

To Be Sorry

---

Dear Life,

I am sorry.

I am sorry for making you difficult.

For making you hard. Harder than you already are.

I made you seem meaningless.

My family sacrificed their time with you so that I could have a better time with you.

Not only my family, but every person's life that I have impacted by my past actions.

I was selfish when it came to you. I only thought of myself.

I was wrong. I was irresponsible.

I was creating victims by creating victims. I changed your plans for them.

They had dreams and goals for you as well.

I destroyed those.

I am sorry.

I am now working to make you better for myself,

so that I can help make you better for everyone and anyone around me.

I will show you that I am sorry by dedicating you to others.

Please forgive ,

Me

By

Bryson Christopher