MEMORANDUM

TO: Susan M. Stuntz, Robert Lewis
FR: Peter G. Sparber

We continue to make steady progress with the creation of a business coalition to deal with the federal Environmental Protection Agency, other potential regulators and the indoor air quality issue in general. As reported earlier, the group will be called the Business Council on Indoor Air (BCIA).

I am pleased to report these highlights:

o The first meeting of the group will be held Thursday, September 22.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the need for a new organization and to recruit members. Please note that there is an abundance of specialty associations representing chemical industry interests, and some reluctance to add to the list. However, we are encouraged by the response to our invitations.

o The meeting will be attended by scientific, legal and/or political representatives from the following companies:

Dow Chemical, 3M, Bristol-Myers (Clairol), Monsanto, Owings-Corning, PPG, Armstrong, ICI Chemicals, ACVA Atlantic, Envirodyne (M. Meckler), and Environmental Air Control, Inc. (R. Dempster.)

The meeting will be chaired by Mr. Dempster.

o Our main barrier is to convince potential members that the indoor air quality issue is maturing rapidly and poses serious problems for industry.

To that end, the morning session will feature a journalist (Mary Hager, Newsweek's environmental correspondent), a regulator (Bob Axelrad of EPA), a legislative committee director (Peter Prowitt of the Senate Public Works Committee) and a union official (Peg Seminario, the AFL-CIO's OSHA director) all of whom will share their views of where this issue is headed.

Be assured that I will continue to report results as they occur.
