- refers cases to the court,
- and take the responsibility of proceeding authority in crimes against state of community,.

- And also investigate in crime according to the Law of Investigation Committees for the year 1954.
- The Prosecutors perform their duties on neutral basis

Office of Prosecutor

- On carrying out its duties, the Office of Prosecutor formed out through legal reports and Investigations that most of conflicts were about land and farms,
– i.e. between farmers and nomads.
- Some of these conflicts have many victims, but eventually these conflicts have been settled according to the local conventions and traditions in Darfur all through a number of tribal reconciliation conferences.

The Attorney General's Office

- The Attorney General's Office has also investigates in many cases e.g.: rape cases, armed robbery and killing of people, and transferred them court which are specially established for cases.

- Some of the criminals were sentenced to deathly hanging. Examples of these are Singita and Halluf cases. Some of cases have been referred to prosecutor Darfur crimes for farther investigation.

- We would like to point out that some of criminals were members of Armed Movements (the Rebels) and the rebels normally don't cooperate in arresting the criminals. An example this is T
 - he attack on Shieiria, Buram
 - and Gereida towns.

- Other cases attributed to unknown and laws are mostly a anonymous, who are difficult to trace because of the war. There are also some cases attributed to Government-related individuals. These are mostly caught and convicted to and tried in court.
