
The FLETCHER FORUM
of World Affairs

THE FLETCHER SCHOOL OF LAW AND DIPLOMACY, TUFTS UNIVERSITY SUMMER 2001 VOL. 25.2 $11.00 USA

Articles

KOFI ANNAN

Containing Climate Change: A Global Challenge5

The U.N. Secretary-General, in a commencement address at The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, urges all nations, and particularly the U.S., to find international solutions to the global warming crisis.

FIDEL V. RAMOS

Good Governance Against Corruption9

Former Philippines president Ramos delivered the keynote address at a conference on corruption and good governance held at The Fletcher School in April 2001.

JOHN L. ESPOSITO

The Future of Islam.....19

Esposito challenges traditional Western assumptions about the role of Islam as a religion, political force, and social guide in the twenty-first century.

STEPHEN ELLIS

War in West Africa.....33

Ellis examines the current wars and potential for further conflict in West Africa, and urges regional and western nations to develop coherent and forceful policies to prevent further escalation of the crisis.

PAUL RICHARDS

War and Peace in Sierra Leone.....41

Richards challenges standard interpretations of the war in Sierra Leone, arguing that the international community has ignored the cause at the heart of the conflict: the failure to provide basic education to rural children.

MATHURIN HOUNGNIKPO

Democratization in Africa: Double Standards in Benin and Togo.....51

The author takes a critical look at France's differing approach to the promotion of democracy in two of its former African colonies, Togo and Benin.

GUENTER BURGHARDT

The Future of the European Union67

The EU's ambassador to the United States reflects on the changing nature of the transatlantic partnership.

MARGOT WALLSTRÖM

The European Commission's Position on GMOs:

Will Consumers be Convinced?75

The European Commissioner for the Environment, Margot Wallström, describes the EC's efforts to regulate genetically modified organisms, emphasizing the need to involve all stakeholders in the current debate.

CLAUS CHRISTIAN AHNFELDT-MOLLERUP

Military Aspects of the European Security and Defense Policy83

Mollerup argues that the EU cannot be a military match to the United States in the foreseeable future despite Europe's recent attempts to improve and fortify its Security and Defense Policy. He concludes that the Europeans' ambitious military agenda is more of a distant ambition than a tangible reality.

FERGUS EWING AND JENNIFER ERICKSON

The Case for Scottish Independence89

Ewing and Erickson trace the history of Scottish union and devolution from Great Britain, and explain the Scottish National Party's commitment to securing an independent Scotland.

ELISABETH REHN

The Future of Peace Efforts101

Based on her experience as U.N. Special Representative and Special Rapporteur in the Balkans, Rehn outlines four policies that could make the peace effort of the international community more effective.

HANSJÖRG STROHMEYER

Making Multilateral Interventions Work:

The U.N. and the Creation of Transitional Justice

Systems in Kosovo and East Timor107

Strohmeier, a key U.N. legal advisor to missions in Kosovo and East Timor, reflects on the challenges of creating working justice systems in transitional nations.

ANJA MILLER

Military Mergers:

The Reintegration of Armed Forces After Civil Wars.....129

Miller argues that the success of any peace process hinges upon the ability of the formerly warring parties to reintegrate their armed forces. The paper analyzes six military mergers and suggests guidelines for successful reintegrations.

ROBERTO LAVER

The Falklands/Malvinas:

A New Framework for Dealing with the Anglo-Argentine Sovereignty Dispute147

Laver details the history and negotiating positions of the parties to the Falklands/Malvinas sovereignty dispute since 1982, and proposes a new framework for moving towards resolution of the conflict.

WILLIAM C. MARTEL

Technology and Military Power177

Martel examines the critical defense technologies that the U.S. military has invested in for the twenty-first century, and how these will shape U.S. military hegemony in the future.

DAN FAHEY

The Final Word on Depleted Uranium189

Fahey examines the controversy over depleted uranium ammunitions, finding that both sides in the debate have overstated their positions and poorly served the ends of scientific truth and human health and safety.

PAULA B. MCCARRON AND CYNTHIA A. HOLT

A Faustian Bargain? Nuclear Weapons,

Negative Security Assurances, and Belligerent Reprisal203

McCarron and Holt analyze the legality of the use of nuclear weapons by exploring specific and general treaty prohibitions and customary international law.

ROBERT MITTENDORFF II

Primum Non Nocere: Implications for the Globalization of Biomedical Research Trials239

Mittendorff examines the ethical issues raised by international medical trials on humans. The article describes the measures currently used to regulate these trials, and suggests solutions to ensure that ethical standards are maintained in a globalized environment.

WILLIAM D. SHINGLETON

Understanding Colombia.....255

Shingleton warns that the military component of Plan Colombia will not be enough to stop the violence that plagues the Andean nation.

Reviews

REVIEWED BY PETER UVIN

Religion, Violence, and Self-Respect263

Uvin reviews two books, by Gopin and Juergensmeyer, on the modern relationship between religion and violence.

REVIEWED BY VICTOR FIC

U.S.-Korean Complexities269

Fic reviews a memoir written by Gleysteen, who was U.S. ambassador to South Korea during the tension-filled Carter and Reagan years.

Recent Publications by the Fletcher Community.....275

Books Received by *The Fletcher Forum of World Affairs*279