

"ORIGINS"

9.2.20

"I Am" a radicalized mind, NOT intrigued by this western mythology, America and all its stolen philosophy.

The heart of an Indian, the blood of a slave and the pride of a spanard. But Im more African if you know what I mean. My "origins" is that of oppressed folks, misguided by false hope. Blinded by a goal, thirsty, wishing to someday have our own dream.

Knowing where I came from has been the light which shines the path of discovery. Enlightened me to destiny and virtue, and the wisdom to know thyself. Though history has lied to me, the ancients stuck with "me" spiritually, my ancestral blood still survived in me. A special pedigree, the bloodline of a WARRIOR!

Revolutionary the way I see the past and present. It's been over due, time to break these chains. Shatter that old mold, slavery wasn't a choice. But where I go from here definitely is... Kanye misused his voice, lost all control, bipolar Syndrome has stole his essence. He sold his soul.

Im the master of my own fate but I still get on my knees 5 times a day and let my head touch the floor while I prostrate and pray. Not egotistical, I believe in my faith.

The system has been established from the beginning, it's "Origins" is to keep "we the people" down. Oppressed, pops in a box - dead or in jail, MOMS on drugs or running around trying to find a suitable mate, stressed, wondering how she's gonna pay the bills.

America and all its stolen philosophy, whats the difference between the field Negro and the house Negro when they're both still living in poverty. It's time to revive our old roots and reject this western prophecy!
