

EMPLOYEE PRIVACY LAW AND PRACTICE

2070036823

EMPLOYEE PRIVACY LAW AND PRACTICE

KURT H. DECKER

Counsel to Stevens & Lee
Reading, Pennsylvania

and

Adjunct Professor of Industrial Relations
Graduate School of Industrial Relations
Saint Francis College
Loretto, Pennsylvania

Wiley Law Publications

JOHN WILEY & SONS

New York • Chichester • Brisbane • Toronto • Singapore

2070036824 nger of death or injury and o dy the danger are hould it subsequently be or in bad faith.”¹⁷⁵ Comed with the Secretary of re of serious “recognized t is known to be a hazard ne employer’s industry.¹⁷⁸ ecords that are required to bor is directed to issue ate records of employee hysical agents which are Employees are permitted them to play a meaningful or former employee or an there will be exposure to of access to four kinds of ls; (2) biological monitor-y other record disclosing ent.¹⁸¹ The employee may i. Labor unions that are itatives are automatically cess rights to employee

¹⁷⁶ 526 F.2d 1421 (10th Cir. 1984) ek OSHA action); Donovan v.
employer liable for retaliatory h Cir. 1985) (only Secretary of

c. Tea Co., 121 N.H. 915, 436 inated employee).

265, 1267 (D.C. Cir. 1973) (in establish that the employer failed ed as causing or likely to cause pecified the particular steps the measures are feasible and have exposure records without individual employee consent.¹⁸² OSHA also has an access right to these individual employee exposure records.¹⁸³

Employees can access their entire medical files regardless of how the information was generated or is maintained.¹⁸⁴ Excluded from an “employee medical record” are certain physical specimens, records concerning health insurance claims, and records concerning voluntary employee medical assistance programs.¹⁸⁵ Limited discretion is given physicians to deny access when a diagnosis of a terminal illness or psychiatric condition exists.¹⁸⁶ Collective bargaining representatives must obtain written consent before gaining access to employee medical records.¹⁸⁷

Corrections or removal of inaccuracies must be made under a state employment record statute.¹⁸⁸ OSHA’s access procedures do not provide for this. This access rule does not violate an employment privacy right because there is security for dealing with personally identifiable information and the rule carefully limits information use.¹⁸⁹

§ 7.7 Smoking

Smoking in the workplace no longer is viewed as a non-issue, a situation accepted by non-smokers as an inevitable part of employment or by smokers as a right. What was once an individual decision is today becoming increasingly regulated by private and public sector employers through work rules¹⁹⁰ and statutes.¹⁹¹ This regulation requires a balancing of the affected employee’s interests with employer responsibilities toward other employees.

Tolerance of smoking in the workplace is changing rapidly.¹⁹² Employers of virtually every size and description are taking steps to curtail workplace

¹⁸² Id.

¹⁸³ Id.

¹⁸⁴ Id.

¹⁸⁵ Id.

¹⁸⁶ Id.

¹⁸⁷ Id.

¹⁸⁸ See § 2.30.

¹⁸⁹ Louisiana Chem. Ass’n v. Bingham, 550 F. Supp. 1136 (W.D. La. 1982).

¹⁹⁰ Rossie v. State of Wisconsin, 133 Wis. 2d 341, 395 N.W.2d 801 (1986).

¹⁹¹ See § 2.39.

¹⁹² See M. Rothstein, Medical Screening of Workers (1984); Employee Relations and Human Resources Bulletin, Company Smoking Policy Manual—Freshstart in the Workplace (Report No. 1622, Section III, Aug. 21, 1986); Blodgett, The New Outlaws—Smokers Who Light Up at Work, 72 A.B.A. J. 31 (February, 1986); Kent & Cenci, Smoking and the Workplace; Tobacco Smoke Health Hazards to the Involuntary Smoker, 24 J. Occup. Med. 469 (1982); Swingle, The smoking. While the majority of employers have not yet restricted workplace smoking, the growth of nonsmoking policies is unmistakable.¹⁹³

Awards for unemployment,¹⁹⁴ disability,¹⁹⁵ and medical treatment¹⁹⁶ have been made to nonsmokers while union grievances under collective bargaining agreements are increasingly dealing with this issue.¹⁹⁷ Employers permitting or not regulating workplace smoking are highly vulnerable to challenges by nonsmoking employees. Mounting concern over smoking's effects on the health, productivity, and morale of smokers and nonsmokers has combined with changing social attitudes about smoking reversing the notion that smoking is an acceptable public practice.

As a privacy issue, smoking is becoming an activity that an employee does within the confines of his or her home, but not at the workplace or in public. This is similar to the taboo associated with sexual activities.

Employment privacy questions concern the employer's liability if smoking is or is not restricted and whether employers can hire only nonsmokers. While discrimination against smokers does not rise to that prohibited by federal and state fair employment practice (FEP) statutes,¹⁹⁸ it certainly affects a privacy-related interest. It may be non-job-related criteria that controls employment distribution, especially when employers do not hire smokers or restrict smoking outside the workplace. By not confining job-relatedness criteria to the workplace, employers could deny opportunities based on what occurs outside it. When using the powerful employment incentive to control how employees act at home employers decide or circumscribe what is done in private.¹⁹⁹ This could be a guise to discriminate if statistics establish that certain minority, national origin, or age groups smoke more than others. Before banning workplace smoking, it may be wise for employers to consult their employees or the union when a collective bargaining agreement exists.²⁰⁰

Legal Conflict Between Smokers and Nonsmokers: The Majestic Vice Versus the Right to Clean Air, 45 Mo. L. Rev. 444 (1980); Weis, No Smoking, 63 Personnel J. 53 (No. 9, September, 1984); Weis, Can You Afford to Hire Smokers? 60 Personnel Ad. 71 (No. 5, May, 1981); Note, Plaintiff's Conduct as a Defense to Claims Against Cigarette Manufacturers, 99 Harv. L. Rev. 809 (1986).

¹⁹³ See Brown, Smokers' Rights vs. Health Concerns: Smoking Emerges As New Controversy, 1987 Resource 3 (February 1987).

¹⁹⁴ See Lapham v. Unemployment Comp. Bd., ____ Pa. Commw. ____, 519 A.2d 1101 (1987); McCarthy v. State Dept. of Social and Health Serv., 46 Wash. App. 125, 730 P.2d 681 (1986).

¹⁹⁵ See Schober v. Mountain Bell Tel., 96 N.M. 376, 630 P.2d 1231 (1980); Fuentes v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd., 16 Cal. 3d 1, 547 P.2d 449, 128 Cal. Rptr. 673 (1976).

¹⁹⁶ See supra note 195.

¹⁹⁷ See, e.g., Nicolet Indus., Inc., 79-2 Lab. Arb. Awards (CCH) ¶ 8398 (1978) (Rock, Arb.).

¹⁹⁸ See §§ 2.7-2.12, 2.25.

¹⁹⁹ See ch. 8.

²⁰⁰ In the private or public sectors, an employer with a union may be required to negotiate over the implementation of a non-smoking policy because it relates to terms and conditions of

Connecticut's smoking. This statute requires restrooms and prohibits smoking in restrooms; must establish written rules for separate areas but permits smoking in restrooms posted where employees who request them.²⁰³

Besides posing a health hazard, smoking equipment and can be a nuisance. A nonsmoker must be balanced against a smoker's reasonable accommodation.²⁰⁵

Employment privacy issues may be enforced through contractual²⁰⁹ litigation and state FEP statute employment. See Town of Rocky Hill & AFS v. Labor Relations Bd., 60 Pa. Commw. 125, 463 A.2d 1231 (1984) (schoolteachers); H-N Adv. v. Labor Relations Bd. (employer's failure to make recommendations re agreement); but see National Labor Relations Bd. v. International Union of Marine Workers (unilateral employer

²⁰¹ Conn. Gen. Stat. Ann. § 38-260.

²⁰² Conn. Gen. Stat. Ann. § 38-260.

²⁰³ Id.

²⁰⁴ Town of Rocky Hill & AFS v. Labor Relations Bd., 60 Pa. Commw. 125, 463 A.2d 1231 (1984) (free environment).

²⁰⁵ Smith v. Western Elec., 64

[T]he tobacco smoke of employees in general defendant (employer) knew that defendant has the authority requiring a smoke-free environment. . . . defendant has breached its duty. . . . Id. at 13.

²⁰⁶ See ch. 2.

²⁰⁷ See ch. 3.

²⁰⁸ See §§ 4.3-4.10.

²⁰⁹ See §§ 4.12-4.15.

²¹⁰ See §§ 2.7-2.12, 2.25.

Connecticut's smoking statute is typical of those that have been enacted.²⁰¹ This statute requires restaurants seating 75 or more to provide a nonsmoking area and prohibits smoking in government buildings.²⁰² Employers of 50 or more must establish written rules regulating smoking. The statute does not require separate areas but permits employers to establish separate areas. Rules must be posted where employees can see them and a copy must be made available to those who request them.²⁰³

Besides posing a health risk, smoking can also affect sensitive technical equipment and can be a safety hazard.²⁰⁴ The privacy rights of smoker and nonsmoker must be balanced with the nonsmoker's rights prevailing when reasonable accommodation is not possible. Courts are strongly suggesting this.²⁰⁵

Employment privacy interests in obtaining a smoke-free workplace environment may be enforced through statutory,²⁰⁶ constitutional,²⁰⁷ tort,²⁰⁸ and contractual²⁰⁹ litigation theories. Statutory remedies may exist under federal and state FEP statutes when handicap is covered.²¹⁰ Under the federal employment. See Town of Rocky Hill & AFSCME, Local 1303-112, Council No. 4, Pub. Employee Bargaining Cas. (CCH) ¶ 44,547 (Conn. St. Bd. of Lab. Rel. 1986); Commonwealth of Pa. v. Labor Relations Bd., 74 Pa. Commw. 1, 459 A.2d 452 (1983); Chambersburg v. Pa. Labor Rel. Bd., 60 Pa. Commw. 740, 430 A.2d 740 (1981) (not required for Pennsylvania schoolteachers); H-N Advertising & Display Co., 88 Lab. Arb. (BNA) 329 (1986) (Heekin, Arb.) (employer's failure to convene joint safety committee to review plant conditions and to make recommendations regarding employer's smoking policy violated collective bargaining agreement); but see National Pen & Pencil, 87 Lab. Arb. (BNA) 1081 (1986) (Nicholas, Jr., Arb.) (unilateral employer smoking prohibition in restrooms permitted).

²⁰¹ Conn. Gen. Stat. Ann. § 31-40q (West 1987); see § 2.39.

²⁰² Conn. Gen. Stat. Ann. § 31-40q (West 1987).

²⁰³ Id.

²⁰⁴ Town of Rocky Hill & AFSCME, Local 1303-112, Council No. 4, Pub. Bargaining Cas. (CCH) ¶ 44,547 (Conn. St. Bd. of Lab. Rel. 1986) (service policy on computer conditioned on smoke-free environment).

²⁰⁵ Smith v. Western Elec., 643 S.W.2d 10 (Mo. Ct. App. 1982). It was stated that:

[T]he tobacco smoke of co-workers smoking in the work area is hazardous to the health of employees in general and plaintiff in particular. The allegations also show that defendant (employer) knows the tobacco smoke is harmful to the plaintiff's health and that defendant has the authority, ability, and reasonable means to control smoking in areas requiring a smoke-free environment. Thereby, by failing to exercise its control and assume its responsibility to eliminate the hazardous condition caused by tobacco smoke, defendant has breached and is breaching its duty to provide a reasonably safe workplace. . . . Id. at 13.

²⁰⁶ See ch. 2.

²⁰⁷ See ch. 3.

²⁰⁸ See §§ 4.3-4.10.

²⁰⁹ See §§ 4.12-4.15.

²¹⁰ See §§ 2.7-2.12, 2.25.

Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1973,²¹¹ handicap includes those who are unusually sensitive to tobacco smoke.²¹² Hypersensitivity to smoke limits a major life activity by being unable to work except in a smoke-free environment.²¹³ The employer is not required to provide a completely smoke-free environment. A reasonable accommodation in separating smokers from nonsmokers or offering an alternative job is sufficient.²¹⁴

State unemployment compensation statutes can be used to recover benefits when workplace smoking is a compelling and necessitous reason for terminating employment.²¹⁵ Likewise, state workers compensation statutes may be used to assert employer liability.

As yet, constitutional privacy protections have been found inapplicable.²¹⁶ Requests for injunctive relief, however, have been successful.²¹⁷ Nonsmokers have been granted injunctions when it was the employer's duty to provide a workplace environment reasonably free of recognized hazards and smoking was classified as a recognized hazard.²¹⁸

Tort theories may be applied to employment privacy rights of smokers and nonsmokers.²¹⁹ Defamation may arise when a smoker or nonsmoker is held in disrepute among fellow employees.²²⁰ It may also arise if a smoker or nonsmoker who asserts his or her rights is terminated for a false reason.²²¹ A false imprisonment could possibly occur if a nonsmoker is required to work in a smoke-filled environment.²²² The false imprisonment exists because the employee cannot remove himself or herself from the environment without risking employment loss. This is the confinement that is necessary; however, the employer must be aware of the employee's condition and should have refused a reasonable accommodation.²²³ Public policy violations may arise when a nonsmoker asserts rights under a state smoking statute and suffers disciplinary action.²²⁴

²¹¹ 29 U.S.C. § 701-796 (1982).

²¹² Vickers v. Veterans Admin., 549 F. Supp. 85 (W.D. Wash. 1982).

²¹³ Id.

²¹⁴ Id.

²¹⁵ See Lapham v. Unemployment Comp. Bd., _____ Pa. Commw. _____, 519 A.2d 1101 (1987); McCarthy v. State Dept. of Social and Health Serv., 46 Wash. App. 125, 730 P.2d 681 (1986).

²¹⁶ See Schober v. Mountain Bell Tel., 96 N.M. 376, 630 P.2d 1231 (1980); Fuentes v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Board, 16 Cal. 3d 1, 547 P.2d 449, 128 Cal. Rptr. 673 (1976).

²¹⁷ See ch. 3; see also Rossie v. State of Wisconsin, 133 Wis. 2d 341, 395 N.W.2d 801 (1986).

²¹⁸ See Smith v. Western Elec., 643 S.W.2d 10 (Mo. Ct. App. 1982); Shimp v. New Jersey Bell, 145 N.J. Super. 516, 368 A.2d 408 (1976).

²¹⁹ See §§ 4.2-4.10.

²²⁰ See § 4.4.

²²¹ Id.; see Lewis v. Equitable Life Assurance Soc'y, 361 N.W.2d 875 (Minn. Ct. App. 1985).

²²² See § 4.5.

²²³ Id.

²²⁴ See § 4.10.

Contract litigation to enforce employment handbooks and policies can be successful. However, a contract was not enforceable when an employer promised a smoke-free workplace at the time it signed her employment contract. The employer did not mention the subject. The employee worked for a time and the employer terminated her employment. Nothing showed that the employer intended to supply a smoke-free environment. The employee's knowledge of her pre-employment contract was concluded.²³⁰

When employers implement smoking policies, they must enforce them.²³¹ This is especially true when smoking designated areas.

§ 7.6

Employee assistance programs (EAPs) recognize and overcome employee performance problems. They are designed to include career counseling, job performance anxiety, gambling problems, and other issues.

Initially, EAPs dealt with alcohol and drug abuse. Areas covered may include job performance anxiety, gambling problems, and other issues.

EAPs can be developed to provide these programs. Employee privacy can be guaranteed by ensuring that the program should assure personal information is not prevent inadvertent disclosure.

²²⁵ See § 4.12.

²²⁶ See § 4.14.

²²⁷ See § 4.15.

²²⁸ Bernard v. Cameron & Co.

²²⁹ Id.

²³⁰ Id. at 323, 491 N.E.2d 1101.

²³¹ See McCarthy v. State Dept. of Social and Health Serv. (1986) (employee alleged to maintain negligence action).

²³² See Liandiorio v. Kriss & Co. (alleged liability for gas smoking area).

Contract litigation theories arising out of employment contracts,²²⁵ employment handbooks and policies,²²⁶ or collective bargaining agreements²²⁷ may be successful. However, an employee with a written employment contract was not promised a smoke-free environment merely because her employer was aware at the time it signed her contract that she preferred this.²²⁸ The contract did not mention the subject. The employee was provided with a smoke-free environment for a time and the employer knew of her preference for a smoke-free environment. Nothing showed that the employer entered into a contractual obligation to supply a smoke-free environment either temporarily or permanently.²²⁹ "Mere knowledge of her preference is not tantamount to . . . assent," the court concluded.²³⁰

When employers implement smoking policies they may be under a duty to enforce them.²³¹ This may even extend to preventing employees from entering a smoking designated area because they could be injured.²³²

§ 7.8 Employee Assistance Programs

Employee assistance programs (EAPs) aid employees and their families to recognize and overcome personal problems that interfere with employee work performance. They are an extension of the performance evaluation process.

Initially, EAPs dealt with alcoholic employees. Today, they have been broadened to include career and personal problem counseling components. Problem areas covered may involve job dissatisfaction, supervisor or co-worker conflicts, job performance anxiety, alcohol and drug abuse, emotional problems, marital problems, gambling problems, or financial problems.

EAPs can be developed by the employer or contracted through agencies that provide these programs. Privacy is an essential element of any EAP. Unless privacy can be guaranteed, the EAP will not be utilized. A supervisor should not be privy to the details of the employee's EAP participation. EAP record keeping should assure personal privacy. Records of participation should be coded to prevent inadvertent identification of those who are enrolled. All EAP records

²²⁵ See § 4.12.

²²⁶ See § 4.14.

²²⁷ See § 4.15.

²²⁸ Bernard v. Cameron & Colby Co., Inc., 397 Mass. 320, 491 N.E.2d 604 (1986).

²²⁹ Id.

²³⁰ Id. at 323, 491 N.E.2d at 606.

²³¹ See McCarthy v. State Dept. of Social and Health Serv., 46 Wash. App. 125, 730 P.2d 681 (1986) (employee allegedly injured by tobacco smoke in office environment could possibly maintain negligence action if disease was not occupational).

²³² See Liandiorio v. Kriss & Senko Enter., Inc., 512 Pa. 392, 517 A.2d 530 (1986) (employer alleged liability for gasoline drenched person's injury who entered employer designated smoking area).

cludes those who are y smoke limits a smoke-free environ-mpletely smoke-free
; smokers from non-

l to recover benefits ason for terminating tutes may be used to ound inapplicable.²¹⁶

sful.²¹⁷ Nonsmokers
's duty to provide a ards and smoking was ights of smokers and nonsmoker is held in smoker or nonsmoker

e reason.²²¹ A false equired to work in a ists because the em-ment without risking essary; however, the should have refused a ay e when a non-l suffers disciplinary

519 A.2d 1101 (1987);
125, 730 P.2d 681 (1986).
80); Fuentes v. Workmen's 673 (1976).
395 N.W.2d 801 (1986). mp v. New Jersey Bell, 145

(Minn. Ct. App. 1985).

2070036829