

I set back and think of how things could have been,
It feels like in this game of life I can't ever get a win,
All this time I've done has cost me blood, sweat, and tears,
The dealer doesn't give out months or days because he gives out years,
I bet all my chips because I thought I had a good hand,
Then I caught a bad flop and it put me in this wasteland,
I was on a roll winning and it made me too blind to see,
That the dark horse of bad luck was coming after me,
Everything was straight because I'd been up for so long,
But I lost track because I didn't know right from wrong,
Life was moving so fast for me that I didn't think things through,
I ended up on the run and I didn't know what to do,
Before I knew it I was trapped with my back against the wall,
My rise to glory was over and now here came my fall,
I thought to myself why is this happening to me,
This is not how things are supposed to be,
If only I would have listened and done things right,
Now I'm in here with no chance of freedom in sight,
I'm in a battle zone now looking over my shoulder every day,
There's always a chance of me dying coming from any which way,
I have lost track of how long I have been gone,
Never in my life have I felt so lost and alone,
All these friends who said they would stick by me,
Now they are nowhere around me to hear or see,

It's so funny how many said "I'm ride or die always with you!"

One thing for sure is that it wasn't so true,

In the end though it's all said or done,

Always keep your word and don't trust anyone!
