

LABOR INDOOR AIR QUALITY
PRESENTATIONS AND EVENTS
1988 - 1989

From January 1, 1988 through May 12, 1989, Tobacco Industry Labor Management Committee representatives have provided 46 IAQ presentations in 18 states and the District of Columbia to a wide range of labor audiences. Among the types of organizations reached have been:

- state AFL-CIO executive boards, conferences and conventions
- statewide AFL-CIO affiliate conferences and conventions
- AFL-CIO trades department executive board meetings
- AFL-CIO support group regional conferences, executive board meetings and national conventions
- local union meetings

These presentations have enabled the Committee to educate national, state and local labor leaders on the IAQ issue. At the same time, we have been able to elevate it on labor's health and safety agenda. Beyond its significance as a health and safety issue however, the Committee, through its presentations and materials has positioned the issue in terms of its relevance to organizing, jobs, and collective bargaining.

In most cases, the Committee is providing new information to the labor movement at all levels. The response to the message among virtually all the groups reached has been positive. In certain instances, the information has allowed labor groups to take subsequent action on the IAQ issue, including building audits and membership health and safety surveys. Many also have used our arguments and materials to oppose workplace smoking legislation at the federal, state and local levels.

The presentations provide a solid foundation upon which to continue building the IAQ program among organized labor.
