rajah and Mr. Duncan, to be observed and followed in time to come, from the introduction of the new establishments :—

Article the 1st.—Out of the surplus revenue, over and above the 40 lakhs of rupees, which including the articles of deduction were stipulated to be payable by Rajah Mahipnarain, according to the estimrary pottah which he received from the Hon'ble Warren Hastings, Esquire, in the year 1781, one lakh of rupees per annum is, without fail, to be received from the Moolky Treasury by Rajah Mahipnarain, exclusive of the jaghirs and altumghas that are now in his possession, and the remaining surplus is to be annually expended in this district, and applied, under the authority of the Company's Government, towards the charges of the civil and judicial establishments in the support of the new and old Courts, and for the maintenance of the pautsalla or Hindoo college, and for repairing the roads and constructing bridges, and promoting the cultivation, etc.

2nd.—The revenue settlement made of the lands within the Raje of Benares, etc., having taken place with the privity and approbation of Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, Bahadur, the pottahs, receipts, and farigh-khutties, or acquittances thereof, are passed under the seal and signature of the said Rajah to the aumils, zemindars, and farmers, and the dufter or office, and khazanchi or treasurer of the said Rajah, having always remained for the carrying on of the country (i.e., revenue) business, the said signature, seal, office and treasurer are to remain in force and to be continued as usual.

3rd.—In case of complaints relative to revenue causes or charity ground, etc., being preferred to the Huzoor (i.e., the English Government) by any parties residing within the jaghir and altumgha, etc., the personal or private lands of Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, the enquiry thereunto shall be made in like manner as such cases were amicably conducted between Mr. Duncan and the Rajah, that is, that since the gentleman holding the station of Collector will have more concern and connection with such matters than the other gentlemen, the rule shall be that with the privity and ascertainment of the said Collector (who is to have regard to the honour and dignity of the said Rajah), such causes are to be settled through the channel of the said Rajah, or of the officers of the said Rajah's cutcherry, it being at the same time understood and provided that as it is a duty incumbent on the Hon'ble Company's Government to distribute and ensure the attainment of justice to all the inhabitants of Benares, should it so happen that after referring such complaints to the Rajah, or to his officers in the cutcherry, the contentment of the parties complaining and aggrieved shall not be obtained, the Rajah shall, relative to the adjustment of such causes, listen to, and approve of, the suggestions and advice of the Collector, in like manner as hath been practised in the time of Mr. Duncan; and it is also incumbent on the said Collector, in all proper and just cases, to show the utmost attention possible to the Rajah's accommodation, and to hold in view the maintenance of his honour and dignity, such being entirely consistent with the wishes of Government; and if (which God forbid) any such subject should arise as cannot be settled between the said Collector and the Rajah aforesaid, the decision on such cause shall depend on the Governor-General in Council.

Wherefore this ekramama hath, with the privity and approbation of the Governor-General in Council, been written and concluded between Rajah Mahipnarain Sing, Bahadur, the Zemindar of the Zillah of Benares, etc., and Mr. Duncan, who is at present in the station of Resident at Benares, on the part of the Government of the English East India Company.

Dated the 27th October 1794.

JONATHAN DUNCAN,
Resident.

SCHEDULE.

(a) Bhadohi Pargana :—area 391·6 square miles.

(b) Kera Mangraur Pargana :—area 473·9 square miles.

(c) Ramnagar Fort and its appurtenances as specified in the two specifications, following :—area 233 acres.

I.—The specification of Fort Ramnagar and its immediate appurtenance as shown on the map No. I attached.

The boundary begins on the north-west corner, where the moat or ditch surrounding a good deal of the fort joins the River Ganges. It goes along in an almost easterly direction, following the outward boundary of the ditch, skirting the basti called Mallahia Tola and beyond that Ramnagar Kohna. The line makes a turn much more to the south just in front of the big tamarind tree and passes in front of the Bhunja's shop following the watercourse into the front of the north-eastern bastion of the fort, where it takes an almost southerly course just in front of the lane going northward to Tgmoli Tola. After going almost southward up to the front of the temples it takes a sharp turn towards east, skirting puca shops and passing beyond Diwan's quarters up to a point just opposite the north-eastern corner of the saluting enclosure and on the western extremity of another lane going to Teliana. Here it crosses the main metalled road and passes due eastward, touching the eastern masonry boundary of the saluting enclosure. It turns again on the south-eastern corner of the enclosure, following its southern boundary due west and deflects due north from the south-west corner of the enclosure up the southern end of the western gate of the enclosure, where it goes straight westward, touching the southernmost wall of the tahsil building, crossing the workshop (kachcha) in a straight westerly direction behind the lines, till it emerges into the ditch near a nim tree just in front of the eastern bastion of the fort. From here it turns southwards, following the course of the ditch, skirting the basti called the Noniauti up to the south-eastern bastion, where it takes a westerly direction till the ditch joins the river-bed. Here the line takes a south-westerly direction to include a temple and the priest's house and deflects again westward till it joins the river. The boundary line passes six feet in front of the shops. The river boundary shown in the map is from the low water-marks.

The area of this fort and appurtenance is 20·7 acres.

II.—Specification of the further appurtenance as shown in the map No. II attached.

The boundary line of the additional appurtenance of the Fort of Ramnagar (Benares) begins just at the foot of a banyan tree (practically opposite the big well with the Hanuman god temple) at a point where a kachcha road branches off due west from the puca public road, from Ramnagar town towards the Dufferin Bridge at Benares, skirting the garden belonging to the Ausanganj estate. The boundary leaves this kachcha road on its left hand passing by its northern extremity skirting the huts of the Ahirs belonging to His Highness's cow stables. After going in a straight westerly direction up to the point where there is a plum-tree it takes an almost southern turn following the bend of the kachcha road enclosing the Maharaja's elephant stables and almost parallel to the western enclosure of the Ausanganj garden to a point where there is a puca well. From this point it turns straight westwards leaving a narrow kachcha road on its south to a point where there is a nim tree and cross roads. From here the line takes a due northerly direction following the course of the public kachcha road to Kathesar village, leaving the road on its western side flanking a garden and some fields till a point where there is junction of three roads. From here it takes due easterly direction following another kachcha road leading to the public main road (pucca) from Ramnagar town to the Dufferin Bridge. After cutting this public road it goes straight to the enclosure wall of the Kumar's summer-house often named the guest-house and the garden belonging to it. After touching the enclosure of this house the line follows almost touching the enclosure due northwards behind the District Board avenues of trees, leaving the latter on its western side till a point where there is a small bridge and where the enclosure ends in its northernmost extremity. From this point the boundary line runs straight eastwards enclosing a private road flanking some fields and enclosing the parade ground of the Maharaja's troops and the mango-groves known as Bharat Bag up to the north-eastern extremity of the latter named garden to a point where a channel for the discharge of the surplus water of the tank is met. From here the boundary line takes an almost south-easterly direction following the bend of the kachcha private road and enclosing it till it meets the pucca private road encircling the big pucca tank opposite the north-western minaret adorning the tank. From this point the line takes a due easterly direction enclosing the pucca private road and touching the fencing of a field and parallel to the northern side of the big tank till it reaches the wall of a garden named Durga Bag containing a masonry well and a reservoir for a fountain almost opposite the north-eastern minaret adorning the temple. Following the southern wall of this garden and running parallel to the channel for the inflow of the water to the big tank the line takes a due eastern direction to a point where there is a mango tree off 50 feet north. From here it turns due south enclosing the temple garden and the temple of the family gods of His Highness parallel to the western side of a garden named Khalwa-ka-bari to a point 69 feet from the south-eastern corner of the pucca temple enclosure. From here the line turns due west parallel to the walls of the temple till it joins the pucca private road encircling the tank and then turns southward parallel to the road enclosing it till a point opposite to a mound of earth belonging to the kachcha tank of Ausanganj estate, 24 feet west of a mango tree. From here the line turns straight west parallel to the walls of the garden named Ram Bag, the Maharaja's summer residence, and leaving the kachcha tank on the southern side till it reaches another mound of earth of the same tank and passing it touches the masonry enclosure wall of another garden called Gulab Bag, leaving the basti Kutloopur on the south side. From here it takes a due southern course touching the masonry walls of this garden and leaving the village on its eastern side and then turning to west at a point where the eastern garden wall ends. From here it goes straight westwards touching the boundary of this garden till it touches the enclosure of another mango garden called Girja Bag. From here it turns southward again till it joins a private kachcha road leading from the public pucca road and then turns due west taking in the private kachcha road touching some orchards and parallel to the kachcha enclosure of Girja Bag till it again touches the main pucca public road from Ram-nagar to Benares and then cutting it joins the eastern walls of the Maharaja's cow stables and then almost touching it turns southward till it touches the banyan tree again from where it began. The area of this additional appurtenance is 212·3 acres.

TREATY between the NABOB SHUJAH-UL-DOWLA, the NABOB NUDJUM-UL-DOWLA, and the ENGLISH COMPANY, executed at ILLIABAD,—the 16th of August 1765.

(Sealed and approved of by the King.)

Whereas, the Right Honourable Robert, Lord Clive, Baron Clive of Plassey, Knight Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Major-General and Commander of the Forces, President of the Council, and Governor of Fort William, and of all the Settlements belonging to the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, in the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and John Carnac, Esq., Brigadier-General, Colonel in the service of the said Company, and Commanding Officer of their Forces upon the Bengal Establishment, are invested with full and ample powers on the behalf of His Excellency the Nabob Nudjum-ul-Dowla, Soubahdar of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and likewise on the behalf of the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, to negotiate, settle, and finally to conclude a firm and lasting peace with His Highness the Nabob Shujah-ul-Dowla, Vizier of the Empire: Be it known to all those to whom it may or shall in any manner belong, that the above-named Plenipotentiaries have agreed upon the following Articles with His Highness:—

ARTICLE 1.

A perpetual and universal peace, sincere friendship, and firm union shall be established between His Highness Shujah-ul-Dowla and his heirs, on the one part, and His Excellency Nudjum-ul-Dowla, and the English East India Company on the other; so that the said contracting powers shall give the greatest attention to maintain between themselves, their dominions, and their subjects this reciprocal friendship, without permitting, on either side, any kind of hostilities to be committed, from henceforth, for any cause, or under any pretence whatsoever, and everything shall be carefully avoided which might hereafter prejudice the union now happily established.

ARTICLE 2.

In case the dominions of His Highness Shujah-ul-Dowla shall at any time hereafter be attacked, His Excellency Nudjum-ul-Dowla and the English Company shall assist him with a part or the whole of their forces, according to the exigency of his affairs, and so far as may be consistent with their own security: and if the dominions of His Excellency Nudjum-ul-Dowla or the English Company shall be attacked, His Highness shall, in like manner, assist them with a part or the whole of his forces. In the case of the English Company's forces being employed in His Highness' service, the extraordinary expense of the same is to be defrayed by him.

ARTICLE 3.

His Highness solemnly engages never to entertain or receive Cossim Ally Khan, the late Soubahdar of Bengal, &c., Sombre, the assassin of the English, nor any of the European deserters, within his dominions, nor to give the least countenance, support, or protection to them. He likewise solemnly engages to deliver up to the English whatever Europeans may in future desert from them into his country.

ARTICLE 4.

The King Shah Aalum shall remain in full possession of Cora, and such part of the Province of Illiabad as he now possesses, which are ceded to His Majesty, as a royal demesne, for the support of his dignity and expenses.

ARTICLE 5.

His Highness Shujah-ul-Dowla engages, in a most solemn manner, to continue Bulwant Sing in the zemindarries of Benares, Ghazepore, and all those districts he possessed at the time he came over to the late Nabob Jaffier Ally Khan and the English, on condition of his paying the same revenue as heretofore.

ARTICLE 6.

In consideration of the great expense incurred by the English Company in carrying on the late war, His Highness agrees to pay them (50) fifty lakhs of rupees in the following manner; viz., (12) twelve lakhs in money, and a deposit of jewels to the amount of (8) eight lakhs, upon the signing of this Treaty; (5) five lakhs one month after, and the remaining (25) twenty-five lakhs by monthly payments, so as that the whole may be discharged in (13) thirteen months from the date hereof.

ARTICLE 7.

It being firmly resolved to restore to His Highness the country of Benares, and the other districts now rented by Bulwant Sing, notwithstanding the grant of the same from the King to the English Company, it is therefore agreed that they shall be ceded to His Highness in manner following, viz., they shall remain in the hands of the English Company, with their revenues, till the expiration of the Agreement between Bulwant Sing and the Company being on the 27th of November next; after which His Highness shall enter into possession, the Fort of Chunar excepted, which is not to be evacuated, until the 6th Article of this Treaty be fully complied with.

ARTICLE 8.

His Highness shall allow the English Company to carry on a trade, duty free, throughout the whole of his dominions.

ARTICLE 9.

All the relations and subjects of His Highness, who in any manner assisted the English during the course of the late war, shall be forgiven, and no ways molested for the same.

ARTICLE 10.

As soon as this Treaty is executed, the English forces shall be withdrawn from the dominions of His Highness, excepting such as may be necessary for the garrison of Chunar, or for the defence and protection of the King in the City of Illiabad, if His Majesty should require a force for that purpose.

ARTICLE 11.

His Highness the Nabob Shujah-ul-Dowla, His Excellency the Nabob Nudjum-ul-Dowla, and the English Company promise to observe sincerely and strictly all the Articles contained and settled in the present Treaty; and they will not suffer the same to be infringed, directly or indirectly, by their respective subjects: and the said contracting powers, generally and reciprocally, guarantee to each other all the stipulations of the present Treaty.

TREATY between the COMPANY and the VIZIER SHUJAH-UL-DOWLA,—29th
November 1768.

Whereas, unbecoming rumours have been propagated abroad, which tend to the interruption of the firm friendship, union, and confidence formerly established between His Highness the Nabob Shujah-ul-Dowla, Vizier of the Empire, on the one part, and the Right Honourable Robert, Lord Clive, and General John Carnac, on behalf of the deceased Nabob Nudjum-ul-Dowla, late Soubahdar of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and the English Company, on the other part; Harry Verelst, Esq., President and Governor of Fort William and the Council thereof, with a view to the removal of all causes of jealousy and disagreement, and the confirmation of a good disposition on both sides, have deputed John Cartier, Colonel Richard Smith, and Claud Russell, three Members of the Council from Calcutta, personally to confer with His Highness aforesaid, and whereas the aforesaid John Cartier, Colonel Richard Smith, and Claud Russell, after effecting an interview with His Highness aforesaid, have reason to be satisfied with his steady attachment to the English, they therefore, on behalf of His Excellency the Nabob Syef-ul-Dowla, Soubahdar of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, and the English Company, renew and confirm the former Treaty, letter by letter, and article by article; and His Highness the Nabob Shujah-ul-Dowlah aforesaid doth likewise renew and confirm the said Treaty; and moreover, out of a pure desire effectually to eradicate all doubts and jealousies, to establish the present harmony on the most durable basis, and to confirm the former Treaty, doth consent and agree, that the following words shall be inserted as an explanatory clause in the said Treaty: It is by the advice and consent of the President and Council aforesaid, agreed, that His Highness shall not entertain a number of forces exceeding thirty-five thousand men, whether sepoy, cavalry, peons, artillerymen, rocket-men, or troops of any denomination whatever. Of this number ten thousand are to be cavalry, ten battalions of sepoy, including soubadars, jemadars, havildars, and all ranks of officers, not to exceed ten thousand men; the Nujib regiment, consisting of five thousand men with matchlocks, to remain always on its present establishment; five hundred men for the artillery, and that number never to be exceeded; the remaining nine thousand five hundred men are to be irregulars, neither to be clothed, armed or disciplined after the manner of the English sepoy or Nujib regiment; and His Highness also engages to arm none of his forces, besides the ten thousand men mentioned in this Treaty, after the English manner, nor to train them in the discipline of the English troops. In consideration thereof, the said John Cartier, Colonel Richard Smith, and Claud Russell engage, on behalf of His Excellency the Nabob Syef-ul-Dowla and the English Company aforesaid, that whilst His Highness Shujah-ul-Dowla aforesaid and his successors shall abide by the Articles of this Treaty, neither the present Council of Fort William, nor any future Council, shall hereafter introduce any new matter relative thereto, besides what has been formerly agreed to, and is now concluded upon, and both parties shall consider this Agreement as firm and binding. His Highness aforesaid shall swear upon the Koran, John Cartier, Colonel Richard Smith, and Claud Russell upon the Gospel, never to infringe the minutest part or meaning hereof, and to maintain it themselves, and to transmit it inviolable to their posterity.

If the King should write anything relative to the affairs of the Nabob Ausuf-ul-Dowla to the English Sirdars, they will attend to the satisfaction, advantage, and inclination of the said Nabob, and not consent to what the King may say or write. In like manner, if the King should write to the Nabob Ausuf-ul-Dowla, relative to the affairs of the English Sirdars, he will attend to their satisfaction, advantage, and inclination, and not consent to what he may say or write.

If, in future, this currency should be abolished, the decrease or increase of batta shall be mutually given and received by the parties. The particulars of a brigade are, viz., two battalions, or one regiment of Europeans, one company of artillery, and six battalions of sepoys.

The aforesaid Nabob shall, whenever the English troops past the boundaries of the Company's province, at his request, pay the stipulated sum monthly, from that time until their return to the above-said boundaries.

DRAFT of a COWLNAME under the Seal of the NABOB ASOPH-UL-DOWLAH, dated the 19th of Shabaun, in the year 1189 of Hijeree—15th of October 1775.

I, Asoph-ul-Dowlah Bahadre, engage and give this written Agreement, viz. :—

I have now taken from my mother thirty lakhs of rupees on account of the present, and twenty-six lakhs on account of former debts, in specie, goods, jewels, elephants, camels, &c., from the patrimony of my father, and have no further claim on her. Having received this through the English Chiefs, I renounce all further demands on her. I also engage that I will never molest my mother in the enjoyment of the jaghires, gunges, culladarries, gardens, or the mints of Oudh, Fyzabad, &c., conferred on her by the late blessed Nabob, but will leave her in the full possession of them during her life-time. As long as my mother lives, I will give her no trouble on account of them. She shall collect whatever appears to be due from the said jaghires, by her own people. I will not obstruct it. When my mother goes on her pilgrimage, she is at liberty to leave the jaghires, &c., under the charge of whomsoever she pleases. It is entirely at her option. I will not oppose it. Whether she resides here or goes on a pilgrimage, the jaghires, &c., shall remain in her possession, and no person shall, on any occasion, obstruct or molest her therein. To whomsoever my mother shall give charge of the jaghires, &c., I will on every occasion protect and assist him, and when she goes on her pilgrimage, she is at liberty to take with her such of her slaves, women, and goods as she thinks proper. I will not molest her. Nor will I give any trouble to Johur Ally Khan, Bahadre Ally Khan, Nishaut Ally Khan, Shegoon Ally Khan, or to the Tavildarnees, by any demand on them. My mother is at liberty to act as she pleases therein. She is the mistress. For the observance of all these Articles, I give God, and His Prophet, the twelve Imaums, the fourteen Maussooms and the English Chiefs, as guarantees. The English Chiefs are joined in this Engagement. Further, I will not in future demand any loan from my mother; I have no claim on her; nor will I ever deviate from this Engagement. Should I act contrary thereto, it may be supposed that I am estranged from the English Chiefs and the Company. I have accordingly given this as a Cowlnama to remain as a voucher.

DRAFT of a COWLNAME under the Seal of MR. JOHN BRISTOW on the part of the COMPANY and ENGLISH CHIEFS, dated the 19th of Shabaun, in the year 1189 of the Hijeree (or 15th of October 1775).

I give the following Articles as a Cowlnama to which I have affixed my seal on the part of the Company and English Chiefs.

The Nabob Asoph-ul-Dowlah Yahya Khan Bahadre Hozzaber Jung has received from his mother, on account of the patrimony of his father, and appropriated to his own use, the sum of thirty lacks of rupees on account of the present, and twenty-six lacks on account of former debts, in specie, goods, jewels, elephants, camels, &c., and the Faraikhutty (full acquittal) which the Nabob Asoph-ul-Dowlah gives to his mother is a voucher. My seal is affixed thereto, so that it may be considered as an act of the Company and English Chiefs. With respect to the jaghires, gunges, culladarries, gardens, the mints of Oudh and Fyza-bad, which the late blessed Nabob gave to the Bhegum, the Nabob Asoph-ul-Dowlah will not molest her in the possession of them, but leave her in the free enjoyment of them during her life-time, and she is to collect whatever may appear due from the jaghires, through her own people. The English Chiefs are guarantees for the observance of these Articles. No one shall molest her. When the Bhegum goes on a pilgrimage no person shall obstruct or hinder her. The Bhegum is sole mistress of her own people; no one shall make any demand on her eunuchs or women. She is at liberty to act as she pleases with respect to them.

When the Bhegum goes on her pilgrimage, she may leave the charge of the jaghires, &c., to whomsoever she pleases. The English Chiefs are guarantees of this.

List of Jaghires, Gunges, &c., exactly the same as that in No. 1.

No. XLIX.

AGREEMENT concluded by the GOVERNOR-GENERAL with the VIZIER on the 19th of September 1781.

The Nabob Vizier-ul-Mummalic, Asoph-ul-Dowlah, Asoph Jah Cawn Behauder having repeatedly and urgently represented that he is unable to support the expenses of the temporary brigade, cavalry, and English officers, with their battalions, as well as other gentlemen who are now paid by him, under the denomination of Sebundy, &c., &c., and having made sundry requests to that and other purposes; and as the constancy and firmness of his alliance with the Company entitle him to every consideration and relief that may depend upon us, I, Warren Hastings, Governor-General, Imad-ul-Dowlah, Jelladit Jung Behauder, &c., &c., on behalf of the Governor-General and Council, have agreed to the undermentioned Articles, this 19th day of September, in the year of our Lord 1781, corresponding to the last Rumzan, 1195 of the Hegira.

That the temporary brigade and three regiments of cavalry be no longer charged to the Nabob's account for the year Fussellee 1189, excepting a term for two and a half months, which is required for their passing the Nabob's boundaries; and for which, together with all former allowances and arrears, their usual pay and allowances are to be made good. Also the English Officers, with their Sebundy battalions, and other gentlemen, excepting the Resident's office, now upon the Nabob's list, be no longer at his charge for the year 1189, the arrears being paid up, with the addition of two months' allowances; the true meaning of this being, that no more troops be paid for by the Nabob than the number of European artillery and sepoy's agreed for, under the title of one brigade, with the late Nabob Shujah-ul-Dowla, now paid for at the rate of Rs. 2,60,000 per month, to which is now to be added one regiment of sepoy's of the present establishment, expressly allowed for the purpose of protecting the office, treasury, and person of the Resident at Lucknow, the pay and allowances of which are to commence from the 1st of August next, at the rate of Rs. 25,000 per month. The regiment to be relieved every three months. The brigade to be stationed or moved wherever the Nabob shall direct, in the mode prescribed in the former Treaty with the Nabob Vizier deceased. And, finally, that whenever the Nabob Vizier shall require a further aid of troops from the Company, the pay and allowances shall commence from the day of their passing the Caramnassa; also, should the assistance of the Nabob's troops be required by the Company, their pay and allowances, as may then be agreed upon, be allowed during the time they may serve.

ARTICLE 2.

That as great distress has arisen to the Nabob's Government from the military power and dominion of the jaghiredars, he be permitted to resume such as he may find necessary; with a reserve that all such, for the amount of whose jaghire the Company are guarantees, shall, in case of the resumption of their lands, be paid the amount of their net collections, through the Resident, in ready money.

ARTICLE 3.

That as Fyzoola Khan has, by his breach of Treaty, forfeited the protection of the English Government, and causes, by his continuance in his present independent state, great alarm and detriment to the Nabob, he be permitted, when time shall suit, to resume his lands, and pay him in money, through the Resident, the amount stipulated by the Treaty, after deducting the amount and charges of the troops he stands engaged to furnish by Treaty, which amount shall be passed to the account of the Company during the continuance of the present war.

ARTICLE 4.

That no English Resident be appointed to Furruckabad, and the present one recalled.

ARTICLE 5.

That the Treaties made between the English and the Nabob Shuja-ul-Dowla be ratified between the present parties, as far as may be consistent with the above-written Articles; and that no officers, troops or others, be put upon the Nabob's establishment, exclusive of those herein stipulated.

WARREN HASTINGS.

AGREEMENT made by the VIZIER with the GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Having, on my behalf, agreed to the requisitions of the Nabob Vizier without diminution or reserve, I must now repeat the request which I before verbally made to him, that he will be pleased to attend to such proposals as I shall have to make to him : and to these I expect his assent the more readily, as they have for their ultimate object his interest alone, that of the Company being no further concerned, than in the influence which they will eventually have in the payment of the debt due from the Nabob to the Company.

I, therefore, recommend to him to reduce the great number of his Sebund and other troops to regular and complete establishments ; not to be paid by assignments of revenue, but in money from the treasury, and their number not to exceed the certain means of paying them. But as this may be difficult, without making a separation of the Nabob's public and private funds, I further recommend that he receive into his private purse no more than a fixed monthly sum, for the expenses of his person and household ; and that the remainder of the net collections be left in a public treasury, under the management of his public ministers and the inspection of the Resident, for the discharge of his military and civil disbursements.

This advice is not meant to affect the assignments annually, and which must be annually renewed, for the payment of the past debt and the current demands of the Company.

Signed and sealed by the Nabob, accepting and promising to conform to the above advice.

From Earl Cornwallis to the Vizier, written 15th April 1787.

The Treaty concluded between the English Company and the Nabob Shuja-ul-Dowla, was founded on considerations of mutual advantage to both parties, and the same principle has continued to operate in confirming and improving the friendship and alliance between the Company and your Excellency. A connection formed with a view to the interests of both Governments ought to be perpetual : for this reason, since my appointment to the control over affairs here, my intentions have been directed towards measures tending to support and strengthen this friendly system.

II

From the Nabob Vizier to Earl Cornwallis, received 21st July 1787.

Your Lordship's friendly letter every word of which breathes strength of friendship, and every syllable contains a performance of the duties of intimacy and close connexion, arrived in a happy hour, and afforded me infinite satisfaction. Its contents are, that it is the intention of the Company, and also your Lordship's firm resolution, that there should be no interference in the detail of my Government. That the Resident at Lucknow should receive a positive order, that neither from himself, nor from any other gentlemen, nor from any person concerned with your Lordship's Gov-

As I consider the Company's Territories and those of your Excellency as the same, the protection of your Excellency's dominions is absolutely necessary, as being from its situation the boundary of the whole, and exposed to foreign attacks. This protection cannot be effected in a proper manner without the assistance of the Company's troops, and I therefore beg leave to represent to your Excellency such circumstances as have, after mature reflection, occurred to me, with respect to the troops stationed at Futty Ghur, which had been withdrawn, as stipulated in the Treaty of Chunar of 1781, I advise that they shall not be recalled, but continued. I make this proposal upon a conviction that, from the extent of your Excellency's dominions, the English forces now stationed there are requisite for their defence. Although there is no prospect of any attack on your Excellency's territory at present, its security must ultimately depend upon the strength of the force stationed for its protection, and while this is sufficient no one will dare to entertain views of hostility against your Excellency. Although the bravery and discipline of the English troops on all occasions are well known, and have been proved, even when their enemies have been in the proportion of twenty to one, and by the blessing of God they will always triumph over their enemies, yet since at all times chance of war is doubtful, prudence and wisdom require that every possible means should be used to determine it in our favour. Your Excellency must be sensible that there is no comparison between the troops of the Company and those in your Excellency's service, and that without the assistance of the former, your dominions and authority would ernment, should any kind of interference take place. That leaving my administration entirely to myself and my ministers, all interference from others should be stopped; and representing the particulars of every matter which was contained in your Lordship's heart.

The Nabob Hyder Beg Khan has fully explained to me the particulars of your Lordship's kindness and magnanimity which form the ground of your Lordship's settlement of my affairs, and has occasioned me an excess of pleasure and happiness. I, who have, day and night, received such happiness from a recollection of your Lordship's goodness, now enjoy such pleasure from perceiving your kindness, and am so thankful for it that it would require volumes to express a small share only. It is well known that from the lifetime of the deceased Nabob, until the day of his death, and the commencement of my administration, the friendship with the English gentlemen has been perfect, strong and sincere, and, by the help of Providence, will every day increase.

At this time that so great a Chief, possessed of Divine wisdom and understanding, is arrived with full power and authority for the arrangement of this country, it may be very well conceived, that I understand such an arrival to have happened simply from my own good fortune, and entertain the most perfect confidence that all my affairs will be settled to my own satisfaction. With respect to the continuance of the troops stationed at Futty Ghur which your Lordship has written with such greatness and magnanimity, that they may remain, be insecure. I am convinced that if your Excellency considers these opinions, you will be sensible of the propriety of my proposition, and approve the continuance of troops, whose valour and discipline can be relied on, in preference to those who are unskilful and undisciplined, and I doubt not but your Excellency will agree to the additional expense of effective troops, where the object is the defence of the country: for this reason I do not hesitate to recommend to your Excellency to discharge so much of your own army as will allow for the additional expense attending the continuance of these effective troops. Your Excellency must also be sensible that the sums necessary for the pay of these troops are expended in your dominions.

The sole object of this proposition is to provide, in an effective manner, for the defence of your Excellency's country; and your Excellency must be convinced of the benefits derived from our protection, since, whilst all other parts of Hindostan have been involved in war and exposed to the devastations attending it, your Excellency's dominions have remained in the fullest enjoyment of peace and security. Many other arguments of the greatest weight might be urged in support of my proposition; but such is my opinion of the force of those I have alleged, that I trust that they will make the same impression on your Excellency, and that there is no necessity to urge others.

It is my firm intention not to embarrass your Excellency with further expense than that incurred by the Company, from their connexion with your Excellency, and for the protection of your country, which by the accounts, I find amounts to fifty lakhs of Fyzabad sixteen sun Sicca Rupees annually. In as heretofore, I have perfectly understood; notwithstanding from the great weight of expense which my Government has experienced every year from these troops, and the negotiations which have passed with former gentlemen on this subject in particular, and the manner in which this matter was settled, after so much altercation, which doubtless your Lordship is acquainted with, I have every hope, in every situation, for advantage and prosperity from your Lordship, and conceive it necessary to represent the particulars of them to you; but having heard of your Lordship's intention to come to this quarter, which is the greatest desire of my heart, and from which I receive the greatest pleasure, I have postponed any mention of these matters until that happy time, and now consider it necessary, first to procure your Lordship's good will; afterwards, that you will mention, from your great goodness and grandeur, which is universally known and gives satisfaction and ease to my heart, that which will tend to my prosperity and happiness, and meet with your approbation; therefore, with a view to preserve your Lordship's good will and satisfaction, I agree to the continuance of the troops now stationed at Futty Ghur and Cawnpore, and to their expenses, with the stipend of my brother Meer Saadet Ali Khan Behauder, the tuncaws of the Rohill'as, the disbursements of the Residency at Lucknow, and other gentlemen, and the Resident with His Majesty at Scindea, the expenses of the dawk, &c., which your Lordship has fixed fifty lakhs annually for me to pay. Your Lordship has also said that this sum are included the allowance to the Nabob Saadet Alli Khan, the stipend of the Rohillas, and the expenses of the Residency on the part of this Government; in short, it is my intention, from the date on which this new Agreement shall take place, your Excellency shall not be charged with any excess on this sum of fifty lakhs of Sicca Rupees, and that no further demand shall be made.

If your Excellency, hereafter, shall find it necessary to demand any more forces from the Company, your Excellency will pay the excess upon a fair estimate; and if either of the two brigades or corps of cavalry shall be recalled, or any considerable diminution in their force shall take place, I will allow for the decrease of the expense from the sum agreed to by your Excellency, agreeable to a fair calculation. In order that no grounds for a difference in opinion or doubt may remain as to the real meaning of this Article, I think it necessary to inform your Excellency, that whenever there is a necessity for any alteration in the arrangement of these troops, either by increasing or diminishing the cavalry or infantry, this Article does not tend to preclude it, provided the whole force shall not be considerably decreased, and that no additional charge be made on your Excellency on account of such alteration.

A Resident, as at present, will remain at your Excellency's Court; but as it is the intention of the Company, and my firm resolution, that no interference shall take place in the details of the affairs of your Excellency's Government, strict orders shall be sent to him that he shall neither interfere himself, nor suffer interference by public or private claims of exemptions of duties, or in any other mode, from any British subject or person my expenses should not exceed the sum of fifty lakhs of rupees, and that nothing further should be demanded of me; and that whenever either of the two brigades or corps of cavalry should be recalled, or any material diminution should take place in those troops, a deduction shall be made, agreeable to estimate, from the sum of fifty lakhs. I agree to this, and send the kistbundy; and I am well convinced also, that your Lordship will be kind and favourable towards me, in whatever will tend to my ease and prosperity.

I have not answered every particular of your Lordship's kind letter, because I have heard that your Lordship positively means to come to this quarter, and when we meet, every matter will be answered in a most friendly manner. Now, considering acquiescence to your Lordship's orders and preservation of your pleasure as the principle of friendship, I have complied.

Your Lordship writes with respect to Furruckabad, that it shall be and continue as before under me, and that the English Resident there, either now or at the end of the year 1194 Fussellee, shall be recalled, and after that period he shall not remain, nor any other be appointed; and you order me to be kind and just towards the rights of the Nabob Mozuffer Jung, and that, in whatever manner it may be necessary to settle and arrange the affairs of that district, I should give a suitable allowance to the Nabob Mozuffer Jung: and as the Nabob's mother and his brother, Dil Dilere Khan, and Roy Deeb Chund, late Dewan, have shown their zeal to under the authority of this Government. In short leaving the whole management of your country to your Excellency and your Ministers, I will put a stop to the interference of others; and in order to carry this effectually into execution, I propose to your Excellency not to suffer any European to reside in your dominions, without my written permission. In case that should be granted, a copy of it shall be transmitted to you.

If any European shall reside there without my permission in writing, your Excellency shall oblige him to quit the country; or, if demanded, send him to the Resident on the part of the Company.

A retrospect into past transactions and the friendship so well known to exist between your Excellency and the Company, induce me to state the following circumstance; that for several years past, the inhabitants of your Excellency's dominions, from motives of self-interest, have appealed to this Government and this has been a source of injury to the affairs of your Government. I am determined to put a stop to this practice and to disregard their applications, but as the connexion between the two Governments is universally known, strict attention to justice on your part will add credit and renown to both.

With respect to Furruckabad, the fourth Article of the stipulation of Chunar shall be observed on my part, and the English Resident there, either now or at the end of 1194 Fussellee, shall be recalled, and after that period he shall not remain, nor shall any other be appointed. On this subject, in consequence of the interference hitherto assumed by this Government in the affairs of that province, I think it necessary to inform your Excellency that it is incumbent on me to recommend several your Government and to the Company, it is necessary to fix some allowance for them, independent of the Nabob Mozuffer Jung: that it is well known the enmity which the Nabob bears towards them, and that in consequence of the confidence of your Government placed on Dil Dilere Khan, it is much to be feared that unless he is protected, he will experience distress from the enmity of the Nabob Mozuffer Jung; that I therefore cause to be paid to them a proper allowance out of the amount paid to Nabob Mozuffer Jung, through the Resident at Lucknow. In this manner I will act as your Lordship has ordered, and will cause to be paid to the mother of Mozuffer Jung, and his brother, Dil Dilere Khan, and Roy Deeb Chund, allowances through the Resident at Lucknow, and will assist and protect Dil Dilere Khan, the mother, and Roy Deeb Chund. Until the honour of an interview, I hope to be honoured and made happy with friendly letters from your Lordship.

matters to your Excellency's attention. That, in the first instance, you pay due regard to the rights of the Nabob Mozuffer Jung; and under any circumstances that may become necessary for the management of the affairs of Furruckabad, your Excellency shall engage to allot from the revenues a sum sufficient for the honourable maintenance of the Nabob Mozuffer Jung. And as the mother of Mozuffer Jung, and his brother, Dil Dilere Khan, as well as Deeb Chund, late Dewan, have given proofs of their attachment to this Government, it is therefore expedient that some provision should be made for them, independent of Mozuffer Jung. It is well known that Mozuffer Jung considers them as inimical to him; and from the trust vested in Dil Dilere Khan by this Government, it is much to be feared, that if left unprotected, he will suffer from the resentment of Mozuffer Jung. I therefore expect that your Excellency will engage to cause specific pensions to be paid to these persons, at the expense of Mozuffer Jung, through the Resident of this Government.

By the accounts subsisting between your Excellency and the Company, a large balance is stated to be due from your Excellency; nevertheless, in conformity to the principles I have so expressly declared, I am not willing to embarrass your Excellency with any other demands than what are absolutely necessary: I propose, therefore that your Excellency shall liquidate such part of the stated arrears as may be due to the troops employed in your country, the Residency, the Nabob Saadet Alli Khan, and the Rohilla Chiefs, on the date from which this new Agreement shall be declared in force, as well as the arrears due to

I have already transmitted to your Lordship an arzie, mentioning my arrival at Lucknow, which has doubtless been perused. An answer from His Excellency the Vizier is now sent to your Lordship's kind letter. From it your Lordship will learn the particulars of His Excellency's inclination to preserve your Lordship's pleasure. Your Lordship has shown kindness and favour in the affairs of His Excellency, and there is no doubt but will always show kindness towards them, because His Excellency entertains great hopes from your Lordship.

A kistbundy for the money for the expense of the troops, &c., goes enclosed in His Excellency's letter, and I enclose a draft for the amount stated by Mr. Wombwell to be due to the troops, up to February 1787, together with two other drafts on account of the amount, due to His Royal Highness, and the stipend of Nabob Saadet Alli Khan, to February 1787. They will be seen by your Lordship. As a long period

Mr. Anderson, and the remainder, whatever it may be, shall be struck out of the account, and be no longer considered as a demand of this Government on your Excellency.

The substance of what is here written has been discussed in frequent conversations with Hyder Beg Khan, who has shown himself a faithful servant to your Excellency, and a friend to both Governments. As he is fully acquainted with your Excellency's interests, and is your most confidential servant and prime minister, I have considered him as empowered to settle any arrangement for the mutual benefit of the two Governments, and have accordingly communicated to him without reserve, all that has occurred to me to promote this subject in the same manner as if your Excellency were present; nevertheless, as your Excellency's concurrence and approbation are necessary to give a final sanction to the Articles agreed upon by Hyder Beg Khan, I have thought proper to mention the heads of them in this letter and the Nabob Hyder Beg Khan will fully explain all the particulars to your Excellency.

For the rest, your Excellency may have the most assured confidence, that I will most faithfully abide by all the Engagements on the part of the Honourable Company.

had elapsed during my journey, disorder has taken place in several modes in the affairs, and delay and procrastination have crept into the payment of the public money, and now that I am arrived, is the season for cultivation, &c. I am engaged in the affairs of the Circar, and under the blessing of God, and your Lordship's prosperity, every matter will be arranged, and the arrears due to Colonel Harper and other gentlemen, whatever, after investigation, they may amount to, to the end of February 1788, shall be paid at the expiration of the time.

The amount of the instalments or kistbundy of the Company's money, on account of the disbursement of the troops, &c., has been paid into the treasury, from March 1787 to June 1787, and by God's help it will be paid in future, agreeable to the kistbundy, monthly. I hope to be honoured with letters from your Lordship.

The Right Honourable Charles, Earl Cornwallis, K.G., Governor-General, &c., &c., and His Excellency the Nabob Vizier Beha uder, &c., &c., having received various representations from the merchants trading between the Company's dominions and the dominions of His Excellency the Vizier, setting forth the losses and inconveniences which they suffer as well from the heavy duties collected on their merchandise, as from the mode of levying the same, His Lordship, on the part of the Honourable the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, and His Excellency the Nabob Vizier, &c., with a view to remove the evils complained of, and to promote the welfare of their respective States have agreed upon the following Articles, which shall be binding on themselves their heirs, and successors :—

The contracting parties shall not claim any exemption from duties either for themselves, their subjects, or dependants, or any other person or persons, of whatever country or nation.

ARTICLE 2.

His Excellency the Nabob Vizier, &c., agrees to grant rowannahs, or custom house passes, under the seals and signatures of his officers, for all goods exported from his dominions to the dominions of the Company, specifying the quantity of the goods, and the valuation on which his own export duties shall have been levied. The Right Honourable Earl Cornwallis, in like manner, engages that similar rowannahs or custom house passes shall be granted for all goods exported from the Company's dominions (comprehending the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and the District of Benares) to the dominions of His Excellency the Vizier, specifying the quantity of the goods, and the valuation on which the duties shall have been levied in the dominions of the Company.

ARTICLE 3.

His Excellency the Vizier, &c., agrees to levy the duties on all goods imported into his territories from the Company's dominions upon the valuation specified in the Company's rowannah. The Right Honourable Earl Cornwallis, &c., agrees to levy the duties on all goods imported from His Excellency's dominions into the District of Benares or the Company's provinces, on the valuation specified in the rowannah of His Excellency the Nabob Vizier.

ARTICLE 4.

Goods exported from the Company's dominions to the dominions of His Excellency the Vizier, if by the River Ganges, shall pay the duties at Lutchagyr, or at Foolpore; if by the River Goomty, at Ghura Mobarikpore; if by the River Gogra, at Doorhy Ghaut; if by land, at Keeway, Maidnee Gunge, Chundahpertaubpore, Mow, or Mahraj Gunge; and if by the way of Circar Gooruckpore, at the Ghaut of the River Gunduck, or at Gooruckpore, Mujholee, or Chollooparah. The merchant or person in charge of the goods, upon paying the duties hereinafter mentioned, at either of the above stations, shall receive a rowannah from the Collector of the duties, under his public seal, which shall exempt the goods from all further demands or molestation whatever, in their progress through the dominions of His Excellency.

The duties on goods exported from the dominions of His Excellency the Vizier to the dominions of the Company, whether by land or water, shall be levied at the established stations in the District of Benares, and the Province of Behar, and rowannahs granted as above specified.

The contracting parties reserve to themselves the power of changing the situation of the stations for levying the duties as they may deem expedient, upon giving public notification to each other of the new station fixed upon.

ARTICLE 5.

Broad-cloth, iron, copper, lead, manufactures of iron, copper, lead, gold or silver, raw-silk, silk piece goods, cotton piece goods, and piece goods made partly of silk and partly of cotton, exported from the dominions of the Company to the dominions of the Vizier, shall pay an import duty of two and a half per cent. to His Excellency, on the price specified in the rowannah taken out in the Company's dominions.

ARTICLE 6.

Salt exported from the Company's dominions to the dominions of the Nabob Vizier, shall pay an import duty of five per cent. to His Excellency, on the valuation specified in the rowannah granted at any of the stations in the Company's dominions.

ARTICLE 7.

Cotton coming from Jahlone, Hydernugger, Omraowty, Naugpore, or any of the countries of the Deccan, and passing through the dominions of the Nabob Vizier to the dominions of the Company, shall pay a duty of five per cent. to His Excellency on the fixed valuation of six rupees per maund of ninety-six sicca weight to the seer. Rowannahs for covering the same through His Excellency's dominions shall be granted at the station where the duties are levied. The same cotton, when it arrives in the Province of Benares, shall pay a duty of two and a half per cent., and two and a half per cent. more on entering the Soubah of Behar, upon the valuation above specified, or should it not pass through the jurisdiction of Benares, it shall pay five per cent. upon being imported into the Company's provinces.

ARTICLE 8.

Silk piece goods, cotton piece goods, and piece goods made partly of silk and partly of cotton, exported from the dominions of the Nabob Vizier to the Company's dominions shall pay a duty of not more than two and a half per cent. on the price specified in His Excellency's rowannah. The said duty shall be collected at the established station in Benares, should the goods pass through that district, and upon their arrival in the Company's provinces the Collectors of the Customs shall grant a rowannah, duty free, to cover such goods to any part of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa. Should the said goods enter the Company's provinces without passing through the District of Benares, the above duty of two and a half per cent. shall be levied at the first station in the Company's provinces.

ARTICLE 9.

All goods not specified in the foregoing Articles, exported from the respective dominions of the contracting parties, shall be subject to a duty of five per cent. on the valuation inserted in the rowannah of the country from whence they were originally exported. If the goods shall have been exported from the Company's dominions to the dominions of the Nabob Vizier, His Excellency will collect the duty aforesaid at one of the stations mentioned in the third Article; if from the territories of His Excellency to the dominions of the Company, two and a half per cent. shall be levied at the first established station in the District of Benares, and two and a half per cent., at the first authorized station in the Province of Behar; or, should the said goods enter the Company's provinces without passing through the jurisdiction of Benares, the whole duty of five per cent. shall be collected at the first authorized station in the Province of Behar.

ARTICLE 10.

Goods exported from the Province of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa, or from the District of Benares to the dominions of the Nabob Vizier, after having paid the import duties to His Excellency, according to the rates and in the mode prescribed in the foregoing Articles, if sold in the dominions of the Nabob Vizier, shall be subject to the established local duties of the market or gunge in which they are disposed of. Provided, nevertheless, that if the said goods shall be sold for the purpose of being exported beyond the confines of His Excellency's dominions, and not for the consumption of the same, no local gunge or market duty, or any other duty whatsoever, shall be levied on account of such sale or purchase; but the import rowannah of the seller shall be endorsed by the Collector, or head officer in charge of such gunge, and delivered over to the purchaser, who shall transport the goods through the dominions of the Nabob Vizier, without further molestation. If such purchaser, however, should afterwards dispose of the said goods for consumption in any market or gunge in His Excellency's territories, they shall be subject to the established duties of the same. In like manner, goods exported from the dominions of His Excellency to the dominions of the Company, after having paid the import duty in the latter, according to the rates, and in the mode prescribed in the foregoing Articles, if sold in any gunge or market, shall be subject to the local gunge or market duties under the preceding limitations.

The gunge duties to be thus levied are not to exceed the ancient established rates, to which no addition shall be made without the mutual consent of the contracting parties.

ARTICLE 11.

If any renter, zeminder, collector of the revenues, jaghiredar, or holder of rent-free lands shall levy any duties or exactions on goods passing through the dominions of the contracting parties, and on which the regular duties shall have been paid, and rowannahs taken out as prescribed in the foregoing Articles, for the first offence he shall be fined twenty rupees for every rupee so exacted; for the second offence, forty rupees; and for the third offence, if a renter or collector of the revenues, he shall be fined one hundred rupees for every rupee so exacted, and be dismissed from his farm or employment; if a zemindar, jaghiredar, or rent-free landholder, he shall forfeit his lands. Any officer of the customs exacting more than he is authorized, shall, for the first offence, be fined ten times the amount so exacted, and be dismissed from his employment. The party injured shall be indemnified out of the fines for the sum so exacted, and it shall be left to the discretion of the contracting powers to grant such further portion of the said fines as they may deem adequate to the trouble and loss of the party so injured.

ARTICLE 12.

In order to discourage every attempt to evade the payment of the import duties, merchants endeavouring to pass the station at which they are to pay the same, without having previously taken out a rowannah, shall be subject to double duties; and the contracting parties agree to issue orders in their respective territories, requiring all persons to pay the duties and take out rowannahs for their goods, as directed in the foregoing Articles, before they approach an authorized station.

This Article not to extend to the local duties in the markets or gunges, which are to be collected in the mode, and under the limitations prescribed in the tenth Article upon the goods entering the same.

ARTICLE 13.

The contracting parties reserve to themselves the right of levying whatever duties they may think proper, on all goods produced and consumed within their respective dominions, and also on their own exports, and on all imports from other countries not under the dominion of the Company or the Nabob Vizier, the article of Deccan, &c., cotton going to the Company's dominions excepted, on which His Excellency is to levy the duties as specified in the seventh Article.

ARTICLE 14.

If any dispute shall arise between the merchants of the respective States, it shall be decided by the laws of that State in which the defendant may reside. If the defendant be a resident in the Company's dominions, the plaintiff shall be allowed the privilege of stating his case, through the vakeel or Agent of the Vizier, to the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council, who may refer it for decision to the provincial court of justice, within the jurisdiction of which the cause of action may have arisen, or the defendant may reside; in like manner, if the defendant be a resident in the Vizier's dominions, the plaintiff shall be entitled to represent his case, through the English minister, to His Excellency the Vizier, who may refer it for decision to such of his officers as he may think proper. It is further agreed, that should the collectors of customs, zeminders, or other subjects of either State, act in any respect towards the merchants and traders contrary to the true intent and meaning of this Treaty, the party injured shall be entitled to seek redress in the mode above prescribed.

ARTICLE 15.

This Treaty not to extend to the Province of Rohilcund or Kuttair, in which His Excellency reserves to himself the right of collecting the duties according to the ancient established rates, or of increasing or diminishing the same as he may deem expedient.

ARTICLE 16.

His Excellency the Vizier having obtained the consent of the Nabob of Furruckabad to include his territories in this Treaty, and agreed to make him a compensation for any losses he may sustain in his revenues, in consequence of having relinquished his claim to the collection of separate duties on the Deccan, &c., cotton passing through his territories to the dominions of the Company, and on the exports from the Company's dominions, the territories of the said Nabob are included accordingly, and, as far as concerns the operation of this Treaty, are to be considered, in every respect, upon the same footing as a province of the dominions of His Excellency the Vizier.

ARTICLE 17.

This Treaty to be in force from the 1st of September next, corresponding with the 29th of Zehige, 1202 Hegira, or sooner, if it can be ratified and exchanged before that period.

Ratified at Fort William, 25th July, 1788.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT entered into by HIS EXCELLENCY the NABOB VIZIER with the HONOURABLE the GOVERNOR-GENERAL, at LUCKNOW, executed the 20th of March 1797.

The Governor-General having represented to His Excellency the Vizier the late very great increase of the Company's military establishment, by the addition of several regiments of cavalry, both European and Native, and, in compliance with the Company's orders, solicited His Excellency's assistance to defray the consequent additional expense, His Excellency, in the fullest reliance that the Company's troops are ever ready, in conformity to existing Engagements, to protect and defend his dominions against the attacks of all enemies, agrees as follows :

That he will annually defray the actual bona fide expenses of a regiment of European and one of Native cavalry, that is to say, two regiments (the amount of which expenses, however, the Governor-General cannot at present specify) provided they shall not exceed upon any account five lakhs and a half of rupees per annum. The amount to be defrayed by monthly instalments, of which the first shall commence with the month of Bysack of the present Fussellee year.

TREATY with the NABOB VIZIER SAADET ALI KHAN BEHAUDER,—21st February 1798.

Whereas, various Treaties have been concluded at different times, between the late Nabob Shuja-ul-Dowla Behauder, and the Nabob Ausuf-ul-Dowla Behauder, and the Honourable the English East India Company, to the mutual advantage of their respective dominions, the Nabob Vizier-ul-Momaluck Yemeen-ul-Dowla Nazim-ul-Mulk, Saadet Ali Khan Behauder, Mobarez Jung, and Sir John Shore, Baronet, on the part of the Honourable the East India Company, with a view to perpetuate the amity subsisting between the two States, and the advantages reciprocally resulting from it, now agree to the following Articles :—

ARTICLE 1.

That the peace, friendship, and union so long subsisting between the two States, shall be perpetual. The friends and enemies of either shall be the friends and enemies of both ; and the contracting parties agree, that all the former Treaties and Agreements between the two States, now in force, and not contrary to the tenor of this Engagement, shall be confirmed by it.

By the existing Treaties between the States, the Honorable the East India Company are bound to defend the dominions of His Highness the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan against all enemies. And with a view to enable them to fulfil this Engagement, and at the same time provide for the protection of their own dominions, the English Company having largely increased their military establishment, by the addition of new levied regiments, both of infantry and cavalry, the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan, in consideration thereof, agrees, in addition to the annual subsidy paid by the late Nabob Ausuf-ul-Dowla to the English Company, being fifty-six lakhs seventy-seven thousand six hundred and thirty-eight rupees, to pay in perpetuity the further sum of nineteen lakhs twenty-two thousand three hundred and sixty-two rupees, making altogether the sum of seventy-six lakhs of rupees. The said rupees to be Oude Sicca Rupees, of the present weight and standard.

ARTICLE 3.

The above subsidy of seventy-six lakhs of Oude Sicca Rupees is to commence from the 21st day of January 1798, the date of the accession of the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan to the Musnud of Oude; and the said Nabob engages that it shall be punctually discharged, month by month, as it becomes due, in sums of six hundred and thirty-three thousand three hundred and thirty-nine Oude Sicca Rupees, five annas and four pie, of the present weight and standard, according to the kist-bundy annexed.

ARTICLE 4.

That the arrears of subsidy due upon former Engagements, to the 21st of January 1798, also be immediately discharged.

ARTICLE 5.

The Nabob Saadet Ali Khan agrees that an annual allowance of one lakh fifty thousand Oude Sicca Rupees be made to Vizier Ali Khan, and agrees to pay the amount by monthly kists of twelve thousand five hundred rupees to the English Company, who will pay the same to the Vizier Ali Khan, as long as he shall continue to reside in the dominions of the English Company.

ARTICLE 6.

The stipends to the Begums and Princes at Benares, amounting to two lakhs four thousand rupees per annum, and the Furruckabad pensions, amounting to twenty-three thousand six hundred and thirty-eight rupees, are included in the above sum of seventy-six lakhs of Oude Sicca Rupees.

ARTICLE 7.

The Governor-General Sir John Shore, Baronet, on the part of the East India Company, agrees that the English forces maintained in the country of Oude for its defence, shall never consist of less than ten thousand men, including Europeans and Natives, cavalry, infantry and artillery. And if at any time it should become necessary to augment the troops of the Company in Oude, beyond the number of thirteen thousand men, including Europeans and Natives, infantry, cavalry, and artillery, the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan agrees to pay the actual difference occasioned by the excess above that number, and, in the same manner, if the troops of the Company in Oude, from any necessity, should be less than eight thousand men, including infantry, cavalry, artillery, Natives and Europeans, a deduction shall be made from the annual stipend, of seventy-six lakhs of rupees equal to the actual difference of men below the specified number.

ARTICLE 8.

As the English Company are not possessed of any Fortress in the dominion of Oude, the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan, having the fullest reliance on the friendship of the English Company, agrees to make over to their exclusive possession the Fort of Allahabad, with all its buildings and appurtenances, and the ghauts immediately dependent upon the Fort, together with as much land surrounding the Fort as may be necessary for the purpose of an esplanade: the Company agreeing to be answerable to the Nabob for the amount of the revenues collected from the said ghauts. The said Nabob also agrees to advance to the Company such a sum as may be necessary for strengthening and improving the fortifications of the Fort, provided that it does not exceed the sum of eight lakhs of Oude Sicca Rupees; and that the said amount, or actual amount of the expenditure, not exceeding eight lakhs of rupees, shall be paid to the Company within two years from the date of this Treaty, in such proportions as may be required for defraying the expense to which it is applicable. And the said Nabob Saadet Ali Khan Behauder, for the same reasons, further agrees to advance to the English Company, for the purpose of repairing the Fort of Futty Ghur, within six months from the date of this Engagement, a sum not exceeding, on the whole, three lakhs of Oude Sicca Rupees.

ARTICLE 9.

If, for the better protection and defence of the dominions of the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan, it should be deemed advisable to change the present stations of the troops at Cawnpore and Futty Ghur, the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan consents thereto, and that the troops shall be stationed in such places as may be judged most advisable and convenient, and that he will defray the expense attending their removal, and making cantonments for the troops.

ARTICLE 10.

As the English Company have incurred a considerable expense by their exertions in establishing the right of the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan, the said Nabob agrees, in consideration thereof, to pay the Company the sum of twelve lakhs, of Oude Sicca Rupees.

ARTICLE 11.

As the payment of the Company's troops in Oude depends upon the regular discharge of the subsidy, stated in the second and third Articles of the Treaty the said Nabob engages to exert his utmost endeavours to discharge the stipulated kist with punctuality ; but if, contrary to the sincere intentions and exertions of the said Nabob, the payment of the kist shall fall into arrears the said Nabob Saadet Ali Khan engages and promises, that he will then give such security to the Company for the discharge of the existing arrears, and the future regular payment of the kists, as shall be deemed satisfactory.

ARTICLE 12.

Whereas, by the Engagements now entered into between the Nabob Vizier and the Company, the amount of the subsidy is considerably increased, and many other permanent charges upon His Excellency are incurred ; on a comparison of his disbursements with the assets of his country, it becomes necessary to make such reduction in the superfluous charges of the public establishments, servants, etc., as may be requisite, and are consistent with His Excellency's dignity and convenience. To that end, the said Nabob agrees to consult with the Company's Government, and, in concert with them, devise the proper objects of such reductions and the best means of effecting them.

ARTICLE 13.

As the political interests of the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan and the English Company are the same, it is expedient that all correspondence between the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan and any foreign power or State shall be carried on with the knowledge and concurrence of the Company ; and the Nabob Saadet Ali Khan agrees and promises, that no correspondence contrary to the tenor of this Article shall be carried on by him.

ARTICLE 14.

As the stipulations in the Commercial Treaty between the two States have not been enforced with due attention, particularly in the dominions of the Nabob Vizier, the contracting parties agree to exert their utmost endeavours to give force and effect to them.

ARTICLE 15.

The Nabob Saadet Ali Khan engages and promises that he will not entertain any Europeans of any description in his service, nor allow any to settle in his country without the consent of the Company.

ARTICLE 16.

The Nabob Saadet Ali Khan agrees, that a suitable maintenance shall be provided for the reputed children of his brother, the late Nabob Ausuf-ul-Dowla, and willingly promises to take them under his protection.

ARTICLE 17.

The Nabob Vizier-ul-Momalik Saadet Ali Khan Behauder, for himself and his heirs, and the Governor-General, Sir John Shore, Baronet, on the part of the East India Company, respectively promise to observe, sincerely and strictly, all the Articles contained and settled in the present Treaty ; and they both agree, that they will give the greatest attention to maintain between themselves, their dominions, and their subjects, this present Treaty and all the Articles settled by it ; that all transactions between the two States shall be carried on with the greatest cordiality and harmony on both sides, and that the said Nabob shall possess full authority over his household affairs, hereditary dominions, his troops, and his subjects.

The Nabob Vizier Saadet Ali Khan, being impressed with sentiments of the sincerest respect and regard for Her Highness the Bhow Begum, and fully relying on her friendship and assistance in his affairs, whenever requisite, promises to show her every degree of respect and attention, and do everything to promote

The above-mentioned mehals being ceded to the Honourable Company, as held by the Aumils, in the year 1206 Fussellee, no claims are to be hereafter made on account of villages or lands which in former years may have been added to or separated from the said mehals.

ARTICLE 2.

The subsidy which by the second Article of the Treaty of 1798, His Excellency engaged to pay to the Company (now that territory is assigned in lieu thereof and of the expenses of the additional troops) is to cease for ever; and His Excellency is released from the obligation of defraying the expenses of any additional troops which at any time may be required for the protection of Oude and its dependencies, whether of the countries ceded to the Company or the territories which shall remain in the possession of His Excellency the Vizier.

ARTICLE 3.

The Honourable the East India Company hereby engage to defend the territories which will remain to His Excellency the Vizier, against all foreign and domestic enemies; provided always, that it be in the power of the Company's Government to station the British troops in such part of His Excellency's dominions as shall appear to the said Government most expedient; and provided further that His Excellency, retaining in his pay four battalions of infantry, one battalion of nujeebs and muwattees, two thousand horsemen, and to the number of 300 golundauz, shall dismiss the remainder of his troops, excepting such numbers of armed peons as shall be deemed necessary for the purposes of the collections, and a few horsemen and nujeebs to attend the persons of the Aumils.

ARTICLE 4.

A detachment of the British troops, with a proportion of artillery, shall at all times be attached to His Excellency's person.

ARTICLE 5.

That the true intent and meaning of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Articles of the Treaty may be clearly understood, it is hereby declared, that the territorial cession, being in lieu of the subsidy, and of all expenses on account of the Company's defensive Engagements with His Excellency, no demand whatever shall be made upon the treasury of His Excellency on account of expenses which the Honourable Company may incur, by assembling forces to repel the attack or menaced attack of a foreign enemy, —on account of the detachment attached to His Excellency's person,—on account of troops which may occasionally be furnished for suppressing rebellions or disorders in His Excellency's territories,—on account of any future change of military stations,—or on account of failures in the resources of the Ceded Districts, arising from unfavourable seasons, the calamities of war or any other cause whatsoever.

ARTICLE 6.

The territories ceded to the Honourable Company by the first Article of this Treaty shall be subject to the exclusive management and control of the said Company and their officers, and the Honourable the East India Company hereby guarantee to His Excellency the Vizier and to his heirs and successors the possession of the territories which will remain to His Excellency after the territorial cession together with the exercise of his and their authority within the said dominions; His Excellency engages that he will establish in his reserved dominions such a system of administration, to be carried into effect by his own officers, as shall be conducive to the prosperity of his subjects, and be calculated to secure the lives and property of the inhabitants; and His Excellency will always advise with, and act in conformity to, the counsel of the officers of the said Honourable Company.

ARTICLE 7.

The districts ceded by the first Article of this Treaty shall be delivered over to the Company's officers from the commencement of the Fussellee year 1209, corresponding with the 22nd of September A.D. 1801, and His Excellency will continue to pay the subsidy and the expense of the additional troops from his treasury, in the same manner as hitherto observed, until the Company's officers shall have obtained complete possession, from His Excellency's officers, of the countries so coded; the Company will not claim any payment of subsidy from

His Excellency's treasury, after their officers shall have obtained possession of the Ceded Districts.

ARTICLE 8.

The contracting parties, with a view of establishing such a commercial intercourse between their respective dominions as shall be mutually beneficial to the subjects of both States, hereby agree to form a separate Commercial Treaty; in the meantime it is agreed that the navigation of the Ganges and of all other rivers where they may form the mutual boundary of the two States shall be free and uninterrupted; that is to say, that no boats passing up and down the Ganges or other rivers, where they form the mutual boundaries of both States, shall be stopped or molested for duties, nor shall any duties be exacted from boats which put to in the possessions of either of the contracting parties, without intention of landing their goods: it shall, however, be in the power of both Governments to levy such duties as they may think proper on goods imported into, or exported from, their respective dominions, not exceeding the present usage; it is further stipulated, that no exemption from duties on articles purchased in His Excellency's reserved dominions for the consumption of the troops situated within the Ceded Territories shall be claimed, after they shall have been delivered over to the Company's officers.

ARTICLE 9.

All the Articles of former Treaties for establishing and cementing the union and friendship subsisting between the two States are to continue in full force, and all the Articles of the Treaty concluded by the late Governor-General, Sir John Shore, on the part of the Honourable the East India Company, and His Excellency the Vizier, in the year 1798, not annulled by this Treaty, are to remain in full force, and to continue binding upon both contracting parties.

ARTICLE 10.

This Treaty, consisting of ten Articles, has been settled and concluded through the Honourable Henry Wellesley and Lieutenant-Colonel Scott, under the full powers vested in them by the Governor-General as aforesaid, with His Excellency the Vizier, in the City of Lucknow, on the 10th day of November, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and One, corresponding with the second of the month of Rejib of the year Twelve Hundred and Sixteen Hegira.

No. LVI.

MEMORANDUM of the final result of the discussions between HIS EXCELLENCY the MOST NOBLE the GOVERNOR-GENERAL and the NABOB VIZIER of Oudh, —1802.

On the 15th of February 1802, His Excellency the Nabob Vizier transmitted to the Governor-General a paper of propositions, to which His Excellency required the Governor-General's assent: and the Governor-General after full deliberation on the contents of the said paper, returned a distinct answer to each of the Articles therein detailed. His Excellency the Vizier, in a paper delivered on the 22nd of the same month, proposed certain modifications of the Governor-General's answers, and the original propositions, together with the Governor-General's answers and the Vizier's proposed modifications thereof, were fully discussed at a conference holden between the Governor-General and His Excellency the Vizier, on the 24th of the same month. In consequence of this conference, it was mutually agreed that certain of the Articles of the original paper of propositions should be altogether omitted, and that the Governor-General's reply to the third Article should be modified in conformity to the suggestion of His Excellency the Vizier. At the same conference His Excellency the Vizier, adverting to the Governor-General's suggestion, in his reply to the second Article, that the Vizier should appoint some person to conduct, in the quality of Minister, the ordinary details of public affairs, proposed to constitute and appoint his second son, Mirza Ahmed Ali Khan, to act in that capacity. The Governor-General, at the same conference, deemed it to be expedient to declare to His Excellency the Vizier the general principles which, in His Lordship's judgment, should regulate the connection and intercourse between the two States, as resulting from the Treaty concluded between the Honourable Company and His Excellency the Vizier, on the 10th November 1801. With a view to obviate all future doubts on the subject and result of these communications and conferences, the Governor-General now commits to writing the final determination of the several points discussed between His Lordship and the Vizier, and affixes his seal and signature to this paper, and directs the Secretary in the Political Department, who was present at every conference, and who interpreted between the Governor-General and the Vizier, to countersign this paper.

is desirous of withholding me from the prosecution of any particular measure, let him state his sentiments to me in private, in which case (as I am far from being disposed to act unjustly) either I will prove to the Resident the equity of the proceeding, or the Resident will set me right, and, in the latter event, I will, in conformity to his desire, abandon such proposed measure, and no one will be apprised of any disagreement subsisting between us.

Regular tribunals, in which I do not desire to possess any exclusive interest shall be established, for the sole purpose of giving effect to the Mahomedan law, of fulfilling just claims, and of securing the lives and properties of the people. It is necessary that all persons should subject themselves to the jurisdiction of those tribunals; and if any person should refuse to acknowledge the jurisdiction or oppose the authority of those tribunals, let the Company's Officers assist in enforcing obedience to them.

I consider Her Highness the Begum as my superior, and I am extremely desirous of supporting her dignity, and of promoting her ease. I have no concern with the produce and revenues of her jaghire, nor of any of the jaghiredars; but the authority of the courts of justice, the adjustment of disputes, the redress of grievences, the observance of the civil and criminal punishments, and all other points connected with the administration of justice, must be conducted under my orders, in the Cities of Lucknow and Fyzabad, and in all the jaghires in the same manner as in the rest of my dominions. For these things appertain to the Sovereign, whose duty it is to prevent every species of oppression. Her Highness' servants must not, in any manner, interfere in them, for a partnership in Government is inadmissible. It is for Her Highness' own credit that she should state to me whatever may be her desire in points of the nature above described, in order that what she desires may be accomplished, through the medium of the officers of my Government. The state of affairs hitherto prevailing has been this: that frequent tumults and bloodshed have occurred in Fyzabad, and in Her Highness' jaghire, and not the slightest attention has been paid by Her Highness to anything that I have said or written. In the time of my late brother, the settlement of disputes in the jaghires was left to the Circar. These points will give efficacy to my Government.

This is perfectly wise and proper.

The administration of justice in the Begum's jaghire must be under the Nabob's authority, and the Begum's servants must be subject to it. The authority of the Nabob's courts will be enforced by the British power.

I request that His Lordship will have the goodness to send for Daraub Ali Khan, and desire that, exclusively of the jaghire, such property, lands, bazars, gardens, &c., to a considerable extent, belonging to the Circar, as the officers of Her Highness have unjustly, and without the requisite vouchers (Sunnud), appropriated since four years (a fact which Mr. Lumsden, Motary Golaum Kauder Khan, his Moonshee, and other creditable persons such as Almas Ali Khan, Daraub Ali Khan, and their respective vakeels, can substantiate, and are fully acquainted with, which Her Highness herself formerly acknowledged, which all the most creditable officers of the Circar, such as Jye Sookh Roy, &c.

This will be in conformity to Her Highness' engagements. Let His Lordship have the goodness to transmit orders to the Honourable Henry Wellesley, upon the following points.

Not to afford protection to fugitives from my country, but to surrender such, when demanded by me, or else to expel them from it.

In the event of any of the dependants of my Circar applying for farms within the Ceded Districts to require such person to execute a writing, binding himself to take such farm only on condition that he is not in balance to the Circar.

There are several of my Aumils retaining lands in the Ceded Districts, who are in balance to the Circar, to give me credit in his accounts for the sums due by such Aumils, or else to deliver up those Aumils to me, that I may recover from them what is justly due, and then let them go. When they have settled their accounts with the Circar, Mr. Wellesley will, of course, enter into such engagements with them as he may think proper.

There are many gardens and other property belonging to the Circar, in

All criminals will be reciprocally surrendered: but the subjects of both States, who shall not be accused of capital crimes, should be at liberty to pass freely from one country to the other, and to be established, reciprocally in either.

All balances, now or hereafter due to the Circar, to be adjusted within a reasonable time, and engagements to be taken to this effect from all persons in balance.

A statement of the particulars of such property, gardens, &c., within the Ceded Districts, shall be given in.

I have been induced to cede the districts for the charges of the British Troops merely to gratify His Lordship, deeming it necessary so to do in consequence of Mr. Wellesley's arrival, and resolving to conform to His Lordship's wishes, and to obey His Lordship's commands. Let strict orders be issued that no one may be permitted to injure or destroy any mosques, tombs, or imaumbarrahs, which now exist within those districts.

An engagement was contracted for paying to the Circar the monies collected at the ghauts at Allahabad. Four years have now elapsed since that time, and though I have repeatedly made application to the Resident upon this subject, nothing has hitherto been paid on that account, which occasions a considerable loss to me. Let orders be issued for the payment of those monies agreeably to engagement.

Mr. Wellesley promised to send the Treaty; it has not yet, however, been received. Let His Lordship (or Mr. Wellesley) be reminded to send it.

Propositions.

The Nabob Vizier proposes that his son, Mirza Ahmed Ali Khan, be appointed to the situation of Minister for the affairs of his Government.

I hope from His Lordship's kindness that His Lordship will in my presence, explain all the foregoing points to the Resident, and direct him to act in conformity to them; and that His Lordship will also enjoin the Resident, after His Lordship's departure, to occasion no delay or impediment in my departure, whenever I may choose to set out, and to assist me in the preparations for my journey.

Answers.

The Governor-General concurs in this proposition, and considers Mirza Ahmed Ali Khan to have been appointed accordingly.

In conformity to His Excellency's desire, the proposed explanation and injunctions were stated to the Resident by the Governor-General, in His Excellency's presence on the 24th February.

The Governor-General now proceeds to state the general principles, by which the connection and intercourse between the two States are to be regulated henceforth.

By the terms of the Treaty concluded between the British Government and His Excellency the Vizier, on the 10th November 1801, His Excellency the Nabob's authority is to be completely established within his reserved dominions, and to be exercised through His Excellency's own officers and servants, the British Government having engaged to guarantee the establishment and exercise of His Excellency's authority within his reserved dominions, and the Governor-General will never depart from this engagement. His Excellency has engaged to establish within his reserved dominions such a system of administration as shall be conducive to the prosperity of his subjects, and be calculated to secure the lives and property of the inhabitants. The system of administration is to be carried into effect by His Excellency's own officers and servants, and by his own authority.

His Excellency has also engaged always to advise with, and to act in, conformity to the counsel of the officers of the Honourable Company.

In the establishment, therefore, of an improved system of administration within the reserved dominions, and also in all affairs connected with the ordinary government of those dominions, and with the usual exercise of His Excellency's established authority the Vizier has engaged to advise with the British Government, and to conform to its counsels.

Those counsels will always be offered to His Excellency in the form of friendly advice, and in the spirit of reciprocal confidence, and of mutual regard and respect.

The Governor-General, when the importance of the subject shall require, and the nature of the occasion shall admit his immediate intercourse with the Vizier, will offer the advice of the British Government to His Excellency, by a direct communication, either in person or by letter.

The British Resident at Lucknow, however, is the constituted local representative of the British Government, and the ordinary and established channel of communication in all cases whatever.

The Resident will, therefore, in the common course of business, offer to the Vizier the advice of the British Government, in the name of the Governor-General; and in every case which may require the Resident to state such advice, it is to be received as proceeding immediately from the Governor-General.

Such advice will be offered by the Resident in all practicable cases, under the general or specific orders of the Governor-General.

The Resident must advise the Nabob with perfect cordiality, and must employ every endeavour to coincide with His Excellency in an uniform course of measures, and to unite sincerely with His Excellency, in carrying into effect, exclusively under His Excellency's authority, and through His Excellency's officers, those measures which shall be determined upon in conformity to the counsels of the British Government. In cases requiring the aid of the British Government, or the assistance of the British troops, they shall be employed according to the exigency of the occasion.

The Resident must conduct himself towards the Nabob Vizier, on all occasions, with the utmost degree of respect, conciliation, and attention, and must maintain cordial union and harmony in all transactions, and must endeavour to impart strength and stability to His Excellency's authority.

The Resident must never proceed to act in the affairs of the reserved dominions, without previous consultation with His Excellency or with his Ministers, and the Resident must, in the first instance, observe strict secrecy with regard to the subject of such consultations, until the measures to be adopted shall be finally determined.

Under these regulations, the Governor-General expects that the Nabob Vizier will act in conformity to the advice and representations of the Resident; and as no question of difficulty remains between the British Government and His Excellency, the Governor-General entertains a confident hope that no future vexation can occur in the transaction of affairs.

NO. LVII.

TREATY with NABOB SAADET ALI,—14th January 1812.

Whereas, disputes and contentions have arisen between the subjects of the Honourable Company and of the Government of His Excellency the Vizier, regarding the boundaries of their respective villages, the possession of lands acquired by alluvion, and of islands formed in the rivers which constitute the frontier of the two States; therefore, and with the view of settling and obviating such disputes at the present and in all future times, the following Treaty is concluded by His Excellency the Nabob Vizier-ul-Momalik Yemeen-Oo-Dowla, Nazim-ul-Moolk, Saadet Ali Khan Behauder, Mobauriz Jung, for himself, his heirs and successors, and by Major John Baillie, Resident at Lucknow, by virtue of full powers vested in him for this purpose on the part of the Right Honourable Gilbert, Lord Minto, one of His Britannic Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council and Governor-General of all the British possessions in the East Indies, on the part of the Honourable the United East India Company and their heirs and successors.

ARTICLE 1.

Every island and portion of ground which at the end of the Fussellee year 1208 appertained to the Ceded Territory belong now to the British Government, and every island and portion of land that appertained to the reserved dominions belong now to His Excellency the Vizier. Any island originally belonging to either State which shall, by inundation, disappear, shall, on its reappearance, belong to that State whose property it originally was, although its form may be altered; and all villages and lands situated on the boundary of the two States which appertained at the above period to either of the States shall hereafter and for ever, without dispute, be the property of the State to which they belonged at that time.

ARTICLE 2.

If any river or stream forming the boundary of the two States shall, by gradually changing or receding from its present channel or course, occasion an alluvion or create an increase of land on either of the banks of such river, the land so gained by alluvion shall be the unquestionable property of the State whose territory is situated on the bank from which the river may have receded, notwithstanding any loss which may arise to the other party from the encroachment of such river on his territory:

ARTICLE 3.

All islands which have been formed in the channels of rivers or streams forming the boundaries of the two States since the end of the year 1208 Fussellee or which may hereafter be so formed, shall be adjudged to belong to the State on whose frontier the channel may be fordable, and in the case of the channels on both sides of the island being equal in point of depth, the island shall be considered to form a part of the territory of that State to which at any point it is the most contiguous.

ARTICLE 4.

In the case of a subsequent alteration in the course of the principal channel of a river or stream forming the boundary of the two States, that is, if the channel on either side of an island which was in the first instance deep, shall become shallow, and the channel, on the opposite side become deep, in this case the right to the island shall again be transferred to the State on whose boundary the channel is shallow, and the same rule shall be applied to eventual changes in the contiguity and distance of islands from the territories of the two States. Further as, with a view to ascertain the comparative depth and breadth of the opposite channels of a river in which an island may be formed, the specification of a period is indispensable, the contracting parties do hereby stipulate and agree that the commencement of the season of the rubees be the specific period assigned in all cases of dispute for ascertaining the depth and breadth of the channels.

ARTICLE 5.

If at any time, as in the case of rivers or streams forming the common boundary which wind greatly in their course, an arm or portion of land shall be separated from the territory of either State by the total alteration of the course of a river or stream, the land so separated shall belong exclusively to the State to whose territory it may by such alteration have been annexed, notwithstanding any territorial loss which may be sustained by the opposite party.

ARTICLE 6.

What has been agreed to in the foregoing Articles, relates merely to the prevention of disputes between the two States with respect to the lands alluded to in those Articles, and has no reference whatever to the rights of zemindars.

ARTICLE 7.

This Treaty, comprising seven Articles, having been settled and concluded in the City of Lucknow, on the 14th of January, in the year of our Lord 1812, corresponding with the 28th of the month of Zilhujjii, of the year 1226 Hegira, Major John Baillie, Resident, has delivered to the Vizier one copy of the same in English and Persian, sealed and signed by him, and His Excellency the Vizier has delivered to Major Baillie another copy, also in Persian and English, bearing His Excellency's seal and signature, and Major Baillie hereby engages to procure and deliver to His Excellency the Vizier, within the space of thirty days, a copy of the same, under the seal and signature of the Right Honorable the Governor-General, when the copy under his own seal and signature shall be returned.

This is an obligation in the manner of a Deed of Deposit by Her Highness the Bow Begum, daughter of Mootumen-ood-Dowla Ishak Khan, deceased, wife of Nawab Shooja-ood-Dowla, deceased, and mother of the late Nawab Asuf-ood-Dowla, in favor of the Honourable Company's Government, whose guarantee for the security and protection of Her Highness, her friends and dependents, has long been established to the effect underwritten, viz.:—

My jaghire, houses, property and goods of every description shall remain in my possession while I live, and I alone shall have the power of using them for the support and provision of those who are dear to me, my nephews and other relations, dependents, eunuchs, and female slaves, &c., as I think proper. But being mindful of the uncertainty of this transitory life, and with a view to future events, while yet in health of body and of sound intellect and judgment, I hereby give and surrender in trust and deposit, to the Members of the Honourable Company's Government, the whole of the property and goods in ready money, household furniture, plate and jewels, &c., now in my possession, amounting to the sum of seventy lakhs of rupees, as particularly stated and described in a separate schedule under my seal, and whatever I may hereafter acquire and possess from this date till the day of my death, conferring and bestowing on the said Government the fullest power and authority over all my said property and possessions, for the purpose and with the intent that they, the members of the said Government, in consideration of their ancient friendship for me, and as they have done hitherto during my life time, do continue after my death to be the guardians and protectors of all those who are dear to me, my nephews, connections, eunuchs and other dependents, and do secure and preserve to those persons individually, name by name, and to their heirs and successors for ever, the jaghires and monthly allowances in money from the income of my personal wealth, which I have assigned to each of them respectively in a separate statement under my seal; that so they may be rendered independent of every other person for subsistence.

The British Government will further protect my said relations and dependents against all tyranny and oppression, and will support them in the unmolest possession of all such houses, gardens, bazars and shops, profits and perquisites of every description, as they may have occupied and enjoyed during my life, taking care that no person shall disturb either them or their heirs or successors in the occupation and enjoyment of those possessions; and as my faithful servant Darab Alee Khan Nazeer, and all other public officers, eunuchs, and dependents of my Government have hitherto satisfied me, and will continue to do so during my life, as to the accuracy of their conduct and accounts no demands should hereafter be made against them, nor should they be required to give any account, save for the immediate surrender and delivery to the Honourable Company's Government, agreeably to my orders, of the property in money and goods above stated to be now in my possession, and the further amount to be accumulated from this date until the day of my death, of which a faithful account shall be rendered.

In addition to the several provisions to individuals which are stated in the accompanying list, the sum of three lakhs of Sicca Rupees is to be given to my servant Darab Alee Khan for the purpose of erecting a mausoleum over the place of my interment, and one lakh of Sicca Rupees to be appropriated as a donation to the shrines of Karbula, Nujufe Ashruff, and other holy places, at the discretion of my said minister, who is a faithful and religious person, and will apply the money to the purposes specified. To defray the annual expenses of the said mausoleum, villages in the Pergunnah of Puchumrath, having a clear jumma of Sicca Rupees ten thousand, shall be allotted; and the surplus revenue of the villages to be given to the poor and religious inhabiting the said mausoleum, that they may enjoy peace and tranquillity of mind.

The stipends of those that are dear to me, my nephews, eunuchs, booboos, female slaves, and other dependents, to be regularly paid from the revenue of my jaghire, or from the income of my personal wealth, to Darab Alee Khan who will distribute the money among them, and whose recommendations and suggestions shall be received and attended to on their behalf, and after establishing and securing the whole of the above-mentioned salaries and pensions, and paying, the foregoing sums, the balance of my property in ready money and valuables shall be at the entire and uncontrolled disposal of the Honourable Company's Government, to do whatever they please with it, and to give it to whomsoever they please.

But as some of my relations and connections, who are mentioned in the accompanying list, have jaghires and established allowances in money from another Government, which are liable to resumption or diminution on the death of the present possessors, contrary to the practice of my Sircar, it is incumbent on the Honourable Company's Government, with a view to its own reputation and for the credit of my name, after securing the several provisions detailed in the accompanying list, to reserve in its own hands such a portion of the residue of my property as will ensure a suitable provision in perpetuity to the descendants of those of my relations, whose allowances may be resumed at their death, that no person related to me may be left in an indigent condition.

DARAB ALEE KHAN.

J. BAILLIE,

Resident.

No. 5.

To

HER HIGHNESS THE BHOW BEGUM.

Written 29th October 1813.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Your Highness' letter to the address of the late Governor-General, the Earl of Minto, referring to the result of your communications with Major Baillie, who had proceeded to Fyzabad to receive Your Highness' commands; and Major Baillie has reported to me the substance of what passed at the several conferences with which you honored him during his residence at Fyzabad.

2. The arrangement which Your Highness has adopted in order to secure the due fulfilment of your wishes in favor of your relations and dependents is worthy of your acknowledged discernment and prudence, and will tend to enlarge and perpetuate the fame of your wisdom and piety; and it will, I trust, be the means of securing to the full extent your benevolent intentions. I will not conceal from Your Highness, however, that I should have felt more confidence on that subject if Your Highness had seen fit to place in the immediate charge of the British Government such a portion of your wealth as would be equal to the demand on that account, as suggested to you by Major Baillie. Your Highness may, however, rely on the just and punctual discharge, by the British Government, of the trust which you have confided to it, and may be assured that it will in all its measures consult the honor and reputation of Your Highness, and the comfort and security of those who have been so fortunate as to become the objects of your regard and affection.

For Your Highness' further satisfaction I have executed an instrument, which will be transmitted to Your Highness by the Resident at Lucknow, containing the unqualified confirmation and guarantee by the British Government, of the disposition of Your Highness' personal property, prescribed in the documents under Your Highness' seal, and attested by Darab Alee Khan and Baboo Sook Butchun, which were delivered to Major Baillie.

3. Your Highness is aware that the consent of His Excellency the Vizier must be obtained to the grant of villages in Pergunnah Puchumrath, and although it cannot be doubted that His Excellency will most readily comply with Your Highness' wishes in an affair in which Your Highness' satisfaction and his own reputation are equally concerned, it must be obvious to Your Highness that the British Government can only engage to employ its utmost influence with His Excellency to obtain his consent to the desired arrangement. I have accordingly instructed Major Baillie to obtain, at a fit season, His Excellency's acquiescence, and I have no doubt that at an early period he will be enabled to make a communication to Your Highness on the subject, which will be entirely satisfactory to your mind.

4. I request Your Highness to accept the assurances of the unalterable respect and attachment of the British Government, and to repose implicit confidence in its zeal and anxiety for your interest and comfort.

DRAFT of ENGAGEMENT to HER HIGHNESS the BHOW BEGUM.

Her Highness the Bhow Begum having, by an instrument bearing her seal, and duly attested by witnesses, declared her intention to make over to the British Government the whole of her personal property, in order to enable that Government to provide for Her Highness' relations and dependents, to the extent and in the manner specified in a separate paper, also sealed with Her Highness' seal, and witnessed as above, and for other purposes expressed in those papers; and Her Highness having moreover delivered to the Resident at Lucknow a Schedule under her seal, specifying the estimated amount and value of her property in money and jewels, and the places in which it is deposited; the Governor-General hereby confirms and guarantees the disposition of Her Highness' personal property prescribed in the documents above referred to, and promises and engages, that on obtaining possession of that property the whole of Her Highness' directions, in favor of her relations and dependents, and with regard to the other objects mentioned in those papers, shall, as far as depends on the British Government, be carried into early and complete effect; and the Governor-General further engages to employ the utmost influence of the British Government to obtain from His Excellency the Vizier the grant in perpetuity of villages in the Pergunnah of Puchumrath, of the annual jumma of Rupees 10,000, in the name of Darab Alee Khan, according to Her Highness' desire. The Governor-General moreover promises to afford the countenance and protection of the British Government to Her Highness' relations and dependents, and to maintain them and their posterity in the possession of the provisions which Her Highness has devised to them.

Done at Fort William, this 29th day of October 1813.

To

HIS HIGHNESS THE NABOB REFAUT-ODD-DOWLAH,

Written the 19th July 1814.

A considerable time has elapsed since I received the orders of Government to submit to the notice of Your Highness' father, of blessed memory, the objects and result of my proceedings on the occasion of my visit to Fyzabad, at the request of Her Highness the Begum, in the months of July and August last. My delay to execute those orders was occasioned, in the first instance, by the necessary preparation of copies of a number of documents of a secret and important nature, the transcribing of which could only be entrusted to the most confidential of my native servants, and subsequently by the unhappy indisposition of Your Highness' father, which precluded the propriety of my bringing subjects of this nature before him. I had, in fact prepared a letter on the subject to His Excellency the late Vizier, which forms the ground work of this address to Your Highness, and was intended to have been delivered on the 12th instant, at a conference which was fixed for that day.

The documents which I now submit to Your Highness are so very explicit in their tenor, and so fully descriptive of the just and natural objects to which they refer, as to render comments on my part superfluous; and the explanations with which I am charged by the Government being calculated rather to meet eventual enquiries on the part of His Excellency the late Vizier, than to answer any immediate purpose of our Government in this communication, may, with obvious propriety, be reserved for an occasion of personal conference hereafter if the subject of the documents enclosed should appear to Your Highness to require it.

Your Highness is probably aware of the original intention of Her Highness the Bhow Begum, announced in a manner the most solemn to the Most Noble the Governor-General Marquis Wellesley, through the medium of the late Colonel Scott, to transfer the whole of her property, real and personal, including the revenues of her Jaghire, which Her Highness considered as the free and irrevocable gift of her husband, the late Nawab Soojah-ood-Dowlah, to the Honorable Company's Government, and to constitute that Government her sole heir and executor at her death.

The just right of Her Highness the Begum to confer, and of the Honorable Company's Government to accept, the character and privileges of Her Highness's heir and executor, with a reference to her personal property, could never be reasonably doubted; and Your Highness will duly appreciate the motives of extraordinary consideration which induced our Government to reject a proposal so honorable and advantageous to itself, on the part of Her Highness the Begum, and to recommend to her an arrangement which must combine the most essential benefit to Your Highness, as well as a due regard for your rights, with the accomplishment of the Begum's most laudable and benevolent purposes in favor of her relations and dependents.

That all these objects have been attained by the result of my proceedings at Fyzabad, as explained in the accompanying documents, Your Highness cannot fail to observe; and you will now experience without alloy the satisfaction which I promised to your august father, when I should be authorized to communicate for his information the arrangements which I concluded with the Begum, and which the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council has been pleased to ratify and confirm.

Your Highness' cheerful acquiescence in that part of the arrangement referred to, which provides for the honorable interment of Her Highness the Begum's remains, when it shall please God to remove her from this transitory state, cannot for a moment be doubted; and to this particular clause in the instrument under Her Highness' seal, and another intended to provide for, what I consider as an impossible case, the disposition of Your Highness' mind to discontinue or resume, at their death, the allowances of the Begum's relations, enjoyed under Your Highness' government, I have been commanded by His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council to solicit your early attention, and to request a communication of your sentiments and intentions with regard to them at as early a period as may be practicable.

The peculiar nature of the documents which I have the honor of transmitting to Your Highness, and more particularly the wish of Her Highness the Begum respecting them, as explained in one of her letters to me, will, I doubt not, suggest to Your Highness the propriety of preventing the contents of any of those documents from becoming generally known for the present, and of Your Highness' observing the same degree of secrecy with regard to the provisions of Her Highness the Begum's Will, which I have invariably practised since that instrument was committed to my charge.

J. BAILLIE,
Resident.

FROM

HIS HIGHNESS THE VIZIER.

Received the 4th of August 1814.

I have had the pleasure of receiving your letter of the 19th ultimo, with its enclosures, stating that "you had received the orders of His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General to communicate the result of your proceedings at Fyzabad, &c., &c.," and I have perused the papers which you transmitted to me with the greatest care and attention.

Of a truth this Government had never, and can never have, such a firm friend and ally—so sincere and disinterested in its friendship, as the Honorable Company's Government, who, regardless of its own advantage, has rejected personal property to so very considerable an amount bequeathed by Her Highness the Bhow Begum, and determined to transfer the whole of that property to me, after providing for the payment of the legacies and annuities to the Begum's near relations and dependents, which Her Highness so properly bequeathed to them, and which the British Government has justly guaranteed. Words are inadequate to express the sense which I entertain of this conduct; and of course I most cheerfully acquiesce in the arrangements which His Lordship has proposed to me, regarding the assignment of lands in Puchumrath, for the expenses of the Begum's mausoleum, and the other purposes of her Will. Accordingly I hereby engage that, when it shall please Almighty God to remove my venerable grandmother from this transitory scene, villages in the District of Puchumrath, yielding a revenue of ten thousand rupees per annum, shall be set apart and granted in perpetuity for the charges of Her Highness' mausoleum, and further that all the stipends and provisions which Her Highness' relations enjoy and have hitherto received from this Government shall be continued to them and their heirs in perpetuity, without any deduction whatever. Considering you as my sincere friend and well-wisher, I request you to report these engagements for His Lordship in Council's satisfaction, without any delay.

The British Government hereby cedes to His Excellency the Vizier in full and perpetual sovereignty the District of Khyreegur, also the low lands between Khyreegur and the hills, and those between His Excellency's territory further to the eastward and the hills; that is, the whole of the late Goorka possessions below the hills, extending on the west from the River Gogra to the British District of Goruckpore on the east, and bounded on the south by His Excellency's possessions and the District of Khyreegur, and on the north by the hills. The Goorka orders of surrender of that tract will accordingly be made over to His Excellency the Vizier, and the British Government hereby engages to establish His Excellency's authority in the above-mentioned territory.

DEED of AGREEMENT between the KING OF OUDE and the BRITISH GOVERNMENT, concerning the deposit of three lakhs (3,00,000) of Rupees, the interest to be given in perpetuity to the poor of Lucknow,—12th December 1833.

First.—Seeing that deeds of charity and mercy are by the King of Kings, the Great Creator of all things, commanded to be done of all men : and that particularly from Kings and Governors, who are distinguished among men and entrusted by Providence with wealth and riches, and with ample means whereby to provide for the protection, necessities and comforts of God's people, does an all-seeing Providence look for deeds of benevolence and charity ; and, further, seeing that the vanities of life are fading, and perish in the using and leave no trace behind, and it is not only becoming and proper, but gratifying to the best feelings of the mind to leave a memorial behind, agreeably to the saying, that it is better for a “ man to leave a name behind him than a Golden Palace ”: His Majesty the King of Oude, Aboon Nuseer, Kootboodeen Solyman Jah Sultani Audil Nowsherewan Zaman, remembering the commands of the King of Kings to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, and to comfort the afflicted, does of the treasures which Providence has bestowed on him, most freely and with unfeigned pleasure determine to endow a charity, which shall relieve the poor of his capital the city of Lucknow, now and through future generations, and remain a remembrance of his name and of his reign in after ages.

Second.—To this end, the King of Oude hereby places in the Residency treasury the sum of three lakhs (3,00,000) of Rupees, to be lodged in the four per cent. loan of the British Government, the interest of which, being 12,000 Rupees per annum, is to be paid at the rate of one thousand (1,000) Rupees a month to the poor in perpetuity.

Third.—It shall not be optional with the future Rulers of Oude, or with any power whatever, to resume this money or to appropriate it to any other purpose ; on the contrary, it is placed under the guarantee of the British Government, for the express end that it may for ever remain to be distributed to the poor, in the name of His present Majesty, and its denomination shall be the charity of “ Nuseerood-Deen Hyder, King of Oude.”

Fourth.—The King of Oude reposing great confidence upon the stability and good faith of the British Government, entirely entrusts the charity to the management and discretion of the Right Honorable Lord William Cavendish Bentinck, G.C.B., Governor-General, and to all future Governors-General of British India, under whatsoever denomination they may rule, and requests that they may be pleased to authorise their Residents or representatives at this Court to distribute the interest to real objects of charity, such as the lame, the maimed, the blind, the helpless aged, the lepers, and those who are destitute ; this will be an act acceptable to God and praised of men. To the watchful care of Providence, therefore, and to the known honor and good faith of the British Government is this charity committed, in the hope that through the same kind Providence, in all future generations, so long as this world lasts, the money may be devoted solely and entirely to the support of God's poor.

Fifth.—The Right Honorable Lord William Cavendish Bentinck, G.C.B., &c., Governor-General of British India, hereby, on the part of the British Government, entirely approving of His Majesty's charitable intentions, guarantees that the interest of the sum of three lakhs (3,00,000) of Rupees, at four (4) per cent. amounting monthly to one thousand (1,000) Rupees, shall, from the 1st May, 1833, be paid in perpetuity to the poor of Lucknow, in accordance with the benevolent intentions set forth by the King of Oude in the foregoing Articles.

Done this Twelfth day of December, Eighteen Hundred and Thirty-three (1833), at Fort William in Bengal.

TREATY between the HONORABLE EAST INDIA COMPANY and HIS MAJESTY ABDUOL FUTTEH MOEEN-OD-DEEN NOWSHERE-WANI-AUDIL SULTANI ZAMAN MAHAMMUD ALLI SHAH, KING of OUDE,—11th September 1837.

Whereas by the subsisting alliance between the Honourable the East India Company and the Oude States, the British Government is bound to defend the Oude Territories against foreign and domestic enemies, the Sovereign of Oude engaging to retain in his service only a small specified number of troops: and whereas, while the British Government has faithfully and scrupulously performed the obligations so imposed on it, the engagement on the part of the Oude State has been habitually infringed, there being now in the employment of His Majesty the King of Oude a large and expensive military force; and whereas experience has shown that the execution of all the provisions of the Treaty of 1801 is attended with serious difficulty, and it is desirable and proper that a modified arrangement, consistent with the principles of that Treaty, and conducing to the prosperity and advantage of both States, should be introduced; and whereas the restrictions as to the amount of military force to be employed by His Majesty the King of Oude may with propriety be relaxed, on condition that an adequate portion of the increased force shall be placed under British discipline and control, so as at once to promote the general interests of the Indian Empire, and in particular the dignity and safety of the King, providing at a reduced cost for the efficiency of his national military establishment: and whereas Article 6th of the Treaty of 1801 requires that the Sovereign of Oude always advising with, and acting in conformity to, the counsel of the Officers of the Honourable Company, shall establish in his reserved dominions such a system of administration (to be carried into effect by his own officers) as shall be conducive to the prosperity of his subjects, and be calculated to secure the lives and property of the inhabitants, but provides no remedy for the neglect of that solemn and paramount obligation: and whereas the infraction of this essential engagement of the Treaty, and inattention to the first duty of a Sovereign on the part of several successive Rulers of Oude, have been continued and notorious, and have ever exposed the British Government to the reproach of imperfectly fulfilling its obligations towards the Oude people, and it is therefore just and proper that the defect alluded to in Article 6th of the Treaty aforesaid should be rectified; the following provisions have accordingly been arranged and concluded on the one part by Lieutenant-Colonel John Low, Resident at the Court of Lucknow, in the name and on behalf of the Right Honorable Lord Auckland, Governor-General of India in Council, and on the other, by Abool Futteh Moeen-Ood-Deen Sultani Zaman Nowshere-wani-Audil, Mohummud Alli Shah, King of Oude, for himself and his heirs; and this agreement is to hold good from generation to generation to the end of time.

ARTICLE 1.

Article third (3rd) of the Treaty, dated the tenth of November, one thousand eight hundred and one, is hereby cancelled, and His Majesty the King of Oude may employ such a military establishment as he may deem necessary for the government of his dominions. His Majesty engages, however, to make a suitable reduction of his establishment, when it may appear to the British Government, from its pressure on the finances of the country or other causes, to be obviously excessive.

ARTICLE 2.

The Honourable East India Company engages, as before to defend the Oude State against all foreign and domestic enemies; but it will be proper and advisable that His Majesty the King of Oude shall organize, as a part of his augmented military establishment, a disciplined force for the general support of his authority within his dominions.

ARTICLE 3.

The King of Oude agrees that the portion of his troops, to be organized as stipulated in the preceding article, shall consist of not less than two regiments of cavalry, five of infantry, and two companies of golundauze, for whose regular payment a suitable arrangement will be made.

ARTICLE 4.

The Government of Oude will fix the sum of sixteen (16) lakhs of Rupees per annum for the expenses of the force, stipulated to be maintained in the third (3rd) Article of this Treaty, including their pay, arms, equipments, and public buildings of the cantonments, &c., and as this force is so to be organized, as to ensure its efficiency for all descriptions of service, it will be open to future decision whether it may be advisable (with the consent of both governments) to have a small party of horse artillery, instead of a few of the horsemen, and a small body of pioneers, instead of a few infantry sepoy; but it is a settled compact between the two States that the expenditure on account of this new force, whatever may be its organization, shall not exceed sixteen (16) lakhs of Rupees, including every description of expense connected with it. And also, in consequence of this year being one of great scarcity, and the expenditure of the Oude Government being very great, owing to its having to pay up a large amount of arrears due to troops and establishments, greater than usual, it is on these accounts hereby settled that for a period of eighteen (18) months, reckoning from the first of September, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-seven, the organization of the new force shall not be commenced; and accordingly that no demands shall be made upon the Oude Government for money to pay the above-mentioned troops until the first of March, eighteen hundred and thirty-nine.

ARTICLE 5.

The British Government hereby engages to supply, and the King of Oude to take into his service, an adequate number of British Officers, to be constantly employed with such force for the purpose of maintaining its due discipline and securing its permanent efficiency.

ARTICLE 6.

This auxiliary force will ordinarily be fixed at such stations within the Oude territory as may, with the consent of both governments, from time to time, to both seem most convenient, and will be employed on all occasions on which its services may be deemed necessary by the King of Oude, with the concurrence of the British Resident; but it is to be clearly understood that such force is not to be employed in the ordinary collections of revenue.

ARTICLE 7.

In modification of Article 6th of the Treaty above referred to, it is hereby provided that the King of Oude will take into his immediate and earnest consideration, in concert with the British Resident, the best means of remedying the existing defects in the Police, and in the Judicial and Revenue Administrations of his dominions, and that if His Majesty should neglect to attend to the advice and counsel of the British Government or its local representative, and if (which God forbid) gross and systematic oppression, anarchy and misrule should hereafter at any time prevail within the Oude dominions, such as seriously to endanger the public tranquillity, the British Government reserves to itself the right of appointing its own officers to the management of whatsoever portions of the Oude territory, either to a small or to a great extent, in which such misrule as that above alluded to may have occurred, for so long a period as it may deem necessary, the surplus receipts in such case, after defraying all charges, to be paid into the King's treasury, and a true and faithful account rendered to His Majesty of the receipts and expenditure of the territories so assumed.

ARTICLE 8.

And it is hereby further agreed that in case the Governor-General of India in Council should be compelled to resort to the exercise of the authority vested in him by Article 7th of this Treaty, he will endeavour, as far as possible, to maintain (with such improvements as they may admit of) the native institutions and forms of administration within the assumed territories, so as to facilitate the restoration of those territories to the Sovereign of Oude when the proper period for such restoration shall arrive.

ARTICLE 9.

All the other provisions and conditions of former Treaties between the British Government and the Oude State, which are not affected by the above convention, are to remain in full force and effect.

The above Treaty, consisting of nine Articles, is executed at Lucknow, this Eleventh day of September, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Thirty-Seven, corresponding with the Tenth day of Jamadoossanee, Twelve Hundred and Fifty-Three Hegira.

ARTICLE 2ND.

As the pensioners enumerated in this deed are objects of our peculiar consideration and favor, it is necessary that the Resident for the time being, owing to the union and friendship subsisting between the two Governments, treat them with kindness, and, considering them deserving of the support of the British Government, always afford them his aid and assistance.

ARTICLE 4TH.

As the whole of the income and disbursements of Hossainabad Moobaruk and the new road and their dependencies have been placed entirely at the disposal of Ruffeek-ood-Dowlah Syud Imam Alee Khan Bahadoor and Azeemoollah Khan Bahadoor, without the participation of Shurf-ood-Dowlah Bahadoor, it is necessary that they should receive with honesty the sums set apart for Hossainabad Moobaruk and the other incomes of it and its dependencies, and expend them with all probity and economy, and carefully preserve the whole of the property in Hossainabad Moobaruk, so that to the utmost of their power it may not be lost or spoiled, and should no descendants of the mutawullies or superintendents of the mosque, or of the mutwussit or vakeel remain, let the Resident for the time being, with the concurrence of three-fourths of the pen-

Government of Bengal.

I.—BENGAL.

IN 1599 an Association was formed to trade with the East Indies, and on the 31st December 1600 they obtained from Queen Elizabeth an exclusive charter of privilege, constituting them a body politic and corporate, by the name of “The Governor and Company of Merchants of London trading to the East Indies.”

The Company’s first factory was established at Surat.

In 1624 a Farman was obtained from the Moghul Emperor Jahangir, permitting the English to trade with Bengal, but restricting them to the port of Pipli in Midnapur. The regular connection of the Company with Bengal, however, did not begin till 1642, when a factory was established at Balasore; and in 1652 permission was obtained for unlimited trade, without payment of customs, on an annual payment of Rs. 3,000.

In 1661 Charles II granted a new charter, vesting the Company with power to make peace or war with any non-Christian Prince and to seize and send to England unlicensed traders. A fresh charter was again granted in 1693, confirming the exclusive privileges of the Company for twenty-one years. In 1698 a rival Company was formed, known as the New or “English Company,” which amalgamated with the old or

“London Company” in 1702, and the two parties took the name of “The United Company of Merchants trading to the East Indies.”

During the administration of Shaista Khan, Subadar of Bengal, the English were subjected to much oppression. Shaista Khan exacted a duty of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on their merchandise, and his officers arbitrarily extorted large sums from the factors, until in 1685 it was resolved to seek redress by force of arms. This decision exasperated the Emperor Aurangzeb, who ordered that the English should be expelled from his dominions. The Company's factories were seized and their affairs were brought to the brink of ruin, when negotiations for peace were set on foot and a reconciliation was effected.

In 1698 the English obtained permission from Azam-ush-Shan, grandson of Aurangzeb and Governor of Bengal, to purchase the towns of Sutanati, Govindpur and Calcutta. No sanad is forthcoming, but it is more a matter of antiquarian interest than of historic importance.

In 1756 Nawab Siraj-ud-Daula became Subadar of Bengal. He demanded from the English Governor of Calcutta the surrender of one of the principal officers of finance under his late uncle, the Governor of Dacca, from whom he proposed to extort money: and when this demand was refused, he attacked and captured Calcutta on the 20th June. One hundred and forty-six English fell into his hands and were thrust into “The Black Hole,” where all, save twenty-three, perished in the night. On the 2nd January 1757 Calcutta was retaken by a force from Madras under Clive and Admiral Watson, and on the 4th February the Nawab's army was surprised and defeated by Clive. Overtures were then made by the Nawab, and on the 9th February 1757, a Treaty (No. I) was concluded, by which the Nawab agreed not to molest the Company in the enjoyment of their privileges; to permit all goods belonging to the Company to pass freely by land or water, without paying any duties or fees; to restore the factories and plundered property; and to permit the Company to fortify Calcutta and to establish a mint. Three days later a Contract (No. II) with the Nawab, offensive and defensive, was signed.

War having broken out between France and England, Clive attacked the French settlement of Chandernagore. Siraj-ud-Daula furnished the French with arms and money, and was preparing to make common cause against the English. At this juncture a confederacy was formed among Siraj-ud-Daula's chief officers to depose him. The English joined this confederacy and concluded a Treaty (No. III) with Mir Jafar Ali Khan. At the battle of Plassey, which was fought on the 23rd June 1757, the power of Siraj-ud-Daula was completely broken, and Mir Jafar was installed by Clive as Subadar of Bengal with the title of Nawab.

In 1758 the Shahzada, afterwards Shah Alam, fled from Delhi, in consequence of some dispute with his father, the Emperor Alamgir II, and entered into a league with the Subadars of Oudh and Allahabad for the conquest of the Lower Provinces. The Prince entered Bihar with about 40,000 men, and laid siege to Patna.

Mir Jafar was greatly alarmed, and Clive marched to his aid with what force he could muster. The terror of Clive's name was sufficient, and ere he reached Patna the Shahzada's army had almost entirely dispersed. As a reward for this service Mir Jafar granted Clive the quit-rent, about three lakhs per annum, which the Company had agreed to pay for the zamindari of Calcutta.*

In 1759 an armament of seven ships from Batavia unexpectedly made its appearance in the mouth of the Hooghly. Mir Jafar had secretly encouraged the Dutch to send this force. He was alarmed at the growing power of the English, and wished to counterbalance it with that of the Dutch, while the latter were eager to share in the wealth which the British had acquired in Bengal. Clive, though sensible of the responsibility he would incur by attacking the forces of a friendly power, was satisfied that, if he allowed the Batavian armament to join the garrison at Chinsura, the Nawab would throw himself into the arms of his new allies, and the English ascendancy in Bengal would be exposed to serious danger. To prevent this he obtained from the Nawab a mandate, directing the newly arrived armament to leave the river. Under the authority of this order, and with the pretext of enforcing it, Clive caused the Dutch to be attacked both by land and water. They were completely defeated, and all their ships were taken. A Convention (No. IV) was then signed, by which the Dutch agreed to pay an indemnity, and the English to restore their ships and property. An Agreement (No. V) was at the same time made between the Nawab and the Dutch, which was guaranteed by the Governor in Council of Fort William. †

To meet his pecuniary engagements Mir Jafar had recourse to the severest exactions. He resigned himself to unworthy favouritism; and it became necessary to depose him in favour of his son-in-law Mir Kasim Ali Khan, with whom a Treaty (No. VI) was concluded on the 27th September 1760. By this treaty the British obtained possession of Burdwan, Midnapur and Chittagong.

Serious disputes arose between Mir Kasim and the English regarding the right of the servants of the Company to trade and to have their goods passed free of duty, and these disputes led at last to war. Negotiations were opened with Mir Jafar, and on the 10th July 1763 a Treaty (No VII) was executed between him and the Company. Mir Kasim, after sustaining a series of defeats and revenging himself by the murder of his English prisoners, fled to Oudh and eventually to Delhi, where he died in 1777.

In 1764 Mir Jafar agreed to pay five lakhs a month (No. VIII), in addition to the sums for which he had contracted in the recent treaty, towards the expense of the war which was then being carried on against the Wazir of Oudh who, with the Emperor Shah Alam, had espoused the cause of Mir Kasim.

Mir Jafar died in January 1765, and was succeeded by his son Najm-ud-Daula, with whom a new Treaty (No. IX) was concluded, by which the Company took the military defence of the country entirely into its own hands. Among other conditions the Nawab bound himself to appoint, by the advice of the Governor and Council, a deputy to conduct the government, who should not be removable without their consent.

In 1764 the army of Shuja-ud-Daula, the Wazir of Oudh who, under the pretence of assisting Mir Kasim, had invaded Bihar, was completely routed, and the Wazir was obliged to throw himself on the generosity of the English. The whole of his dominions was restored to him, except Allahabad and Kara, which were given to the Emperor of Delhi, who, on his part, conferred the Diwani of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa on the Company by Imperial Farman (No. X); the English became security for the regular payment of twenty-six lakhs a year by the Nawab, and agreed to allow the Nawab the annual sum of 53,86,131 Sicca Rupees for the support of the Nizamat.

Najm-ud-Daula died in May 1766, and was succeeded by his brother, Saif-ud-Daula, a youth of sixteen. A Treaty (No. XI) was concluded with him, by which he ratified the treaties formerly concluded with his father and brother, and the Company agreed to support him in the Nizamat and to allow him an annual stipend of Rs. 41,86,131.

Saif-ud-Daula was succeeded in 1770 by his brother, Mubarak-ud-Daula, with whom a new Engagement (No. XII) was made. By this engagement the Nawab Nazim's stipend was fixed at Rs. 31,81,991. This is the last treaty made with the Nawab Nazim. The office of Subadar had now become merely a nominal one, all real power having passed into the hands of the Company. In 1772 the stipend was reduced to sixteen lakhs a year, at which rate it continued to be paid down to 1880. In 1869 the Nawab Nazim, Saiyid Mansur Ali Khan, left Murshidabad and went with his family to England, where he took up his permanent residence.

In 1873, the affairs of the Nawab Nazim having fallen into confusion, Commissioners were appointed under a special Act to arrange for the liquidation of his debts, and to ascertain the amount of jewels and immovable property held by the Government for the purpose of upholding the dignity of the Nawab Nazim for the time being. By this Act the Nawab was declared incapable of contracting any pecuniary obligation.

In 1880 Saiyid Mansur Ali Khan agreed to retire from the position of Nawab Nazim, and to renounce and relinquish all claims and demands to the position and title of "Nazim and Subadar of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa" and all personal right of interference in Nizamat affairs, in consideration of an annual stipend of £10,000 or a payment of Rs. 10,00,000 in settlement of various miscellaneous claims, and of a suitable provision for his four children born in England. The conditions of this arrangement are embodied in a formal deed, dated the 1st November 1880, which Saiyid Mansur Ali executed in London. On the abdication of Saiyid Mansur Ali, the title "Nawab Nazim of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa" ceased to exist. He died at Murshidabad on the 5th November 1884. His eldest son, Nawab Ali Kadr Saiyid Hasan Ali Mirza, was granted the hereditary title of "Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad" (No. XXVII) and allowed precedence over all titled nobles of Bengal. The final settlement of the Nizamat affairs was made by an indenture dated the 12th March 1891, which forms the schedule to the Murshidabad Act XV of 1891. It provides inter alia for the payment in perpetuity to the Nawab Bahadur and his lineal heirs male of a monthly allowance of Rs. 19,166-10-8, or Rs. 2,30,000 a year. Nawab Ali Kadr Saiyid Hasan Ali Mirza died at Murshidabad on the 25th December 1906, and his eldest son Ihtisham-ul-Mulk Rais-ud-Daula Amir-ul-Omrah Nawab Asif Qadr Saiyid Wasif Ali Mirza Khan Bahadur, Mahbat Jang, succeeded to the title and the allowance of Rs. 2,30,000 per annum under the terms of the deed of indenture attached to the Murshidabad Act XV of 1891. The Nawab Bahadur is exempt from the payment of income-tax and super-tax on this allowance.

On the 13th August 1814 a Treaty* was concluded in London between Great Britain and the Netherlands, providing, among other

* This Treaty and the Additional Articles will be found in Hertslet's Treaties, Vol. I, pp. 359—369.

The following are the Articles which have reference to India:—

I. His Britannic Majesty engages to restore to the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands, within the term which shall be hereafter fixed, the Colonies, Factories, and Establishments which were possessed by Holland at the commencement of the late war, viz., on the 1st January 1803, in the seas and on the continents of America, Africa and Asia; with the exception of the Cape of Good Hope and the Settlements of Demerara, Essequibo, and Berbice of which possessions the High Contracting Parties reserve to Themselves the right to dispose by a Supplementary Convention, hereafter to be negotiated according to Their mutual interests, and specially with reference to the provisions contained in the 6th and 9th Articles of the Treaty of Peace signed between His Britannic Majesty and His Most Christian Majesty on the 30th of May 1814.

II. His Britannic Majesty agrees to cede in full Sovereignty the Island of Banca, in the Eastern Seas, to the Prince Sovereign of the Netherlands, in exchange for the Settlement of Cochin and its Dependencies on the coast of Malabar, which is to remain in full Sovereignty to His Britannic Majesty.

stipulations, for the restoration to the Dutch of the factories and establishments possessed by them in India and the Eastern Seas on the 1st January 1803; by an additional article the Dutch agreed to cede to the British Government the district of Baranagar on payment of an annual sum to be fixed by mutual agreement.

In pursuance of these arrangements formal Deeds of transfer were executed in the cases of Chinsura and Baranagar respectively (Nos. XV and XVI). The transfer of Kalkapur to the Dutch remained in abeyance in consequence of their assertion of a claim for the exercise of certain prescriptive rights of sovereignty and independence within that factory, which were inconsistent with its purely commercial status.

The tenure of the Dutch was not of long duration. By articles 8 and 13 of the Treaty between Great Britain and the Netherlands, dated the 17th March 1824 (No. XVIII), the Dutch settlements in Bengal were again made over to the British Government, in whose possession they have ever since remained, and formal Deeds of transfer of the settlements of Chinsura, Falta, Kalkapur, Dacca, Balasore* and Patna* were executed (Nos. XIX to XXII).

III. The places and forts in the colonies and settlements which, by virtue of the two preceding Articles, are to be ceded and exchanged by the two High Contracting parties, shall be given up in the state in which they may be at the moment of the signature of the present Convention.

IV. His Britannic Majesty guarantees to the subjects of His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands, the same facilities, privileges, and protection, with respect to commerce and the security of their persons and property within the limits of the British Sovereignty on the Continent of India, as are now or shall be granted to the most favoured nations.

His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign, on his part, having nothing more at heart than the perpetual duration of peace between the Crown of England and the United Netherlands, and wishing to do His utmost to avoid anything which might affect their mutual good understanding, engages not to erect any fortifications in the establishments which are to be restored to Him within the limits of the British Sovereignty upon the Continent of India, and only to place in those establishments the number of troops necessary for the maintenance of the police.

V. Those colonies, factories, and establishments which are to be ceded to His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands by His Britannic Majesty, in the Seas or on the Continent of America, shall be given up within three months, and those which are beyond the Cape of Good Hope, within the six months which follow the ratification of the present Convention.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLE—II.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLE.

II. The small district of Baranagar, situated close to Calcutta, being requisite to the due preservation of the peace and police of that city, the Prince of Orange agrees to cede the said district to His Britannic Majesty, upon a payment of such sum annually to His Royal Highness as may be considered, by Commissioners to be appointed by the respective Governments, to be just and reasonable, with reference to the profits or revenue usually derived by the Dutch Government from the same.

* These districts are now under the administration of the Government of Bihar and Orissa (q. v.).

In accordance with the provisions of the Treaty* of Kiel, dated the 14th January 1814, between Great Britain and Denmark, the town of Serampore and the Danish possessions attached thereto were restored to Denmark (No. XIV). The British Government again obtained possession of Serampore by the Treaty of the 22nd February 1845 (No. XXV) with Denmark.

On the 3rd September 1783 a Treaty† between Great Britain and France was concluded at Versailles, by which the French possessions in India, which had been conquered by the British, were restored to France.

* This Treaty will be found in Hertslet's Treaties, Vol. I., pp. 229-235.

The following Article has reference to India:—

III. His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland consents to restore to His Danish Majesty all the possessions and colonies which have been conquered by the British arms in this present war, except the Island of Heligoland which His Britannic Majesty reserves to himself with full and unlimited sovereignty.

Additional Articles signed at Liege, 7th April 1814—

I. The evacuations, cessions, and restitutions, stipulated by the above-mentioned Treaty, shall be executed in Europe within a month, in the seas of America within three months, and in the continent and seas of Asia within six months, after the ratification of the Definite Treaty.

II. It is further agreed that in all the cases of cession stipulated, there shall be allowed to the inhabitants, of whatever condition or nation they may be, a term of three years, reckoning from the ratification of the present Treaty, to dispose of their property, acquired and possessed whether before or in the course of the war; during which term of three years they shall be at liberty freely to exercise their religion, and to enjoy their property. The same facility is granted within the countries restored, to all persons, inhabitants or others, who shall have formed any establishments during the time which those countries were possessed by Great Britain.

In respect to the inhabitants of the countries restored or ceded, it is agreed that no one shall be prosecuted, disturbed, or troubled, either personally or in his property, under any pretext, on account of his political opinions or conduct, or of his attachment to either of the High Contracting Parties, or for any other cause, unless it be for debts contracted with individuals or for acts subsequent to the present Treaty.

III. The decision of every claim between individuals of the respective nations for any debts, property, effects or rights whatever, which conformably to common usage and the law of nations ought to be brought forward, shall be referred to the competent tribunals, and in such cases there shall be prompt and complete justice rendered in the countries where the claims are respectively put forth.

†See Cobbett's Parliamentary History of England, vol. XXIII, pages 1159-1171. The Articles having reference to India are the following:—

Article 13.—The King of Great Britain restores to his most Christian Majesty all the settlements which belonged to him at the beginning of the present war, upon the coast of Orixa, and in Bengal, with liberty to surround Chandernagore with a ditch for carrying off the waters: and his Britannic Majesty engages to take such measures as shall be in his power for securing to the subjects of France in that part of India, as well as on the coasts of Orixa, Coromandal, and Malabar, a safe, free, and independent trade, such as was carried on by the French East India Company, whether they exercise it individually, or united in a Company.

Article 14.—Pondicherry shall be in like manner delivered up and guaranteed to France, as also Karikal: and his Britannic Majesty shall procure, for an additional dependency to Pondicherry, the two districts of Valanour and Bahour; and to Karikal, the four magans bordering, thereupon.

By the Treaty of Paris, dated the 30th May 1814,* Great Britain agreed to restore to France “ the factories and establishments of every kind which were possessed by France on the 1st of January 1792 ”—in India, and to grant most-favoured nation treatment to French subjects “ within the limits of the British sovereignty on the Continent of India ”; while France engaged not to erect any fortifications in the establishments which were to be restored to her within the same limits, and “ only to place in those establishments the number of troops necessary for the maintenance of the police ”.

Article 15.—France shall re-enter into the possession of Mahé, as well as of its factory at Surat; and the French shall carry on their trade, in this part of India, conformably to the principles established in the 13th article of this treaty.

Article 16.—Orders having been sent to India by the high contracting parties, in pursuance of the 16th article of the preliminaries, it is further agreed, that if, within the term of four months, the respective allies of their Britannic and most Christian Majesties shall not have acceded to the present pacification, or concluded a separate accommodation, their said Majesties shall not give them any assistance, directly or indirectly, against the British or French possessions, or against the ancient possessions of their respective allies, such as they were in the year 1776.

Article 20.—As it is necessary to appoint a certain period for the restitutions and evacuations to be made by each of the high contracting parties, it is agreed that France shall be put in possession of the towns and factories which are restored to her in the East Indies, and of the territories which are procured for her, to serve as additional dependencies to Pondicherry, and to Karikal, six months after the ratification of the present treaty, or sooner, if it can be done. France shall deliver up, at the end of the like term of six months, the towns and territories which her arms may have taken from the English, or their allies, in the East Indies. In consequence whereof, the necessary orders shall be sent by each of the high contracting parties, with reciprocal passports for the ships which shall carry them, immediately after the ratification of the present treaty.

Declaration (by the British plenipotentiary).

With regard to India, Great Britain having granted to France everything that can ascertain and confirm the trade which the latter requires to carry on there, his Majesty relies with confidence on the repeated assurances of the Court of Versailles, that the power of surrounding Chandernagore with a ditch for carrying off the waters, shall not be exercised in such a manner, as to make it become an object of umbrage.

* * * * *

Counter-Declaration (by the French plenipotentiary).

The King's desire to maintain the peace comprehends India as well as the other parts of the world; his Britannic Majesty may therefore be assured, that his Majesty will never permit that an object so inoffensive, and so harmless, as the ditch with which Chandernagore is to be surrounded, should give any umbrage to the Court to London.

On the 7th March 1815 a Convention (No. XIII) was signed between Great Britain and France, by which the supply of salt, opium, and saltpetre to the French establishments in India was regulated. To give full effect to this convention another Convention (No. XVII) was agreed upon on the 13th May 1818 between the Administrators of the French establishments in India and the Government of Fort St. George, by which the manufacture of salt in the French possessions throughout India was to cease during the continuance of the East India Company's charter, and 4,000 Star Pagodas (Rs. 14,000) were to be paid annually to the French Government as an indemnification to the proprietors of the salt pans. The British Government also engaged to supply at prime cost such a quantity of salt as would suffice for the domestic use of the inhabitants of the French settlements in India, the French Government agreeing to sell this salt at approximately the same price as that obtained by the British Government in the adjoining districts. In 1837, on the expiry of the Company's charter, a fresh Convention (No. XXIII) was concluded which, with trifling modifications, renewed that of 1818. In 1839 a Convention (No. XXIV) was signed, by which the French Government at Chandernagore renounced their right to the supply of salt in consideration of receiving an annual payment of Rs. 20,000, and further agreed to give every facility for the sale of British salt in Chandernagore, and to assist the British Government in realising the revenue produced by its consumption.

In 1853 a Convention (No. XXVI) was signed at Paris by which the boundaries of the French and English possessions round Chandernagore were re-adjusted.

On the 14th August 1876 a Treaty* was concluded between Great Britain and France for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals. Article 16 of this Treaty laid down the procedure to be followed in the colonies and foreign possessions of the two High Contracting Parties: and the Treaty was brought into effect by a British Order in Council passed on the 16th May 1878.

In 1884 a Convention (No. XXVIII) was concluded for five years between the Government of India and the French Government, represented by the Chef de Service at Chandernagore. Under this the rights in connection with the opium trade, which had been reserved to the French by article 6 of the Convention of the 7th March 1815, were converted into an annual payment of Rs. 3,000. This Convention was renewed in 1889 for five years (No. XXIX), when fresh conditions were introduced under which the French authorities agreed to impose on the farmer licensed to sell opium at Chandernagore the obligation to trade exclusively in opium obtained from the British treasury at Hooghly. As these conditions were liable to cause a loss to the French Administration, the British Government on their side engaged to pay an annual indemnity of Rs. 2,000 in addition to the Rs. 3,000 which they had already agreed to pay under Article 2 of the Convention of 1884 (No. XXVIII). This Convention was again renewed for five years from the 1st January 1894 (No. XXX) when the French authorities further agreed to hand over all contraband opium seized in French territory to the Collector of Hooghly on payment of its value calculated at the same rate as in similar cases in British India. The Convention was again renewed for five years in 1899, and again in 1904 for one and in 1905 (No. XXXI) for two years. The Convention was subsequently renewed for various periods up till January 1925 (No. XXXII) when fresh conditions were inserted under which the hours of sale were curtailed and the limits of individual possession in French territory brought into line with those in force in the adjoining British territory. At the same time the British Government agreed to raise the total compensation payable to the French authorities to Rs. 6,000 in view of the rise in the treasury price of opium in the adjoining British districts. This Convention was last renewed on the 1st January 1927 for a period of three years.

The French possess jurisdiction over Gairetti, a village lying on the right bank of the Hooghly, about a mile and a half to the south of Chandernagore, and separated from it by British territory.

II.—COOCH BEHAR.

The Rajas of Cooch Behar probably belong to the non-Aryan tribe of Koch, a people of Tibetan or Dravidian origin, now largely scattered on the North-Eastern Frontier. More than three centuries ago two brothers named Bisu Singh and Sisu Singh established by their conquests a principality in the North-Eastern part of India. The former is the immediate ancestor of the Rajas and of the Nazir Deos, or Ministers, of Cooch Behar. Bisu Singh's son, Nar Narayan, extended his sway eastwards over Lower Assam, and at this time the Koch territories must have embraced the greater part of the Dinajpur, Rangpur, and other districts, once forming the Aryan kingdom of Kamrup, which the Afghan King of Bengal overthrew in 1489. About 1603 the Moghul armies greatly encroached on the little State of Behar, until at about the beginning of the eighteenth century the Raja's dominions were reduced to their present limits.

The British Government came in contact with Cooch Behar in 1772. The Bhutanese, whose trade with Bengal was carried on through the countries occupied by the Koch Chiefs, appear to have always maintained a connection with Cooch Behar, and to have occasionally interfered in its affairs. Some years previous to 1772 the then Raja of Cooch Behar, Dhairjendra Narayan, who had a dispute regarding succession with his brother Ram Narayan, deprived the latter of the appointment of Minister. Ram Narayan appealed to the Bhutanese and was re-instated by them. Ram Narayan was, however, subsequently put to death by the Raja, whom the Bhutanese then carried off to the hills, appointing his brother, Rajendra Narayan, as Raja in his place. On the death of Rajendra Narayan shortly afterwards, the Nazir Deo set up Dharendra Narayan, son of Dhairjendra Narayan, as Raja. The Bhutanese had on their side appointed to the gaddi Brajendra Narayan, the son of the captive Raja's elder brother; each party proceeded to support their nominee, and the Nazir Deo, being worsted and driven out of the country, applied to the East India Company for aid. This was granted after the Nazir Deo had in 1773 concluded, in the name of Dharendra Narayan, a Treaty (No. XXXIII) by which the Raja agreed to acknowledge subjection to the British Government; to allow the Cooch Behar country to be annexed to Bengal; and to make over to the British Government one-half of the annual revenues of Cooch Behar for ever. The other moiety he was to retain on condition of remaining firm in his allegiance to the British Government, who, on the other hand, bound themselves to assist the Raja with troops whenever he might require them for the defence of the country, the Raja bearing the expense. Captain Jones, with a small force of sepoys, then proceeded to Cooch Behar, dispossessed the Bhutanese, and pursuing them to the hills compelled them to make terms with the British Government. A Treaty (see Vol. XIV, Bhutan) was concluded with Bhutan in 1774, and, in accordance with one of its articles, Raja Dhairjendra Narayan was released from confinement. Though in 1776 a Sanad (No. XXXIV) was granted to Raja Dhairjendra Narayan conferring on him the Zamindari of Cooch Behar, he did not resume the government of the State until the death of his son, Dharendra Narayan, which occurred in 1780. In this year the money payment agreed on under the Treaty of 1773 (No. XXXIII) was changed to a fixed annual tribute of Rs. 67,700-15-0, which is still paid by the State. Raja Dhairjendra Narayan died in 1783, and was succeeded by his son, Harendra Narayan, an infant. Disturbances ensued, and in 1788 two Commissioners were sent to conduct a local enquiry, on receipt of whose report a British Commissioner was appointed to the management of the State. The Raja came of age in 1800, and the Commissioner was withdrawn. As, however, the Raja could not manage the affairs of the State, Commissioners were re-appointed in 1802, and again in 1805, 1813 and 1817, to supervise the administration. The British Government, however, in February 1816 informed the Raja that they would abstain from interference, except in the form of advice and representation, in the management of the affairs of the State, so long as they were properly conducted, warning him at the same time of the right and intention of Government to intervene in the case of mal-administration. The powers of the Commissioner were restricted to the exercise of diplomatic functions only: and these powers eventually devolved on the Governor-General's Agent, North-East Frontier. Harendra Narayan died at Benares in 1839. Shivendra Narayan, a natural son of the deceased Raja, was then placed upon the gaddi. Before his death he adopted one of his brother's sons named Narendra Narayan, who succeeded him in 1847. Narendra Narayan being at this time about four years old, the State was governed by Brajendra Narayan Kumar, brother of the late Raja, as Regent. He died in 1857, and the two widows of Raja Shivendra Narayan undertook the management of affairs. In 1862 Raja Narendra Narayan received a Sanad (No. XXXV) guaranteeing to him the right of adoption. He died in 1863 and was succeeded by his son Nripendra Narayan.

In 1867 a permanent salute of 13 guns was granted to the Ruler of Cooch Behar.

In 1873 a question arose as to whether Cooch Behar should be designated a "State," an "Estate," or a "Raj"; the decision was that the designation "State," which had been used in the Adoption Sanad granted to the Raja of Cooch Behar by Lord Canning, should remain unaltered.

During the Raja's minority the State was managed by the Commissioner of Cooch Behar and Rajshahi, and an officer, corresponding in position to a Deputy Commissioner of a non-regulation district in British territory, was in immediate charge. The State and its people prospered remarkably during the British administration. The annual revenue demand on all accounts increased from Rs. 3,37,025 to Rs. 11,26,343; the British rupee was made the legal tender in the State; an improved system of land settlement and the general principles of administration in force in British districts were introduced, without interfering with any special local customs and traditions; sub-divisions were established; the police were re-organised; numerous schools were opened; the Postal Department was placed under the Post-Master General of Bengal; a line of telegraph was carried through the State; considerable sums were spent on roads, bridges, and public offices, and large savings in Government securities were made over to the Maharaja on his installation.

Nripendra Narayan was installed in 1883. In 1884 the Ruler of Cooch Behar received (No. XXXVI) the hereditary title of Maharaja Bahadur. The Maharaja's assumption of the distinctive titles of "His Highness" and "Bhup Bahadur," by which designations he is to be addressed in all official correspondence, were also sanctioned; the latter title, which is an old family distinction, was thus formally recognised.

When the Maharaja attained his majority in 1883, the Government of India consented to his request that the services of the officer, who had been in charge of the State during his minority, might be retained by him as Superintendent of the State. Ever since that date this post has been continued by the Maharaja and filled by officers lent to him by Government.

In 1885 the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division had been given the powers of a Political Agent for the State, under Chapters IV and V of Act XXI of 1879. On the transfer of the Rajshahi Division to the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1905, the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division was appointed Political Agent, but the post was transferred to the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division again in 1912, and is still held by him.

In 1894 a narrow-gauge railway was constructed connecting Cooch Behar with the Eastern Bengal Railway system at Mogalhat. It was afterwards extended to the boundaries of the State, and then by Government to the foot of the Bhutan Hills on the Western Duars in the Jalpaiguri district. The line has been managed by the Eastern Bengal State Railway Administration in accordance with an Agreement (No. XXXIX), entered into in 1903, between the Secretary of State for India and the Maharaja. The agreement expired on the 31st December 1905. A fresh agreement, which is still in force, was made with effect from the 1st January 1907 (No. XL).

In 1899 the Maharaja ceded jurisdiction of every kind over the lands in his State which are, or may hereafter be, occupied by the Bengal Duars Railway (No. XXXVII). In 1901 a similar cession was made in respect of the lands required in the Cooch Behar State for the Eastern Bengal State Railway (No. XXXVIII).

A reciprocal agreement in regard to excise administration on the borders of the Cooch Behar State was entered into between the Cooch Behar State and the Government of Bengal with effect from the 1st April 1917 and still subsists.

Maharaja Nripendra Narayan died in September 1911 and was succeeded by his eldest son Raj Rajendra Narayan. He died in September 1913 and was succeeded by his brother Jitendra Narayan, who died on the 20th December 1922. He was succeeded by his eldest son Juvaraj Jagaddipendra Narayan, who was born on the 15th December 1915. During his minority, the administration of the State has been carried on by a Council of Regency of which Her Highness the Maharani is President.

The area of the Cooch Behar State is 1,318 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 592,489; and the revenue (1926-27) Rs. 39,37,448.

The military forces of the State consist (1926) of 189 Infantry, 11 Cycle Orderlies, 98 Armed Police and 7 Artillerymen with 4 serviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

III.—TRIPURA.

The Rajas of Tripura (Hill Tippera, as it was formerly called) are, like the Rajas of Manipur, of Indo-Chinese stock with an admixture of Aryan blood. They claim descent from Dreehja, son of Jajati, a King of the Lunar race, and have adopted the family name of Deb Barman, to mark their status as members of the Kshatriya caste. The distinctive family title of Manikya (jewel) was first bestowed on Raja Ratna Fah in 1279 by the King of Gour, and was formally recognised by the Government of India in 1919.

There is no trustworthy account of the extent of the ancient State of Tripura, but at various times its rulers made conquests and gained possessions that carried their armies from the Sundarbans in the west and Kamrup in the north to Burma in the east and south. The military prestige of the Tripura Rajas was at its height during the sixteenth century and it was not until the beginning of the seventeenth century that the Moghuls obtained a footing in the country. About 1625 Nawab Fateh Jang invaded Tripura, took the capital and sent the Raja a captive to Delhi, where Jahangir offered to reinstatē him on condition that he paid tribute: an offer which the Raja refused. 2½ years later the Moghul troops evacuated the country; but about 1730 they reconquered it, when the western and southern portions of the State became a Moghul province under the name of Roshanabad, and eventually came under British rule in 1765.

Krishna Manikya was then made Raja, with the help of the English, in succession to a Muhammadan marauder named Shamsheer Ghazi, who had overrun and occupied a considerable portion of the country. Krishna Manikya died about 1780 and his widow, Janhabi Mahadevi, ruled the country for some time until, at her request, the British Government recognised her nephew, Rajdar Manikya, as Raja. He died about 1798 and was succeeded by Durga Manikya, on whose death Ramganga, who had been a rival claimant to the gaddi, became Raja. He died in 1826 and was succeeded by his brother Kasi Chandra Manikya who died in 1830. His nephew Krishna Kishore Manikya succeeded, and died in 1850, being succeeded by his son Ishan Chandra Manikya.

The determination of the boundaries between the Tripura State and British territory had for a long time been a constant source of trouble and in 1854 the northern, southern and western boundaries were finally determined by arbitrators appointed by the Government of India and the State, though the eastern boundary remained unsettled. a fact which gave rise to frequent complications between Tripura subjects and the Lushai.

Ishan Chandra Manikya died in 1862, when his brother, Bir Chandra Manikya, was recognised as de facto Raja, though his investiture was deferred until 1870, pending the result of an appeal to the Privy Council by Nilkrista Thakur, who disputed the succession.

In 1867 the Ruler of Tripura was granted a permanent salute of 13 guns.

In 1871 a Political Agent was appointed to reside at Agartala, the capital of Tripura, with the special object of protecting British interests on the frontier, which suffered from Lushai raids carried out through the State into British territory. It was explained to the Raja that this appointment did not denote a policy that would in any way prejudice his interests or interfere with the lawful exercise of his authority within his State.

In 1874, in order to put a stop to the Lushai troubles, the Government of India fixed the Langai river as the eastern boundary of Tripura State, and communicated this decision to the Raja. In 1878 the appointment of Political Agent at Agartala was abolished, the Magistrate and Collector of Tripura becoming ex-officio Political Agent, with an Indian Officer as Assistant Political Agent at Agartala.

In 1890, owing to Bir Chandra Manikya's maladministration, it was decided that, in consultation with the ex-officio Political Agent, he should select and appoint a Minister with full powers of administration. This arrangement continued until 1892, when the Raja was permitted to resume the administration on condition that he submitted an annual report of it and that he himself, or both the Jubraj and the Bara Thakur, should attend every year at Comilla on the occasion of the visit of the Commissioner. At the same time, the appointment of Assistant Political Agent at Agartala was abolished.

Bir Chandra Manikya died in 1896 and was succeeded by his eldest son Radha Kishore Deb Barman Manikya.

In February 1899 Radha Kishore appointed his son, Birendra Kishore Deb Barman, as Jubraj, whereupon Samarendra Chandra Deb Barman, who had been appointed Bara Thakur by Bir Chandra Manikya, submitted a memorial to the Government of India claiming the title of Jubraj; but this claim was disallowed in 1902.

Up to 1904 the law of succession in Tripura had been a peculiar one. The Ruler had the power of nominating any of his brothers or sons as his successor under the title of Jubraj and a successor to the Jubraj under the title of Bara Thakur. On the Ruler's death the Jubraj became Ruler and the Bara Thakur became Jubraj, and in turn Ruler, even to the exclusion of the Ruler's natural heirs. The eldest son, however, succeeded if no nomination had been made. This custom often led to quarrels and disputes about succession which were referred to the Government of India and the High Court. In 1904, in order to remove all doubts as to the rule of succession both to the State and to the ownership of the Zamindaris and other property in British India appertaining thereto and held therewith, the Government of India granted a Sanad (No. XLI) dated the 21st June 1904, which recognised the Ruler's right to nominate any male member of his family, descended through males from him or any male ancestor of his, as his successor. It also provided that, should a Ruler die without having nominated his successor, his nearest male descendant, descended through males according to the rule of lineal primogeniture, or failing such, his nearest male heir descended through males from any male ancestor of his, should succeed, and that every succession to the gaddi required the recognition of the Government of India. After the receipt of this Sanad, Raja Radha Kishore Manikya formally confirmed, in accordance with the provisions of the Sanad, the appointment of his son Birendra Kishore Deb Barman as Jubraj.

The separate collection of forest dues on the Feni River by the Indian Government used to lead to serious breaches of the peace until in 1905 an agreement was arrived at whereby a single collecting station managed by the British authorities was established at Amlighat. This agreement remained in force until 1919, when a fresh agreement was entered upon which provided for the management of the toll station by the Tripura State. On the expiry of this agreement the arrangement was continued from year to year until the end of March 1927. It has now been renewed up to 31st March 1931.

Radha Kishore Deb Barman Manikya died in 1909 and was succeeded by his son Birendra Kishore Deb Barman, whose installation ceremony was, for the first time in the history of the State, carried out by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

In 1910 the revival of the post of Assistant Political Agent was approved; but, on the suggestion of the Raja, a resident Political Agent at Agartala was appointed instead.

In 1915 it was agreed that neither the Government of Bengal or Assam nor the Tripura State should establish any new excise shops within 3 miles of the boundary. These arrangements are renewed from time to time and are now in force.

A reciprocal agreement for the amicable realisation of State and Government dues in certificate cases was arrived at in 1915 and still subsists.

Extradition between British India and the Tripura State is governed by the general laws and rules on the subject.

By a Sanad of 1st January 1919 (No. XLII) the title of Maharaja was conferred on the Ruler of Tripura as a hereditary distinction, and in the same year the title of Manikya was recognised by Government as hereditary, and its use with the suffix Bahadur was permitted.

In 1919 the Maharaja put forward a claim that the Dhaleswari river should be the eastern boundary of the State, but this was rejected by the Government of India. The claim was renewed in 1922, and again rejected: as also a request that the matter might be referred to arbitration.

In 1922 Tripura State was placed in direct political relation with the Government of India, and at the same time the post of resident Political Agent was abolished and the Collector of Tippera was again appointed ex-officio Political Agent. The Governor of Bengal in Council then became Agent to the Governor-General for the State.

In 1923 Maharaja Birendra Kishore died, and Maharaja Manikya Bir Bikram Kishore Deb Barman Bahadur, the present Chief, succeeded to the gaddi on the 13th August, at the age of 15 years. During his minority the administration of the State was entrusted to a Council of Administration, with Maharaja Birendra Kishore's uncle, Raj Kumar Nawadwip Chandra Deb Barman, as President. The Council, which was inaugurated on the 9th December 1923, came to an end on the 19th August 1927, when the Maharaja was, as a special case, invested with the powers of a Ruling Prince on attaining the age of 19, by the Governor of Bengal.

The area of Tripura is 4,116 square miles: the population, according to the Census of 1921, 304,437: and the revenue about Rs. 17,00,000. The State pays no tribute.

The Maharaja is the owner of zamindaris in the British districts of Noakhali, Tripura and Sylhet, covering an area of over 600 square miles, the income from which is about Rs. 13,00,000.

The military forces of the State consist (1926) of 269 Infantry and 30 Armed Police, with 1 serviceable and 13 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

Comme les Vaisseaux Hollandois ont reçu aussi une grande perte & dommage, il paroît dur d'insister sur le dédommagement ; mais ce qui est en effet sera rendu volontairement : On prie Messieurs le Gouverneur & Conseil de réfléchir sur cet Article équitablement, et en cas qu'on ne désistera, nous ferons en sorte de les satisfaire.

Convenu, & arrêté que la Langue françoise, dont on s'est servi dans quelques exemplaires de ce présent traité d'accommodement, & dont on sera obligé de se servir à l'avenir dans son exécution, ne fournira aucun exemple qui pourroit être allégué au préjudice des Maitres et Principaux respectifs des deux parties Contractantes, mais qu'on se réglera dans la suite selon ce qu'on trouvera à l'égard des Principaux des deux partis qui sont dans le droit, coutume & possession d'expédier & recevoir pareils Traités & actes dans une autre Langue que le françois déjà observé, ou ce qui doit être observé.

TRANSLATION.

IN THE NAME OF THE MOST HOLY TRINITY.

To all whom these Presents concern, or may in any way interest, be it known.

The most noble and most respectable President and Council of Fort William, and the most noble and respectable Director and Council of Fort Gustavus in these territories, animated by an ardent desire to remove all the troubles, obstacles, and differences which have been experienced in Bengal, and to re-establish complete tranquillity in their respective settlements, have, with this view, nominated, vested with full powers, and deputed the following gentlemen to Garethy, the place appointed for the conferences :—

On the part of the most noble and most respectable President and Council of Fort William, Messrs. Richard Becher and John Cooke, Counsellors of the Government.

On the part of the most noble and most respectable Director and Council of Fort Gustavus, Messrs. John Bacheracht and John Charles Kist, Members of the Political Council and of the Department of Justice, who discussed the different matters of which the insertion in the present treaty of settlement was considered necessary by their Principals here ; and after mature deliberation, a pacification was agreed upon, the result of which has been an entire cessation of hostilities both by sea and land, according to the terms of the following Articles :—

Demands on the part of the English.

ARTICLE 1.

The Director and Council of Chinsura shall afford due satisfaction to the President and Council of Fort William for the insult offered to the British flag by the Commanders of Dutch vessels, and for the detention of several of our ships, which have been seized and stopped down the river, contrary to Treaties and the alliance subsisting between the two nations, as well as for other acts of hostility committed by the said vessels.

Replies on the part of the Dutch.

ARTICLE 1.

The Director and Council of Chinsura state, that as they have always entertained pacific sentiments, the troubles which have arisen and affected the good understanding between the two nations cannot but be a source of great pain, and that what has passed respecting the British flag and the insults offered, has taken place without their orders and to their regret.

Those acts may probably have been committed by the people composing the crew under a misconception of orders. With this explanation it is hoped that the Governor and Council will be satisfied.

ARTICLE 2.

The Director and Council of Chinsura shall indemnify both the Company and individuals for all losses caused by the Commanders of their vessels, whether by their orders or not, and shall immediately give up all our ships, munitions, and effects which may still be in their hands.

ARTICLE 2.

As Dutch vessels have also suffered great loss and injury, it seems hard to insist upon indemnification, but what there is in effects shall willingly be restored.

The Governor and Council are requested to consider this Article in a spirit of equity. In the event of their not desisting, we shall endeavour to satisfy them.

Demands on the part of the Dutch.

Replies on the part of the English.

ARTICLE 1.

That the English shall cause their ally, the Nawab, to return, or at least to remain quiet in his camp, without doing us any injury, and that the Articles of our settlement shall be approved, accepted and confirmed by the Nawab as a principal, in as far as they concern him as well for the present as for the future.

ARTICLE 1.

We have already used all our influence with the Nazim, and will continue doing so with a view to induce him to withdraw his army, as soon as the gentlemen of the Dutch Government have fulfilled his orders.

The Articles agreed upon between the English and the Dutch cannot be intermixed in the Treaty which the Government of Hooghly is to conclude with the Nazim as principal.

ARTICLE 2.

There shall be a mutual oblivion of all that passed during the prevalence of troubles which have now ceased, as well as a perfect assurance of friendship, fidelity, and communication between the two nations through the respectable Chiefs of

ARTICLE 2.

Approved, so far as this Article does not contravene our alliance with the Nazim of the country, and shall be observed while friendship shall subsist between our respective Sovereigns in Europe.

each, without the toleration of any hostility on either side, under any pretext whatsoever. Each shall do his best to maintain this good understanding and to augment the welfare of both, without directly or indirectly aiding those who may desire to hurt either nation.

ARTICLE 3.

As the acts done have not resulted from a declaration of War, our troops and seamen cannot be considered as prisoners of war, subject to a capitulation, but simply as persons under temporary detention they should, therefore, be released and allowed to depart with military honours.

ARTICLE 4.

That we shall be left in free, quiet, and undiminished possession of our establishments, commerce, rights, and prerogatives.

ARTICLE 5.

That all persons, possessions, establishments, lands, houses, vessels, belonging as well to the Company as to individuals, and all dependent thereon, shall be declared free, and restored in the state in which they were, in presence of the special deputies of the two parties.

ARTICLE 6.

The ratifications shall be exchanged with approbation of the Directors on the part of the respective Companies as soon as practicable.

ARTICLE 3.

We do not regard the Dutch Officers and troops as our prisoners, but as those of the Nazim. We shall, therefore, be prepared to release them as soon as the Government of Hooghly shall have brought its negotiations with the Nazim to a close, with the exception of such of them as may wish to enter our service, or may apply for the protection of the British flag.

ARTICLE 4.

We have never interrupted the Dutch gentlemen in the enjoyment of their just rights or privileges, and have no intention to do so.

ARTICLE 5.

All the vessels, barks, etc., in our possession, shall be restored as soon as our demands shall have been complied with or an assurance given that they shall be, on the part of the Director and Council of Hooghly

ARTICLE 6.

Agreed.

ARTICLE 7.

Finally, the two parties shall be reciprocally guaranteed in respect to the execution of the foregoing Articles.

Executed at Garethy the 1st of December 1759.

JOHN BACHERACHT.

J. C. KIST.

ARTICLE 7.

We do not see the necessity of this Article.

Executed at Garethy, the 3rd of December 1759.

RICHARD BECHER.

JOHN COOKE.

Agreed and resolved, that the French language, which has been used in some copies of the present Treaty, and which it shall become necessary to use hereafter in its execution, shall furnish no ground for any allegation to the prejudice of the respective masters and principals of the two contracting parties, but that matter shall be regulated according to the practice of the principals who are in the habit of despatching and receiving similar treaties and acts in other than the French language.

Any separate Articles which may be appended shall have the same force as if they had been inserted in the Treaty.

RATIFICATION.

DEMANDS made on the part of the NABOB MEER MAHOMED JAFFIER KHAN, and agreed to by the COUNCIL at the time of signing the Treaty.

ARTICLE 1.

I formerly acquainted the Company with the particulars of my own affairs, and received from them repeated letters of encouragement and kindness with presents ; I now make this request that you will write in a proper manner to the Company, and also to the King of England the particulars of our friendship and union, and procure for me writings and encouragement, that my mind may be assured from that quarter, that no breach may ever happen between me and the English, and that every Governor, Counsellor, and Chief of the English that are here, or may hereafter come, may be well disposed and attached to me.

ARTICLE 2.

Since all the English gentlemen, assured of my friendly disposition to the Company, confirm me in the Nizamut, I request that to whatever I may at any time write, they will give their credit and assent, nor regard the stories of designing men to my prejudice, that all my affairs may go on with success and no occasion may arise for jealousy or ill-will between us.

ARTICLE 3.

Let no protection be given by any of the English gentlemen to any of my dependents, who may fly for shelter to Calcutta or other of your districts, but let them be delivered up to me on demand. I shall strictly enjoin all my Fouzdars and Aumils, on all accounts to afford assistance and countenance to such of the Gomastahs of the Company as attend to the lawful trade of their factories; and if any of the said Gomastahs shall act otherwise, let them be checked in such a manner as may be an example to others.

ARTICLE 4.

From the neighbourhood of Calcutta to Hooghly, and many of their Pergunnahs bordering upon each other, it happens that, on complaints being made, people go against the talookdars, ryots, and tenants of my town, to the prejudice of the business of the Circar; wherefore let strict orders be given that no peons be sent from Calcutta, on the complaints of any one upon my talookdars or tenants; but on such occasions let application be made to me, or to the Naibs of the Fouzdarry of Hooghly that the country may be subject to no loss or devastations; and if any of the traders, which belonged to the Bucksbunder and Azingunge, and have settled in Calcutta, should be desirous of returning to Hooghly, and carrying on their business there as formerly, let no one molest them. Chandernagore and the French factory were presented to me by Colonel Clive, and given by me in charge to Ameer Beg Khan; for this reason let strict orders be given that no English gentleman exercise any authority therein, but that it remain, as formerly, under the jurisdiction of my people.

ARTICLE 5.

Whenever I may demand any forces from the Governor and Council for my assistance, let them be immediately sent to me, and no demand made on me for their expenses.

The demands of Nabob Shujah ul Mulck, Hossam ô Dowla, Meer Mahomed Jaffier Khan Behauder, Mahabut Jung, written in five Articles, we, the President and Council of the English Company, do agree and set our hands to, in Fort William, the 10th of July 1763.

 No. IX.

ARTICLES of a TREATY and AGREEMENT concluded between the GOVERNOR and COUNCIL of FORT WILLIAM, on the part of the ENGLISH EAST INDIA COMPANY, and the NABOB NUDJUM-UL-DOWLA,—1765.

On the part of the Company.

WE, the Governor and Council, do engage to secure to the Nabob Nudjum-ul-Dowla, the Soubahdarry of the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and to support him therein with the Company's forces against all his enemies. We will also at all times keep up such force as may be necessary effectually to assist and support him in the defence of the Provinces; and as our troops will be more to be depended on than any the Nabob can have, and less expensive to him, he need therefore entertain none but such as are requisite for the support of the Civil Officers of his government, and the business of his collections through the different districts.

We do further promise that in consideration the Nabob shall continue to assist in defraying the extraordinary expenses of the war now carrying on against Sujah-ul-Dowla, with five lakhs of rupees per month, which was agreed to by his father; whatever sums may be hereafter received of the King, on account of our assistance afforded him in the war, shall be repaid to the Nabob.

On the part of the Nabob.

In consideration of the assistance the Governor and Council have agreed to afford, in securing to me the succession in the Soubahdarry of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, heretofore held by my father, the late Nabob Meer Jaffier Ally Khan, and supporting me in it against all my enemies, I do agree and bind myself to the faithful performance of the following Articles :—

ARTICLE 1.

The Treaty which my father formerly concluded with the Company upon his first accession to the Nizamut, engaging to regard the honour and reputation of the Company and of their Governor and Council as his own, and granting perwannahs for the currency of the Company's trade, the same Treaty, as far as is consistent with the Articles hereafter agreed to, I do hereby ratify and confirm.

ARTICLE 2.

Considering the weighty charge of government, and how essential it is for myself, for the welfare of the country, and for the Company's business, that I should have a person who has had experience therein to advise and assist me, I do agree to have one fixed with me, with the advice of the Governor and Council, in the station of Naib Soubah, who shall accordingly have immediately under me the chief management of all affairs : And as Mahomed Reza Khan, the Naib of Decca, has in every respect my approbation and that of the Governor and Council, I do further agree that this trust shall be conferred on him, and I will not displace him without the acquiescence of those gentlemen ; and in case any alteration in this appointment should hereafter appear advisable, that Mahomed Reza Khan, provided he has acquitted himself with fidelity in his administration, shall in such case be reinstated in the Naibship of Dacca with the same authority as heretofore.

ARTICLE 3.

The business of the collection of the revenues shall, under the Naib Soubah, be divided into two or more branches as may appear proper ; and as I have the fullest dependence and confidence on the attachment of the English and their regard to my interest and dignity, and am desirous of giving them every testimony thereof, I do further consent that the appointment and dismissal of the Muttasdedees of those branches, and the allotment of their several districts, shall be with the approbation of the Governor and Council ; and, considering how much men of my rank and station are obliged to trust to the eyes and recommendations of the servants about them, and how liable to be deceived, it is my further will that the Governor and Council shall be at liberty to object and point out to me when improper people are entrusted, or where my officers and subjects are oppressed, and I will pay a proper regard to such representations, that my affairs may be conducted with honor, my people everywhere be happy, and their grievances be redressed.

ARTICLE 4.

I do confirm to the Company, as a fixed resource, for defraying the ordinary expenses of their troops, the Chucklas of Burdwan, Midnapore, and Chittagong, in as full a manner as heretofore ceded by my father. The sum of five lakhs of Sicca Rupees per month for their maintenance was further agreed to be paid by my father; I agree to pay the same out of my treasury, while the exigency for keeping up so large an army continues. When the Company's occasions will admit of a diminution of the expenses they are put to on account of those troops, the Governor and Council will then relieve me from such a proportion of this assignment, as the increased expenses incurred by keeping up the whole force necessary for the defence of the Provinces will admit of: And as I esteem the Company's troops entirely equal thereto and as my own, I will only maintain such as are immediately necessary for the dignity of my person and government, and the business of my collections throughout the Provinces.

ARTICLE 5.

I do ratify and confirm to the English the privilege granted to them by their Firmaund and several Husbulhookums of carrying on their trade by means of their own dustuck, free from all duties, taxes or impositions, in all parts of the country, excepting in the article of salt, on which a duty of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. is to be levied on the rowana or Hooghly market price.

ARTICLE 6.

I give to the Company the liberty of purchasing half the saltpetre produced in the country of Purnea, which their Gomastahs shall send to Calcutta; the other half shall be collected by my Fouzdar for the use of my offices; and I will suffer no other persons to make purchases of this article in that country.

ARTICLE 7.

In the Chuckla of Sylhet, for the space of five years, commencing with the Bengal year 1171, my Fouzdar and a Gomastah on the part of the Company shall jointly provide chunam, of which each shall defray half the expense, and half the chunam so made shall be given to the Company.

ARTICLE 8.

Although I should occasionally remove to other places in the Provinces, I agree that the books of the Circar shall be always kept and the business conducted at Moorshedabad, and that shall, as heretofore, be the seat of my government: And wherever I am, I consent that an English gentleman shall reside with me to transact all affairs between me and the Company, and that a person of high rank shall also reside on my part at Calcutta to negotiate with the Governor and Council.

ARTICLE 9.

I will cause the Rupees coined in Calcutta to pass in every respect equal to the siccas of Moorshedabad without any deduction of batta ; and whosoever shall demand batta shall be punished : The annual loss on coinage, by the fall of batta on the issuing of the new siccas, is a very heavy grievance to the country ; and after mature consideration, I will, in concert with the Governor and Council, pursue whatever may appear the best method for remedying it.

ARTICLE 10.

I will allow no Europeans whatever to be entertained in my service, and if there already be any, they shall be immediately dismissed.

ARTICLE 11.

The kistbundee for payment of the restitution to the sufferers in the late troubles as executed by my father, I will see faithfully paid. No delays shall be made in this business.

ARTICLE 12.

I confirm and will abide by the Treaty which my father formerly made with the Dutch.

ARTICLE 13.

If the French come into the country I will not allow them to erect any fortifications, maintain forces or hold lands, zemindarries, etc., but they shall pay tribute, and carry on their trade as in former times.

ARTICLE 14.

Some regulations shall be hereafter settled between us for deciding all disputes which may arise between the English Gomastahs and my officers in the different parts of the country.

In testimony whereof, we, the said Governor and Council, have set our hands and affixed the seal of the Company to one part hereof ; and the Nabob before-named hath set his hand and seal to another part.

Mem.—This Treaty was executed by the President and Council of Fort William on the 20th of February 1765, and by the Nabob on the 25th of the same month.

In the NAME of the MOST HOLY and UNDIVIDED TRINITY.

Au Nom de la Très-Sainte et Indivisible Trinité.

The trade in salt and opium throughout the British Sovereignty in India, having been subjected to certain regulations and restrictions, which, unless due provision be made, might occasion differences between the subjects and agents of His Britannic Majesty and those of His Most Christian Majesty; Their said Majesties have thought proper to conclude a Special Convention for the purpose of preventing such differences, and removing every cause of dispute between their respective subjects in that part of the world, and in this view have named for their respective plenipotentiaries, viz., His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Robert, Earl of Buckinghamshire, a Peer of the United Kingdom, President of the Board of His Majesty's Commissioners for the affairs of India, etc., etc., etc. And His Majesty the King of France and Navarre, the Sieur Claude Louis de la Châtre, descendant of the Princes of Deols, Count de la Châtre, His Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary at the Court of London, etc., etc., who, after having communicated to each other their respective Full Powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following Articles :

Le commerce du sel et de l'opium ayant été assujetti dans l'étendue des Possessions Britanniques dans l'Inde à certains réglemens et restrictions, qui s'il n'était pris des mesures convenables, pourraient donner lieu à des difficultés entre les sujets et Agens de Sa Majesté Britannique et ceux de Sa Majesté Très Chrétienne; Leurs dites Majestés ont jugé à propos de conclure une Convention Spéciale pour prévenir ces difficultés, et écarter toute autre cause de discussion entre leurs sujets respectifs dans cette partie du monde. A cet effet, elles ont nommé pour leurs plénipotentiaires respectifs, savoir! Sa Majesté le Roi du Royaume Uni de la Grande Bretagne et de l'Irlande, le Sieur Robert, Comte de Buckinghamshire, Pair du Royaume Uni Président du Bureau de Ses Commissaires pour les affaires de l'Inde, etc., etc., etc., et Sa Majesté le Roi de France et de Navarre, le Sieur Claude Louis de la Châtre, des Princes de Déols, Comte de la Châtre, Son Ambassadeur extraordinaire et Plénipotentiaire à la Cour de Londres, etc. etc., etc., lesquels, après s'être communiqué leurs P'leinspouvoirs respectifs, trouvés en bonne et due forme, sont convenus des Articles suivans :

1. His Most Christian Majesty engages to let at farm to the British Government in India, the exclusive right to purchase at a fair and equitable price, to be regulated by that which the said Government shall have paid for salt in the districts in the vicinity of the French possessions on the coast of Coromandel and Orissa respectively, the salt that may be manufactured in the said possessions, subject to a reservation of the quantity that the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty shall deem requisite for the domestic use and consumption of the inhabitants thereof; and upon the condition that the British Government shall deliver in Bengal, to the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, the quantity of salt that may be judged necessary for the consumption of the inhabitants of Chandernagore, reference being had to the population of the said settlement, such delivery to be made at the price which the British Government shall have paid for the said article.

2. In order to ascertain the prices as aforesaid, the official accounts of the charges incurred by the British Government, for the salt manufactured in the districts in the vicinity of the French settlements on the coasts of Coromandel and Orissa respectively, shall be open to the inspection of a Commissioner to be appointed for that purpose by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty in India; and the price to be paid by the British Government shall be settled according to an average to be taken every three years, of the charges as aforesaid ascertained by the said official accounts commencing with the three years preceding the date of the present Convention.

1. Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne s'engage à affermer au Gouvernement Anglais dans l'Inde, le privilège exclusif d'acheter le sel qui sera fabriqué dans les possessions Françaises sur les côtes de Coromandel et d'Orixa, moyennant un prix juste et raisonnable, qui sera réglé d'après celui auquel le dit Gouvernement aura payé cet article dans les districts avoisinant respectivement les dites possessions, à la réserve toutefois de la quantité que les Agens de Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne jugeront nécessaire pour l'usagé domestique et la consommation des habitans de ces mêmes possessions, et sous la condition que le Gouvernement Anglais livrera dans le Bengale, aux Agens de Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne, la quantité de sel qui sera reconnue nécessaire pour la consommation des habitans de Chandernagor, eu égard à la population de cet établissement, et que cette livraison sera faite aux prix auquel le sel reviendra au dit Gouvernement.

2. Afin de déterminer le prix du sel conformément à ce qui vient d'être dit, les états officiels constatant ce que le sel fabriqué dans les districts qui avoisinent respectivement les établissemens Français sur les côtes de Coromandel et d'Orixa, aura coûté au Gouvernement Anglais, seront soumis à l'inspection d'un Commissaire nommé à cet effet par les Agens de Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne dans l'Inde, et le prix qui devra être payé par le Gouvernement Anglais sera fixé tous les trois ans d'après le taux moyen du sel pendant ce laps de tems, tel qu'il sera constaté par les dits états officiels à commencer des trois années

The price of salt at Chandernagore to be determined, in the same manner, by the charges incurred by the British Government for the salt manufactured in the districts nearest to the said settlement.

3. It is understood that the salt works in the possessions belonging to His Most Christian Majesty shall be and remain under the direction and administration of the Agents of His said Majesty.

4. With a view to the effectual attainment of the objects in the contemplation of the High Contracting Parties, His Most Christian Majesty engages to establish in His possessions on the coasts of Coromandel and Orissa and at Chandernagore in Bengal, nearly the same price for salt, as that at which it shall be sold by the British Government in the vicinity of each of the said possessions.

5. In consideration of the stipulations expressed in the preceding Articles, His Britannic Majesty engages that the sum of four lacs of sicca rupees shall be paid annually to the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, duly authorized, by equal quarterly instalments; such instalments to be paid at Calcutta or at Madras, ten days after the bills that may be drawn for the same by the said Agents shall have been presented to the Government of either of those Presidencies; it being agreed that the rent above stipulated shall commence from the 1st of October 1814.

qui ont précédé la date de la présente Convention.

Le prix du sel à Chandernagor devra être déterminé de la même manière, et d'après celui auquel cet article reviendra au Gouvernement Anglais dans les districts les plus voisins de cet établissement.

3. Il est bien entendu que les salines situées dans les possessions appartenant à Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne, seront et demeureront sous la direction et l'administration des Agens de Sa dite Majesté.

4. Afin d'atteindre le but que les hautes Parties Contractantes ont en vue, Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne s'engage à établir dans Ses possessions sur les côtes de Coromandel et d'Orixa, et à Chandernagor dans le Bengale, le sal au même prix à-peu près que le Gouvernement Anglais le vendra dans les territoires voisins de chacune des dites possessions.

5. En considération des stipulations renfermées dans les Articles précédens, Sa Majesté Britannique s'engage à faire payer annuellement aux Agens de Sa Majesté Très-Chrétienne dûment autorisés, la somme de quatre lacs de roupies sicca; lequel payement sera effectué par trimestre et par portions égales soit à Calcutta, soit à Madras dix jours après que les traités tirées par les dits Agens auront été présentées au Gouvernement de l'un ou de l'autre de ces Présidences.

Il est convenu que la rente ci-dessus stipulée sera due à partir du 1er October, 1814.

6. With regard to the trade in opium, it is agreed between the High Contracting Parties, that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests so applied for ; provided that such supply shall not exceed 300 chests in each year ; and the price to be paid for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which opium shall have been sold at every such periodical sale : it being understood that if the quantity of opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in deduction of the 300 chests hereinbefore mentioned

The requisitions of opium as aforesaid are to be addressed to the Governor General at Calcutta within thirty days after notice of the intended sale shall have been published in the Calcutta Gazette.

7. In the event of any restriction being imposed upon the exportation of saltpetre, the subjects of His Most Christian Majesty shall nevertheless be allowed to export that article to the extent of 18,000 maunds.

8. His Most Christian Majesty with the view of preserving the harmony subsisting between the two nations, having engaged by the twelfth Article of the Treaty concluded at Paris, on

No. XXVI.

AGREEMENT made between the FRENCH and BRITISH GOVERNMENTS relative to the limits of the SETTLEMENT of CHANDERNAGORE,—1853.

WHEREAS the mixture of English and French territories, jurisdictions, and other rights belonging to the two Governments, respectively, around the French Settlement of Chandernagore in the East Indies, is the cause of inconvenience to which the Governments of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of His Majesty the Emperor of the French are desirous of putting a stop ;

The undersigned, Her Britannic Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary at Paris, and His Majesty the Emperor's Minister for Foreign Affairs duly authorized by their respective Governments have agreed as follows :

ATTENDU que le mélange des territoires anglais et français, et des jurisdictions, et autres droits appartenant aux Gouvernements respectifs, à tout de l' établissement français de Chandernagor dans les Indes Orientales présente des inconvénients auxquels le Gouvernement de Sa Majesté la Reine du Royaume Uni de la Grande Bretagné et d'Irlande et celui de Sa Majesté l'Empereur des Français désirent mettre un terme ;

Les soussignés Ambassadeur Extraordinaire et Plenipotentiaire de Sa Majesté britannique à Paris, et Ministre des Affaires Etrangères de Sa Majesté l'Empereur des Français dûment autorisés par leurs Gouvernements respectifs sont convenus de ce qui suit :

1st.—That the limits of the jurisdiction and of all other rights whatsoever of the French Government on the territory of the French Settlement of Chandernagore in Bengal shall be according to the plan drawn up in common by the respective Commissioners of the two Governments and annexed to the proposition for the settlement of the limits of the French territory at Chandernagore signed provisionally (excepting the reserves contained in it) at Chandernagore on the 4th of September 1852; to the South and West the excavation commonly called the French Ditch, and to the North the same Ditch or the line indicated in the plan by an orange outline.

With regard to the boundary to the East or on the side of the river Hooghly, matters shall remain as they are in respect to the jurisdiction or other rights whatsoever of the settlement of Chandernagore, without prejudice to the respective claims of the two Governments.

And inasmuch as the section of the boundary above-mentioned from the termination of the ditch to the bank of the river is very intricate and confused owing to the interspersion of the houses of the inhabitants of the two territories; therefore in order to render the boundary as exact and clear as possible, and thus to obviate all future disputes upon the point, pillars of masonry or some other material shall be erected at a joint expense throughout the whole extent of this said portion of the boundary.

2nd.—That, on the one hand, the Government of Bengal shall recognize the exclusive jurisdiction of the French Government over the whole of the

Quand à la limite de l'Est ou du côté du fleuve Hoogly les choses en resteront, pour la juridiction et autres droits quelconques de l'établissement de Chandernagore, dans l'état actuel, sans préjudice des prétentions respectives des deux gouvernements.

Et attendu que la limite ci-dessus énoncée depuis l'extrémité du fossé jusqu'à la rivière, reste très confusée par le pele mele des maisons des habitants des deux territoires, il sera établi, à frais communs, Sur L'étendue de la ligne sus-indiquée, des bornes en maçonnerie ou en toute autre matière à fin de rendre cette limite aussi précise et apparente qu'il est possible et de prévenir par ce moyen toutes contestations ultérieures sur ce point.

territory included in the limits above described.

3rd.—That, on the other hand, the French Government shall relinquish to the Government of Bengal the jurisdiction which the former now exercises within portions of territory at Goualpara, Cantapouricour, Tonquiponcour, Duplesie-potty, Barasette, situate without the circuit of the Ditch round Chandernagore; and that this cession shall include also the revenue or land rent now collected by the French Government from these said lands amounting annually to a sum of one hundred and eighty rupees one ganda and a half (Rupees 180 $1\frac{1}{2}$ ganda) as detailed in the schedule which accompanies the draft of Agreement drawn up at Chandernagore on the 4th of September 1852.

4th.—That, on its side, the Government of Bengal will consent by way of compensation to relinquish to the French Government the annual revenue of thirty-five rupees, fourteen annas five gandas (Rupees 35 14 annas 5 gandas) now collected by the former of the two Governments from the lands dependent on the Talook of Digra and Telinipara which lie to the north of the French Ditch; and further to make a reduction of one hundred and forty-four rupees, one anna, sixteen gandas and a half (Rupees 144 1 anna $16\frac{1}{2}$ gandas) in the annual rent of 3,520 francs or about Rupees 1,466 now paid to the Hooghly Treasury by the Government of Chandernagore as representatives of certain ancient Talookdars.

In witness whereof the undersigned gave signed the present Agreement and le territoire compris dans les limites ci-dessus indiquées.

En foi de quoi les soussignés ont signé le présent arrangement et y ont have affixed the seals of their Arms thereunto. apposé le cachet de leurs armes.

Done at Paris the 31st of March 1853.

Commissioners appointed by the Most Noble the Governor General of India, Commissaires nommés par M. le Gouverneur des Etablissemens français dans l'Inde.

Having proceeded jointly and independently to investigate the de facto ancient limits of the French Settlement at Chandernagore, D'après les constatations et verifications aux quelles nous avons procédé soit contradictoirement, soit séparément pour reconnaître quelles sont de facto les anciennes limites du territoire français de Chandernagor au Bengale.

And having failed to determine, by any sufficient documentary evidence, the existence of any such limits fixed by treaty,

Do hereby agree to recommend to our respective Governments the adoption of the following conditions, viz., 1stly.—That the limits of the jurisdiction of all other rights whatever of the French Government shall be as delineated in the annexed plan, that is to say, that the boundary to the eastward shall be the right bank of the Hooghly river. That the boundary to the southward and westward shall be the excavation commonly called the French ditch. That the boundary to the northward shall be also the said French ditch, or, where the ditch does not exist, the line indicated in the plan by orange edging.

And, inasmuch as the last section of the boundary from the termination of the ditch to the bank of the river is very intricate and confused owing to the interspersion of the houses of the inhabitants of the two territories, therefore, in order to render the boundary as exact and clear as possible and thereto obviate all future disputes upon the point, it has been agreed that in the event of these propositions being definitively sanctioned, pillars of masonry or some other material shall be erected at a joint expense throughout the whole extent of the said portion of the boundary.

2ndly.—That, on the one hand, the Government of Bengal shall recognize the exclusive jurisdiction of the French Government over the whole of the territory included in the circuit above described.

A défaut de documens suffisants sur l'existence de ces limites, telles qu'elles ont pu être fixées par les traités,

Sommes d'accord de proposer à nos Gouvernements respectifs l'adoption de l'ensemble des conditions suivantes, savoir :

1. Que les limites de la juridiction et de tout droit quelconque du Gouvernement français seront selon des indications du plan ci annexé, à l'Est, l'espace jusqu'on peut s'étendre le mouillage des péniches et bateaux du côté de la rive droite de l'Hougly ; au Sud et à l'Ouest, l'excavation appelée le fossé français ; et au Nord, le même fossé et la ligne indiquée sur le plan ci annexé par un liséré orange.

Et attendu que cette dernière limite depuis l'extrémité du fossé jusqu'à la rivière reste très confusée par le pelemele des maisons des habitants des deux territoires, il a été convenu que si le présent projet décharge recevait une sanction définitive il serait établi à frais communs, sur l'étendue de la ligne sus indiquée, des bornes en maçonnerie ou en toute autre matière à fin de rendre cette limite aussi précise et apparente que possible et de prévenir par ce moyen toutes contestations ultérieures sur ce point.

2. Que d'une part le Gouvernement du Bengale reconnaîtra, comme appartenant exclusivement au Gouvernement français la juridiction sur tout le territoire compris dans les limites cidessus indiquées.

3rdly.—That, on the other hand, the French Government shall relinquish to the Government of Bengal the jurisdiction which the former now exercises within portions of territory at Gowalpara Kontapooka —Jogipookar, Duplapate, Barassette, situate without the circuit above specified, and that this cession will include also the revenue or land rent, now collected by the French Government from the said land amounting annually to a sum of one hundred and eighty rupees, one ganda and a half (Co.'s Rupees 180-0-1½) as detailed in the Schedule which accompanies this Agreement.

4thly.—That on its side, the Government of Bengal will consent by way of compensation to relinquish to the French Government the annual revenue of thirty-five rupees, fourteen annas, five gandas, now collected by the former, from that portion of the Government revenue Mehal of Digra which lies to the North of the French ditch at Telenipara, and, further, to make a reduction of one hundred and forty-four rupees, one anna, sixteen gandas and a half (Co.'s Rupees 144-1-16½) in the annual rent of 3,520 Francs or about 1,466 rupees now paid to the Hooghly treasury by the French Government as representative of certain ancient Talookdars.

The preceding conditions translated into the two languages, English and French, have been drawn up and signed at Chandernagore, this fourth day of September, eighteen hundred and fifty-two.

R. B. CHAPMAN.

3. Que d'autre part le Gouvernement français cédera au Gouvernement du Bengale la juridiction sur les portions du territoire dépendant de Goulapara, Cantapoucour, Jouquipoucour, Duplexipatty, Barassette et situées en dehors du fossé d'enceinte de Chandernagor, et que cette cession entraînera celle des revenus de rente foncière ou cazanas actuellement perçus par le Gouvernement français sur les dits terrains et s'élevant par an à une somme de cent quatre vingts rupies un ganda et demi (180 Rs. 1½ G.) d'après état détaillé joint au présent exposé de conditions.

4. Que de son côté, le Gouvernement du Bengale consentira, à titre de compensation à transférer en la possession du Gouvernement français le revenu annuel de trente cinq rupies, quatorze anas, cinq gandas (35 Rs. 14 as. 5 gs.) que perçoit celui-la sur des terrains en régie dépendant du talouck de Digra, à Telenipara, situés au nord du fossé français et à diminuer d'une valeur de cent quarante quatre rupies, un ana seize gandas et demi (144 Rs. la. 16½ g.) le montant de la rente de 3,520 francs ou environ 1,466 rupies par année, que paie actuellement à la trésorerie d'Hougly, le Gouvernement de Chandernagor, considéré comme représentant de divers anciens Talouckdars.

Les conditions que précédent traduites dans les deux langues anglaise et française ont été arrêtées et signées à Chandernagor le 4 Septembre 1852.

PAUL GAVARDIE.

EM. COET MORVEN.

We agree to the propositions herein contained except that on the eastern side we consider the boundary of the French territory to extend no further than the right bank of the Hooghly River.

Acceptons, sauf la limite Est que nous estimons devoir être telle que nous l'avons indiqué en nos propositions.

2nd.—That if more than 50,000 Rupees are expended, the Rajah will make it good to the Honorable the English East India Company, but in case any part of it remains unexpended that it be delivered back.

3rd.—That the Rajah will acknowledge subjection to the English East India Company upon his country being cleared of his enemies, and will allow the Cooch Behar country to be annexed to the Province of Bengal.

4th.—That the Rajah further agrees to make over to the English East India Company one half of the annual revenues of Cooch Behar for ever.

5th.—That the other moiety shall remain to the Rajah and his heirs for ever provided he is firm in his allegiance to the Honorable United East India Company.

6th.—That in order to ascertain the value of the Cooch Behar country, the Rajah will deliver a fair hustabood of his district into the hands of such person, as the Honorable the President and Council of Calcutta shall think proper to depute for that purpose, upon which valuation the annual malguzary, which the Rajah is to pay, shall be established.

7th.—That the amount of the malguzary, settled by such person as the Honorable the East India Company shall depute, shall be perpetual.

8th.—That the Honorable English East India Company shall always assist the said Rajah with a force when he has occasion for it for the defence of the country, the Rajah bearing the expense.

He must further pay great attention to expelling and punishing offenders, so that the least vestige of thieves and robbers may not be found within his limits; and take particular care of the highways, so that travellers and strangers may go and come with perfect confidence and safety. God forbid that the property of any one should be stolen or plundered: but should such a case occur, he must seize the thieves or robbers and the property, delivering up the goods to the owner and the offenders to justice; and if he cannot find (the thieves and the goods), he must answer for the party himself. He must also take care that no one indulge in forbidden practices within his limits. He must pay the revenue, regularly year after year at the stated period; and at the end of the year according to custom, he will receive credit for his payments. He will further abstain from the collection of all exactions or (sic) forbidden by Government. You are hereby required to acknowledge the above person as zemindar of the above Surkar, and to consider him as vested with the powers and appendages thereof. On this point paying the strictest obedience, you will act as above directed.

On the 17th of February 1776 A.D., corresponding with the 8th Fagoon 1182 Bungla, and the 26th of Zilhijeh in the 17th year of His Majesty's reign, the copy was received in the Dufter.

Whereas, with a view to continuing the representation of the ruling house and the dignity of the State of Hill Tippera, it is desirable to remove all doubts as to the rule of succession to the Chiefship of the said State, and the ownership of the Zamindaris and other property in British India which appertain thereto and are held therewith, it is hereby declared :—

Treaties, Engagements and Sanads relating to the

Province of Bihar and Orissa

States in Political Relations with

Government of Bihar and Orissa.

THE Province of Bihar and Orissa was separated from the Bengal Presidency under a proclamation, dated the 12th December 1911. The history of the formation of the East India Company and its gradual growth leading up to the foundation of the Diwani of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, in 1765, has been given in the narrative of Bengal, as are also details of the Conventions signed between Great Britain and France relating to the supply of salt, opium and saltpetre to the French establishments in India. In that narrative too has been given the history of the transfer in 1824 to the British Government of the Dutch settlements including those of Balasore and Patna* by formal Deeds of Transfer [No. XIII and Bengal Nos. XIX to XXII]. The French possess jurisdiction over two plots of land in the Balasore district; one is situated in Purana Balasore and measures about 29 acres, and the other in village Bainchi measuring about 9 acres, the boundaries of which were fixed in 1895. Prior to 1915 this loge had been leased to one Sukhdev Singh by the Chandernagore authorities who apparently kept no local representative in that territory to look after its proper administration. It thus became a centre of smuggling and an asylum for bad characters, necessitating a reference to the Government of India in the year 1915. A Convention was finally signed on the 1st April 1917 (No. CXIV) by the French authorities and the Commissioner of Orissa, under which the loge of Balasore and the land at Bainchi were leased to the Government of Bihar and Orissa for a period of three years commencing from the 1st October 1916 subject to the payment of a sum of Rs. 4,000 a year. This Convention has subsequently been renewed at intervals of three years.

FEUDATORY STATES OF ORISSA AND CHOTA NAGPUR.

There are now 26 States in direct relationship with the Governor in Council in his capacity as Agent to the Governor-General in Council, viz. :—(1) Athgarh, (2) Athmallik, (3) Baramba, (4) Baud, (5) Daspalla, (6) Dhenkanal, (7) Hindol, (8) Keonjhar, (9) Khandpara, (10) Mayurbhanj, (11) Narsingpur, (12) Nayagarh, (13) Nilgiri, (14) Pal-Lahara, (15) Ranpur, (16) Talcher, (17) Tigeria, (18) Bonai, (19) Gangpur, (20) Bamra, (21) Kalahandi, (22) Patna, (23) Rairakhol, (24) Sonpur, (25) Seraikela, (26) Kharsawan.

Of the above, the first 17 were formerly known as the Tributary Mahals of Orissa; Nos. 18 and 19 were transferred in 1905 from the control of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur to that of the Commissioner of Orissa at the time of the partition of Bengal; while Nos. 20 to 24 were transferred at the same time from the control of the Commissioner of the Chattisgarh division of the Central Provinces to that of the Commissioner of Orissa; Nos. 25 and 26, formerly known as the Political States of Chota Nagpur, were until 1916 under the control of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur.

Previous to 1906 all the States were directly under the control of the respective Commissioners; the Commissioner of Orissa having, in respect of the seventeen Tributary Mahals, the title of Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals, an office created in 1814. In 1906 a Political Agent was appointed under the Commissioner of Orissa for the twenty-four States under his control, but Seraikela and Kharsawan remained as before directly under the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur. In 1916 these two States were also added to the charge of the Political Agent. Finally in 1922, with a view to bringing these States in closer touch with the Governor in Council as Agent to the Central Government, the Commissioners of Orissa and Chota Nagpur were eliminated and the functions previously vested in them were transferred to the Political Agent, who was designated Political Agent and Commissioner, Orissa Feudatory States. An Assistant Political Agent was at the same time appointed to assist in the administration.

TRIBUTARY MAHALS OF ORISSA.

Until 1803 the Tributary Chiefs of Orissa were feudatories of the Raja of Nagpur. During the Mahratta war of that year a small British force marched from Ganjam and took the town of Cuttack on the 10th October 1803. Balasore had been previously captured on the 21st September and, the plains of Orissa having been thus brought under British rule, negotiations were entered into with the Hill Chiefs. In November 1803 engagements were executed by, and kaulnamas given to, the Rajas of Athgarh, Baramba, Daspalla, Dhenkanal, Hindol, Khandpara, Narsingpur, Nayagarh, Nilgiri, Ranpur, Talcher and Tigeria and also to the Rajas of Angul and Banki and eight other kilas which have ceased to be Feudatory States (Nos. I and II).

After the defeat of the Mahrattas on the 2nd November 1803 at the Barmul Pass, the Raja of Baud and Athmallik tendered his submission to the East India Company (Nos. III and IV), while in 1804, the Raja of Keonjhar and Pal-Lahara executed a similar agreement and received a kaulnama (Nos. VII and VIII).

No treaty was executed at this time with the Chief of Mayurbhanj, because a Rani occupied the gaddi and the succession was disputed; after her death in 1811 her successor executed ikrarnamas in 1812 and 1815 and a Treaty engagement was first executed in 1829 (No. XVII).

Angul and Banki were in 1803 included among the Tributary Mahals; but in 1839 the Raja of Banki was found guilty of murder and was deposed, and his State declared forfeited; while in 1848 the Raja of Angul was likewise deposed for aiding the malcontents of Baud in their opposition to those officers of Government who were engaged in suppressing human sacrifices, and for insubordination and open hostility to Government. Banki was, by Act XXV of 1881, incorporated with the district of Cuttack, while Angul was formed into a scheduled district under Act XIV of 1874 and is now, with the Kondhmals, a separate district, under Regulation I of 1894.

In a Treaty, dated the 17th December 1803 (see Central Provinces No. II), between the East India Company and the Sena Sahib Suba Raghujji Bhonsla by which the latter ceded, among other territories, the province of Cuttack including the Port and District of Balasore, it was stipulated that the engagements which the British Government had made with the feudatories of the Sena Sahib Suba in Orissa were to be confirmed, and that a list of the persons with whom such engagements had been made was to be given to the Sena Sahib Suba when the Treaty was ratified by the Governor-General in Council.

In the Regulations of 1805 all the Tributary States of Orissa, except Baud, Pal-Lahara and Athmallik (of which no mention was made) were exempted from the operation of the Bengal Regulations.

The office of Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals of Orissa was created in 1814, being held by the Commissioner of Orissa as ex-officio Superintendent. Baud and Athmallik were transferred to his control in 1837 from the jurisdiction of the South Western Frontier Agency, to which Gangpur and Bonai also belonged at one time. In 1839 and 1840 rules were framed for the administration of civil and criminal justice in the States; these rules were not formally promulgated, but directions were issued that the Superintendent should be guided by their spirit and they were communicated to the Rajas. By these rules the Rajas were, among other things, prohibited from exercising the powers of life and death, and from allowing the practice of sati and human sacrifices.

In 1842 all the seventeen States, except Khandpara, agreed to suppress sati (No. XX).

In 1862 Sanads (No. XXIII) were granted to all the Chiefs guaranteeing them the right of adoption.

In 1874 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred on them all (No. XXVII).

The Chiefs of the Mahals were persuaded in 1875 to abandon all monopoly of salt and all restrictions on its free transit through, or sale in, their territories. No agreements, however, were taken on the subject.

In 1888 it was decided by the Secretary of State in Council, in accordance with a ruling of the High Court in the case of Mayurbhanj, that these seventeen States do not form part of British India, and, in consequence of this decision, new Sanads (Nos. XXXVI to LII) were given on the 27th October 1894 to all the Chiefs, defining their status, powers and position.

In 1908 revised Sanads (Nos. LXXI to LXXXVI) were granted to all these Chiefs (except Keonjhar who had resigned the Chiefship and whose State was under Government administration) in consequence of a memorial presented by several of them to His Excellency the Viceroy. The definite limitation of criminal powers laid down in the Sanad of 1894 (Nos. XXXVI to LII) was replaced by a clause requiring the Chief to conform to the instructions issued from time to time by the Lieutenant-Governor; and the clause of that Sanad whereby the right to catch elephants was granted as a personal concession was deleted, arrangements for catching elephants being included in the matters on which the Chiefs are required to conform to advice. The designation of the officer whom the Chiefs are to consult was changed from "Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals ” to “ Commissioner of the Orissa Division ” (see clause VIII of Sanad No. LXXI).

Revised Sanads were granted in 1915 (Nos. LXXXVIII to CIII) after the separation of the Province of Bihar and Orissa from the Province of Bengal. These Sanads are similar to those granted in 1908 except that the name of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bihar and Orissa in Council took the place of that of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. The special provisions requiring the Chiefs of Athmallik, Baud, Mayurbhanj and Pal-Lahara to pay nazarana on succession were omitted, the payment of nazarana having been abolished in 1911 on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar. A revised Sanad was not granted in 1915 to the Raja of Keonjhar as he had resigned in 1907 and his State was under the administration of Government; but in 1927 a Sanad (No. CXXIV), based on that granted to certain of these Chiefs in 1915, was granted to the ex-Chief's son who had succeeded to the gaddi on the death of his father in 1926.

The powers exercised by British Courts in respect of criminal cases arising in the Mahals were regularised by Foreign Department Notification No. 3431-I. of the 5th September 1892, which was subsequently modified by Foreign and Political Department Notification No. 768-A-425-Intl. of the 1st April 1922. The law and procedure to be observed in the exercise of this jurisdiction were laid down in Foreign Department Notification No. 1375-I. B. of the 21st March 1900.

BONAI AND GANGPUR.

Bonai and Gangpur, with a number of other States now under the Governor of the Central Provinces, were ceded to the British Government in 1803 (Central Provinces No. II) by the Mahratta Chief Raghujji Bhonsla, but were restored to him in 1806 (Central Provinces No. III). They reverted to the British Government under the provisional agreement concluded with Mudhoji Bhonsla (Appa Sahib) in 1818 (Central Provinces No. V) and were finally ceded by the Treaty of 1826 (Central Provinces No. VI). They were formerly dependent on the Chief of Sambalpur, but this dependency ceased when they came under the British Government. For a time they formed part of the South Western Frontier Agency created in 1833, but they were transferred to the charge of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur in 1854.

Settlements were made with both these States in 1827, which were renewed in 1875 and 1876 for twenty years by fresh Sanads (Nos. XXIX and XXXI).

In 1863 the Government of Bengal issued certain rules for the guidance of the Chiefs of the Tributary Mahals of Chota Nagpur in the administration of justice in their respective jurisdictions. By these rules the judicial powers of these Chiefs were limited to sentences of imprisonment up to two years or to fines not exceeding Rs. 50; or, subject to confirmation by the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur, to sentences of imprisonment up to five years and fines not exceeding Rs. 200. They had no powers of whipping, and all orders passed by them were subject to revision by the Commissioner. The rules also dealt with the management of police, prisons, etc., in their States.

The powers exercised by British Courts in respect of criminal cases arising in these two States are regularized by the same notification as that which governs these matters in the original Tributary Mahals of Orissa.

In 1882 an appeal was preferred to the High Court by one Mehta Kharia against a conviction and sentence passed upon him by the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur. The offence was committed in Gangpur and the case was referred by the Chief of the State to the Commissioner for trial. The accused was tried in Lohardaga. The case was heard by a Divisional Bench of the High Court, which rejected the appeal on the ground that the Court had no power to interfere.

The Secretary of State having decided in 1891 that the Chota Nagpur States do not form part of British India, new Sanads (Nos. LVII and LVIII) were granted to the Chiefs of Bonai and Gangpur in 1899, defining their status, powers and position and fixing their tribute for a period of 20 years. On the partition of Bengal in 1905 these were superseded by Sanads (Nos. LXII and LXIII), dated the 23rd December 1905, fixing their tribute for a period of 14 years and appointing the Commissioner of Orissa as the officer to be consulted by the Chiefs in place of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur.

These Sanads were again superseded by revised Sanads granted in 1915 (Nos. CV and CVI) after the separation of Bihar and Orissa from Bengal. In these revised Sanads the Lieutenant-Governor of Bihar and Orissa in Council took the place of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; and the clause requiring payment of nazarana on succession was omitted.

Sanads of Adoption were also granted in 1914 (No. CIV) to these two States, in order to place them on the same footing in this respect as the Chiefs of the other groups who already enjoyed the privilege.

The revised Sanads of 1915 were further revised in 1919 to bring them more into conformity with those granted to the Chiefs of other Orissa States (Nos. CXVI and CXVII). In the Sanad of 1919 the specific control of Government over the appointment of State officers was withdrawn. The clause limiting the right to catch elephants was also omitted and this matter was included among the important matters on which advice should be taken.

The tribute paid by these two States was enhanced in 1924.

CENTRAL PROVINCES STATES.

Bamra, Kalahandi or Karond, Patna, Rairakhol and Sonpur were formerly included among the States in the Chhattisgarh Agency, and their early general history is dealt with in Part IV (Central Provinces). With the exception of Kalahandi, Kabuliats were executed in 1827 (No. XIV) by these Chiefs by which their revenues payable to Government were fixed, nominally for five years, but at the expiry of that period the agreements were not renewed. A separate Engagement (No. XV) was at the same time taken from each Chief binding him to use rightly the judicial and police powers entrusted to him, the powers of the Chiefs in criminal cases being in practice limited to the infliction of seven years' imprisonment. In 1866 Sanads (No. XXIV), dated the 20th May 1865, guaranteeing the Chiefs the right of adoption, were forwarded to the Commissioner of Chhattisgarh for delivery to the Chiefs of Bamra, Kalahandi, Patna and Sonpur. The one granted to Raja Bishan Chandra Jenamani of Rairakhol is dated the 23rd May 1866 (No. XXV) as previous to that time he had not been recognized as a Feudatory Chief. In the following year Sanads, dated the 4th September 1867 (No. XXVI), were granted to these Chiefs recognising them as feudatories and fixing their tribute for 20 years. In February 1888 the tribute payable by the Chiefs was enhanced. On the 23rd December 1905, when the States were transferred from the Central Provinces to Bengal on the partition of the latter Province, fresh Sanads (Nos. LXIV to LXVIII) were granted to them, fixing their tribute for 20 years with effect from 1888. In these Sanads the designation of the Chiefs was changed from Tributary to Feudatory.

These Sanads were revised in 1915 (Nos. CVII to CXI) to give effect to the changes arising from the separation of the Province of Bihar and Orissa from Bengal, and in the new Sanads the tribute payable by each State (which was enhanced in 1909) was fixed for a period of thirty years from 1909 to 1939.

Since 1926 the confirmation of death sentences in these five States has been reserved to the Governor in Council.

CHOTA NAGPUR STATES.SERAIKELA AND KHARSAWAN.

Seraikela and Kharsawan were, with Bonai, Gangpur, Surguja, Udaipur, Jashpur, Korea and Changbhakar, included in the South Western Frontier Agency on its creation in 1833. The designation of the Agency was changed in 1854 to that of "Commissionership of Chota Nagpur." In October 1905 Surguja, Udaipur, Jashpur, Korea and Changbhakar were transferred to the Central Provinces, while Gangpur and Bonai were placed under the Commissioner of Orissa. Seraikela and Kharsawan remained under the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur, assisted by the Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum, and from 1916 by the Political Agent, Orissa, till in 1922 they were transferred to the Orissa Agency.

The Singhbhum country was never conquered by the Mahrattas, and was in the position of an independent State when Raja Ghansham Singh tendered his allegiance to the British Government in 1819. The object of the Raja in so doing was partly to be recognised as owning the allegiance of his kinsmen, the Raja of Seraikela and the Thakur of Kharsawan, whose States are situated in the Singhbhum country, and partly to procure assistance in subduing the refractory tribe of the Larka Kol. The Raja's pretensions to supremacy were not recognised; but an Agreement (No. X) was in 1820 taken from him only as regards his own Estate. It was apparently intended that separate engagements should be taken from the Raja of Seraikela and the Thakur of Kharsawan, but this was not done.

The refractory Larka Kol were subdued in 1821, and an Agreement (No. XI) was made with them, by which they bound themselves to be subject to the British Government, and to pay a fixed tribute to their Chiefs. But in consequence of repeated outrages, it was found necessary to send a force against them in 1836, when fresh arrangements were verbally made and solemnly sworn to, by which they bound themselves to obey, and pay revenue to, the British Government. In 1838 each of the headmen received a Sanad (No. XIX) and patta, in the former of which all the conditions which they had sworn to abide by were specified. Whenever a new headman is appointed he receives a sanad, and swears to abide by the conditions. In 1857 a large number of the Larka Kol espoused the cause of the Raja of Singhbhum in his rebellion against Government; but on the restoration of order they reverted to peaceful pursuits.

Part of the Estate of the Raja of Singhbhum, afterwards styled the Raja of Porahat, was confiscated in January 1858 for rebellion, and granted to the Raja of Seraikela and the Thakur of Kharsawan, for which they received Sanads (Nos. XXI and XXII), while the quit-rent of Rs. 97 paid by the Thakur of Anandpur, whose Estate was held in subordination to the Raja of Porahat, was remitted in perpetuity. The remainder of the Singhbhum Raja's Estate was sequestrated during the Raja's lifetime, and Government declared that on his death a member of his family should be reinstated in Porahat. Arjun Singh, the ex-Raja, was in 1862 granted an increased pension of Rs. 400, which was raised to Rs. 600 in 1888. He died in March 1890. By Act II of 1893 it was enacted that the Estate should thenceforth be part of the Singhbhum district. Certain portions of the Estate were granted in 1859 to divers individuals, and in 1895, by an Indenture dated the 4th October (No. LIII), the unalienated portion was granted as an inalienable, impartible, revenue-free zamindari to Arjun Singh's only son, Kumar Narpat Singh.

The States of Seraikela and Kharsawan pay no tribute or peshkash to Government. They were originally called Political States; but, the Secretary of State having decided in 1891 that they, and the other Chota Nagpur States, were not part of British India, they were formally recognised as Feudatory in 1899, when Sanads were granted to them defining their status, powers and position with reference to the British Government (Nos. LIX and LX). These sanads were superseded by revised Sanads granted in 1915 (Nos. CXII and CXIII) and differ from the previous ones in that the Lieutenant-Governor of Bihar and Orissa was authorised to recognise successions on behalf of the Governor-General, and the clause requiring payment of nazarana on succession was omitted.

Sanads of Adoption were granted to the Chiefs in 1914 (See No. CIV).

The hereditary title of Raja was conferred on the Chiefs in 1917 (No. CXV).

The Sanads of 1915 were revised in 1919 when fresh Sanads (No. CXVIII and CXIX) were granted to the Chiefs on the lines of those granted in the same year to Bonai and Gangpur. In the new Sanads the specific control of Government over the appointment of State officers was withdrawn and the clause limiting the right to catch elephants was omitted, this latter matter being included among the important questions on which advice should be taken.

In common with the other States in Chota Nagpur the Chiefs of Seraikela and Kharsawan were to be guided by the rules framed in 1863 limiting their judicial powers. The powers exercised by British Courts in respect of criminal cases arising in these States have been regularized by Notification No. 768-B-425-Intl., dated the 1st April 1922 of the Foreign and Political Department, which also indicates the law and procedure by which such courts are to be guided.

TRIBUTARY AND FEUDATORY STATES.

(1) ATHGARH.

Athgarh appears as Atzur in the treaties and engagements made with this State up till 1894, when a new Sanad (No. XXXVI) was granted to Raja Sri Karan Raghunath Beberta Patnaik, who died on the 25th January 1896. In 1915 a revised Sanad (No. LXXXVIII) was granted to his successor Sri Karan Biswanath Beberta Patnaik, who died on the 22nd June 1918. He was succeeded by his only son, Sri Karan Radhanath Beberta Patnaik, born on the 12th September 1909.

In 1925 the State ceded (No. CXXIII) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands required within its boundaries by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, the Talcher Branch of which runs through the State.

The area of the State is 168 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 42,351; real income Rs. 1,83,469; and tribute Rs. 2,800. It has (1926) 25 armed police.

(2) ATHMALLIK.

In the early treaties Athmallik was dealt with as a tributary of Baud, and the Treaty of the 3rd March 1804, and the Counter Engagement of the same date (Nos. III and IV), were made with Raja Bishambhar Deo of Baud and Athmallik. But in 1819 a separate Kabuliati was executed by Lachandra, then styled Sawant of Athmallik, fixing his tribute for 3 years (No. IX). All subsequent agreements were made with Athmallik independent of Baud. The Sati Sanad of 1842 (No. XX) was executed by the Zamindar of Athmallik, but in 1874 he was granted the hereditary title of Raja, along with the rest of the seventeen Chiefs (No. XXVII). In 1875 Raja Jogindra Sawant was given a Sanad (No. XXVIII) renewing for 20 years the settlement of his State which had been made in 1819. A further renewal was made unnecessary by the grant to his son and successor, Mahendra Deo Samant, of the Sanad of 1894 (No. XXXVII) which fixed his tribute permanently.

His son Bibhudendra Deo Samant, who was granted a revised Sanad in 1915 (No. LXXXIX), died on the 3rd November 1918, and was succeeded by his son, Kishor Chandra Deo Samant, who was born on the 10th November 1904.

The area of the State is 730 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 59,749; real income Rs. 2,38,655; and tribute Rs. 480. It has (1926) 18 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(3) BAMRA.

Bamra originally formed one of the Sambalpur and Patna, or Garhjat, group, whose Chiefs were at first independent but were subsequently in subordination to the Maharaja of Patna, the most powerful of their number.

Tribhuban Singh, Chief of Bamra, who died in May 1869, was succeeded by his nephew Sudhal Deo.

By a Document executed on the 15th February 1891 (No. XXXV) Raja Sudhal Deo made over to the British Government certain lands, with the jurisdiction thereon, required for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company.

Sudhal Deo died in 1903 and was succeeded by his eldest son Tribhuban Deo, who died in 1916 and was succeeded by his eldest son, Sudhai Deo. He died on the 1st January 1920 and was succeeded by his son, Bhanuganga Tribhuban Deo, who was born on the 25th February 1914. A revised Sanad was granted in 1915 (No. CVII).

The area of the State is 1,988 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 134,721; real income Rs. 5,54,644; and tribute Rs. 7,500. It possesses (1926) 71 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(4) BARAMBA.

In 1915 a revised Sanad (No. XC) was granted to Raja Bishambar Mangraj Mahapatra, who died on the 20th August 1922 and was succeeded by his son Narayan Chandra Birbar Mangraj Mahapatra, born on the 10th January 1914.

The area of the State is 134 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 38,630; real income Rs. 1,00,930; and tribute Rs. 1,397-15-5. It possesses (1926) 8 armed police.

(5) BAUD.

A treaty was made with, and counter-engagement given to, the Raja of Baud and Athmallik, Bishambhar Deo, on the 3rd March 1804 (see Athmallik). In 1821 Raja Chandra Sikhur Deo executed a Kabuliat (No. XII) in which his tribute was fixed for five years. In 1827 he executed an Agreement (No. XVI), accepting the obligation of certain police and judicial duties within his State.

Till 1837 this State formed part of the South Western Frontier Agency.

In 1875 a Sanad (No. XXX) was granted to Raja Pitambar Deo, renewing for 20 years the settlement that had been made in 1821.

Pitambar Deo died in 1879 and was succeeded by his son Jogendra Deo.

The separation from Baud of the Kondhmals, over which the Raja of Baud possessed a merely nominal jurisdiction, was due to the Kondhs of Gumsur, in collusion with the Kondhs of Baud, having created disturbances which the Raja was entirely unable to quell. He also failed to put down the practice of human sacrifices (Meriah) then prevailing among the Kondhs. Raja Jogendra Deo admitted that he had no power in, and was not in possession of, the country: and in 1885 made over to the British Government part of his State, which has since been incorporated with Angul into a British district.

In 1894 a Sanad (No. XXXIX) was granted to Jogendra Deo, in which the tribute was permanently fixed, thus rendering any further settlement unnecessary.

Jogendra Deo died on the 10th March 1913 and was succeeded by his son Narayan Prashad Deo, born on the 14th March 1904. A new Sanad (No. XCI) was granted in 1915.

The area of the State is 1,264 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 124,411; real income Rs. 2,76,041; and tribute Rs. 800. It has (1926) 25 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(6) BONAI.

The present Chief, Raja Indra Deo, was born on the 6th January 1884 and succeeded his father, Raja Chandra Deo, on the 19th February 1902.

A revised Sanad was granted in 1919 (No. CXVI).

The area of the State is 1,296 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 68,178; real income Rs. 1,89,322; and tribute Rs. 2,700. It has (1926) 18 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(7) DASPALLA.

Between 1753 and 1775 the Chief of Daspalla, Trilochan Bhanj, acquired the pargana of Jormu, an area of about 5 square miles, situated on the north bank of the Mahanadi. This area was reannexed, after several battles, by the Raja of Angul. Trilochan's successor Makund Deo petitioned the Darbar of Raghuji Bhonsla for a decision of his claim to Jormu; it was decided in his favour and thenceforth in old papers the State was called Jormu Daspalla, or Jorum Daspalla. The Peshkash or tribute payable by the State was fixed at 5,001 Kahans of Kowris; but Makund Deo objected to this on the ground that his State supplied timber to the Raja of Puri for construction of the Jagannath car. 1,000 Kahans of Kowries were accordingly remitted in view of this timber supply in 1777. The balance of 4,001 continued to be paid to the Mahrattas. It was raised to 4,500 Kahans in 1803, and this was later converted into its equivalent of Rs. 661-7-11 in silver coin.

This tribute is in theory paid for Jormu, and nothing is paid for the Daspalla State proper in view of the annual supply of timber for the Jagannath car, which is still sent to Puri. The Treaty of 1803 (No. I), by which his tribute was fixed, was executed by the Chief as Raja of Jormu and the Kaulnama of that year (No. II) was granted to him as Raja of Daspalla and Jormu. Another Treaty, bearing no date, but probably executed in 1804, was executed by him as Raja of Daspalla and he was also granted a Kaulnama (Nos. V and VI). By clause 2 of this latter Treaty the Chief made himself responsible for the safety of the Barmul Pass, and by clause 1 of the Kaulnama no tribute was to be demanded from him so long as he remained obedient and loyal.

On the death of Raja Narayan Deo Bhanja on the 11th December 1913, the succession of his adopted son, Kishore Chandra Deo Bhanja, born on the 16th April 1908, was recognised by Government, who overruled the claim of Babu Baishnab Charan Deo, a relative of the late Chief. In 1915 the latter stirred up a serious disturbance among the Kondh population of the State, which resulted in the siege of the palace and the murder of some of the State officials, and would have had still more disastrous consequences but for the arrival of the Commissioner of Orissa with a force of military and police. Babu Baishnab Charan Deo was tried and was transported for life.

A revised Sanad was granted in 1915 (No. XCII).

The area of the State is 568 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 34,509; real income Rs. 1,22,022; and tribute Rs. 661-7-11. It has (1926) 22 armed police.

(8) DHENKANAL.

Raja Bhagirathi Mahendra Bahadur died in 1877, and was succeeded by his adopted son, Dinabandhu Mahendra Bahadur, who died a minor in 1885. He was succeeded by his son Sura Pratap Mahendra Bahadur to whom a revised Sanad (No. XCIII) was granted in 1915. He died on the 16th October 1918 and was succeeded by his son Sankar Pratap Mahendra Bahadur, born on the 14th November 1904.

In 1925 the State ceded (No. CXXIII) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands required within its boundaries by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, the Talcher Branch of which runs through the State.

The area of the State is 1,463 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 233,691; real income Rs. 5,78,569; and tribute Rs. 5,099-0-9. It has (1926) 21 armed police.

(9) GANGPUR.

In 1876 Raja Raghunath Sikhar Deo, who had succeeded in 1865, was given a Sanad (No. XXXI) renewing the existing settlement for 20 years.

In 1888 he ceded (No. XXXIV) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands in his State required by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

In February 1894 the Raja granted to Edward Golding Barton a gold mining lease, and in February 1898 and May 1902 leases for quarrying lime and limestone. The leases were for 30 years each.

In 1897, in consequence of Raghunath Sikhar Deo's maladministration, a serious disturbance took place in the State, culminating in open revolt and making it necessary for the Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum, with an armed body of British police, to assist the Raja in restoring order and arresting the insurgent leaders.

As a result of an enquiry into the state of affairs that had brought about the revolt, the Raja was, in 1900, required to appoint a Diwan selected by Government. Thereafter the administration of the State greatly improved.

Raghunath Sikhar Deo died in 1917 and was succeeded by his grandson Bhawani Shankar Sekhar Deo who died on the 5th May 1930 and was succeeded by his son the present Raja Bir Mitra Pratap Sekhar Deo, born in 1920.

A revised Sanad (No. CXVII) was granted in 1919.

The area of the State is 2,492 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 309,271; real income Rs. 6,65,830; and tribute Rs. 10,000. It has (1926) 49 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(10) HINDOL.

The present Chief, Raja Bahadur Naba Kishore Chandra Mardraj Jagadeb, was born on the 14th June 1891, and succeeded to the gaddi on the death of his father, Janardan Mardraj Jagadeb, on the 10th February 1906.

In 1915 he was granted a revised Sanad (No. XCIV): and on the 1st January 1921 the title of Raja Bahadur was conferred upon him as a personal distinction.

In 1925 the Raja ceded (No. CXXIII) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands required in his State by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, the Talcher Branch of which runs through a small part of Hindol territory.

The area of the State is 312 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 38,617; real income Rs. 1,54,741; and tribute Rs. 551-3-11. It has (1926) 15 armed police.

(11) KALAHANDI OR KAROND.

It is alleged that Kalahandi or Karond was formerly an independent State, paying no tribute to any power; but it eventually came under the dominion of the Mahrattas, and in the days of Raghuji Bhonsla a takoli of Rs. 5,330 was assessed and regularly paid. The amount was reduced to Rs. 4,500 under the last Raja of Nagpur.

The State was not one of the Garhjat States which composed the group under Patna and Sambalpur, but was a tributary chieftainship owing allegiance to the reigning Mahratta family of Nagpur. When, in 1853, the province of Nagpur lapsed to the Crown, Karond came under the jurisdiction of the British Government, and was created a Feudatory State in 1867 (No. XXVI).

In 1878 the Ruler of Kalahandi was granted a permanent salute of 9 guns.

When Raja Udit Pratap Deo died in 1881, he had adopted as his heir Raghu Keshar Deo, born in 1872. He had at a considerably earlier period adopted one Rambhadra Sai, but had cancelled the adoption in consequence of the youth's misconduct. The claim of Raghu Keshar Deo as heir was recognised by the Government of India and he succeeded accordingly. There thence arose a dispute as to the succession, and the opportunity was taken by the Kondhs to prefer numerous complaints against the oppression and mismanagement from which they alleged that they had long suffered. Eventually the Kondhs rose in open rebellion. The disturbances were suppressed with the aid of British troops; and a British officer was in 1882 appointed as Political Agent, with headquarters at Bhawani Patna, to manage the State. This arrangement continued till 1887, when the office of Political Agent for the State was merged in that of the newly created Political Agent for the Chhattisgarh Feudatories.

Raja Raghu Keshar Deo, who had been invested with full powers in January 1894, was murdered in October 1897 by one of his servants, and was succeeded by his son, Raja Brijmohan Deo, born in 1896, to whom a revised Sanad (No. CVIII) was granted in 1915.

In 1906 the State ceded (No. LXX) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries required for the Raipur-Vizianagram Railway.

In 1926 the title of Maharaja was conferred on Raja Brijmohan Deo, as a personal distinction.

Subject to Kalahandi is the petty Chiefship of Thuamul, held by a branch of the Karond family. The Thuamul family was divided into an elder and a younger branch: the head of the former succeeding to the Chiefship with the title of Pat Raja, the head of the latter to the administration of the country with the title of Tat Raja. This custom led to constant feuds between the Tat and Pat Rajas: disputes also occurred between Kalahandi and Jaipur, occasioned by claims of the latter to supremacy over the pargana of Kashipur, a part of Thuamul. The Nagpur Government therefore determined to separate Thuamul from Kalahandi and to leave its administration in the hands of the Tat Raja. These orders were confirmed by the Government of India in 1862, and the claims of Jaipur to Kashipur were at the same time disallowed. In 1866, however, it was found that the disputes between the Pat and Tat Rajas still continued. Thuamul was therefore divided between them. The portion allotted to the Pat Raja was restored to the jurisdiction of the Chief of Kalahandi; while, of that allotted to the Tat Raja, he was confirmed in the administration of Kashipur, paying a proportionate share of the tribute, and was granted the remainder as a separate zamindari. In 1869 the Tat Raja also was placed under the feudal control of the Raja of Kalahandi.

The area of the State is 3,745 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 415,827; real income Rs. 5,72,677; and tribute Rs. 1,600. The State possesses (1926) 68 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(12) KEONJHAR.

A treaty was concluded with, and a Kaulnama given to, the Raja of Keonjhar on the 16th December 1804, by which he was to pay a tribute of Rs. 2,976-11-11 (Nos. VII and VIII). In 1859, in recognition of the services of Raja Gadadhar Narayan Bhanj Deo during the mutiny, the tribute was reduced by Rs. 1,000: the revised amount including the tribute (Rs. 266-10-8) of Pal-Lahara State (q. v.).

Gadadhar Narayan Bhanj Deo died in 1861 and was succeeded by his son Dhanurjai Narayan Bhanj Deo.

In 1868 a disputed succession in Keonjhar rendered it necessary for the British Government to despatch a considerable force into the State to restore peace. After this the State was for some time under British superintendence, but this was withdrawn in 1878.

In May 1891 an insurrection, in which the hill tribe of Bhuiyans were the chief movers, broke out but was easily put down by a small force of troops and police. An enquiry was held into the causes of discontent, the State being placed under management in the meanwhile. As a result, it was decided to allow Dhanurjai Narayan to resume control, but measures were instituted for the improvement of his administration, and an Agent was appointed to advise and assist him. The Agent was withdrawn in 1900.

In 1898 a new Sanad (No. LV) was given to the Chief in which it was specifically stated that the tribute of Rs. 1,710-1-3 payable by him excluded that payable to his credit by the Chief of Pal-Lahara. Mention of this fact had been omitted from the Sanad of 1894 (No. XLIII).

Dhanurjai Narayan Bhanj Deo died on the 27th October 1905, and was succeeded by his eldest son, Gopinath Narayan Bhanj Deo, who resigned in 1907. His resignation was accepted, and the State was taken under Government administration.

In 1923 the State ceded (No. CXXII) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries required for the use of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, the Amda-Jamda Branch of which enters the State.

Gopinath Narayan Bhanj Deo died on the 12th August 1926, when his son Balbhadra Narayan Bhanja Deo, born on the 26th December 1905, was recognised as his successor. A revised Sanad (No. CXXIV) was granted to him in 1927.

The area of the State is 3,096 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 379,496; real income Rs. 9,25,195; and tribute (excluding that of Pal-Lahara) Rs. 1,710-1-3. It has (1926) 154 armed police.

(13) KHANDPARA.

Raja Jadunath Singh Mangraj, the founder of the Khandpara State, obtained the title of Mangraj from the Maharaja of Orissa. Another Raja, Banamali Singh of Khandpara, received as reward for military services the title of Bhai Mardraj Bhramarbar Ray which is borne by the Chiefs to the present day.

In 1915 a revised Sanad (No. XCV) was granted to Raja Ram Chandra Mardraj Bhramarbar Ray. He died on the 26th December 1922 and was succeeded by his adopted son Harihar Singh Mardraj Bhramarbar Ray, born on the 30th August 1914.

The area of the State is 244 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 64,289; real income Rs. 1,19,404; and tribute Rs. 4,211-8-8. It has (1926) 11 armed police.

(14) KHARSAWAN.

Raja Ganga Ram Singh Deo, Zamindar of Kharsawan, was rewarded for his services in the Singhbhum mutiny of 1857 with a portion of the sequestrated Estate of the Raja of Porahat, for which in 1860 he received a Sanad (No. XXII).

In 1888 the State ceded (No. XXXIII) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries required by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

The first Sanad which defined the status, powers and position of the Chief with reference to the British Government was granted in 1899 (No. LX) to Thakur Mahendra Narayan Singh Deo. He died on the 6th February 1902, and was succeeded by his son, Sriram Chandra Singh Deo, born on the 5th July 1892.

A revised Sanad was granted in 1915 (No. CXIII) and this was further revised by another granted in 1919 (No. CXIX).

In 1917 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. CXV) on the Ruler of Kharsawan.

In 1920 the State ceded (No. CXX) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries required by the Amda-Jamda Branch of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

The area of the State is 153 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 37,305; real income Rs. 1,04,695. It pays no tribute. The State has (1926) 25 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(15) MAYURBHANJ.

Mayurbhanj is the largest and most important of the Feudatory States of Orissa.

In 1803, the year of the British conquest of Orissa, Rani Sumitra Dei, widow of the previous Chief, Damodar Bhanj, who had died childless, was in occupation of the gaddi and was acknowledged by the British Government. No treaty or agreement was however entered into with her, and the State was therefore not included in the list of States mentioned in section 36 of Regulation XII of 1805, but was specially exempted in section 37 of that Regulation. On the death of Sumitra Dei in 1811 the succession devolved on Tribikram Bhanj. He executed two Ikrarnamas in 1812 and 1815 agreeing to pay a tribute of Rs. 1,001 and to forego his claim to levy a tax on pilgrims who had to pass through the State on their way to and from Puri. He was succeeded by his son Jadunath Bhanj, who executed a Treaty engagement in 1829 (No. XVII).

The Raja of Mayurbhanj rendered good services during the mutiny of 1857.

In 1866, owing to the mismanagement of Raja Srinath Bhanj, the Bahmanghatti sub-division of Mayurbhanj was placed under the control of the Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum. In 1878 it was restored to his successor Krishna Chandra Bhanj.

Krishna Chandra Bhanj died in 1882 and was succeeded by his son Sriram Chandra Bhanj Deo.

In 1896 the State ceded (No. LIV) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries occupied by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

On the 1st April 1905 a light railway, connecting Baripoda, the capital of the State, with Rupsa station on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, was opened to traffic: and on the 8th April an Agreement (No. LXI) was entered into with the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company for its working. This railway has since been extended to Talband, in the interior of the State, and has been transferred to the Mayurbhanj Railway Company, on whose behalf it is worked by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

In 1910 the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred (No. LXXXVII) on the Ruler of Mayurbhanj.

Sriram Chandra Bhanj Deo died in 1912 and was succeeded by his eldest son Purna Chandra Bhanj Deo, to whom a revised Sanad (No. XCVI) was granted in 1915.

A serious rebellion of the Santal inhabitants of the State occurred in 1917, to subdue which military and police forces had to be brought from British India. The rebellion had its immediate origin in the fears raised among these aborigines at the prospect of being recruited for the Labour Corps of the Indian Army. When the disturbance died down and the fears raised were set at rest, several thousand labourers were voluntarily recruited for this service, and did good work.

On the 1st January 1918 a permanent salute of 9 guns was granted to the Ruler of Mayurbhanj.

Purna Chandra Bhanj Deo died on the 20th April 1928 and was succeeded by his brother Pratap Chandra Bhanj Deo, born in 1901.

The area of the State is 4,243 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 754,314; real income Rs. 28,25,008; tribute Rs. 1,067-11-9. It has (1926) 240 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(16) NARSINGHPUR.

The minor Chief, Raja Ram Chandra Mansingh Harichandan Mahapatra, who succeeded his father, Sadhu Charan Mansingh Harichandan Mahapatra, died on the 5th July 1921. A revised Sanad (No. XCVII) was granted to him in 1915. His younger brother, Ananta Narayan Mansingh Harichandan Mahapatra, who was born on the 9th September 1908, has been recognised as his successor.

The area of the State is 199 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 33,002; real income Rs. 92,860; and tribute Rs. 1,455-8-3. It has (1926) 14 armed police.

(17) NAYAGARH.

Raja Raghunath Singh Mandhata, Chief of Nayagarh, died on the 4th September 1897 without an heir. On his death-bed he authorised his younger Rani to adopt an heir. She adopted Narayan Singh Mandhata, whose succession was recognised in 1898; but, owing to his incapacity, the State was taken under Government administration, and remains so under the present minor Chief.

Raja Narayan Singh Mandhata, to whom a revised Sanad (No. XCVIII), was granted in 1915, died on the 7th December 1918 and was succeeded by his son Krishna Chandra Singh Mandhata, born on the 15th August 1911.

The area of the State is 588 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 122,842; real income Rs. 2,50,870; and tribute Rs. 5,525-4-1. It possesses (1926) 48 armed police.

(18) NILGIRI.

In addition to the treaty engagement of 1803 (No. I) executed by Raja Ram Chandra Mardraj Hari Chandan, another one (No. XVIII) was executed in 1833 by Rani Chira Dei, widow of Govind Chandra Mardraj Hari Chandan, and her Diwan, Shibacharan Patnaik. Raja Govind Chandra had died in 1833 leaving two infant sons by Chira Dei, who was the youngest of his three Ranis. Shibacharan Patnaik was her brother, and the management of the State was entrusted to the Rani, with her brother as Diwan, during the minority of the Chief. The treaty engagement of 1833 was accordingly executed by them.

Chira Dei's son, Krishna Chandra Mardraj Hari Chandan, was permitted to administer his State in 1843 and ruled till 1893. He was succeeded in that year by his adopted son Shyam Chandra Mardraj Hari Chandan, adopted from the Mayurbhanj family. Owing to his complicity in a case of torture in his State, he was temporarily deprived of his powers in 1905; but they were restored in 1908. He died on the 6th July 1913 and was succeeded by his only son Kishore Chandra Mardraj Hari Chandan, born on the 2nd February 1904, to whom a revised Sanad (No. XCIX) was granted in 1915.

The area of the State is 278 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 65,222; real income Rs. 1,91,416; and tribute Rs. 3,900-7-8. It has (1926) 24 armed police.

(19) PAL-LAHARA.

Pal-Lahara was originally a larger State, but was dispossessed of much territory by neighbouring Rajas. About the year 1778 the Keonjhar Raja obtained ascendancy in the State. The Chief of Pal-Lahara had died in that year, leaving two daughters only, and his mother Arnapura took over the administration. The people supported the claim of one Bimba Pal, the natural son of a former Chief. Arnapura applied for aid to the Raja of Keonjhar who sent a force, seized Bimba Pal, and put Arnapura in possession of the State. She appointed Nanda Pal, a natural son of her husband, as Diwan. On her death in 1815 the Raja of Keonjhar allowed Nanda Pal to continue to administer Pal-Lahara as his Bissoie.

On Nanda Pal's death in 1825 some sarbarakars of Pal-Lahara resisted the authority of Keonjhar by force. They failed to expel the Raja, and sent a petition to the Agent General of the South Western Frontier, who came with a small force and ordered him to withdraw. He also directed the people to select a person to manage the State till the rival claims were settled. They chose one Badyanath Pal, who was asserted to be the only legitimate living male of the Pal-Lahara Raj family. The claim of Keonjhar to the State was investigated, the Raja of Keonjhar claiming that he had got it as dowry of his wife, the younger daughter of the Chief who had died in 1778. It was decided that he was paramount and that the Raja of Pal-Lahara should pay tribute to him. Disputes continued, however, as the Raja refused to pay tribute to Keonjhar and the latter was not allowed to use force to realize it. The matter was ultimately arranged in 1840, when the Raja of Keonjhar was deprived of all right of interference in the local affairs of Pal-Lahara, and the Chief of Pal-Lahara was allowed to pay his quit-rent or tribute to the office of the Superintendent of Tributary Mahals for credit as a portion of the tribute payable by the Keonjhar

State. In 1880 the Keonjhar Raja petitioned that this quit-rent should be increased, but this was not allowed.

Badyanath Pal ruled till 1859 and was succeeded by his son Chakradhar Pal (Muni Pal) who died in 1888 and was succeeded by his son Duti Krishna Pal (Ganeshwar Pal).

In 1898 a fresh Sanad (No. LVI) was given to Ganeshwar Pal, in which it was specifically stated that the tribute paid by him was for credit as a portion of the tribute or peshkash payable by the Keonjhar State. This condition had been omitted from the Sanad of 1894 (No. XLIX).

Ganeshwar Pal died on the 30th July 1912, and the succession of his cousin's son, Sarat Chandra Pal, under the name and title of Raja Muni Pal, was recognised. The Chiefs of Pal-Lahara assume the names Muni Pal and Ganeshwar Pal alternatively on succession.

A revised Sanad (No. C) was granted in 1915.

The area of the State is 452 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 23,789; real income Rs. 67,677; and tribute Rs. 266-10-8. It has (1926) 11 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(20) PATNA.

Hira Vajra Deo, Maharaja of Patna, died in August 1866, and was succeeded by Sur Pratap Deo. In 1869 the tyranny of the Maharaja and of his brother, Lal Bishwanath Singh, caused a rising among the Kondhs of the State. They were speedily reduced, but not until Lal Bishwanath Singh and his followers had committed many atrocities. For these crimes Lal Bishwanath Singh was removed from Patna, and an enquiry into the causes of the outbreak led to the deposition of the Maharaja, and the assumption in 1871 of the management of the State by the British Government.

Maharaja Sur Pratap Deo, who was a Chauhan Rajput and the twenty-sixth representative of the family, died in 1878, leaving no male issue. He was succeeded by his nephew, Ram Chandra Singh Deo, the son of Lal Bishwanath Singh. Maharaja Ram Chandra Singh Deo shot himself on the 8th June 1895, and was succeeded by his uncle Dalganjan Singh Deo.

In 1906 the State ceded (No. LXIX) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries required for the Raipur-Vizianagram Railway.

Maharaja Dalgarnjan Singh Deo's administration was not satisfactory, and his powers were restricted. He died in 1910 and was succeeded by his eldest son Prithwiraj Singh Deo, who also failed to administer his State well. Restrictions were therefore placed on his powers, but were gradually removed: and, at his death in 1924, he was enjoying practically full powers. A revised Sanad was granted to him in 1915 (No. CIX).

On the 1st January 1918 a permanent salute of 9 guns was granted to the Ruler of Patna.

Prithwiraj Singh Deo had no natural son, and adopted in February 1922 the second son of the Jubaraj of Seraikela. The adoption was contested by the Chief's brothers, and the Chief himself ultimately attempted to deny its validity, alleging that he had previously adopted a son of one of his brothers. This was proved to be untrue, and the adoption was held to be valid and binding. The succession of the adopted boy Rajendra Narayan Singh Deo was recognised by the Government of India after the death of Prithwiraj Singh Deo on the 16th January 1924.

The area of the State is 2,399 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 494,456; real income Rs. 7,25,927; and tribute Rs. 13,000. It possesses (1926) 80 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(21) RAIKAKHOL.

The State of Raikakhol was formerly a zamindari subordinate to Bamra, but was made an independent State, and constituted one of the Garhjat group, by the Patna Chiefs about the middle of the eighteenth century.

The Chief of this State was not at first included in the list of feudatories, at the time of their classification in 1865, on the ground of his maladministration. Subsequently it was ascertained that the Chief was not to blame and, as he had shown conspicuous loyalty in 1857, he was recognised in May 1866 as a feudatory, and in the same year he was granted a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV). A Sanad defining his status as a feudatory Chief was granted to him in the following year (No. XXVI).

Raja Bishan Chandra Jenamani, who was born in 1819, succeeded in 1825. Owing to his mismanagement of the State it became necessary in 1889 to appoint a Diwan, who administered the State under the supervision of the Political Agent.

Bishan Chandra Jenamani died in 1900 and was succeeded by his grandson Gur Chandra Deo. Certain restrictions, which were placed on his powers at the time of his succession, were removed in 1904. He died in July 1906. Just previous to his death he adopted a brother of the Chief of Bonai State, whose succession under the name of Bir Chandra Jadumani Deo Jenamani was recognised by Government. A revised Sanad (No. CX) was granted in 1915.

The area of the State is 833 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 31,225; real income Rs. 86,383; and tribute Rs. 2,000. It possesses (1926) 10 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(22) RANPUR.

The present Chief, Raja Birbar Krishna Chandra Singh Bajradhar Narindra Mahapatra, who was born about 1877, succeeded his father on the 12th July 1899.

A revised Sanad (No. CI) was granted in 1915.

The area of the State is 203 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 41,282; real income Rs. 65,156; and tribute Rs. 1,400-13-2.

(23) SERAIKELA.

The Chiefs of Seraikela have always been distinguished for loyalty to the British Government. Raja Ajambar Singh died in 1837 of illness brought on by exposure and fatigue in the Kol campaign, in the course of which he rendered important services. His son and successor, Raja Chakradhar Singh Deo, gave valuable assistance during the Singhbhum mutiny of 1857, and during the Keonjhar campaign in 1868. He was rewarded for his services on the former occasion with a portion of the sequestrated Estate of the Raja of Porahat, for which in 1860 he received a Sanad (No. XXI).

Chakradhar Singh Deo died in 1882 and was succeeded by his son Udit Narayan Singh, born on the 16th January 1849. In 1884 the title of Raja Bahadur was conferred on him, as a personal distinction.

In 1888 the State ceded (No. XXXII) civil and criminal jurisdiction over the lands within its boundaries required by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

The first Sanad (No. LIX), defining the status, powers and position of the Chief of Seraikela with reference to the British Government was granted in 1899. A revised Sanad (No. CXII) was granted in 1915: and this was further revised by a fresh Sanad (No. CXVIII) granted in 1919.

In 1917 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. CXV) on the Ruler of Seraikela.

In 1922 the title of Maharaja was conferred on Raja Bahadur Udit Narayan Singh, as a personal distinction.

The area of the State is 449 square miles; population, according to the Census of 1921, 115,192; real income Rs. 3,28,372. It pays no tribute. It has (1926) 30 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(24) SONPUR.

This family is an offshoot from the former ruling house of Sambalpur. In 1887, owing to the unsatisfactory management of his State by Raja Niladhar Singh Deo, an officer of Government was appointed as Diwan, to assist the Raja in his administration, under the supervision of the Political Agent.

Niladhar Singh Deo died in 1891 and was succeeded by his eldest son Pratap Rudra Singh Deo. He died on the 8th August 1902 and was succeeded by his son Bir Mitrodaya Singh Deo, born in 1874. A revised Sanad (No. CXI) was granted to him in 1915.

In 1908 the title of Maharaja was conferred on Raja Bir Mitrodaya Singh Deo, as a personal distinction.

On the 1st January 1918 a permanent salute of 9 guns was granted to the Ruler of Sonpur: and, in 1921, the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred on him (No. CXXI).

The area of the State is 906 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 226,751; real income Rs. 3,42,959; and tribute Rs. 12,000. It has (1926) 30 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

TRANSLATION of a SUNNUD given by CAPTAIN TICKELL to RAORIA, MANKEE of KOWSILLAPOSSI in BUR PEER, dated 10th December 1838.

Be it known to you, Raoria, Mankee of Kowsillapossi in Bur Peer, that the post of Mankee in Bur Peer is given to you ; therefore I give you this sunnud under orders of the Agent, Governor-General, of the 10th December 1838. You must act in accordance therewith. In conformity with your Agreement, made in presence of the Agent, Governor-General, and Assistant Commissioner, you will be held responsible for all the crimes, viz., theft, murder, dacoity, highway robbery and plunder, etc., occurring in all the villages under your charge. If the revenue of your Illakah be not received on the fixed date, you will be held personally responsible for it; the Government revenue will be collected according to the current settlement and such as may be hereafter made. You will perform your duties zealously, and must arrest and deliver up criminals. You must not willingly allow offenders to escape in any way, whether in consideration of relationship or bribes. If any offenders escape from another Illakah, and take refuge in your Illakah, you must arrest them and bring them to Court, and if you conceal them or favor their cause, it will be to your discredit. You must report to the Court at once the occurrence of any theft, murder, dacoity, highway robbery and plunder, etc., that takes place in your Illakah, and you are authorised to try and determine yourself petty cases, such as quarrels, altercations, etc., and report the fact to the Court. You are to remain loyal, and obey any orders given you by myself or any person constituted by my successor. For your assistance a Moondah has been appointed in each village in your Illakah. They must obey your orders, and they will also promise before the Agent, Governor-General, and Assistant Commissioner, that they will obey their Mankee's orders and aid him; whatever good or bad occurs in their respective village, they must report it to the Mankee; if they cannot find the Mankee, they will report the fact to the Naib Mankee. If I become ill or go to some other place on my own business, another officer will be appointed to discharge the duties entrusted to me at present. Moreover, if you receive orders to arrest any offender either from the Assistant Commissioner or Acting Assistant Commissioner, you must arrest the offender and bring him to Court. If the offender absconds from your Illakah to any other, you must trace and arrest him. Or if the Mankee of other Illakah requires assistance from you to apprehend a felon, you must comply instantly and make no excuse, and exert yourself to the utmost, so that the felon may be secured. If you be ill, or may have occasion to visit other villages, you must entrust your duties to your Naib. He is appointed by Government for those duties. Moreover, if you see that you will be detained for some time at some place on your own business, you must report that to the Court—that there may exist no anxiety in your mind. If you receive any orders from any Rajah, Baboo, Zemindar, or Karpurdauz, on any pretence whatever, you must not fail in your engagement; on the contrary you must arrest the bearer of the said order, and bring him to the Assistant Commissioner or to the Officer in charge for the time being. If anybody disturbs the peace of your Illakah, you must collect your force or followers, and arrest the man and bring him to the Assistant Commissioner. If the disturber of the peace leaves your Illakah for another, you must go there, apprehend him, and bring him to Court, and must not knowingly let him escape: you must always act up to the above instructions. You will receive a separate Pottah, and will receive one-tenth out of the revenue which will be collected by Government from your Illakah. If you neglect the discharge of the Government duties entrusted to you, then the tenth part of the revenue promised to be paid to you will be withheld, and the Pottah of the Mankeeship will be taken back and given to some other person; you must keep this as a sunnud.

TRANSLATION of a POTTAH given by CAPTAIN TICKELL to RAORIA, MANKEE of KOWSILLAPOSSI in BUR PEER, dated 19th March 1839.

Be it known to Raoria, Mankee of Kowsillapossi in "Sath Bunturia:" the undermentioned villages are entrusted to you. You are nominated Mankee of those villages. You must keep the ryots in those villages satisfied, and settle them. You must be attentive to the Government orders, and collect the revenue of your Illakah according to the settlement, and bring it yourself. Whatever revenue will come from any village, one-sixth of it will be given to the Moondah, and from the remainder you will get one-tenth. Therefore this Pottah is given to you.

(Here follows specification of villages.)

After compliments.—Whereas during the late disturbances caused by Raja Arjun Sing and other rebels of Porahat you have shown your loyalty to Government and rendered every assistance. Government of India, on the recommendation of the Deputy Commissioner of Singbhum and of the Commissioner of Chutia Nagpur, has granted to you rent-free all the Sadani villages [villages inhabited by non-aboriginal tribes of Pergana Koraikela] on account of which this sunnud is given to you. It is herein declared that you shall continue to be always ready to show your loyalty and to render assistance to Government, and that, on these conditions, you and your successors shall enjoy from generation to generation (Putra Pautradik) the villages within the boundaries given below as Lakhraj in the same manner as you hold your ancestral State of Saraikela. Lord Canning also issued a similar adoption Sanad in March 1862 to the Rajah of Kalahandi or Karond, and it is doubtful whether this or the one above was delivered to the Chief. Neither can be discovered (1906) among the Chief's own papers, but it is probable that the one above is the one actually given to him.

SANAD granted to the CHIEF of ATHGARH, defining his status, powers and position with reference to the BRITISH GOVERNMENT,—1894.

WHEREAS the status and position with reference to the British Government of the Tributary Mahal of Athgarh in Orissa has hitherto been undefined, and doubts have from time to time arisen with regard thereto; His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council is pleased to grant to you Raja Sree Karan Raghunath Babarta Patnaik the following sanad, with a view to assuring you that the British Government will continue, as long as you remain loyal to the Crown and abide by the conditions of the sanad, and of your other engagements with the British Government, to maintain you in the position and privileges which you have heretofore enjoyed or which are now conferred upon you :—

SANAD.

I.—You Raja Sree Karan Raghunath Babarta Patnaik, son of Raja Sree Karan Jagannath Babarta Patnaik, are hereby formally recognised as the Feudatory Chief of the Athgarh State, and you are permitted, as heretofore, to generally administer the territory of the said Athgarh State, subject to the conditions hereinafter prescribed. In like manner your heirs and successors shall become entitled to your privileges, and liable to your obligations; provided that no succession shall be valid until it has been recognised by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council.

II.—You shall continue to pay the tribute or peshkash of rupees two thousand and eight hundred per annum, which you and your predecessors have heretofore paid.

III.—You shall try in your Courts all criminal cases occurring in your territory, except (I) those in which Europeans are concerned, and (II) heinous offences such as murder, homicide, dakaiti, robbery, and torture. You shall refer the cases excepted above for disposal to the Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals or to such of his Assistants as he may indicate. Sentences passed by you on criminal offenders shall be regulated by the instructions issued from time to time for your guidance by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and shall not exceed [unless His Honour is pleased to entrust you with more extensive powers, in which case you shall be entitled to exercise such further powers in the manner, to the extent, and subject to the conditions, if any, which His Honour may prescribe] in the case of imprisonment, a term of two years, in the case of fines, a sum of one thousand rupees, and in the case of whipping, thirty stripes. All orders passed by you in criminal cases shall be subject to revision by the Superintendent, to whom you shall send the records of any case for which he may call.

IV.—You shall deliver up any offender from British or other territory, who may take refuge in your State. You shall aid British officers who may pursue criminals into your territory, and in the event of offenders from your own State taking refuge in British or other territory, you shall make a representation on the matter to the authorities concerned.

V.—You shall administer justice fairly and impartially to all alike.

VI.—You shall recognise and maintain the rights of all your people, and you shall on no account oppress them or suffer them to be in any way oppressed.

VII.—You shall levy no transit duties on grain, merchandise or any article of commerce passing through your State.

VIII.—You shall consult the Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals in all important matters of administration, and comply with his wishes. The settlement and collection of the land-revenue, the imposition of taxes, the administration of justice, arrangements connected with excise, salt and opium, the concession of mining, forest and other rights, disputes arising out of any such concession, and disputes in which other States are concerned, shall be regarded as specially important matters, and in respect to them you shall at all times conform to such advice as the Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals may give you.

IX.—The right to catch elephants in your State is granted to you as a personal concession and as a matter of favour, but this concession is liable to withdrawal whenever it may seem desirable either on account of abuse or for other reasons, and it will not necessarily be granted to your successor.

X.—All questions as to boundaries between your State and British territory will be dealt with by the Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals or such other officer as His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may appoint either generally or specially, in that behalf, with two assessors, one to be appointed by yourself and the other by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, unless in any such case you should prefer that the question should be decided by such Superintendent, or other officer alone, in which case the question shall be referred for his decision accordingly.

INDENTURE relating to the grant of the ZAMINDARI of PORAHAT to KUMAR NARPAT SINGH, son of RAJA ARJUN SINGH, the late ex-RAJA of PORAHAT, —1895.

This Indenture made the fourth day of October one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five between the Secretary of State for India in Council, hereafter called the Secretary of State, of the one part, and Kumar Narpat Singh at present of Benares, son of Raja Arjun Singh deceased, the late ex-Raja of Porahat, of the other part.

Whereas the Raj State of Porahat prior to its confiscation by the British Government was a Tributary Native State in the nature of an impartible and inalienable Raj the succession to which was regulated by the custom of primogeniture.

And whereas in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight the said Arjun Singh the then Raja of Porahat was deposed and his estate was confiscated by the British Government and as from the date of such confiscation the said Porahat estate has been dealt with as British territory and the same was by proclamation declared and appointed by the Governor-General in Council to be subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and by Act II of 1893 of the said Governor-General in Council it was enacted that the estate should thenceforth become and be part of the Singhbhum District.

And whereas certain portions of the said Porahat estate were afterwards granted to divers individuals by the Government of India.

And whereas the said Raja Arjun Singh died on or about the second day of March one thousand eight hundred and ninety leaving the said Kumar Narpat Singh his only son and the Governor-General in Council has now decided as an act of grace to grant the unalienated portion of the said Porahat estate to the said Kumar Narpat Singh as and from the first April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one to be held by him and his lineal heirs male according to the custom of lineal primogeniture (the eldest male of the eldest branch being preferred) as an inalienable and impartible revenue-free zemindari.

And whereas it is necessary in the opinion of the legal advisers of the Governor-General in Council to resort to special legislation to give due validity to the condition of inalienability and impartibility subject to which the grant of the said estate is to be made and it is accordingly intended that these presents shall be ratified and confirmed by an Act to be passed by the Governor-General in Council.

Now this Indenture Witnesseth that in consideration of the premises and as an act of grace the said Secretary of State doth hereby direct and appoint that all and every the lands now forming the unalienated portions of the Original Porahat Raj and which are now called or known as the Porahat estate and are more particularly described in the schedule hereunder written (expressly including the Bandgaon estate formerly an undertenure of the Original Porahat Raj and afterwards separated from Porahat and made a Government estate, but which it is now intended to include in the said Porahat estate) shall as from the first April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one be vested in and be for ever held and enjoyed by the said Kumar Narpat Singh and such one among his lineal heirs male as under the limitations and conditions hereinafter contained may be successively entitled thereto with and subject to the incidents powers limitations and conditions as to impartibility and inalienability and otherwise hereinafter contained, that is to say—

(1) That the said Kumar Narpat Singh and his successors save in so far as is otherwise expressly stipulated by these presents shall have and may exercise full proprietary rights as zemindars in and over all the lands now comprised in the said Porahat estate as described in the schedule hereto (and expressly including the said Bandgaon estate) and in and over all minerals lying in and under the same, but so that the transfer of the said estate intended to be effected by these presents shall be subject and without prejudice to all existing engagements with raiyats and undertenure holders as well as with the holders of the villages of Hatia, Rajgaon and Nakdi, and as regards the said Bandgaon estate subject to the settlement thereof made by Government in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one under which a fixed rent of rupees six hundred and sixty-eight per annum is payable; provided always that nothing herein contained shall resuscitate any right to receive rents from the Thakurs of Anandapur or Kera or their successors, such rents having been remitted for ever by the British Government, or interfere in any way with the rights exercised or the privileges enjoyed by the Thakurs of Anandapur or Kera or their successors or confer any right to minerals in Anandapur, Kera, or in the village of Hatia in Pargana Chakradharpur during the existence of the rent-free tenures heritable by heirs male by which the said Anandapur, Kera and Hatia are now held. And it is hereby further declared that in the event of the extinction of heirs male in the families of the Thakurs of Anandapur or of Kera or of the holder of Hatia or of either of them, the reversionary right of succession to the rent-free tenures aforesaid shall vest in the zemindar of Porahat for the time being in accordance with the custom which prevails in such cases in Chota Nagpur.

(2) That the succession to the said estate shall be governed by the custom of lineal primogeniture, that is to say, that the estate shall descend as an impartible zemindary or estate to the lineal heirs male of the said Kumar Narpat Singh in succession the eldest male of the eldest branch being always preferred to the exclusion of nearer members of younger branches.

(3) That the said estate shall be for ever free from all demands on account of Government land revenue, but shall be subject to all general taxes and local rates now or hereafter to be imposed by law in respect of the estates of zemindars in the said Singhbhum District and to all claims of the Government of India or Government of Bengal in respect thereof other than claims for Government land revenue and in particular shall be subject to the payment of a perpetual charge or tax of rupees Two thousand and one hundred per annum for the maintenance of the police stations at Chakradharpur and Monarpur, any arrears of such last mentioned charge or tax of rupees Two thousand and one hundred per annum to be a public demand within the meaning of section 7 of the Public Demands Recovery Act I (B.C.) of 1895 and to be recoverable and realisable as such in accordance with the provision of that Act or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.

(4) That until the said Kumar Narpat Singh shall be put in possession thereof the said Porahat estate shall remain under the charge of the Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum and be managed by that officer as heretofore and shall be handed over to the said Kumar Narpat Singh after the execution of this deed together with any surplus proceeds which may stand to his credit at the time after deducting all charges and demands and after taking from the said Kumar Narpat Singh a release in full of all claims to accounts and all other rights claims and demands in respect of the management of the estate and the application of the income since the first day of April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

(5) That the said Kumar Narpat Singh shall not nor shall any of his successors sell, mortgage, demise or alienate the said estate or any portions thereof otherwise than by lease or demise for a term not exceeding twenty-one years, and under a rent without bonus or salamee.

(6) That no building of any kind shall be erected within a distance of half a mile of any of the railway stations now in existence within the limits of the said Porahat estate except with the written consent of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Public Works Department.

(7) That the whole of the forests now in charge of the Forest Department shall continue to be managed by that Department on behalf of the said Kumar Narpat Singh and his successors and without any right of interference by him or them and that the accounts of such management shall be balanced every five years and the net profits shown thereby after deducting all expenses (including pensions and contributions and after making good the balance of rupees twenty-nine thousand one hundred and nineteen now at debit of the working account but without interest) shall as soon as possible after the taking of every such quinquennial account be paid over by the Forest Department to the said Kumar Narpat Singh or other the zemindar for the time being of the said Porahat estate.

(8) That the Indenture entered into between the Secretary of State in Council and Messieurs Jardine Skinner and Company executed on the twenty-first September one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five conferring a mining lease on the part of Government to Messieurs Jardine Skinner and Company within certain specified lands in the estate of Porahat shall remain in force and that the Government shall act in respect of this lease on behalf of the said Kumar Narpat Singh and his successors and without any right of interference by him or them and that the accounts of all rents and royalties and receipts thereunder shall be balanced every five years, and that the net profits shown thereby after deducting all expenses incurred by Government in respect of the lease shall as soon as possible after the taking of every such quinquennial account be paid over by the Deputy Commissioner of Singhbhum on behalf of Government to the said Kumar Narpat Singh or other the zemindar for the time being of the said Porahat estate.

(9) That in case the said Kumar Narpat Singh or any of his lineal male heirs owners for the time being of the said Porahat estate shall at any time in contravention of the terms of these presents sell, mortgage, demise or alienate (otherwise than by such lease or demise as aforesaid) the whole or any portion or portions of the said estate or attempt or effect so to do or shall do or suffer any act deed matter or thing whereby the said estate or any part thereof would through the act or default of such owner for the time being of the said estate or by operation or process of law or otherwise if the said estate belonged absolutely to him and was not subject to this present condition become vested in or belong to some other person or persons. Then and in such case the limitation and appointment of the said estate to the said Kumar Narpat Singh and his lineal heirs male in succession shall ipso facto cease and determine and the said estate shall thereupon revert to and be held and enjoyed by the said Secretary of State for India in Council and his successors for his and their own benefit.

CONVENTION regarding the lease of the FRENCH LOGE at BALASORE,—1917.

Text of a Convention concluded for three years beginning on the 1st of April 1917 between Havilland Le Mesurier, Commissioner of Orissa, representing the Government of India, the said Mr. Havilland Le Mesurier having special authority for the purpose from His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India, on the one part, and Monsieur Charles Vincent, Administrator of Chandernagore representing His Excellency Monsieur Alfred Martineau, Governor of the French Establishments in India and acting in the name of the French Government, on the other part. The following agreement has been concluded :—

ARTICLE 1.

The Government of Bihar and Orissa on behalf of the Government of India take a farming lease of the French loge of Balasore and the land at Baincha situated on the opposite bank of the river Bara Balong for a period of three years commencing from the 1st April 1917 and ending on the 31st March 1920 subject to the payment of a sum of Rs. 4,000 per annum.

ARTICLE 2.

The Government of Bihar and Orissa may, if they so desire, sublet its lease to a farmer (or lessee), but in this case the latter must be a person approved by the Administrator of Chandernagore.

ARTICLE 3.

In case the Government of Bihar and Orissa sublet the lease, they will still remain responsible for the due payment of the stipulated rent which will in every case be paid by them to the French Government and lodged in the hands of the Administrator of Chandernagore by remittance transfer receipts on the Hoogly Treasury.

ARTICLE 4.

The lease includes the right to levy upon the lands appertaining to the French loge (1) all direct taxes levied in the surrounding British territory, (2) all the indirect dues levied in the same territory.

ARTICLE 5.

The stipulated rent shall be paid half-yearly on the 1st October and 1st April of each year.

ARTICLE 6.*

The Government of Bihar and Orissa will pay to the present farmer, whose lease would otherwise not expire until the 28th of February 1919, a sum of Rs. 900, being compensation for the cancelling of his contract and for the value of works executed and buildings erected by him upon the land belonging to the French loge, that is to say, in the loge of Balasore—

	Rs.
A mud hut with thatched roof serving as a distillery	150
For the clearing of a tank	50
On the land of Baincha—
A mud hut with a thatched roof serving as a distillery	50
TOTAL	250

* NOTE.—Article 6 has been omitted from the subsequent renewals of this Convention.

ARTICLE 7.

In order to assure the full exercise of the rights of jurisdiction of the French Government over the loge and the lands appertaining to it, two officers of the British Police, previously approved by the French authorities, will proceed in the following manner :—

They will set forth in their reports (procès verbaux) all events of the nature of criminal offences which may come to their knowledge. In the case of offences known to the French law as contraventions or délits the Procurator of the French Republic at Chandernagore, to whom shall be addressed the reports in question, will decide in what cases and on what charges the accused persons shall be prosecuted and will bring them before the appropriate French tribunals. In the case of offences known to the French law as crimes, the above mentioned British Police officers shall arrest the criminals and deliver them to the Procurator of the French Republic at Chandernagore, together with all the relevant documents, the depositions and the evidence collected. The prosecution will thereafter be carried out conformably to the French law. If persons accused of a crime committed in British territory should take refuge in French territory, the British Police may arrest them and detain them, provided that an immediate application is made for their extradition to the Administrator of Chandernagore, to which shall be attached all the documents necessary for a thorough comprehension of the facts of the case. To enable the British Police to collaborate effectually with the French authorities the Collector and Magistrate of Balasore shall be given a list of the various offences known as “contraventions”, of which he is empowered to take notice, and of the offences known as “délits” or “crimes” which are dealt with by the French laws. In the case of civil proceedings, the British authorities may be directed to undertake such local enquiries as may be necessary for the information of the French tribunals concerned.

ARTICLE 8.

The rights of sovereignty and of property in the lands appertaining to the domain of the State in the loge of Balasore and of the lands appertaining to it are expressly reserved.

ARTICLE 9.

The present convention shall without requiring any other ratification be considered to be definitely concluded for a period of three years to be calculated from 1st April 1917, as soon as it shall have been signed by the said Havilland Le Mesurier, Commissioner of Orissa, and Monsieur Charles Vincent, Administrator of Chandernagore, specially delegated for this purpose by their respective Governments.

I.—NAGPUR.

THE early history of the Bhonsla family of Nagpur is somewhat obscure, but its importance in Indian history may be said to date from Raghuji who, as a leader of predatory expeditions, had, at the time of his death in 1755, established Mahratta supremacy over the country between the Narbada and the Godavari, from the Ajanta hills eastward to the sea, and had made himself ruler of the State of Berar. Raghuji left four sons, Janoji, Sabaji, Mudhoji and Bimbaji, and was succeeded by Janoji, the eldest, who died in 1772, after having, with the concurrence of the Peshwa, adopted his nephew Raghuji, son of Mudhoji, as his heir. On Janoji's death, however, the government was seized by Sabaji, who held it through much opposition till 1775, when he was slain in battle by his brother and was succeeded by Raghuji, then a minor, under the regency of his father Mudhoji.

Advances had been made to Janoji by the Bengal Government with a view to obtaining possession of Cuttack, but without success. An unsuccessful attempt was also made by Warren Hastings to rent a tract of country on the Cuttack coast from Mudhoji. In 1779 Mudhoji sent a force to invade Bengal, in pursuance of a confederacy between the Mahrattas, the Nizam and Haidar Ali, for the overthrow of the British power. Mudhoji was at heart friendly to the British Government and, being disgusted at the refusal of the Peshwa to admit his claims to Garha Mandla, he undertook this expedition with much reluctance. The British Government, who had despatched a force to the Carnatic by the coast route, under Colonel Pearse, to co-operate with the Madras army against Haidar Ali, found therefore little difficulty in concluding a Treaty (No. I) on the 6th April 1781, by which the army of Mudhoji was bought off from its invasion of Orissa, and a promise was obtained from him of assistance against Haidar Ali.

On the death of Mudhoji in 1788 the control of the State was assumed by Raghuji, who was then twenty-eight years of age. When the triple alliance for the overthrow of Tipu Sultan was formed between the British Government, the Nizam and the Peshwa, negotiations were opened with a view to including Raghuji in the confederacy, but Seringapatam fell before they were brought to a close. Raghuji was too jealous of the increased ascendancy acquired by the British Government on the fall of Tipu to be induced to enter into an alliance to check the growing power of Scindia. He even exerted his influence, although without success, to put a stop to the contest between Scindia and Holkar with a view to a union against the English; and after the Treaty of Bassein he joined Scindia in the war which followed to defeat the objects of that treaty. The power of Scindia and Raghuji in the Deccan was broken in the battles of Assaye and Argaum. The ruin of Raghuji was completed by the fall of Gawilgarh, and on the 17th December 1803 he signed the Treaty of Deogaon (No. II), which deprived him of the province of Cuttack and of the country to the west of the Wardha and south of the Narnala and Gawilgarh hills. This treaty was confirmed by the Treaty of 1804 with the Peshwa: its effect was to reduce the revenues of the Berar State—thereafter designated the State of Nagpur—from about one crore to sixty lakhs of rupees.

In 1806 the territory of Sambalpur and Patna was restored (No. III) to Raghuji as an act of grace, in consideration of the great loss to which he had been subjected by the transfer to the British Government of the tribute and allegiance of his feudatory Chiefs in Orissa; but he steadily rejected repeated advances towards closer relations and resisted all efforts made to induce him to subsidise a British force.

Raghuji died in 1816, and was succeeded by his only son, Parsoji, who was incapacitated for government, and a regency was formed under his cousin Mudhoji Bhonsla, better known as Appa Sahib. Appa Sahib, however, was by no means secure in power and, to strengthen himself he negotiated a Treaty (No. IV) with the British Government in May 1816. In this he agreed to subsidise a British force, costing Rs. 7,50,000 a year, and to maintain a force of not less than 3,000 cavalry and 2,000 infantry, with the necessary equipment of guns and warlike stores.

In 1817 Parsoji died suddenly, having, as was afterwards discovered, been murdered by Appa Sahib, who succeeded him. Soon after his accession, Appa Sahib made common cause with the Peshwa, who was then inciting all the Mahrattas to unite against the English. He attacked the Residency in great force, but was repulsed, and was compelled on the 6th January 1818 to sign a provisional Agreement (No. V), ceding lands in lieu of the subsidy and contingent, and engaging that the government of the country should be conducted according to the advice of the Resident. Appa Sahib, however, persevered in his intrigues against the British Government, and was deposed and arrested, but effected his escape and found refuge among the Gonds. After an unsuccessful attempt to regain his hold of Nagpur he fled to Northern India in 1819: and died at Jodhpur in Rajputana in 1840.

On the deposition of Appa Sahib, a son of Raghuji's daughter was placed in power on the 26th June 1818, and assumed the name of Raghuji in honour of his grandfather. During his minority the State was under the management of the Resident, acting in the name of the Maharaja. In 1826, when Raghuji attained his majority and was entrusted with the administration, a Treaty (No. VI) was made with him, by which he ceded territories to cover the cost of the subsidiary force, and assigned lands as a guarantee for the payment of the troops which he undertook to maintain and which were thenceforth to be under the control of the British Government. He also bound himself to maintain good government under the supervision of the Resident. The provisions of this treaty, however, were acknowledged to press heavily on the State's resources and to be inconsistent with the declared wish and intention of the British Government to restore the Bhonsla family to the rank and position of one of the substantive powers of India. In 1829, therefore, the Treaty was modified by a Revised Engagement (No. VII); the assigned districts were restored to Nagpur and a subsidy of eight lakhs a year was taken instead; the auxiliary force was disbanded; and the Maharaja was required to keep up a force of his own sufficient to preserve the internal tranquillity of the country, being at the same time released to some extent from his complete subjection to the Resident in the administration of affairs. In 1830, at the request of the Maharaja, article 6 of the Treaty of 1826, relating to an exchange of lands, was cancelled.

Raghuji retained the administration till his death on the 11th December 1853. He died without a son, natural or adopted, and without leaving any heir: and the Nagpur State was then annexed to British India. It had been forfeited in 1818 through the treachery and hostility of Appa Sahib, and had been declared to belong by right of conquest to the British Government, who had conferred it as a free gift on Raghuji under the Treaty of 1826.

In 1855 Raghuji's surviving widows adopted as their son and heir Janoji Bhonsla, a collateral relation of Raghuji in the female line. In consideration of the loyalty of the family during the mutiny of 1857, the title of Raja Bahadur of Deor and the lands of Deor, in the district of Satara, were conferred in perpetuity on Janoji and his heirs, whether by blood or by adoption.

Janoji died on the 5th December 1881, leaving three widows, two minor sons (Raghoji Rao and Lachhman Rao) and three daughters, to whom stipends, aggregating Rs. 90,000 per annum, were granted. The stipend enjoyed by Janoji at the time of his death was Rs. 1,20,000 per annum. On his death the Estate of the family was taken under the Court of Wards, until the heir Raghoji Rao attained his majority on the 8th November 1893. On Raghoji Rao's application, the Court of Wards in 1895 again assumed management of the Estate pending the settlement of questions relating to the partition of the Estate between him and his brother Lachhman Rao. In 1899 the partition was effected, and in the same year Lachhman Rao attained his majority. Both shares of the Estate were accordingly released from the management of the Court of Wards: but in 1925, as the estate of Raja Bahadur Raghoji Rao was considerably encumbered, he and his two sons, Fâteh Singh Rao and Jai Singh Rao, applied for, and Government sanctioned, the assumption by the Court of Wards of the superintendence of the property situated in the Central Provinces and the Bombay Presidency. The title of Raja was conferred as a personal distinction on Lachhman Rao Bhonsla on the 1st January 1925.

In November 1861 Nagpur and its dependencies and the Saugor and Narbada territories were formed into a separate administration under a Chief Commissioner, and to these were added in April 1862 Sambalpur, Patna, and their dependencies, which had till then been under the control of the Government of Bengal. The British portion of Nimar was added in May 1864, by transfer from the Central India Agency to the Central Provinces. The tracts forming this district had come under British administration at different times. Those lying on the banks of the Narbada became British territory in 1818, and in 1823 the greater part of Scindia's possessions in Nimar came under British management. In 1860 certain territorial exchanges were effected with Scindia, by which the sovereignty of the British Government in Scindia's Nimar was confirmed, and Burhanpur and Zainabad were also ceded by him (see Gwalior, Vol. V). Some parts of Nimar also belonged to Holkar, while outlying portions of the British districts were surrounded by his territory. As this gave rise to inconvenience, it was resolved to exchange the detached districts, held by the British Government in the western portion of Nimar, for Holkar's possessions in the Deccan. The exchange was finally completed in 1867. The parganas of Barwai, Dhargaon, and Mandlesar, north of the Narbada, and of Kasrawad, including the lapsed jagir of Chhota Kasrawad, south of that river, of an aggregate annual value of Rs. 45,500, were accordingly made over to Holkar. The transfer of Barwai was accompanied by the condition that Holkar should abolish his transit duties on the line between Indore and the Great Indian Peninsula Railway in Nimar (see Indore, Vol. IV). In 1865 Sanads were issued to certain land-holders of the Nimar district, conferring on them grants of lands or money in compensation for the loss of the emoluments attached to certain hereditary offices, the duties of which they formerly discharged. Forms of these sanads are given as Nos. VIII and IX.

The Central Provinces became a Governor's Province in December 1920.

II.—CHIEFSHIPS AND ZAMINDARIS OF THE CENTRAL PROVINCES.

In 1863 a report was submitted to the Government of India by the Chief Commissioner, Sir Richard Temple, on the tenures and status of the Chiefships and Zamindaris* in the Central Provinces. It dealt with 115 estates of very varying extent and revenue. The Waingānga zamindaris had been granted or confirmed by the Mahrattas to Gond or Rajput or other families, as rewards for service, or to ensure their assistance in maintaining order in what was then a very unsettled country. The zamindars were bound to furnish a certain number of armed men to assist the government in police duties, and paid a rent always liable to enhancement. No written engagements under the Treaty of 1829 (No. VII) were formed with them by the British Government.

The Chhattisgarh zamindaris were held in ancient times by the Chhattisgarh Rajas of the Haihaibansi dynasty of Ratanpur on a tenure of military service, which the Mahrattas changed to a tribute varying in amount with the power of the government to exact it.

The Chanda tenures were of a similar description to those of the Wainganga group and subject as a rule to the payment of tribute.

The Chhindwara jagirdars had always been in a kind of feudal subjection, first to the Gond Rajas, and subsequently to the Mahrattas; but the natural strength of their country preserved them from entire subjection to the latter, whose policy, therefore, it was to support one of the most powerful of them in order that he might keep the others in check.

In 1819 the status of these dependent Chieftains was enquired into by the Nagpur Government through the British officers who were then managing the country in the name of the Maharaja. In February 1820 Sanads (No. XIV) were conferred on the Zamindars of Chhindwara (or Deogarh), and later in the same year engagements (No. XVII) were concluded with the Chanda Zamindars. An Engagement (No. X) had been concluded in March 1819 with the Chhattisgarh Zamindar of Bastar; but in 1821 it was decided to restrict the powers of the Chhattisgarh Zamindars by new Engagements (No. XVIII) binding them not to inflict capital punishment, and generally to be loyal and obedient. They renounced in these engagements the right which some of them had usurped of levying transit duties, and some of them were also required to furnish a specified number of men when called upon by the Nagpur Government to do so; but, as it was an object to treat them liberally, their tributes were not as a rule enhanced. The engagements concluded with the Chhattisgarh, Chanda and Chhindwara Zamindars were guaranteed by Article 2 of the Revised Engagement of 1829 (No. VII).

In 1855, after the lapse of the Nagpur State to the British Government, enquiries into these tenures were made, and in some cases the old sanads were informally renewed; but the only material change effected in the position of the zamindars was the gradual restriction of their judicial powers.

The Saugor and Narbada Chiefs, though their treatment by the Mahrattas had been in some respects different from that of the Nagpur zamindars, held eventually much the same position as the latter.

The Sambalpur and Patna, or Garhjats, Chiefs were at first independent, but were subsequently held in subordination to the Maharaja of Patna, the most powerful of their number. In later times he was compelled to share this supremacy with the Maharaja of Sambalpur. The Chieftainships which formerly owed allegiance to Sambalpur and Patna were, including those two, eighteen in number, and the country was known as the Athara (18) Garh, just as that to the west was and still is called the Chhattis (36) Garh: hence it has been conjectured that the Haihaibansi dynasty, whose capital was Chhattisgarh, ruled also over the Sambalpur and Patna Garhjats.

In 1755 these territories fell under the dominion of the Mahrattas, but were ceded to the British Government by the Treaty of 1803 with Raghujee Bhonsla (No. II). With the exception of Raigarh, the Chief of which State was, as a reward for his fidelity and services, declared to be under the special protection of the British Government, all these States were restored to the Mahrattas in 1806. But in 1818, on the deposition of Appa Sahib, they reverted to the British Government, and were finally ceded by the Treaty of 1826 (No. VI). Advantage was taken of the circumstances in which Sambalpur, Patna, and their dependencies were found on their reversion, to annul the dependency of the other zamindars on these two Chiefs: and in 1821 separate sanads were granted by Government to each zamindar, and separate engagements taken.

The Government from the first declined to issue any definite rules for the guidance of the Chiefs: the general line of policy to be adopted was alone indicated. The ascertained and generally admitted rights of the Chief and the various classes of his subjects, and all customs of the country that were not incompatible with the usages of civilised nations, were to be maintained. In regard to tribute it was determined to adopt generally a lower scale than that which had been levied under the Mahratta Government. Except with Raigarh, with which a final Settlement (No. XI) had been made in 1819, the settlements were all made for a limited period. They were renewed in 1827 in a form similar to No. XIX; but, though the engagements entered into in that year were nominally for five years only, they were not renewed at the expiration of that period. Separate engagements, in a form similar to No. XXIII, were at the same time taken from each Chief, binding him to use rightly the judicial and police powers entrusted to him. In practice the powers of the Chiefs in criminal cases were limited to the infliction of seven years' imprisonment.

Of the original Athara (18) Garh, only six* now remain attached to the Central Provinces. Of the Sambalpur group, Sambalpur proper escheated to Government in 1849, and Chandarpur is no longer managed by a Chief. In 1837 Baud and Athmallik were transferred from the South Western Frontier Agency to the control of the Superintendent of the Tributary Mahals of Orissa. In 1905, on the first partition of Bengal, they were transferred to the political control of the Government of Bengal: and in 1912, on the creation of the Government of Bihar and Orissa, they were transferred to the control of that Government. In 1833 the zamindar of Bargarh was convicted of rebellion, and his estate was conferred on Deonath Singh, Raja of Raigarh, who was thenceforth styled Chief of Raigarh cum Bargarh. On the formation of the Central Provinces Administration the States of Gangpur and Bonai, of the Sambalpur group, remained as before attached to the Chota Nagpur division of Bengal: in 1912 they were transferred to the political control of the Government of Bihar and Orissa. In 1905, on the first partition of Bengal, the five States of Bamra, Rairakhol, Sonpur, Patna and Kalahandi (or Karond), with the Borasambar zamindari, were transferred to Bengal: and in 1912 to Bihar and Orissa.

In 1862 disturbances occurred in the Sambalpur district, caused by the intrigues of Surendra Sah, a relative of the last Maharaja of Sambalpur. This man had successfully stirred up a rebellion in the Sambalpur district in 1857 and subsequent years, but surrendered on conditions, and was permitted to reside under surveillance at Sambalpur. Soon afterwards, with the idea of possessing himself of the chief power in Sambalpur, he organised marauding bands, which committed great atrocities in the Sambalpur district. For these offences he was detained as a political prisoner in the fort of Asirgarh, where he died in 1884.

Included in the territory ceded by Mudhoji Bhonsla (Appa Sahib) under the Provisional Agreement of January 1818 (No. V), was that comprising the States of Korea (including its then feudal dependency of Changbhakar), Jashpur and Surguja (including its then feudal dependency of Udaipur). These States, which originally formed part of the South Western Frontier Agency, were in 1854 transferred to the charge of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur, and in 1905 to that of the Chhattisgarh Division. In 1819 Kabuliats were executed by the Zamindars of Jashpur (No. XII) and Korea (No. XIII), while the Zamindar of Surguja received a Sanad (No. XV) and executed a Kabuliat (No. XVI) in 1820, and received a Patta (No. XIX) in 1825. In 1848, in recognition of the separation of Changbhakar from Korea, separate Kabuliats (No. XX) were taken from the two Zamindars. In December 1860 Udaipur was erected into a separate State, and its Ruler received a Sanad (No. XXI) and entered into two Agreements (Nos. XXII and XXIII).

III.—THE FEUDATORY STATES.

In December 1864 the Government of India issued instructions for the classification of the Chiefs and Zamindars of the Central Provinces into two divisions, one comprising Chiefs of the rank of feudatories, the other those whose position was merely that of British subjects. In April 1865 sanction was conveyed to the classification of fourteen States as Feudatories. Four of these (Bamra, Kalahandi or Karond, Patna and Sonpur) together with Rairakhol, which had received the same classification in 1866, were transferred to Bengal in 1905. Of the remaining ten Feudatory States that are now under the administration of the Central Provinces*, Bastar and Makrai had received from Lord Canning, in March 1862, Sanads (No. XXIV) guaranteeing their Chiefs the right of adoption: and in January 1866 the other eight received Sanads dated the 20th May 1865, in the same form (No. XXV), from Sir John Lawrence. At or about the same time an Ikrarnama, or Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI) was taken from each Chief, though it was not until the 19th December 1870 that the Raja of Bastar was persuaded to execute his bond, as he objected to the conditions about forest conservancy and tribute. Meanwhile in 1866-67 Captain Cumberlege was deputed to settle the tributes of the Garhjat Chiefs, and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces appears to have proposed the grant of Sanads to Raigarh and Sarangarh, worded in the main like the Acknowledgments of Fealty. Accordingly, Sanads (No. XXVII) were granted by the Chief Commissioner to Raigarh and Sarangarh in September 1867, the amount of the tribute being revised in both cases, although the Chiefs of these States had both signed the Acknowledgment of Fealty in January 1866.

A periodical revision of the tribute (takoli) payable by these Feudatory Chiefs is expressly provided for in their ikrarnamas and sanads. Accordingly the tributes of all ten States, except Kanker (which was for special reasons exempted from the payment of tribute) and Makrai (which has never paid any tribute), were revised for a period of 20 years from 1867. During this period the opening out and general progress of the country led to a remarkable increase in the revenue of the Feudatory States: and in 1888 the Government of India enhanced their tributes, except those of Kanker, Makrai and Bastar. The Bastar tribute was enhanced in 1889. These tributes were again revised in 1908 for a period of 30 years.

Subject to the control of the Governor in Council and the Political Agent, the Chiefs exercise full civil and revenue powers in their States; in criminal cases sentences of capital punishment (and in the case of those Feudatories, except Raigarh and Sarangarh, from whom an Acknowledgment of Fealty in form No. XXVI has been taken, sentences of imprisonment exceeding seven years) cannot be carried into effect until confirmed by a British Officer. Under the executive orders of the Central Provinces Government, all sentences of death are submitted, through the Political Agent, to the Governor in Council for confirmation. The Ruling Chiefs and their subjects are not amenable to British laws for acts done or property possessed in their States.

Until 1882 the administration of all these Chiefs was supervised by the Commissioners of the Divisions and the Deputy Commissioners of the Districts to which the several States were attached. In that year, however, disturbances having broken out in Karond (Kalahandi)—one of the States then in the Chhattisgarh Division—it was placed under the management of a Political Agent. Several other States in this Division had at the same time to be taken under direct management, and it was found impossible for Deputy Commissioners to supervise the work in them efficiently in addition to their ordinary duties. Gradually all the States, with the exception of Makrai, were placed under the Political Agent with headquarters at Raipur, subject to the general control of the Commissioner of the Chhattisgarh Division. In 1919 the Political Agent, now known as the Political Agent, Central Provinces Feudatory States, was placed in immediate subordination to the Governor in Council, Makrai at the same time being added to his charge. The Political Agent exercises the powers of a Political Agent under Chapter III of the Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903) for the Feudatory States of which he holds charge.

The five States ceded by the Provisional Agreement of January 1818 (No. V)—Changbhakar, Jashpur, Korea, Surguja and Udaipur—were, as already stated, under the charge of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur from 1854 to 1905. In 1863 the Government of Bengal issued certain rules for the guidance of the Chiefs of the Tributary Mahals of Chota Nagpur in the administration of justice in their respective jurisdictions. By these rules the judicial powers of these Chiefs were limited to sentences of imprisonment up to two years or fines not exceeding Rs. 50; or, subject to confirmation by the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur, to sentences of imprisonment up to five years and fines not exceeding Rs. 200. They had no powers of whipping, and all orders passed by them were subject to revision by the Commissioner. The rules also dealt with the management of police, prisons, etc., in their States.

In 1875 and 1876 Kabuliats (Nos. XXVIII to XXXI and XXXIII), practically identical in form, were executed by the Chiefs of these five States: and Sanads (Nos. XXXII and XXXIV to XXXVII), also practically identical in form, were issued to them by the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur. By these the previously existing settlements were renewed for a period of twenty years from April 1875.

In 1891 the Secretary of State decided that these five States do not form part of British India, and revised Sanads (No. XXXVIII) were granted to them by the Governor-General in 1899, formally recognizing them as Feudatory States, defining their relations with the British Government, and fixing their tributes for a period of twenty years. These Sanads were all identical in form except in the matter of mineral rights: which, in Korea and Changbhakar, were vested in the British Government, whereas in Jashpur, Surguja and Udaipur they were vested in the Chiefs.

When in 1905, on the first partition of Bengal, these five States were transferred to the Central Provinces, fresh Sanads (Nos. XXXIX to XLIII), in the same form (with the necessary textual alterations) as those of 1899, and with the same differences in the matter of mineral rights, were granted by the Governor-General. These Sanads fixed the tribute for fourteen years—the unexpired portion of the twenty years for which it had been fixed by the Sanads of 1899—at the previous figure. In 1921 the tributes were revised for a period of seventeen years.

In 1925 the Secretary of State decided that all royalties accruing from minerals in the States of Korea and Changbhakar should in future be shared in equal proportions by the States and the British Government, and that this arrangement should be given effect to by an executive arrangement outside the scope of the Sanads granted to those States. At the request of the Ruling Chief of Korea the Secretary of State again considered the matter in 1927, and sanctioned the restoration of mineral rights to the Ruling Chiefs of Korea and Changbhakar. This concession was subject to the condition that the laws and regulations, governing the employment of labour in mines in adjoining British districts, should be applied and enforced in the States. In July 1928 revised Sanads (Nos. XLIV and XLV) were accordingly granted to these two Chiefs.

The powers exercised by British Courts in respect of criminal cases arising in these five States, and the law and procedure by which such courts are to be guided, are regulated by Notification No. 1069-I. B., dated the 3rd April 1919, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department. All sentences of imprisonment for more than 7 years and of transportation for life have to be confirmed by the Political Agent, while sentences of death have to be confirmed by the Governor in Council.

In 1921 the Central Provinces States were constituted into a single group and allowed to nominate to the Chamber of Princes, two Representative Members elected from Chiefs ruling their own States.

(1) BASTAR.

The central part of the State of Bastar appears to have formed a Kingdom known as the Chakrakot Kingdom which subsequently became part of the Warangal Kingdom of the Kakatiya dynasty. The Bastar Raj family are Somvanshi Kshatris and claim descent from Annam Deo, brother of Pratap Rudra, who was the most brilliant of the Kakatiya dynasty and lost his life and kingdom in a battle with the Muhammadans early in the fifteenth century. Annam Deo left Warangal and established himself at the village of Bastar. Dalpat Deo, a representative of the junior branch of the family to whom the gaddi had passed, removed his capital to Jagdalpur, after a raid by Nilu Pandit of the Nagpur army. The State originally included the Kotpad pargana of Jaipur in the Madras Presidency and the Sihawa pargana of the Raipur district. On the death of Dalpat Deo there were dissensions, and Ajmer Singh secured the gaddi. In 1777, however, he was driven out by his brother Daryao Deo, who had taken refuge with the neighbouring Chief of Jaipur, in the Northern Circars, to whom, in return for assistance in recovering his territories, he ceded on certain conditions the pargana of Kotpad. In 1782 hostilities broke out between the two States in consequence of the non-fulfilment by Jaipur of the conditions of the cession. The Bastar Chief died before he could recover the whole pargana and, as Bastar at this time failed in its payment of tribute to Nagpur, that Government took possession of the pargana and subsequently granted it to Jaipur, subject to the obligation of furnishing military aid against Bastar when required.

The constant raids and reprisals between the two States of Bastar and Jaipur kept the country for many years in a state of anarchy. In an Agreement (No. X), taken in 1819 by the Nagpur Government from Mahipal Deo, the Chief of Bastar, on the occasion of a revision of the settlement of the Chhattisgarh district, the latter bound himself to pay an annual tribute of 5,000 Nagpur Rupees, subject to a remission of Rs. 1,000 so long as the Kotpad pargana should remain separated from his territories. In 1830 Mahipal Deo's successor, Bhopal Deo, assigned the whole of the Sihawa pargana, with the exception of five villages, to the Nagpur State, in lieu of tribute.

Bhopal Deo died in 1853 and was succeeded by Bhairam Deo.

Claims to the restoration of Kotpad were more than once put forward by Bastar, but in 1863 it was finally decided that the British Government, which had succeeded to the rights of the Nagpur State, should receive Rs. 3,000 per annum from the Jaipur Chief, in return for which he was to retain Kotpad and be exempt from the condition of military service attached to the original grant. Of this sum Rs. 2,000 were formerly paid to the Raja of Bastar in money, and the remainder in the form of a continued remission of tribute, which then stood at Rs. 3,056* per annum. A new arrangement was sanctioned in March 1889, by which the entire sum of Rs. 3,000 payable by Jaipur was to be credited in the accounts of the Madras Presidency, Rs. 1,000 on account of the Kotpad pargana and the balance as part payment of the Bastar tribute, which was reduced, for Bhairam Deo's lifetime, to Rs. 2,056, the remaining Rs. 56 being recovered directly from the Bastar Chief.

* i.e., 4,000 Nagpur Rupees, the amount of the tribute fixed in 1819 after deducting the remission.

The Raja of Bastar received a Sanad of Adoption in March 1862 (No. XXIV), and in December 1870 he executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (see No. XXVI).

In March 1876 a disturbance broke out at Jagdalpur, owing to certain acts of oppression and injustice committed by the Diwan, who was eventually removed. In 1881 Lal Kalindar Singh, a cousin of the Raja, became Diwan; but soon after resigned, owing to a difference of opinion with the Rani. On a visit to Bastar in 1883 the Commissioner found that utter confusion and chaos prevailed; and the Chief Commissioner decided that Kalindar Singh should resume his duties as Diwan and be assisted by a selected officer of Government. These arrangements were sanctioned by the Government of India, but eventually broke down, owing to the incompetence as Diwan of Lal Kalindar Singh: and in 1886 an Extra Assistant Commissioner, selected by the Chief Commissioner, was appointed by the Raja as his Diwan to administer the State.

Bhairam Deo died in 1891, and was succeeded by his son, Rudra Pratap Deo, a child six years old. The State continued to be managed by an Extra Assistant Commissioner until 1895, when he was replaced by a British officer as Administrator. In 1903 an Extra Assistant Commissioner was again appointed as Superintendent of the State, and held office till January 1908, when Rudra Pratap Deo was installed as a Feudatory Chief, certain restrictions being placed on his authority. Early in 1910 there was a rising in the State of some of the aboriginal tribes, mainly owing to palace intrigues, but it was promptly quelled by the Political Agent with the assistance of armed police and a military detachment: and some of the ringleaders, including Lal Kalindar Singh, were banished.

Rudra Pratap Deo died in 1921 without male issue: and his only daughter, Profulla Kumari Devi, born in 1910, was recognised as his successor and installed on the 23rd November 1922. Rani Profulla Kumari Devi was married in January 1927 to Profulla Chandra Bhanja Deo of Mayurbhanj. During her minority the State is under Government management.

It had been decided in 1888 to postpone any revision of the tribute paid by Bastar till the death of Bhairam Deo. After his death the tribute was fixed, in 1892, at Rs. 17,200 a year, Rs. 15,200 of which was paid by the Bastar Chief direct, the balance of Rs. 2,000 being realised annually from the Jaipur State on account of the Kotpad pargana, and credited in the Madras accounts. The tribute was revised in 1908, when the direct payment was fixed at Rs. 20,000. In 1929 this was reduced to Rs. 18,000 with effect from the financial year 1930-31.

The area of Bastar is 13,062 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 464,407; revenue Rs. 8,08,003; and tribute Rs. 20,000. It possesses (1926) 146 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(2) CHANGBHAKAR.

The ruling family are Chauhan Kshatris, descended from a branch of the Korea ruling family. When the State first came under the authority of the British Government it was a feudal dependency of Korea, and was included in the agreement ratified with the Chief of Korea in December 1819 (No. XIII). In January 1848 a separate agreement was made with Bhaya Bahadur Jangjit Singh Deo, the Zamindar of Changbhakar (No. XX). In 1875 he executed a Kabuliat (No. XXXI) and in 1876 was granted a Sanad (No. XXXVII) renewing for 20 years the settlement of 1848. The Sanad of 1899 (No. XXXVIII), granted to Bhaya Mahabir Singh Deo, fixed his tribute at Rs. 387 for another 20 years. On the partition of Bengal a fresh Sanad (No. XXXIX) was given to him in 1905. The tribute was revised in 1921 for a period of 17 years.

The present Chief, Bhaya Mahabir Singh Deo, who was born on the 15th April 1879, succeeded his uncle, Bhaya Balbhadra Singh Deo, in September 1896. He was placed in full charge of his State in 1900, on the attainment of his majority.

The area of the State is 906 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 21,826; revenue Rs. 27,778; and tribute Rs. 150. It possesses (1926) 12 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(3) CHHUUKHADAN OR KONDKA.

This State was conferred on Mahant Rup Dass, the founder of the family, by Mudhoji Bhonsla in 1750. The raj originally descended from Guru (preceptor) to Chela (disciple), but the customs of marriage and descent from father to son were subsequently adopted. Tulsidass, the successor of Rup Dass, was recognised as Zamindar by the Bhonsla Raja about the year 1780. The State came to the British Government by right of succession, on the lapse of the Nagpur State in 1853.

In January 1866 the Zamindar of Chhuikhadan received a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI), fixing his tribute at Rs. 7,700. This amount was raised in 1888 to Rs. 15,000, but was reduced by the last revision of 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

Mahant Sham Kishor Das succeeded his father in December 1887 after having been for some years previously the virtual ruler of the State. About the same time certain gross acts of injustice on his part came to light, and an enquiry was instituted. The Zamindar was called upon to make amends to the persons injured, to abolish the nazarana system and guarantee his gaontias against unwarrantable eviction, and to appoint an approved Diwan to assist him in carrying out the necessary reforms in the administration of the State, the affairs of which were found to have been grossly mismanaged. The Diwan was appointed in 1892 and withdrawn in 1895.

Sham Kishor Das died in 1896, and in April 1897 the Government of India recognised as his successor his eldest son, Radha Ballabh Kishor Das, but ordered that the administration was to be carried on by a Diwan appointed by Government. Radha Ballabh Kishor Das was murdered in 1898, and was succeeded by his eldest son, Digbijai Jugal Kishor Das, during whose minority the State continued to be administered by a Diwan.

Digbijai Jugal Kishor Das died on the 30th September 1903 and was succeeded by his younger brother, Bhudhar Kishor Das, the present Chief, who was born in April 1891. During his minority the State was under Government management till 1915 when he was installed.

The area of Chhuikhadan is 154 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 26,122; revenue Rs. 1,13,170; and tribute Rs. 12,000. It possesses (1926) 12 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(4) JASHPUR.

The family trace their descent from a son of the Chief of Sonpur. The State was originally a feudatory of Surguja, but later became a tributary of the Bhonsla Raja of Nagpur, though continuing to pay tribute through Surguja, an arrangement that still persists.

In 1819 a Kabuliat (No. XII) was executed by the Zamindar, Ram Singh, for the payment of an annual tribute of Rs. 775. In 1875 Pratap Narayan Singh executed a Kabuliat (No. XXVIII) and was granted a Sanad (No. XXXII), renewing for 20 years the settlement of 1819. The Sanad granted to him in 1899 (No. XXXVIII), fixed the tribute at Rs. 1,250 for another 20 years, and declared it payable through Surguja. On the partition of Bengal a fresh Sanad (No. XLI) was granted in 1905. The tribute was revised in 1921 for a period of 17 years.

Pratap Narayan Singh Deo died in 1900 and was succeeded by his eldest son Bishan Prasad Singh Deo. In 1922 there were disturbances in the State: and in 1923, owing to maladministration, the State was taken under direct administration by Government and the Chief's powers were withdrawn.

Bishan Prasad Singh Deo died in January 1924 and was succeeded by his son Raja Deo Saran Singh Deo, the present Chief, born on the 19th November 1893. He was invested with full powers on the 7th May 1928.

The area of the State is 1,963 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 154,156; revenue Rs. 3,44,028; and tribute Rs. 2,000. It possesses (1926) 37 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(5) KANKER.

This State was held from the Mahrattas on the condition of furnishing 500 men for the service of the Government, free of expense, whenever required to do so. In 1809 the Chief was deprived of his State in consequence of his having rendered assistance to the Raja of Bastar against the Mahrattas; but the State was restored to him in 1818 under the authority of the British Resident at Nagpur, on payment of an annual tribute of Rs. 500. This was remitted in 1823 in consequence of the Nagpur Government having resumed the sayar duties formerly levied by him. The State came to the British Government by right of succession, on the lapse of the Nagpur State in 1853.

In January 1866 Narhar Deo received a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI).

In 1889 Narhar Deo's mind became unhinged by domestic troubles, and in 1890 a Diwan was appointed to administer the State. In 1892 the State was taken under Government management, but in 1894 it was restored to the Chief with the sanction of the Government of India, subject to the condition that he should consult the Political Agent in the preparation of his budget.

Narhar Deo died without issue in May 1903, and was succeeded by his nephew, Lal Komal Deo, who died on the 8th January 1925. He was succeeded by his adopted son Bhanupratap Deo, born in 1922. The Chief of Kanker bears the hereditary title of Maharajadhiraj.

In 1868 the question of levying tribute from Kanker had come up for consideration, but it was decided in that year that there was no reason for cancelling the exemption of 1823. The question again arose in 1888, when it was determined that the exemption should continue till the death of Narhar Deo. When Lal Komal Deo succeeded, the Government of India ruled that the exemption should continue in perpetuity.

The area of Kanker is 1,429 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 124,928; revenue Rs. 3,70,299; tribute nil. It possesses (1926) 40 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(6) KAWARDHA.

Kawardha is held by a branch of the Pandariya family and was conferred for military services by Raghuji Bhonsla. The State came to the British Government by right of succession, on the lapse of the Nagpur State in 1853. The elder branch of the Kawardha family holds the zamindari of Pandariya, to which the son by a senior wife succeeds to the exclusion of his elder brother by a junior wife. By this custom Ram Singh, a younger son, but by a senior wife, became Zamindar of Pandariya. On the extinction in 1863 of the younger or Kawardha branch of the family, Ram Singh's elder brother Bahadur Singh was recognised as Chief of Kawardha, but died shortly afterwards, when he was succeeded by Ram Singh's elder son by a junior wife, Rajpal Singh.

In 1866 the Zamindar of Kawardha was given a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV), and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI) fixing his tribute at Rs. 7,400, to which amount it had been raised by the Bhonslas from its original figure of (Nagpur) Rs. 2,000. In 1888 it was raised to Rs. 32,000, but was reduced by the last revision in 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

In consequence of Rajpal Singh's maladministration the Government of India, in 1884, sanctioned his removal from power for a period of five years, the arrangement being subject to reconsideration at the expiration of that time. In November 1889 the Government of India sanctioned the continuance of the same arrangement for a further period of five years, the State remaining under Government management.

Rajpal Singh died in 1891, and was succeeded by his nephew Jadunath Singh, a child five years old. The administration of the State was carried on by a Superintendent appointed by Government till 1908 when Jadunath Singh was installed. He died in 1920 and was succeeded by his elder son Lal Dharamraj Singh, the present Chief, born on the 18th August 1910. The State is being administered by Government during the minority of Thakur Dharamraj Singh.

The area of Kawardha is 708 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 61,783; revenue Rs. 2,25,415; and tribute Rs. 30,000. It has (1926) 25 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(7) KHAIRAGARH.

The State formerly comprised the three parganas of Kholwa, Khairagarh and Lachhna. Towards the end of the eighteenth century the Khamaria pargana was acquired from Kawardha in satisfaction of a debt and the Dongargarh pargana was granted by the Bhonsla Raja of Nagpur in recognition of military services rendered by the Khairagarh Chief about the year 1816. The State came to the British Government by right of succession, on the lapse of the Nagpur State in 1853. In January 1866 the Zamindar received a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI), fixing his tribute at Rs. 34,900. In 1888 it was raised to Rs. 70,000 and was again increased at the last revision in 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

In 1870, owing to his tyranny and oppression, the Ruling Chief, Lal Fateh Singh, was deprived of civil and criminal jurisdiction. In 1873 his indebtedness and continued maladministration compelled the Government of India to deprive him of the fiscal management also, and to assume the entire administration of the State. Lal Fateh Singh died in 1874, and the State remained under direct management till 1883, when it was restored to his eldest son, Lal Umrao Singh, alias Kanhaiya Lal.

Lal Umrao Singh executed three deeds ceding lands, with the jurisdiction over them, required for railway purposes: the first in 1883 (No. XLVI) for the Nagpur and Chhattisgarh State Railway, and the others in 1890 (Nos. XLVII and XLVIII) for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

Lal Umrao Singh died in 1890 and was succeeded by his son Kamal Narayan Singh.

In 1898 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. XLIX) on the Ruler of Khairagarh.

In 1908 Kamal Narayan Singh ceded (No. L) certain lands required for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

Kamal Narayan Singh died in 1908 and his son Lal Bahadur Singh, who succeeded him, died in 1918. The present Chief, Raja Birendra Bahadur Singh, who succeeded his father in 1918, was born on the 9th November 1914. During his minority the State is under Government management.

The area of the State is 931 square miles; population, according to the Census of 1921, 124,008; revenue Rs. 5,18,285; and tribute Rs. 80,000. It has (1926) 38 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(8) KOREA.

This family are Chauhan Kshatris claiming descent from Raja Dharamall Shah. In 1819 Raja Gharib Singh, the Zamindar of Korea, executed a Kabuliat (No. XIII) for the payment of an annual tribute of Rs. 400. In 1848 his successor Umol Singh executed a Kabuliat (No. XX) in which the tribute was retained at the same figure: and in 1876 Pran Singh Deo executed a Kabuliat (No. XXXIII) and was granted a Sanad (No. XXXIV) renewing for 20 years the settlement of 1848. The Sanad granted to Sheo Mangal Singh in 1899 (No. XXXVIII) fixed the tribute at Rs. 500 for another 20 years. On the partition of Bengal a fresh Sanad (No. XL) was granted in 1905. The tribute was revised in 1921 for a period of 17 years.

The direct line from Raja Dharamall Shah became extinct on the death of Pran Singh Deo in 1897, and the State was placed under the management of a leading Zamindar for nearly two years, pending an enquiry as to the legal successor. The succession of Sheo Mangal Singh, 1899. Sheo Mangal Singh died in 1909 and was succeeded by his son, a distant cousin, was finally recognised by the Government of India in Raja Ramanuj Pratap Singh Deo, the present Chief, who was born on the 8th December 1899. During his minority the State was placed under the direct management of Government. He was installed with full powers on the 5th January 1925.

The area of Korea is 1,631 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 79,189; revenue Rs. 2,74,798; and tribute Rs. 750. The State has (1926) 20 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(9) MAKRAI.

The State of Makrai struggled with varied fortune against the Peshwa, Scindia and the Pindaris, and was eventually taken under British protection in 1844.

In 1858 the Chief was placed under the control of the Commissioner, Jubbulpore Division, with the Deputy Commissioner, Hoshangabad, as Political Agent; he was instructed to correspond with the latter and attend to his wishes and advice. Up to 1863 the Chief received Rs. 2,243-14-5 annually as compensation for the loss of transit duties, the levy of which was entirely abolished from the 1st May 1847. This payment was commuted in 1863 for the lump sum of Rs. 23,000, and no payment is now made in lieu of transit duties.

In March 1862 the Chief of Makrai was given a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXIV), and in March 1866 he executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI).

Lachhu Shah alias Bharat Shah succeeded in 1866. Towards the end of 1890 the management of the State was taken out of his hands for a period of three years on account of gross mismanagement, and a Diwan was appointed to conduct the administration of the State under the superintendence of the Deputy Commissioner of Hoshangabad. In 1893 the management was restored to the Chief, subject to the condition that he should administer the State on the lines already in force, and should appoint a Diwan approved by the Chief Commissioner. The use by the Ruler of Makrai of the title of Raja Hathiya Rai was sanctioned on the 15th June 1899.

Lachhu Shah died in 1911 and was succeeded by his son, Chatrasal Shah, who died childless in 1918. Before his death he adopted his cousin Drigpal Shah, who was recognised as his successor.

In 1913 the Government of India declared Makrai to be permanently exempted from the payment of tribute.

In 1919 the control of the State was transferred from the Deputy Commissioner, Hoshangabad, to that of the Political Agent, Central Provinces Feudatory States.

Raja Drigpal Shah died on the 17th April 1929 and was succeeded by his nephew the present Raja Todar Shah Hathiya Rai, born on the 20th March 1908.

The area of Makrai is 155 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 12,803; revenue Rs. 1,29,081; and tribute nil. It possesses (1926) 30 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(10) NANDGAON.

The ruling family are Bairagis tracing their descent from Prahlad Das, a wealthy shawl merchant of Ratanpur. The State comprises four parganas, two of which, Pandadah and Nandgaon, were acquired in satisfaction of debts, and Mohgaon and Dongargaon were granted by the Bhonsla Raja of Nagpur. The State came to the British Government by right of succession, on the lapse of the Nagpur State in 1853. Celibacy being one of the observances of the sect to which the ruling family belongs, the succession was maintained by adoption, i.e., from guru to chela.

Manjiram, the fifth successor of Prahlad Das, although he had adopted Ghasi Das as his chela, subsequently married and was succeeded by his son Ghanaram, who died three years later and was succeeded by Ghasi Das.

Ghasi Das was recognised as a Feudatory Chief in 1865: and in January 1866 he was given a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI) fixing his tribute at Rs. 34,700. In 1888 it was raised to Rs. 70,000, and was again increased at the last revision in 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

Ghasi Das was himself married at a somewhat advanced time of life, but adopted the Hindu custom of marrying his son at an early age. On a representation made by him in 1879, the Government of India assured him that marriage would not be allowed to invalidate the succession.

In July 1883 Ghasi Das ceded certain lands required for the Nagpur and Chhattisgarh State Railway. He died in November 1883 and was succeeded by his son Balram Das, then seventeen years of age. During his minority the administration of the State was entrusted to his mother, aided by a Diwan. Balram Das came of age in 1887; but in 1888, owing to the lax supervision of the Diwan and the general remissness of the State police in dealing with crime, an Extra Assistant Commissioner was appointed as Diwan to conduct the administration of the State in the name of the Chief, till he should prove himself capable of managing its affairs.

Balram Das was invested with full powers in 1891, in which year he ceded, by a Deed (No. LI) superseding that executed by Ghasi Das in 1883, certain lands required for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. He died in 1897 and was succeeded by his adopted son Rajendra Das, who died on the 25th May 1912, when still a minor. He was succeeded by Sarveshwar Das, son of a chela of Balram Das. Mahant Sarveshwar Das, the present Chief, was born on the 30th March 1906, and during his minority the State continued to be administered by Government. He was invested with the powers of a Ruling Chief on the 10th February

The area of Nandgaon is 871 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 147,906; revenue Rs. 7,68,171; and tribute Rs. 80,000. It has (1926) 62 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(11) RAIGARH.

When the provinces of Sambalpur and Patna were retroceded to Raghaji Bhonsla by the Engagement of 1806 (No. III) it was expressly stipulated that the territory of Jujhar Singh, Raja of Raigarh, should continue to be incorporated in the British dominions: and in 1819 he executed a Kabuliat (No. XI) for the payment of an annual tribute of 30 gold mohurs.

In 1833 the Zamindari of Baigarh, which had been finally ceded to the British Government by the Treaty of 1826 (No. VI), lapsed on the conviction of its holder for rebellion, and was conferred on Deonath Singh of Raigarh, who, after rendering good service in 1857, died in 1862. He was succeeded by his son Ghansham Singh, who in January 1866 was given a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI) fixing his tribute at Rs. 340. In 1867 he received a fresh Sanad (No. XXVII) raising his tribute to Rs. 400. In 1888, it was raised to Rs. 4,000, and was again increased at the last revision in 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

In 1885, owing to Ghansham Singh's maladministration, the State was taken under Government management. He died in 1890, and his son, Lal Bhup Deo Singh, was recognised by Government as his successor. He was formally installed in January 1894, and the management of the State was handed over to him.

In September 1890 the Raja of Raigarh ceded (see No. LII) certain lands required for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

Bhup Deo Singh died in 1917 and was succeeded by his eldest son Natwar Singh; but, owing to his incapacity, no powers of administration were given to him and the State was taken under Government management. Natwar Singh died in February 1924 and was succeeded by his brother Lal Chakradhar Singh, the present Chief, born on the 19th August 1905. The State continued to be managed by Government till the 3rd February 1927, when Raja Chakradhar Singh was invested with the powers of a Ruling Chief.

The area of Raigarh is 1,486 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 241,634; revenue Rs. 5,93,791; and tribute Rs. 5,500. It possesses (1926) 31 armed police.

(12) SAKTI.

This State was at one time held as a tributary to the Maharaja of Sambalpur. It is one of the States finally ceded by the Treaty of 1826 (No. VI).

In January 1866 Ranjit Singh, the Raja of Sakti, was given a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI) fixing his tribute at Rs. 240. In 1888, it was raised to Rs. 1,300, and was again increased at the last revision in 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

In 1875 Ranjit Singh was deprived of all power for gross oppression and attempts to support false representations by means of forged documents, and the management of the State was assumed by Government.

In 1890 the State ceded (No. LII) certain lands required for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

In February 1892 the Government of India sanctioned the installation of Rup Narayan Singh, elder son of the ex-Raja, as Raja of Sakti, and his appointment of a Diwan through whom he was to rule the State. Owing to mismanagement by the Raja it was found necessary in 1902 to compel him to accept a Diwan selected by Government, by whom he was to be guided in all matters of administration.

In May 1905 the ex-Raja Ranjit Singh, who up to that time had been forbidden to reside in the Sakti State, was allowed to return on condition that he interfered in no way with the administration of the State.

Rup Narayan Singh died in July 1914, and was succeeded by his nephew, Liladhar Singh, the present Chief, born in 1892. Raja Liladhar Singh was installed in February 1915.

The area of Sakti is 138 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 41,554; revenue Rs. 1,09,354; and tribute Rs. 1,500. It has (1926) 8 armed police.

(13) SARANGARH.

Sarangarh was one of the Garhjat States subordinate to Sambalpur. It is one of those finally ceded by the Treaty of 1826 (No. VI).

In January 1866 Singram Singh, the Raja of Sarangarh, was given a Sanad of Adoption (No. XXV) and executed an Acknowledgment of Fealty (No. XXVI) fixing his tribute at Rs. 1,400. In 1867 he received a fresh Sanad (No. XXVII) reducing his tribute to Rs. 1,350. In 1888 it was raised to Rs. 3,500, and was again increased at the last revision in 1908, which fixed it for 30 years.

In 1878, the Raja, Bhawani Pratap Singh, being then a minor, gross mismanagement was found to exist in the State: and the management was assumed by Government. When the Raja came of age, he was found to be incapable of managing the affairs of the State, and Government management continued until his death in 1889. His successor, Lal Raghubar Singh, died in 1890 and was succeeded by his infant son Lal Jawahin Singh, the present Chief, born in 1888. During his minority the State remained under Government management until 1909, when Raja Jawahir Singh was installed. In 1918 the title of Raja Bahadur was conferred on him as a personal distinction.

The area of Sarangarh is 540 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 117,781; revenue Rs. 2,60,489; and tribute Rs. 4,500. It possesses (1926) 15 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(14) SURGUJA.

At the time of its cession under the Provisional Agreement of 1818 (No. V) the State of Surguja was distracted by domestic feuds, and a British officer was appointed as Superintendent of its affairs. In 1820, when order had been restored, Lal Amar Singh was declared Raja, was granted a Sanad (No. XV) and executed a Kabuliat (No. XVI) promising allegiance to the British Government. In 1825 he was given a Patta (No. XIX) fixing his tribute at 3,001 sicca rupees. Amar Singh's son and successor, Indrajit Singh, was mentally infirm and for many years the State was managed by Bindeshwari Prasad Singh, another son by a second wife. As manager of the State, he executed a Kabuliat (No. XXIX) in 1875, and in 1876 received a Sanad (No. XXXV) renewing for 20 years the settlement of 1825.

Indrajit Singh Deo died in 1879 and was succeeded in 1882 by his son Raghunath Saran Singh Deo. The Sanad granted to him in 1899 (No. XXXVIII) fixed the tribute at Rs. 2,500 for 20 years. On the partition of Bengal a fresh Sanad (No. XLII) was granted in 1905. The tribute was revised in 1921 for a period of 17 years.

Raghunath Saran Singh Deo died on the 31st December 1917, and was succeeded by his son, Maharaja Ramanuj Saran Singh Deo, the present Chief, who was born on the 4th November 1893. The title of Maharaja, which had been bestowed on Raja Amar Singh in 1826 and had been borne by his successors, was confirmed to the Ruler of Surguja by a Sanad (No. LIII) granted in April 1918, as a hereditary personal distinction, on the understanding that it was not to be regarded as a territorial title. The Chief is addressed as Raja of Surguja.

The area of Surguja is 6,055 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 377,679; revenue Rs. 6,18,047; and tribute Rs. 3,500. The State possesses (1926) 163 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(15) UDAIPUR.

Udaipur was originally a feudal dependency of Surguja and was formerly held by a distant younger branch of the Surguja family. In 1852 it was held to have lapsed to the British Government in consequence of the Chief, Kalyan Singh, and his two brothers having committed manslaughter, but Government continued to pay its tribute to Surguja. Kalyan Singh and his brothers were sentenced to imprisonment, but during the mutiny they made their way back to the State and established a short-lived rule. In 1859 the survivor was captured and transported.

In 1860 the Chiefship was bestowed on Lal Bindheshwari Prasad Singh Deo, younger son of Maharaja Amar Singh of Surguja, as a reward for his services in the mutiny. He was granted a Sanad (No. XXI) and executed a Kabuliat (No. XXII) fixing his tribute at Rs. 533-5-4: at the same time he also executed a police agreement (No. XXIII). From this time Udaipur became a distinct tributary State, the Chief paying his tribute direct to the British Government and Surguja receiving credit for it.

In 1875 Bindeshwari Prasad Singh Deo executed a Kabuliat (No. XXX) and was granted a Sanad (No. XXXVI) renewing for 20 years the settlement of 1860. The Sanad granted to his successor in 1899 (No. XXXVIII) fixed the tribute for another 20 years at Rs. 800. On the partition of Bengal a fresh Sanad (No. XLIII) was granted in 1905. The tribute was revised in 1921 for a period of 17 years.

Bindeshwari Prasad Singh Deo died in 1876 and was succeeded by his son Dharamjit Singh Deo. In 1877 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. LIV) on the Ruler of Udaipur.

Dharamjit Singh Deo died in 1900 and was succeeded by his minor son Chandrashekhar Prasad Singh Deo. During his minority the State was under Government management till his installation in 1912. In 1925 he adopted Tribhuneshwar Saran Singh Deo, third son of the Raja of Surguja, giving him the name of Chandra Chur Prasad Singh Deo. In the same year the State was again taken under Government management owing to maladministration.

Chandrashekhar Prasad Singh Deo died on the 8th December 1926, and the present Chief, his adopted son Raja Chandra Chur Prasad Singh Deo, was recognised as his successor.

The area of Udaipur is 1,052 square miles; population, by the Census of 1921, 71,124; revenue Rs. 1,62,605; and tribute Rs. 1,200. The State possesses (1926) 16 armed police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

IV.—THE NON-FEUDATORY ZAMINDARIS.

The Wainanga Zamindaris (44 in number) form portions of the Bhandara and Balaghat districts. The Zamindars are now nothing more than large landowners, holding their Estates on favourable terms in consideration of the dignity enjoyed and services rendered by their families in former years. They have been relieved of all police duties, and no longer exercise any function of government whatever. None of the Zamindaris are scheduled districts (Act XIV of 1874). The total area of these Zamindaris is 2,252 square miles and the population, according to the Census of 1921, is 350,079.

The Chanda Zamindars (16 in number) hold their Estates under special Patent (No. LV). The Zamindars formerly controlled the arrangements for excise, pounds and ferries within their Zamindaris and enjoyed the revenue from these sources; but these privileges have been withdrawn, the loss of revenue being recognised by the grant of pecuniary compensation. The administration of the police has also been withdrawn from the Zamindars, and the force which they formerly maintained has been replaced by Government police. The clauses of the Patent referring to these functions of the Zamindars are therefore now obsolete. Such of its conditions as are not obsolete have been embodied in a Wajib-ul-arz drawn up in 1904. The Zamindaris are held on condition of loyalty, proper management, and the improvement and cultivation of the Estates; and the right of free access to all minerals in the Estates is reserved to Government. The Zamindaris are all scheduled districts. The total area of these Zamindaris is 4,013 square miles and the population, according to the Census of 1921, is 85,236.

The Chhattisgarh Zamindaris, 35 in number, form portions of the Raipur, Drug and Bilaspur Districts. Their rights in respect of police, excise and pounds have been resumed, as in Chanda, and Government police have been introduced into these Zamindaris. The majority of the Estates are scheduled districts. The total area of these Zamindaris is 11,013 square miles and the population, according to the Census of 1921, 990,293.

The Jagirdars of Chhindwara and Hoshangabad, 11 in number, hold their Estates under Sanads (No. LVI) issued to them in 1879. As in the case of the Chanda and Chhattisgarh Zamindars, their rights pertaining to police, excise, pounds and unclaimed property have been resumed. The Jagirs are held on condition of loyalty, proper management, and the improvement and cultivation of the Estates; and all rights in connection with minerals found in the Estates are reserved to Government. All these Estates are scheduled districts. The area of the Jagirs is $1,711\frac{1}{2}$ square miles; and the population, according to the Census of 1921, 67,641.

In round figures, therefore, the total area of all the Zamindaris and Jagirs is 19,000 square miles, and the population $1\frac{1}{2}$ millions.

No. IV.

TREATY OF PERPETUAL DEFENSIVE ALLIANCE BETWEEN THE HONORABLE ENGLISH EAST INDIA COMPANY and HIS HIGHNESS MAHARAJAH PURSOJEE BHOOSLAH, his heirs and successors, settled with RAJAH MOODHAJEE BHOOSLAH, exercising with plenary powers all the functions of GOVERNMENT, on behalf of the said MAHARAJAH, by RICHARD JENKINS, Esq., Resident at the Court of His Highness, by virtue of the powers delegated to him by the RIGHT HONORABLE FRANCIS, EARL of MOIRA, K.G., one of HIS BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S Most HONORABLE PRIVY COUNCIL, GOVERNOR-GENERAL in COUNCIL, appointed by the HONORABLE the COURT of DIRECTORS of the said HONORABLE COMPANY to direct and control all their affairs in the East Indies,—1816.

Whereas, by the blessing of God, the relations of peace and friendship have uninterruptedly subsisted for a length of time between the Honorable English East India Company and the State of Nagpore, the powers aforesaid, adverting to the complexion of the times, have determined, with a view to the preservation of peace and tranquillity, and to the security of their rights and territories, and those of their allies and dependents, to enter into the defensive alliance on the terms specified in the underwritten Articles.

ARTICLE 1.

The peace, union, and friendship, so long subsisting between the two States, shall be promoted and increased by this Treaty, and shall be perpetual. The friends and enemies of either shall be the friends and enemies of both, and the contracting parties agree, that all the former Treaties and Agreements between the two States now in force, and not contrary to the tenor of this Engagement, shall be confirmed by it.

ARTICLE 2.

If any Power or State whatever shall commit any act of unprovoked hostility or aggression against Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah, and, after due representation, shall refuse to enter into amicable explanation, or shall deny the just satisfaction or indemnity which the contracting parties shall have required, then the contracting parties will proceed to concert and prosecute such further measures as the case shall appear to demand. For the more distinct explanation of the true intent and effect of this Agreement, the Governor-General in Council, in behalf of the Honorable Company, hereby declares that the British Government will never permit any Power or State whatever, in which description is included the tribe of Pindarries, to commit with impunity any act of unprovoked hostility or aggression against the rights and territories of Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah, but will at all times maintain and defend the same in the same manner as the rights and territories of the Honorable Company are now maintained and defended.

ARTICLE 3.

In conformity to the spirit of complete alliance and indemnity of interests, established by the provisions of the preceding Articles, and in return for the obligation which the British Government has thereby imposed upon itself, to protect and defend the State of Nagpore, against all enemies, the Maharajah agrees not only to employ the utmost effort of his military power and resources, in conjunction with those of the British Government, for the purpose of assisting to repel acts of hostility or aggression directed against the State of Nagpore, but also to consider the forces and resources of his Government to be applicable to the utmost practicable extent on occasions on which the British Government may be engaged in operations for the defence of the territories of its allies, Their Highnesses the Nawab Sekunder Jah, Soobahdar of the Deccan, and the Peishwa, Rao Pundit Purdhan, as well as generally to aid the British Government as far as his power and resources will admit, in any contest in which the British Government may at any time be engaged for the defence of its own rights and those of its allies.

ARTICLE 4.

With a view to fulfil this Treaty of defensive alliance, Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah agrees to receive, and the Honorable East India Company to furnish, a permanent subsidiary force of British troops, consisting of not less than one regiment of Native cavalry, six battalions of Native infantry, one complete company of European artillery, and one company of pioneers with the usual proportion of field pieces attached, and with the proper equipment of warlike stores and ammunition, which force shall be accordingly stationed in perpetuity in the Maharajah's territories. It is moreover agreed that, with the reserve of two battalions of sepoys which are to remain near His Highness' person, the residue of the force shall be posted in such a situation near the south bank of the Nerbudda as may be chosen by the British Government and with liberty to move in any direction necessary through His Highness' territories, as well as to have the privilege of changing its position in case it shall be so determined on, the Maharajah's Government being previously consulted in the latter case. In the event, however, of its being deemed advisable by the British Government, at any time, that one of the two battalions of sepoys, which it is above provided are to remain near His Highness' person, should join the force stationed near the Nerbudda, the said Maharajah will make no objection, but the force near His Highness' person shall never consist of less than one battalion.

ARTICLE 5.

The Maharajah hereby engages to pay to the Honorable Company, from His Highness' treasury at Nagpore, according to the two under-mentioned equal and half-yearly instalments, punctually and without demur or hesitation the annual sum of seven lakhs and fifty thousand Nagpore Rupees of the present standard value, being the estimated additional charge of the field establishment of the force described in the preceding Article.

The following are the instalments :—

	Rs.
1st December	3,75,000
1st June	3,75,000
Rupees .	7,50,000

ARTICLE 6.

The contracting parties will hereafter take into consideration the expediency of commuting the pecuniary payment settled by the 5th Article for a cession of territory on the part of Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah, and whatever arrangement may be thus determined upon, by mutual consent, shall be adopted. In the event likewise of any failure or delay ever occurring in the punctual discharge of the sum in question, according to the instalments above specified, the British Government shall be entitled to require, and His Highness will without hesitation agree to cede, territory in lieu of the whole of the subsidy, the situation of which territory will be then fixed according to mutual convenience. But it is understood that the British Government claims no right to demand a cession of territory, as long as the pecuniary payments are punctually discharged.

ARTICLE 7.

Whenever it may be found expedient for any temporary purpose to employ within the Maharajah's territory any troops belonging to the Honorable Company, exceeding the amount of the subsidiary force as fixed by the 4th Article, no objection shall be made on the part of the Maharajah, and the British Government on its part engages that the Maharajah shall not be charged with any additional expense on account of such extra troops,

ARTICLE 8.

The Maharajah grants full permission for the purchase of supplies of every description for the use of the subsidiary force in all parts of His Highness' territory. Grain and all other articles of consumption, and provisions, and all sorts of materials for wearing apparel, together with the necessary number of cattle, horses, and camels, required for the use of the subsidiary force, shall be entirely exempted from duties, and the Commanding Officer and Officers of the said subsidiary force shall be treated in all respects in a manner suitable to the dignity and greatness of both States. The subsidiary force will at all times be ready to execute services of importance, such as the protection of the person of the Maharajah, his heirs and successors, the overawing and chastisement of rebels, or excitors of disturbance in His Highness' dominions, and due correction of his subjects or dependents, who may withhold payment of the Sirkar's just claims, but it is not to be employed on trifling occasions, nor like Sebundy to be stationed in the country to collect the revenues, nor in levying contributions in the manner of Moolukgeeree.

ARTICLE 9.

Inasmuch as by the present Treaty the British Government engages to maintain and defend the rights and territories of Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah in the same manner as the rights and territories of the Honorable Company are now maintained and defended, and as the object of the present alliance is purely and exclusively of a defensive nature, the Maharajah consequently engages never to commit any act of hostility or aggression against Their Highnesses the Nizam and the Peishwa, or any of the Honorable Company's allies or dependents, or against any other Power or State whatever, and in the event of differences arising, whatever adjustment the Company's Government, weighing matters in the scale of truth and justice, may determine, shall meet with full approbation and acquiescence

ARTICLE 10.

As by the present Treaty the union and friendship of the two States is so firmly cemented that they may be considered as one and the same, the Maharajah engages neither to commence nor to pursue in future any negotiations with any other State whatever, without giving previous notice to and entering into mutual consultation with, the Company's Government; and the British Government on its part hereby declares, that it has no manner of concern with any of the Maharajah's children, relations, dependents, subjects, or servants, with respect to whom the Maharajah is absolute.

ARTICLE 11.

Whereas it is incumbent on the Maharajah to be prepared to unite with the British Government to the utmost extent of his power and resources in the protection and defence of his rights and territories, against all external and internal enemies, and whereas by the 3rd Article of this Treaty, the Maharajah engages not only to fulfil that obligation, but also to assist the British Government as far as may be practicable on occasions on which that Government may be compelled to exert its power in the defence of its own rights and those of its allies, the Maharajah engages, with a view to fulfil these obligations, to maintain, at all times, in a state of efficiency, and fit for active service, a force consisting of not less than three thousand cavalry, and two thousand infantry, with the necessary equipments of guns and warlike stores; which force shall be employed on occasions of actual service in the manner that may be pointed out by the Officer Commanding the British subsidiary force. In the same manner, in the event of any part of the forces of the Maharajah being required to act in conjunction with a British force beyond the limits of His Highness' territories, the former shall be employed under the orders and directions of the Commanding Officer of the latter. It is, moreover, declared that, in addition to the force of cavalry and infantry which the Maharajah is bound by this Article perpetually to maintain, His Highness will keep up as large a number of troops as may be necessary, and as the resources of his Government may enable him to support, and that on all necessary occasions, he will be ready to assist the British Government with the whole of his forces.

ARTICLE 12.

Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah agrees to attend and conform to whatever advice and recommendation may from time to time be offered by the British Resident at His Highness' Court on all points connected with the due support and equipment of the force, consisting of three thousand cavalry and two thousand infantry, which by the 11th Article, the Maharajah engages permanently to maintain, which advice and recommendation will extend to the regularity and sufficiency of the pay and good quality of the accoutrements, horses, arms, etc., of the troops composing the said force, and to the general discipline of the whole. His Highness further agrees to afford without excuse or hesitation to the Resident any evidence that he may at any time require of the actual existence of the force in question in a state of efficiency for active service ; and whenever the Resident may require it, His Highness will permit the said force to be mustered, inspected, and reviewed personally either by the Resident or by the Officer Commanding the subsidiary force.

ARTICLE 13.

Inasmuch as by the present Treaty of defensive alliance, the ties of union are so closely drawn that the interests of the two States are become identified, it is agreed that on occasions on which it may be deemed expedient and necessary for the general defence of the Deccan, or for the suppression of disorders, the British subsidiary force serving with the Maharajah shall be permitted, at the direction of the British Government, to be employed in the Province of Berar, in co-operation with the subsidiary force of Hyderabad, and also in other territories adjacent to the Maharajah's dominions ; provided, however, that by such temporary employment of the force stationed with the Maharajah, His Highness' territories shall not be exposed to serious danger, and that the force stationed near His Highness' person shall never be less than one battalion of sepoys.

ARTICLE 14.

The British Government agrees not to give aid or countenance to any discontented subjects or dependents of the Maharajah, or any members of His Highness' family, or relations or servants of His Highness, who, in like manner, engages to refuse protection to any persons who may be in a state of rebellion against the British Government or its allies, or to any fugitives from their respective territories.

ARTICLE 15.

This Treaty, consisting of fifteen Articles, being this day settled by Richard Jenkins, Esquire, with Rajah Moodhojee Bhooslah, on the part of Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah, Mr. Jenkins has delivered one copy thereof in English, Mahratta, and Persian, signed and sealed by himself to the said Rajah Moodhojee Bhooslah, who on his part has also delivered one copy of the same duly executed with the seal and signature of Maharajah Pursojee Bhooslah, and with his own seal and signature ; and Mr. Jenkins, by virtue of official authority given to him in that behalf by the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council, hereby declares the said Treaty to be in full force from the date hereof, and engages to procure and deliver to His Highness in the space of forty days a ratified copy of the same under the seal of the Honorable Company, and the signature of the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council, on the delivery of which the Treaty executed by Mr. Jenkins shall be returned. But the subsidiary force specified in the 4th Article shall be immediately furnished by the Honorable Company, and all the other Articles of this Treaty shall be in full force from this time.

Signed, sealed, and exchanged at Nagpore, the twenty-seventh day of May in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixteen, answering to the Twenty-eighth of Jumadoossanee, in the year of the Hijera One Thousand Two Hundred and Thirty-one.

Ratified by His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council, at Fort William in Bengal, this 15th day of June 1816.

 No. VI.

TREATY of PERPETUAL FRIENDSHIP and ALLIANCE between the HONORABLE EAST INDIA COMPANY and HIS HIGHNESS MAHARAJAH RAGHOJEE BHOOSLAH, his heirs and successors, settled by RICHARD JENKINS, ESQUIRE, Resident at the Court of His Highness, by virtue of the powers delegated to him by the RIGHT HONORABLE WILLIAM PITT, LORD AMHERST, one of HIS BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S MOST HONORABLE PRIVY COUNCIL, GOVERNOR-GENERAL in COUNCIL, appointed by the HONORABLE COMPANY to direct and control all their affairs in the EAST INDIES,—1826.

Whereas a Treaty of perpetual defensive alliance, consisting of fifteen Articles, was concluded at Nagpore between the Honorable East India Company and the State of Nagpore, under date the 27th May 1816, corresponding with the 28th of Jumadoossanee, in the year of Hijri 1231 ; and whereas during the subsistence of that Treaty in full force, in violation of public faith and of the laws of nations, an attack was made by Rajah Moodhaje Bhooslah on the British Resident and the troops of his ally stationed at Nagpore for the said Rajah's protection, thereby dissolving the said Treaty, annulling the relations of peace and amity between the two States, placing the State of Nagpore at the mercy of the British Government, and the Maharajah's Musnud at its disposal ; and whereas the British Government, still respecting the former close alliance, consented to restore the relations of amity and friendship and to replace His Highness on the Musnud ; and whereas in utter forgetfulness of this lenity, and in disregard of every principle of faith and honor Appah Saheb entered into fresh concert with the enemies of the British Government, that Government was consequently compelled to remove him from the Musnud; and Maharajah Raghojee Bhooslah having succeeded to the same by the favour of the said Government, the following Treaty is concluded between the States :—

ARTICLE 1.

All Articles of the Treaty concluded at Nagpore, on the 27th of May 1816, which are not contrary to the tenor of the present engagement, are hereby confirmed.

ARTICLE 2.

Although the Rajah assumes, with the permission of the British Government, the title and ensigns of Sena Saheb Soobah, which have been held by former Rajahs of Nagpore, he hereby renounces for ever for himself and successors all dependence upon or connection with the Rajah of Sattarah or other Mahratta powers, and agrees to relinquish all ceremonies and observances whatever referring to the dignity of Sena Saheb Soobah.

ARTICLE 3.

By the 10th Article of the Treaty of Nagpore it is agreed that the Maharajah is neither to commence nor to pursue any negociation with any other State whatever, without giving previous notice to and entering into mutual consultation with the Company's Government. In order to the more effectual fulfilment of this Article, Maharajah Raghojee Bhooslah hereby agrees neither to maintain vakeels or other agents at the Courts of any Foreign State whatever nor to permit the residence of vakeels or other agents from any such State at his Court; and His Highness further engages to hold no communication with any power whatever, except through the Resident or other Minister of the Honorable Company's Government residing at His Highness' Court.

ARTICLE 4.

By the 4th Article of the Treaty of Nagpore, it was agreed that, with the reserve of two battalions of sepoys which were to remain near the Rajah's person, the residue of the subsidiary force which the British Government thereby agreed to furnish should be posted in such a situation near the south bank of the Nerbudda as might be chosen by the British Government. By the present Article it is agreed that the British Government shall be at liberty in future to station its troops in any part of the Rajah's territories, as it may deem necessary for their protection and the maintenance of tranquillity; and also to decide upon the number of troops to be so maintained, whether greater or smaller than the amount of the subsidiary force before fixed.

ARTICLE 5.

The late Rajah Moodhajee Bhooslah, commonly called Appa Saheb, agreed to cede to the Honorable Company certain territories for the payment of the expenses of the permanent military force maintained by the British Government in His Highness' territories, and in lieu of the subsidy of 7,50,000 Rupees formerly paid by the said Rajah, and of the contingent he was bound to maintain by the former Treaty. These territories, as detailed in the Schedule annexed to this Treaty, shall remain for ever under the dominion of the Honorable Company. His Highness Maharajah Raghojee Bhooslah hereby expressly renounces all claims and pretensions of whatever description on the territories aforesaid, and all connection with the Chiefs and Zemindars or other inhabitants of them. The British Government on its part hereby guarantees the rest of the dominions of the Nagpore State to Maharajah Raghojee Bhooslah, his heirs and successors.

ARTICLE 6.*

As it may be found that some of the territories ceded to the British Government in the foregoing Article would, from their situation, be more conveniently attached to the territories of the Nagpore State, His Highness agrees that such exchanges of talooks and lands shall be made hereafter on terms of a fair valuation of their respective revenues as may be necessary for the convenience of both parties; and it is agreed and covenanted that the territories to be assigned and ceded to the Honorable Company by the 5th Article, or in consequence of the exchange stipulated eventually in this Article, shall be subject to the exclusive management of the said Company and their officers.

ARTICLE 7.

The British Government undertook, during the Rajah's minority, the settlement and management of the whole of the country reserved to His Highness, and the general direction of his affairs in His Highness' name, and on his behalf; His Highness' nonage, according to Hindu law and usage, being now expired, the powers of Government and the administration of his dominions under the several conditions and exceptions hereinafter specified are declared to be vested in the Rajah.

ARTICLE 8.

For the more complete and effectual fulfilment of this intention and object of the 11th Article of the Treaty of 27th May 1816, the military force of the State of Nagpore, with the exception of a small body of infantry and horse, which may be maintained with the sanction of the British Government for the Rajah's personal retinue, and the requisite Sebundies for the police and collection of revenue (to be subject to the same sanction with regard to their numbers, description, and employment) shall always remain under the authority of the British Government, and at its disposal for His Highness' benefit, and sufficient funds shall be permanently appropriated for its regular payment from His Highness' resources.

* This Article was cancelled in 1830.

ARTICLE 9.

The districts of Deoghur above the Ghauts, Chandah, Loujhee, and Chutteesgurh, and their dependencies, together with some additional districts, yielding altogether a clear net revenue of seventeen lakhs of rupees per annum will, for the present, be retained under the management of European Superintendents acting for the Rajah, but subject to the orders of the British Resident, to provide funds for the payment of the military establishments referred to in the preceding Article, and for the civil expenses of the said districts. A true and faithful account of the revenue and the produce of the said districts, and of the military and civil disbursements, shall be rendered to His Highness, and any surplus remaining after payment of the above charges shall be paid into His Highness' treasury.

The rest of His Highness' territories, including the city of Nagpore, shall be replaced under the direct administration of His Highness and his Ministers, the British superintendence being gradually withdrawn; and it is hereby further declared, that whenever the state of the district, retained under British superintendence under this Article, and the success of His Highness' management in the country now transferred to him, shall appear to the British Government to justify such a measure, the districts excepted in this Article shall also be restored to the direct management of the Rajah, His Highness appropriating sufficient funds from his resources for the payment of the military force, and the British Government remaining the medium of conducting all affairs with the tributary Chiefs and Zemindars of the country.

ARTICLE 10.

In the management of the country transferred to the Rajah's immediate authority by the preceding Article, and in that of the excepted districts when restored to His Highness' control, Rajah Raghojee Bhooslah hereby promises to pay at all times the utmost attention to such advice as the British Government shall judge it necessary to offer him with a view to the economy of his finances, the better collection of his revenue, the administration of justice and police, the extension of commerce, the encouragement of trade, agriculture and industry, or any other objects connected with the advancement of His Highness' interests, the happiness of his people, and the mutual welfare of both States, and always to conduct the affairs of his Government by the hands of Ministers in the confidence of the British Government, and responsible to it as well as to His Highness in the exercise of their duties in every branch of the administration.

His Highness specifically agrees to adopt such regulations and ordinances as may be suggested by the British Government through its representative at His Highness' Court for ensuring order, economy, and integrity in every department of his Government, and the engagements and settlements which have been or may be concluded with the putels and ryots or others in his name through the intervention of British Agents shall be faithfully maintained and acted upon. The civil establishments of the Government, the appointment of persons to fill them, and the expenditure on account of those establishments, as well as of His Highness' Court and household, shall be fixed and continued according to the advice of the British Government ; and the Resident shall be at all times at liberty to inspect and investigate the accounts of the receipts and disbursements of the Government in every branch, as well as to have access to the treasury, in order to be assured of the actual state of the finances.

ARTICLE 11.

If it shall be necessary for the protection and defence of the territories of the contracting parties, or either of them, that hostilities shall be undertaken or preparations made for commencing hostilities against any State or Power, Rajah Raghojee Bhooslah agrees to contribute towards the discharge of the increased expense incurred by the augmentation of the military force and the unavoidable charges of the war, such a sum as shall appear to the British Government, on an attentive consideration of the means of His said Highness, to bear a just and reasonable proportion to the actual net revenue of His said Highness.

ARTICLE 12.

And whereas the interests and reputation of the contracting parties require that the prosperity of His Highness' dominions should be increased and perpetuated by the operations of this Treaty, and it is indispensable that effectual and lasting security should be provided for the welfare and happiness of the people and against any failure in the funds destined to defray the expenses of His Highness' permanent military establishment in the time of peace, as well as to secure an eventual surplus for the purpose mentioned in the 11th Article, it is hereby stipulated and agreed between the contracting parties that if, from the mismanagement of His Highness' Officers, and from the neglect of the advice and suggestions of the British Government, on the part of His Highness, the British Government shall have reason to apprehend at any future period, a failure in the funds so destined, or a deterioration, instead of the expected improvement in His Highness' resources, and in the condition of the people, the British Government shall be at liberty and shall have full power and right to assume and bring under the direct management of the servants of the British Government such part or parts of the territorial possessions of His Highness, as shall appear to the said Government necessary to render the funds efficient and available either in time of peace or war, or the whole, should the welfare of the country require it.

ARTICLE 13.

It is hereby further agreed that, whenever the British Government shall signify to the said Maharajah Raghojee Booslah, that it is become necessary to carry into effect the provision of the 12th Article, His said Highness shall immediately issue orders to his amils or other officers for placing the territories required under the exclusive authority and control of the said Government, and in case His Highness shall not issue such orders within ten days from the time when the application shall have been formally made to him, then the British Government shall be at liberty to issue orders by its own authority for assuming the collections and management of the said territories. Provided always that whenever and as long as any part of His said Highness territories shall be placed and shall remain under the exclusive authority and control of the said British Government, the said Government shall render to His Highness a true and faithful account of the revenues and produce of the territories so assumed; provided also that in no case whatever shall His Highness' actual receipt of annual income arising out of his territorial revenue be less than the fifth part of the net revenues of the whole of his territories, which amount of one-fifth of the said net revenues the British Government engages at all times to secure and cause to be paid for His Highness' use.

ARTICLE 14.

The hill of Seetābuldee and that adjacent to it, with the land and bazaars adjoining, within a boundary line which will be settled, shall be annexed to the British Residency, and the British Government shall be at full liberty to keep up the necessary works for rendering them a good military position, which have been or may be erected upon them or elsewhere within the boundary aforesaid.

The Maharajah also engages at all times to furnish such pasture land as may be required for the use of the British forces at the most convenient places adjoining to the Cantonments of the different divisions of the said forces.

ARTICLE 15.

The Maharajah also agrees that the British Government shall be at all times at liberty to garrison and occupy such fortresses and strong places within his dominions, as it shall appear to them advisable to take charge of, and that all officers and all troops, whether individually or collectively belonging to the Honorable Company, shall have free ingress to and egress from all His Highness' forts and places of strength when necessary for their safety.

ARTICLE 16.

Whenever called upon by the British Government, the Maharajah agrees to collect as many Brinjarries as possible, and to store as much grain as may be practicable in convenient places for the purpose of aiding the supplies of the armies of both States in any contest in which they may be engaged.

ARTICLE 17.

This Treaty, consisting of seventeen Articles, being settled and concluded at Nagpore, on the first day of December in the year 1826, corresponding with Junadee 1st. in the year of the Hijree 1242, by Richard Jenkins, Esq., with Maharajah Raghojee Bhooslah, Mr. Jenkins has delivered to the said Maharajah a copy of the same in English, Persian, and Mahratta, sealed and signed by himself, and His Highness has delivered to Mr. Jenkins another copy also in English, Persian, and Mahratta, bearing His Highness' seal and signature, and Mr. Jenkins has engaged to procure and deliver to His Highness without delay a copy of the same duly ratified by the Right Honorable William Pitt, Lord Amherst, Governor-General, etc., etc., on the receipt of which by His said Highness the present Treaty shall be deemed complete and binding on the Honorable East India Company and on His Highness, and the copy now delivered to His said Highness shall be returned.

AMHERST.

Ratified by the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Camp, at Shah-jehanpore, this thirteenth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six A.D.

A. STIRLING,

Secretary to the Government,

In attendance on the Governor-General.

No. VII.

REVISED ENGAGEMENT between the HONORABLE COMPANY and the RAJAH of NAGPORE,—1829.

Whereas, in view to the promotion of the welfare, dignity, and independence of the Rajah of Nagpore, and to the mutual benefit and convenience of the Honorable Company and His Highness' Government, it has been deemed expedient to alter and modify certain Articles of the Treaty of 13th December 1826, the following provisions have accordingly been arranged and concluded; on the one part by Francis B. S. Wilder, Esq., Resident at the Court of Nagpore, in the name and on behalf of the Right Honorable Lord William Cavendish Bentinck, Governor-General in Council, and on the other by Maharajah Raghojee Bhooslah, Rajah of Nagpore.

ARTICLE 1.

Articles 8 and 9 of the existing Treaty are hereby rescinded, and it is agreed that, in lieu of the obligations contracted by those Articles, the Rajah of Nagpore shall pay to the British Government an annual subsidy of Sonat Rupees eight lakhs per annum, by quarterly instalments, i.e., on the 6th of September, 6th December, 6th March, and 6th June of each year; in consideration whereof the reserved districts will be given up to His Highness' management, and his army made over entirely to his own authority and disposal, the British officers employed in the Nagpore service being at the same time withdrawn. The transfer of territory is to take effect from the close of the present Nagpore Fussilee year, or 6th

June 1830. Arrangements for gradually disbanding the auxiliary force, as at present constituted, will be immediately put in train, it being of course the duty of the Rajah to provide in their room, and from his own funds, a national force adequate to the ordinary protection of his subjects and the performance of internal duties.

ARTICLE 2.

The Rajah agrees to respect and abide by the conditions of the Quinquennial Settlement, concluded with the poteils, ryots, and others by the British authorities in his name, during the period for which the several leases were contracted. His Highness also binds himself to maintain inviolate all Agreements and Engagements formed with the Gond and other Tributary Chiefs and Zemindars by British officers under the sanction and authority of the Resident.

ARTICLE 3.

Articles 10, 12, and 13 of the existing Treaty are hereby cancelled, and the following modified provisions substituted in lieu thereof. It shall be competent to the British Government, through its local representative, to offer advice to the Maharajah, his heirs and successors, on all important matters, whether relating to the internal administration of the Nagpore territory or to external concerns, and His Highness shall be bound to act in conformity thereto. If, which God forbid, gross and systematic oppression, anarchy and misrule should hereafter at any time prevail, in neglect of repeated advice and remonstrance, seriously endangering the public tranquillity and placing in jeopardy the stability of the resources whence His Highness discharges his obligations to the Honorable Company: the British Government reserves to itself the right of reappointing its own officers to the management of such district or districts of the Nagpore territory in His Highness' name, and for so long a period as it may deem necessary, the surplus receipts in such case, after defraying charges, to be paid into the Rajah's treasury.

ARTICLE 4.

Article 11 of the existing Treaty is hereby declared subject to the following modification. In lieu of the obligation it imposes, the Rajah agrees to maintain at all times, in a state of efficiency, a body of not less than one thousand of the best description of Irregular Horse, organised and disciplined after the native fashion, commanded by his own Native officers, and subject to His Highness' exclusive authority. In the event of war, this force shall be liable to serve with the British army in the field, receiving batta from the Honorable Company in compensation of the extra expense of their maintenance, whenever employed beyond the Nagpore frontier.

ARTICLE 5.

Article 15 of the existing Treaty is hereby abrogated.

ARTICLE 6.

All the other provisions and conditions of the Treaty concluded at Nagpore on the 13th December 1826, which are not affected by the above convention, are to remain in full force and effect.

ARTICLE 7.

This Engagement, consisting of seven Articles, being settled and concluded at Nagpore, on the 26th day of December 1829, corresponding with 29th Jumadilakher, in the year of the Hijeree 1245, by Francis B. S. SPECIMEN SUNNUDS granted to the ZEMINDARS of DEOGURH.

TRANSLATION of a SUNNUD granted in the name and on the part of SREEMUNT MAHARAJ RAJAH SREE SENAH SAHIB SOOBAN RAGOJEE BHOOSLAH by RICHARD JENKINS, Esq., BRITISH RESIDENT, on the part of the HONORABLE EAST INDIA COMPANY, at the COURT of NAGPORE, to MOHUN SING THAKOOR, of PUCHMURREE,—1820.

Whereas your forefathers held and you continue to hold certain villages, lands and rights appertaining thereunto in the zillah of Deogurh as follows :—

Talooka Puchmurree, 7 villages.		Pergunnah Heerdagurh, 7 villages.		Pergunnah Pertaubgurh, 6 villages.
------------------------------------	--	--------------------------------------	--	---------------------------------------

Pergunnah Oomrait, 1 village, Myawaree.	Pergunnah Jamyee, 1 village, Khurwanee.	Pergunnah Almoat, 1 village, Boree Ghaut.	Pergunnah Gurguzghur, 1 village, Lona Dewee.	Pergunnah Umbarrah, 1 village, Nursurah.

and the villages of Peerawaree (pergunnah unascertained), comprising a total of 26 villages; they have been and are hereby confirmed to you and to your heirs for ever, and all the Rajahs, Thakoors, Zemindars and others are hereby enjoined to avoid all interference with your management of them and you are hereby held responsible for maintaining them in cultivation and population, binding yourself thereby to yield immediate obedience to all orders or calls for service of any sort by this Government, as may be hereafter specified.

Whereas three Jatras are annually held in the Mahadeo hills on which you have claims from pilgrims and others, the following arrangement is now made with you on that head: agreeable to it [and with your full consent previously rendered] you must hereafter abide refraining from every species of interference or violence.

The Jatra of Sawun is your exclusive right, but no tax can be levied on pilgrims in progress to the temple.

In the Jatra of Kartik the offerings at the shrine are the joint right of the three Thakoors, in which you will continue to participate. No taxes, however, to be levied on pilgrims.

In the Sooratree Jatra of Phagoon, or the Great Jatra, the offerings are also the joint right of the three Thakoors, and this will continue, and for the taxes levied hitherto at the several ghauts and roads leading to the temple or connected with it, they belong for the future to Government, and the following provision is hereby made:—

In lieu of your right to levy a tax on pilgrims at the several river and hill ghauts leading to the temple, which you have hitherto exercised, but which is now resumed by Government, and in lieu of your claim on one-third of the profits arising from the duties levied on pilgrims, cattle, merchandise, etc., etc., etc., at Koreel Ghaut, together with your exclusive right to the whole profit of the Tara Ghaut, Government hereby agrees to give you, for a period of three years, commencing with the year 1230 Fuslee, and ending with the year 1232 Fuslee, an annual sum of Nagpore Rupees 750.

This sum will be paid to you by the Government direct; you have no further right on the pilgrim duties, but on the expiration of three years, should you feel so disposed, you may apply for a new arrangement, which will meet with due consideration.

Such are the arrangements for the Pooja and Jatra rights ; by no means interfere in them in any other way than is now written, “taking care that no theft or purloining shall occur during the assembly of the pilgrims at the Murr. You are responsible.” Avoid also all violence in every way towards them or to traders, visitors, etc. ; all collections from them and pilgrims in progress to the Jatra belong exclusively to Government.

All items, such as Ureeta, Furohee, Rand, Dhurawun, Jejeea, Kularu, Moohwa, Paunree, etc., etc., hitherto levied by you, as well as the Zemindary, Sayer Khoont, are confirmed to you.

And in consideration of your expenses, this Government has also bestowed on you a right to levy the Sayer of Nandoura on its present scale ; avoid increasing it without authority.

This, therefore, as above detailed, is the provision made for you by this Government. Receive and eat ; have no concern for the interference of others. In return your duties to Government are as follow :—

You will henceforth pay to Government in quit-rent 25 Rupees in ready money, 10 seers of Cherongee, 5 seers Honey, 10 Bamboo Balas, and 10 Churrees ; send them yearly.

You are hereby bound to appear in person at call, yielding attendance on the immediate Agent under whom you are placed, obeying every order implicitly ; if called on you will appear with five or ten (number undefined) attendants ready to do every duty imposed. You are held responsible for the internal tranquillity and good arrangement of your own lands throughout their boundary, settling and keeping under all thieves, rogues, and villains of every description, shewing in no instance the semblance of bad faith to Government, offering no excuse in a ready obedience to its mandates, and are held responsible for any act of criminality or irregularity, whether of your relatives or your ryots ; any person throughout your bounds, being guilty of any irregularity of any nature, for his act you are amenable, unless you produce the culprit or trace him to the satisfaction of the Government.

You are positively prohibited entertaining any foreign soldiers or bearers of weapons without its authority.

Done at Mooltan, this 25th day of February, A.D. 1820.

Whereas under sanction of the Government the whole Pergunnah of Sirgoojah, with the khalsa lands and tuppahs, have been settled with Rajah Ummer Sing for five years, from 1232 to 1236 F. at an annual jumma of Sicca Rupees 3,001, including "Mal," "Sayer," "Abwab Muhmoolee," or customary dues, "Julkur and Bunkur," "Tar and Muhoowa," gardens, excepting Lakheraj lands, intestate and unclaimed property, and such cesses as have been prohibited by Government, the said Rajah has agreed to pay in the stipulated jumma without pleading bad seasons or other calamity; it becomes the said Rajah to take measures for the improvement of his estate, to conciliate his Zemindars, Jaghirdars, Ryots, and all residing on his estate, and to pay his revenue (Malgoozaree) into the Government Treasury annually and punctually, according to the instalments agreed upon. He is not to plead drought or diluvion, or the absconding of his ryots. He must exert himself with a view to reclaiming waste lands, and thereby increasing his cultivation. He must not harbour thieves or highwaymen, and such like. All suspicious characters of this description he must apprehend and bring to justice. He must obey and carry out all orders received from the Officers of Government, and he must invariably and duly report all that occurs in the Pergunnah.

(Here comes specification of instalments.)

 No. XX.

Whereas, with the sanction of the Government conveyed in their Secretary's letters No. 27, dated 17th May 1847, and No. 48, dated 5th July following, I, the Agent to the Governor-General at Ranchee, in Chota Nagpore, have concluded with you, Rajah Umole Sing, Zemindar and proprietor of Pergunnah Korea, a settlement of that Pergunnah, containing 350 mouzahs, "Uslee and Dakhilee," with a right to all cultivated and waste land, jungles and hills, jheel and beel, reservoir, tanks, wells, "kutchra and pukka," "Julker" (fisheries), Bunker, and Putker (forest produce), ponds, groves of "Tar, Muhoowa, and Mango," productive and unproductive, at an annual jumma of Company's Rupees 400 for ten years, from 1255 to 1264 F., excepting Lakheraj, Khyrat, Bishoonpeereet, Aina, Brahmotur, and Shibotur lands, Abwabs and Sayer, Gunjeat, Tuhbazaaree, Dâh, and other bazaar dues, it becomes you to conciliate and render contented all resident, as well as Pyekasht, Ryots in your villages, together with the Illaquadars of the said Pergunnah, to take proper measures for the improvement of your estate and the collection of the revenue. You should exert yourself with a view to extend cultivation, and let the fruits of your exertions become apparent. You should pay into the Government Treasury the revenue at which your estate has been assessed, according to the terms of the settlement, kist by kist, and year by year, without alleging any plea ; and, as is customary, you will obtain an acquittance at the close of the year. You must not exact from any one the following cesses prohibited by the Government : Rukham Sayer, Zukhat, Gunjeat, Tuhbazaaree, and other Abwabs ; and you must not permit any one to collect or exact these cesses within your estate ; you must not, without the sanction of Government, grant any lands rent-free. You have no right to the produce of gold, silver, coal or diamond mines, or to any minerals whatever under ground within Pergunnah Korea. All these belong to the Government. You must claim no remission of the revenue fixed by the present settlement on the plea of drought or diluvion, or absconding of ryots. No such plea will be admitted. You must guard every corner of your estate, so that nothing untoward fall out. You must guard the Passes and permit travellers to have free ingress and egress without molestation. You must not harbour within your estate thieves, dacoits, thugs, kuzzacks, and other bad characters. You must exercise such vigilance and adopt such measures that no man shall oppress his neighbour, and that such crimes as dacoity, highway robbery, thuggee, theft, etc., shall be suppressed. All the profits you acquire by increasing cultivation within your estates will be your own. You must render unhesitating obedience to the Government, and you must never evince any inclination to resist their orders. Until the appointment of a British officer to the Pergunnah, the Police duties will be conducted by you. All Police and Poujdarry cases, heinous and petty, that occur within your estate, you will promptly investigate and decide according to the method approved by the Authorities, and you will report the result to them. You will, like all other Zemindars, perform Police duties. When the time arrives for the appointment of a British officer, he will superintend the Police and conduct all cases, Dewannee and Foujdarry, and you will even then continue to perform Police duties. You will be responsible for all crimes committed within your estate, and you will exercise the same Police powers as the Illaquadars of Jubbulpore and Sagur. Your responsibilities, too, will be the same as theirs. You must not conceal any crime or hush up a case, but you must decide it impartially. You must submit to the Agent, Governor-General, Monthly Criminal Returns and Reports. If you fail in the payment of the Government revenue, and if it be proved that you are guilty of neglect of your Police duties, of disobedience of orders, of the crime of oppression and tyranny over your Ryots, or of taking or giving bad counsel, the whole Zemindarry of the said Pergunnah will be resumed by the Government, and you will be debarred from all interference with it. In the above event the orders of Government are positive ; you should therefore be cautious and vigilant in all respects.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT of FEALTY presented by LAL FUTTEH SING, ZEMINDAR of KHYRAGHUR,—1866.

I am a Chieftain under the administration of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces. I have now been recognized by the British Government as a feudatory, subject to the political control of the Chief Commissioner, or of such officer as he may direct me to subordinate myself to.

I will respect and maintain all rights within my territories; I will attend to the prosperity of my ryots, to the strict administration of justice, and to the effectual suppression of crime. When a criminal convicted before me shall merit the punishment of death, or a term of imprisonment beyond seven years, I will refer the case to such British officer as the Chief Commissioner may appoint before I punish the offender.

If any person who has committed an offence in my State shall fly to British or other territory, I will represent the matter to British officers, in order that the offender may be given up. Should any persons who have committed offences in British territory, or criminals belonging to British territory, seek refuge in my country, they shall be pursued by officers of the British Government, and I will render every assistance in capturing and delivering up such fugitives.

I will pay into the British Treasury an annual tribute of Rupees (34,900) thirty-four thousand nine hundred, and when the amount of my tribute may come from time to time under revision, I will render every assistance towards settling such amount. I will always pay punctually such tribute as may be settled.

I engage not to levy transit duties within my jurisdiction, neither by myself, nor my successors.

I will take such an order with my subjects that they shall have no cause to complain against injustice of mine; and when complaints preferred against them are referred to me by British officers, I will dispose of them equitably. When the Chief Commissioner, or his officers, shall give me instructions or advice, I will obey such instructions and accept such advice. And I will conform, and cause my subjects to conform, to such Forest Regulations as the Chief Commissioner may be pleased to prescribe.

If at any time, through the misconduct of myself or my successor, my State should fall into great disorder, or great oppression should be practised, then I, or my successor, shall be liable to suspension or forfeiture of my or his governing powers. I engage to depute a Vakeel to be in attendance at the Court of the Deputy Commissioner of Sumbulpur, or at any other Court where the Chief Commissioner from time to time may direct.

No. LVI.

SANAD granted to CHHINDWARA JAGIRDARS.

Whereas the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, with the sanction of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, recognises you to be Jagirdar of the estate in the Chhindwara District of the Central Provinces, this Sanad is granted to you in virtue whereof you and your heirs and successors are entitled to hold the estate for ever subject to the conditions and provisos herein set forth :—

1. You will pay as tribute to Government the sum of Rs. annually for the period of the settlement now made with you, subject to revision at the discretion of Government after the term of the existing settlement has expired.

2. You will enjoy the income accruing in your estate from the following sources :—

- | | | |
| (i) Land,
(ii) Abkari, including opium and drugs.
(iii) Pandhri. | | (iv) Cattle Pounds.
(v) Unclaimed property.
(vi) Sale of timber and minor Forest dues. |
|--|--|--|

The income from land does not include minerals in regard to which Government reserves all rights.

The concession as regards Abkari income is subject to cancelment at any time if, owing to mismanagement or disregard of the orders issued from time to time for your guidance, your arrangements interfere with the proper enforcement of the system for managing the liquor, opium and drug duties in the adjoining khalsa jurisdiction.

Your Pandhri assessment must be in accordance with the principles and rates laid down for the khalsa, and will be subject to appeal, in all cases of individuals assessed, to the Deputy Commissioner and Commissioner for the time being.

Your system of cattle-pound management must be in keeping with the orders in force in khalsa tracts, and so also the course you follow as regards appropriating the proceeds of unclaimed property.

The dues which you realize on Forest produce of all kinds and on the grazing of cattle within the lands of your Chiefship must not exceed the rates prevailing in Government Forests, and the following kinds of timber shall not be cut except in small quantities for home use without the special sanction of the Deputy Commissioner of the district :—

Teak. Sal. Saj.		Beejasal. Shesham. Kowah.		Mohwa. Tendoo. Unjan.

If large quantities are cut or contracts given for the felling of large quantities of the above or other valuable descriptions of timber to the permanent detriment of your estate, then the Deputy Commissioner will have power of assuming on the part of Government the direct management of your Forests.

3. You are recognised as the sole superior proprietor in your estate, and according to custom the succession will be regulated by the rule of primogeniture. It follows that the ordinary rules of Hindu inheritance do not apply, and that no partition of shares can take place. The estate remains one and undivided, the head of the family for the time being acknowledged as Chief.

4. The estate, with the special and peculiar privileges hereby recognised, cannot be transferred except with the sanction of the Chief Commissioner, and in case of dispute the ordinary succession will be subject to such sanction. Any transfer of ordinary rights ordered under a decree of the Civil Court would carry no privileges which are hereby declared to be conceded specially in favour of the hereditary Chief of the estate and are distinctly not transferable nor subject to the jurisdiction of the Civil Court. Any transfer therefore without the sanction of the Chief Commissioner and not by succession cancels this Sanad and involves a new settlement on different terms.

5. Summary removal will follow disloyalty or bad administration, and in this case the question of succession remains at the discretion of Government.

6. The relations of the Chief are according to custom entitled to maintenance either in money or land, and this custom you and your heirs and successors are required to maintain. Dispute as to the adequacy or otherwise of the maintenance allowed will be decided by the Deputy Commissioner of the District, subject to an appeal to the Commissioner of the Division and the Chief Commissioner, whose order on the matters at issue will be final.

7. You will maintain all the subordinate rights of sub-proprietorship and occupancy which have been recognised in your estate and will accept the record of those prepared by the Settlement Officer as final.

8. You are responsible for the proper Police management of your Chiefship and any failure in this respect renders you liable for any expenditure which may be incurred in maintaining efficient police posts under the orders of the Chief Commissioner.

9. You will carry out the orders issued to you from time to time as to the reporting of crime and you will bring promptly to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner the commission of any heinous offences in your estate and use your best endeavours to trace and bring to justice the perpetrators.

10. You are exempted during the present Settlement from the payment of any Road, School or Dak cesses, but you will be required to assist the district authorities as heretofore in keeping up in fair order the public tracks which pass through your estate and in maintaining such schools as already exist.
