

How can we compel ourselves to stop living in the past? This question is directed to those "hidden ones" within the mass. Marching and rallying, pretending that you care and share the same emotions that truly do. You know that's not you. Some how your there to cause some type of trouble. To spark a flame. So those sincere people that truly care's gets blamed.

Their, once peaceful and calm rally becoming a powder keg of another issue. What is with you? Are your concerns another hidden agenda some politician paid you to ensue? But I dont only see the white people doing wrong. There's minorities who really are only marching to commit senseless violence along with some prongs.

But two left dont ~~don't~~ make a right. Or, it might to those that wants to ignite a fight. An all out race war, that's been happening from the beginning of time. Thank God, now that's a crime. But in all honesty so many people are right for being so angry from what they see. Hatred still lives among our Society. Sadly I believe it won't be that the last of it will see.

Hate comes rooted deep within the mind and belly of the Beast. And once it's released you can kiss peace goodbye. No matter how hard one tries to stifle the flame. It's a shame to admit this but that's game over ~~my~~ my friend. There's no need to pretend that at the end there won't be bodies lying, dying of one thing or another. A gun shot, stabl wounds, metal pipes or rocks. We ask ourselves when will this sense less killings by cops stop? It wont. Can only be detered.

By the words of our Government, that passes a law for cops to wear camera's. And yet as you can see from tv. that did not stop the shooting of Breanna or those other's caught in that drama. Though they have to live with the karma. They'll speak their excuses or reasons for shooting. But, who are they kidding? Societies been in turmoil for ~~so~~ so long. Hidden behind smiles and how do you do's. But many prongs of individuals have a crude and disillusion sense of you. And I mean that to all different cultured people. The up-reveal of all things evil only lays dormant for the time being. Seeing and waiting for the perfect opening to rise and create destructions.

From what we can see and tell our police are under it's spell, by committing heinous actions. For a fraction of time our Nation was calm and somewhat at peace. Till the day came when the hatred of the Beast was released.

Here's another one less self involved. Sorry for the folding. I'm being frugal with my money. My girl has to take care of her son. And what with what's happening, work is hard to find more so than ever. So, I tried not to open the envelope. As for a writer, papers, pens and envelope are like gold. So I apologize.

Anyway I hope you enjoy this one. Take care and stay safe from Covid and all the mayhem out there. God Bless.

Sincerely,
Leo Gabonir

P. S. This is free to. 😊
