

RECENT PUBLICATIONS BY THE FLETCHER COMMUNITY

THE FLETCHER SCHOOL OF LAW AND DIPLOMACY, established in 1933, is the oldest graduate school of international affairs in the United States. The fundamental mission of the Fletcher School is to provide high quality, multidisciplinary teaching and research in the fields of law, diplomacy, economics, history, politics, business and regional studies. As a service to our readership, and in an effort to provide a wider audience for the innovative work being done by our faculty, students and recent graduates, The Fletcher Forum publishes a listing of recent publications by the Fletcher community in each issue.

SUGATA BOSE, Professor of Diplomacy, together with Ayesha Jalal, is the author of Modern South Asia: History, Culture, Political Economy (London: Routledge, 1998). Prof. Bose also published "Nation, Reason and Religion: India's Independence in International Perspective" in Economic and Political Weekly, August 1-7, 1998, "Instruments and Idioms of Colonial and National Development" in International Development and the Social Sciences, eds. Frederick Cooper and Randall Packard (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1998) and "State, Economy and Culture on the Indian Ocean Rim: Theory and History" in Oceanos, June 1998.

ALAN K. HENRIKSON, Associate Professor of Diplomatic History, has published Diplomacy and Small States in Today's World, Twelfth Lecture, Dr. Eric Williams Memorial Lecture Series, May 22, 1998 (Port-of-Spain, Trinidad and Tobago: Central Bank of Trinidad and Tobago, 1998). Prof. Henrikson is also the author of Diplomacy for the 21st Century: Re-Crafting the Old Guild (Steving, West Sussex, UK: Wilton Park, 1998).

MICHAEL KLEIN, Associate Professor of International Economics, is the author of "European Monetary Union" in New England Economic Review, March/April 1998: 3-12. Together with Jeffrey Fuhrer, he also published "Risky Habits: On Risk Sharing, Habit Formation and the Interpretation of International Consumption Correlations, National Bureau of Economic Research Working Paper no. 6735, (September 1998).

CARNES LORD, John M. Olin Visiting Professor of Statecraft and Civilization, is the author of Crisis Management: A Primer, IASPS Research Papers in Strategy no. 7 (Washington and Jerusalem: Institute for Advanced Strategic and Political Studies, August 1998).

ANTHONY PEREIRA, Visiting Associate Professor of International Politics, is the author of "Persecution and Farce: The Origins and Transformation of Brazil's Political Trials 1964-1979" in Latin American Research Review, Vol. 33, No. 1 (1998): 43-66. He also published "O Monstro Algemado? Violencia do Estado e Repressao Legal no Brasil, 1964-97" ["The Shackled Monster? State Violence and Legal Repression in Brazil, 1964-97"] in Democracia e Instituicoes Politicas Brasileiras no Final do Seculo Vinte, [Democracy and Brazilian Political Institutions at the End of the Twentieth Century], edited by Jorge Zaverucha (Recife, Brazil: Bagaco, 1998). Prof. Pereira also wrote, along with Sanjay Reddy, The Role and Reform of the State (New York: United Nations Development Programme/Office of Development Working Paper Series, forthcoming), and he published a "Review of Kurt Weyland's 'Democracy Without Equity'" in Journal of Inter-American Studies and World Affairs, Vol. 40, No. 2, (1998), as well as a "Review of Carlos Nino's 'Radical Evil on Trial'" in Americas, March 1998.

JESWALD W. SALACUSE, Henry J. Braker Professor of Commercial Law, is the author of "Ten Ways that Culture Affects Negotiating Style: Some Survey Results" in 14 Negotiation Journal (1998): 221-240. He also wrote "So, What is the Deal Anyway? Contracts and Relationships as Negotiating Goals" in 14 Negotiation Journal (1998): 5-12.

PAUL VAALER, Assistant Professor of International Business, is, together with Norman Bowie, the author of "Some Arguments for Universal Ethics within the Multinational Corporation" in International Business Ethics: Challenges and Approaches, edited by Georges Enderle, (University of Notre Dame and Hong Kong University Press) (forthcoming).