NOTABLE AND QUOTABLE

Do you realize that high school student government doesn't matter?

—Josh Belkin, questioning freshman candidates for senate

What continues to astonish me is that more of the American public continues to think there's some connection between Iraq and terrorism, which just isn't true.

—Fletcher Professor Hurst Hannum

[Saddam] admitted to the UN he had enough chemical and biological to kill millions of people, supported terrorism, [and] tried to assassinate former President Bush. I repeat: We are safer with Saddam Hussein in prison than in power.

—Joe Lieberman

I do not feel obliged to believe that the same God who has endowed us with sense, reason, and intellect has intended us to forgo their use.

—Galileo Galilei

Michael Moore simultaneously represents everything I detest in a human being and everything I feel obligated to defend in an American. Quite simply, it is that stupid moron's right to be that utterly, completely wrong

—Dennis Miller

African Americans know oppression and have a natural empathy for others who are oppressed. And the fact is that what happens to chickens for KFC is the worst cruelty that anybody can possibly imagine.

—Bruce Friedrich, director of vegan outreach for PETA

If we're so cruel to minorities, why do they keep coming here? Why aren't they sneaking across the Mexican border to make their way to the Taliban?

—Ann Coulter

Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations, may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong!

—Steven Decatur

When I die, I desire no better winding sheet than the Stars and Stripes, and no softer pillow than the Constitution of my country.

—Andrew Johnson

The activist base of the Democratic Party today strikes me as demonstrably more paranoid and irrational about George Bush than even the most "obsessed" of my conservative brethren ever were [about Bill Clinton]. And to Bush's credit, he's not biting his lip and whining about it.

—Jonah Goldberg

I'm not the greatest; I'm the double greatest. Not only do I knock 'em out, I pick the round.

—Muhammad Ali

Those without swords can still die upon them.

—Éowyn, The Two Towers

One should never allow chaos to develop in order to avoid going to war, because one does not avoid a war but instead puts it off to his disadvantage.

—Niccolo Machiavelli

War will exist as long as there's a food chain.

—P.J. O'Rourke

Welfare's purpose should be to eliminate, as far as possible, the need for its own existence.

—Ronald Reagan

Women have plenty of roles in which they can serve with distinction: some of us even run countries. But generally we are better at wielding the handbag than the bayonet.

—Margaret Thatcher

Look. Every partisan in every party has to learn one thing: Sometimes your people are wrong. To paraphrase an old retort, saying "My party, right or wrong" is like saying "My Kennedy, drunk or sober." Credibility is earned, and standing up and saying "Fie!" now and then reinforces your truthfulness.

—James Lileks

A good plan violently executed right now is far better than a perfect plan executed next week.

—George S. Patton

Any man worth his salt will stick up for what he believes right, but it takes a slightly better man to acknowledge instantly and without reservation that he is in error.

—Andrew Jackson

It is easier to do a job right than to explain why you didn't.

—Martin Van Buren

To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace.

—George Washington

A husband is like a horse. At the end of the day he is usually rode hard and put away sweaty. Just like in the movies, if his master drives and beats him, he'll go just so far before bucking and rebelling.

—Dr. Laura Schlessinger

The toxic chemical ricin was discovered in the U.S. Capitol this week. Even more bad news; it's beating Dennis Kucinich in the polls.

—Craig Kilborn

Absolute tolerance is altogether impossible; the allegedly absolute tolerance turns into ferocious hatred of those who have stated clearly and most forcefully that there are unchangeable standards founded in the nature of man and the nature of things.

—Leo Staus

There's no such thing as a good gun. There's no such thing as a bad gun. A gun in the hands of a bad man is a very dangerous thing. A gun in the hands of a good person is no danger to anyone except the bad guys.

—Charlton Heston

Congressman Kucinich is holding up a pie chart, which is not truly effective on radio.

—Debate moderator Neal Conan

The only difference between a tax man and a taxidermist is that the taxidermist leaves the skin.

—Mark Twain

Even if smog were a risk to human life, we must remember that life in nature, without technology, is wholesale death.

—Ayn Rand

Former Governor Gray Davis has made a guest appearance on the CBS sitcom 'Yes Dear,' which has got to be nerve wracking for him, knowing that at any moment he screws up he could be replaced by an actor ... again.

—Jay Leno
