

Still Here

Do you see us?, or do you see past us?
I want to know do you believe in us?

Because our struggles, our struggles, our struggles have made us who we are, we are, we are.

We assert our rights and they attack our quality of living and we are silenced again. Solitude can be damaging, but still we struggle, we struggle, we struggle like a record needle in a defective groove.

Do you see us?, or do you see past us?, I want to know do you believe in us? because our struggle our struggles, our struggles have made us who we are we are, we are. We ~~never~~ wanted to play the part a statistic on another mans chart, Ask yourself is this a profile of a wasted life? NO!, lying to yourself is self inflicted wound.

We want to be equal to all, so we dream big and start fall only to be shot down and told this here ain't for y'all. We are stronger now because our struggles, our struggle our struggles have made us who we are, we are, we are STILL HERE!
