- During the Congressional Easter recess, field to set up, when appropriate, quality, personal visits with Senate Finance Cmte. members. - . Since Symms is up for reelection and strongly in our camp, King/Graham suggest no overkill on constituent contact...Counsel Bill Roden, however, is organizing beverage/oil people...also enlisted aide of distributor Cece Wright.
- . DISCUS contact with Symms (week of 3/31) confirms senator's opposition to Packwood plan...in fact, as owner of one of Idaho's major wineries, Symms may help lead the charge against the Packwood measure, according to field.

- . Brozek notes that brewing and petroleum interests he and Jacobson contacted were unaware of the potential problems they face with the Packwood proposal...Jacobson got these groups "educated." [In fact the state petroleum association wrote a scathing letter to their Washington office saying they were tired of hearing about issues of importance to them from The Tobacco Institute.]

- . Dyer has initiated his own letter-writing campaign to Mitchell...using appropriate company and wholesaler reps, Pine State Vending, Maine State Grocers' Assn., Associated Grocers' of Maine, Maine Wholesale Food Distributors and 23 Maine wholesalers and their retail accounts, Dyer generated about 1,500 letters to Mitchell by 3/27...all contacts will also be asked to call Mitchell.

- . - . On 3/17, Graham contact with office indicates Durenberger will VOTE NO on excise portion of Packwood plan...however, Brozek contact with chief aide in MN indicates that while Durenberger opposes ad valorem taxes, he is carefully weighing the political situation before coming out categorically against the proposal...faces tough 1988 reelection campaign v. HH Humphrey III...politics may outweigh philosophy.
- . Brozek reports that Durenberger is a "staff intensive" senator who relies heavily on staff opinions, especially those MN staffers with a pulse on MN public opinion...Brozek

- . Counsel Anderson and Jack Bollinger, Service Candy, met in Bozeman with senator during recess...our people were told (4/4) by Baucus that he has "problems" with the bill...Baucus sees Finance Cmte. support for the ad valorem as "tepid." Baucus spent much of first week in April with truckers and timber people...the former were most effective in getting their opposition across, according to field.
- . Keith Anderson, head of MT Taxpayers Assn. generating opposition from his members...MT Petroleum Assn. also contacted Baucus as did Ken Monroe of Rocky Mountain Gas & Oil.

New York-----Senator Daniel P. Moynihan (Scanlan)

- . Counsel Michael Griffin arranging Easter recess meeting with Moynihan...Griffin will go alone; he says big show of industry allies would be counterproductive with this senator.
- . On 3/19 lobbyist Matt Mataraso lunched in DC with Moynihan re Packwood plan...Mataraso reports that Moynihan leans toward favoring the Packwood plan, especially if state/local deductions are retained.

Mataraso also met with D'Amato who opposes ad valorem and tax increases...D'Amato will speak 3/19 to Moynihan.

3/17 NY Times reports that Moynihan said Packwood plan would be "good for New York State except for its treatment of state and local taxes"....3/19 Times said the "...the Packwood 'reform' plan cries out for reform," adding that excise hikes are "fine if the revenue is used to cut the deficit but indefensible to preserve loopholes."

- . New York distributor's association has phoned and sent mailgram in opposition to Moynihan...association has also contacted its membership asking that all members contact Moynihan.

Oklahoma-----Senator David L. Boren (Boman)

- . Consultant Bill Reynolds was told by Boren aide Pete Glavas that the senator is "definitely leaning" against the Packwood package...CONFIDENTIAL; 3/27 conversation with Boman indicates that Boren is completely opposed to the Packwood plan but does not want that solid opposition mentioned publicly at the moment.
- . Bob Craig (Senate Administrator in OK and tobacco retailer) generated several phone calls and about 20 letters to Boren from Oklahoma City area.
- . OK Tobacco Distributor Assn. lobbyist R. Huddleston will contact Boren personally and also continue encouraging his members to call/write the senator.

Oregon-----Senator Bob Packwood (King)

- . King/Graham also working on broad coalition meetings with Packwood during Easter recess...truckers, among others, meeting with Packwood.
- . Packwood contacts include: Terry Matlock, OR Tax Council and membership; local BC&T head Noel Johnson; OR Industry Assn. executive Gary Carlson having his members contact Packwood...Counsel Crawford and Teamster local leader Glenn Vance to report back on contacts, too.
- . Graham's recent activities are included in the "bullets" below:
 - . Through a coalition of truckers, Cormak, TAN volunteers, beer and wine distributors, Oregon restaurant assn. personnel, and gasoline and oil dealers, among others, Graham hopes to generate petition signatures to Packwood for use by Federal Relations. The petition reads: "We, the undersigned Oregon voters, strongly urge the Congress to remove any reference to possible implementation of an ad valorem tax on alcohol, tobacco and motor fuels as presently presented within the Packwood proposal. We feel that this places an unfair burden on the working people of Oregon."
- . Graham continues his coalition work with the above-mentioned groups and others including Assn. of Oregon Industry, Oregon

Trucking Assn., and the Independent Truckers Assn. All groups have encouraged their members to contact Packwood.

- It now appears (as of 4/2) that at least several thousand (was 100,000) petition signatures will be gathered by April 16 (Graham will continue collecting signatures past the Federal cut-off of 4/16.; the Oregon Restaurant and Beverage Assn. and Oregon Gasoline and Oil Distributors are among the groups circulating petitions...service station group generated another 2,500 calls to Packwood between 3/24 and 4/2...other coalition members also maintaining high levels of contact...during the period 4/3-4/7, calls and letters continued and will continue.
- Packwood met with Peter Rupp, Chairman of trucking outfit Freightliner...Packwood told him that this entire tax package was a "trial balloon" he had launched at the White House's request...Packwood added that he "didn't give a damn about [keeping] the ad valorem" tax in the bill...that same message was relayed to representatives of the Oregon Truckers Assn. and a Anheiser-Busch rep...Graham believes these comments were made in large measure because of contacts generated thus far.
- Oregon wine growers met with Packwood week of 3/31...Packwood claimed to be unaware of the impact of his plan on the Oregon wine industry...Packwood was also unaware of the sizable market share enjoyed by Oregon wine industry.
- Although neither our staff/counsel nor members of our coalition are involved, DISCUS is apparently working its own contact effort with Packwood.

Other personal friends in labor have been contacted and asked to speak with/write Heinz.
- Patty Enders of the PA Wholesalers Assn. is working to involve her membership through notices in their newsletter and through a telephone bank.

- . NY Times quote on Heinz position: "A $32 billion proposal to help steelmakers, farmers and other ailing industries by allowing them to immediately cash in 70 percent of their unused investment tax credits should help ease the concerns of Senator John Heinz of Pennsylvania, over the proposed repeal of the investment credit."
- . TAN Advisory Cmte. members generated at least 10 calls to Heinz this week...letter/mailgram campaign set up for distributors and labor allies...Jack Walsh, Consolidated Cigar, helped generate letters and about 50 mailgrams to Heinz during late March.

Rhode Island-----Senator John H. Chaffee (Dyer)

- . Per Dyer 3/26: Chaffee will vote against the Packwood plan, including excise provisions...Dyer says, however, that Chaffee has certainly not reached this position because he likes tobacco; the reasons for his position are totally unrelated to tobacco. Per Graham, consultant Peckham contacted Chaffee aides...early impression is that Chaffee can be brought around to our side...Dyer's wholesaler contacts remind us, however, that Chaffee remains a staunch supporter of higher cigarette excises.
- . Dyer recommends no Easter meeting with Chaffee...would be counterproductive.
- . Dyer has initiated an effort on Chaffee similar to the effort on Mitchell in Maine...Dyer generated by 3/27 about 1,000 letters (and many phone calls) through a letter-writing campaign employing company and wholesaler reps, RI Retail Grocers' Assn. and 14 wholesalers and their retail accounts.

Wyoming-----Senator Malcolm Wallop (Boman)

- . Per legislative counsel Bill Thomson: conversation with aide P. Williams indicates Wallop opposes plan and Wallop is preparing amendment to gut the bill...aide Williams says support for plan comes only from Packwood, Mitchell (see Maine) and Chaffee (see Rhode Island). Thomson also reports that Wallop appears to be at odds with Reagan at this point...no details re this rift.
- . Graham conversations also indicate NO VOTE on excise portion of Packwood proposal...using contact through state senator Russ Donley, a good friend of Wallop's.
- . Wallop will not be in Wyoming during Easter recess, but Thomson will meet in mid-April with Wallop...Maury Brown (retailer and Wallop friend) and Del Peterson (wholesaler and close friend of Wallop) will also attend the meetings in Washington, DC...TI briefings have been arranged.

- . Thompson in touch with WATCD head Tom Kilty for two-pronged letter-writing effort by tobacco wholesalers...Laramie tobacco shop owner Rick Campbell generated 63 letters to Wallop week of 3/24.

CONTACTS WITH SENATORS NOT ON FINANCE COMMITTEE

- Per Morris 3/27: counsel Cleve Smith spoke with senators Sasser and Gore requesting they contact Finance Cmte. members...both senators actively supporting our position and are in agreement with Ford/McConnell letter circulated at 3/25 WNG meeting...also having liquor allies contact Gore/Sasser to contact Finance...Gore and Sasser were among the 44 senators who signed letter to Packwood requesting early hearings on excise portion of his plan.
